HOOVER ASKS GERMAN FOOD FUND

Senate Group Would Halve OPA's Rations

$22,000,000 Is Voted To Liquidate Agency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Senate Appropriations Subcommittee voted today to put OPA on half rations for the next four months and then kill it.

The vote was 6 to 5, to give the once huge agency $22,000,000 to wind up its business by June 30. However, out of that total must come $7,000,000 for employes' terminal pay and $5,727,000 for the costs of liquidation.

"That means that OPA must reduce its operations by more than half immediately," said Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Appropriations Committee.

Closed Meeting

The OPA now supervises controls over sugar, rice and rent. Bridges, in reporting on the closed meeting to reporters, said he thinks a month's time is enough to transfer these functions to other government agencies.

Bridges related that he had supported a proposal by Sen. Gurney (R-SD) to give OPA only enough money to run until March 31. That motion lost by only one vote, he added.

Bridges said that OPA would have approximately $9,000,000 to operate on during the next four months, as compared with $20,000,000 he said OPA wanted.

Even rougher treatment may be handed OPA when the full Appropriations Committee meets tomorrow, the chairman said, remarking that the subcommittee vote may be reversed then.

Wants "Orderly" End

Before today's subcommittee meeting, Bridges took note of the House action in voting to lop $9,000,000 from the agency's appropriation for the current fiscal year and to refuse a $5,900,000 supplementary fund.

"I do not mean that I favor extending any of these controls at all," Bridges said. "The House already has killed them off by not voting funds. I want to be certain that whatever is decided, the agency can end in an orderly manner."

The Senate subcommittee agreed to restore the $9,000,000 in addition to voting money for terminal pay and liquidation costs.

Pearl Harbor Dock Fire Under Control

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 27 (AP) — An oil-fed fire that swept suddenly over a quarter-mile long wooden dock at Pearl Harbor was brought under control today by 500 sailors and marines after a three-hour battle.

Twenty-five firefighters were overcome by smoke and taken to Navy Hospital for emergency treatment. None was believed in serious condition.

The dense, oily smoke, rising from one of the worst blazes in Pearl Harbor's history, overcame many others, but they were given first aid on the docks and returned to help fight the flames.

At 3:30 p. m., naval district headquarters announced the fire completely under control, although firefighting crews still poured water and chemicals on fires smouldering beneath the docks.

The extent of the damage was not yet known, but it was expected to be heavy. Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Baltimore Store Fire Called "Work Of Firebug"

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Howard Travers, chief engineer of the Baltimore Fire Department, said tonight a nine-alarm fire at the May Company, downtown department store, was "beyond a question of a doubt" the work of firebug.

Travers said preliminary findings of the arson squad indicated the blaze, which swept the store's fifth floor Monday night, was the work of "experienced" incendiarists.

HOAX GIRL—Jacqueline Mae Stang, 17-year-old Long Beach, Calif., high school girl, is shown above telling a story of being abducted and tortured to a deputy sheriff but later she confessed she herself had inflicted the cuts and burns on her body which she told police were the work of her assailant.

Girl Admits Her Story Of Abduction Was Hoax

Teen-Ager Inflicted Cuts, Burns On Body

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Police announced today that a pretty 17-year-old high school girl's story of being abducted by a man, bound, gagged, then disrobed and tortured, much in the manner of Los Angeles' recent "Black Dahlia" case, has turned out to be a hoax.

Juvenile authorities said that Jacquelin Mae Stang, daughter of a Long Beach businessman, had confessed she herself had inflicted the cuts and burns on her body which she told police were the work of her assailant.

Discrepancies In Stories

"She admits her whole story is a hoax," Juvenile Bureau Director Joseph H. Kennick announced after authorities had found discrepancies in two stories she told.

"Could it be despondency over differences with your boy friend that caused you to tell this story?" a juvenile officer asked Miss Stang.

"It could be," she answered.

The girl was taken to the city health physician's office late today for a physical examination. A police physician said she had not been raped.

Bound Herself

Police said she told them she was en route home from Long Beach Polytechnic High School late yesterday when a man accosted her from behind, placed a gloved hand over her mouth and she lost consciousness. She said she believed she had been chloroformed.

"When I came to, I had no clothes on," police said she related. "The man was scratching me. He blew cigaret smoke into my mouth and laughed fiendishly. He burned my left wrist with a cigaret."

Kennick said the girl had admitted she bound herself with strips of her own underclothing, burned her wrist and inflicted cuts on her body.

Army Plane Begins 4,978-Mile Honolulu To New York Flight

HONOLULU, Feb. 27 (AP) — A United States Army twin-engined P-82 took off today in an attempt to smash all long-distance fighter plane records with a non-stop flight to New York.

The new type fighter, the Betty Jo, took off at 3:05 p. m. (8:35 p. m., Eastern Standard Time) and its pilot and co-pilot expected to land 14 hours later at New York.

The plane carried 30,000 pounds—nearly half of that fuel—in what was believed to be the heaviest load ever taken aloft by a fighter. It expected to have enough fuel left when it reach New York for 200 miles of flight.

The twin-engine, long-range fighter plane was loaded with more than seven tons of gasoline for the 4,978-mile haul across the Pacific and the continental United States.

Secret Conference Stirs Speculation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — A top secret conference by President Truman, his diplomatic advisers and key legislators stirred speculation today that some diplomatic decision of world import might be in the making.

Its importance was underscored by the fact that all the conferees were pledged to secrecy. Nine congressmen, including the Republican chiefs of the Foreign and Appropriations Committees, were consulted by the President but none would go beyond an announcement of Chariman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee:

"On the eve of Secretary (of State) Marshall's departure for Moscow we had a general discussion of the European problem which is involved in the approaching meeting."

The session, for which Marshall and his staff will leave March 5, was arranged to consider the peace treaty for Germany. But it will be the first meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Britain and France since Britain's economic plight came to a head in the industrial shutdown forced by the coal shortage, leading to some talk that Britain might be forced to reduce her political and military commitments.

Gas, Kerosene Prices Boosted By Standard

NEW YORK, Feb 27 (AP)—Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today announced advances up to three-tenths of one cent a gallon in the posted terminal prices for motor fuels and aviation gasoline, and increases up to two-tenths of a cent in kerosene, effective March 1.

The company said the advances were made to meet increases in the wholesale market at refineries.

At other than terminal points, the company added, the added cost of transportation in such states which have authorized the new tariffs will be included in the new tank car and tank wagon prices.

The following states will be affected: New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana.

Jeweler Says Many Hesse Gems Missing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Bernard N. Burnstine, Washington jeweler, said today during a recess in Col. Jack W. Durant's trial for theft of the Hesse crown jewels that $1,000,000 worth of the gems are still missing.

Burnstine made the statement to reporters after testifying in court as to the value of a glittering array of diamonds, rubies, pearls, sapphires and emeralds exhibited by the army as part of the loot recovered so far. The Hesse fortune in gems has been valued at $1,500,000 to $7,000,000.

Cost Of Living Drops But Rising Wholesale Prices Might Boost It

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — A 10-month steady rise in the cost of living came to a halt in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Its figures suggested, however, that a new advance might be in store.

The bureau said the cost of living index as of January 15 was about .1 of one per cent lower than the postwar peak of mid-December.

The decline reflected a decrease in food costs. All other items in the cost of living index, such as clothing, fuel, electricity, household furnishings and services, increased during the month.

While the mid-January statistics were the latest available on the cost of living, the Labor Bureau reported that its index of wholesale prices covering about 900 food and non-food items reached a record level last week.

This was the second consecutive weekly rise to a record height. It might mean higher prices at retail stores unless housewives balk at paying them.

Agriculture Department officials expressed confidence that the general level of food costs will not climb back to the postwar peak of last November despite recent increases in prices of hogs and some grains.

They said they foresee a gradual decline in food prices this year, although there may be occasional minor fluctuations caused by temporary market shortages of some items.

Subcommittee To Investigate Albanian Issue

U. N. Council Votes 8-0 To Set Up Group

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today set up a three-nation subcommittee to investigate British mine-laying charges against Albania after wrangling two hours on whether Russia had a right to veto such a step.

The vote was 8 to 0 with Russia, Poland and Syria abstaining.

Immediately after the ballot, the council debated composition of the subcommittee for another hour and finally selected Australia, Colombia and Poland. The core of this discussion centered on Russia's insistence that Poland be given a seat.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko was unable to muster any support for his contention that the step of setting up a subcommittee was substantive and thus subject to veto. He finally said he would abstrain, but insisted that he held the power to block the move.

The subcommittee resolution, submitted by Australia, provides that the group report back to the council not later than March 10. The three-man body is empowered to gather further information here from the parties to the dispute and "make a report on the facts of the case as disclosed by such evidence."

Two members of the subcommittee—Colombia and Poland—already have indicated their belief that the case should be referred to the International Court of Justice.

The British accused Albania of responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel where two British destroyers were damaged last October 22. Forty-four sailors were killed in the incident and London seeks an apology and compensation for loss of life and property.

Battle Over Economic Plan For Europe Looms

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—A new battle between Russia and the western powers over measures to rebuild Europe's war-wrecked economy appeared to be shaping up tonight as delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council prepared for the opening of their fourth session tomorrow.

This issue was high on the crowded agenda, which was expected to keep the 18-nation council in session for at least three weeks.

The major question involved was the proposed creation of a special economic commission to co-ordinate the economic development of Europe and a similar commission for Asia and the Far East. This proposal, backed by the United States and Great Britain, was bitterly opposed by Russia when it came before the council last fall.

The Soviet attitude was modified somewhat during the General Assembly debate on the question and Russia finally voted for a resolution which called on the Economic and Social Council to "give prompt and favorable consideration" to the creation of these commissions.

The main fight during the coming session is expected to be over the duties and functions of the commissions, rather than over the question of their creation. Russia has contended that more emphasis should be placed on immediate measures instead of long-term planning as advocated by the western powers.

House Expected To Pass Portal Pay Bill Today

Sabath And Cellar Blast Legislation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) called upon his fellow Democrats today to "stand with the working man" and beat the portal pay bill but the House debate made it evident a large group of them will vote with the nearly-solid Republicans to pass it.

The measure, to be voted on tomorrow, would permit employers to plead "good faith" as a defense in suits to recover for overtime pay under the wage-hour law, bar suits seeking pay for activities not covered by formal or implied agreements, eliminate double damages, fix a one-year statute of limitations for claims, and permit out-of-court settlements.

"Vicious" Measure

"I hope the Democratic party will stand with the working man and that the country next year will elect a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President," declared Sabath in labeling the bill "vicious anti-labor legislation."

The opposition concentrated its fire on the section which would allow employers to claim "good faith" as a defense.

Leading the opposition, Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee, acknowledged that he was "swimming against the tide."

"Hysteria" Is Cited

But he contended that advocates of the bill "under the guise of blocking portal suits are attacking and emasculating the Fair Labor Standards Act."

He and Sabath argued that there is a "great deal of hysteria" over the portal suits—now amounting to $5,785,000,000. Both, too, said that some of these suits are "good, some bad." Sabath claimed the "bad" ones are the exception rather than the rule.

Gas Station Blast Kills Five Persons

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., Feb. 27 (AP)—Five persons were killed and another was critically injured in an explosion of undetermined origin that wrecked a service station at 11:05 a. m. today on a busy corner three blocks from downtown Bristol.

The explosion, which apparently came from one of two gasoline storage tanks beneath the service station, sent sheets of flame spurting into the air, hurtled huge blocks of concrete several hundred feet, wrecked five automobiles and a pickup truck and shattered windows of several nearby stores and the First Baptist Church.

Dead Are Identified

Workmen continued delving in the wreckage tonight although authorities reported only the five known dead. They were identified as:

Frank Robinette, Sr., 51, owner of the station; Frank Robinette, Jr., 22, son of the operator; J. S. Smithson, 32, Pulaski, Va., a customer; Howard Darter, 25, a farmer of nearby Tennessee, and Charlie Entry, also a farmer of the same neighborhood.

Jasper Richardson, 41, Bristol, was in a hospital with injuries described as critical, and six other persons were slightly hurt. One was four-months-old Ralph Cash, Jr., who was tossed from his bed against a steam radiator in his home.

Both Police Chief W. J. Rogers and Fire Chief W. A. Buckles said they had been unable to determine the cause of the explosion, which demolished the brick station and shattered windows in buildings within a radius of several blocks.

Battle Fire For Two Hours

"I saw a huge yellow flame shoot up and suddenly the air was full of debris," said J. J. Smith, Jr., operator of a grocery store across the street from the station. "The blast knocked me to the floor of my store."

Firemen battled the resulting blaze for nearly two hours before they brought it under control. A gas main was broken by the explosion and firemen ordered the gas turned off to prevent another blast, Buckles reported.

Rogers said there apparently was no basis for an earlier report that two children were trapped in the fire-seared wreckage.

Recession Can Be Avoided, CPA Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration said today that a recession can be avoided in 1947 by intelligent cooperation of management and labor but warned that if a dip does come it may mean 6,000,000 unemployed by year's end.

The agency's economic staff published a 44-page booklet entitled "Production Outlook 1947" which said two sets of forces are pushing the economy in different directions.

On the one hand are inflationary forces which on the basis of past history, particularly that of 1919-21, would tend to "presage a mild recession starting before long."

On the other are special sustaining forces such as the large backlog of demand for producer and consumer durable goods.

Under the pressure of these contending forces, the report says, the economic trend may take either of these two courses:

A.—Production and employment to continue at or slightly above the present level, prices to rise only very moderately during the first half of the year and decline equally slowly during the second half.

B.—An alternative (which corresponds more closely to the pattern of previous business cycles) of sharper increases in prices and a very small expansion in production during the first half of 1947, followed by a substantial although not very severe decline in production, employment and prices, extending into 1948.

Ships Disabled As Fierce Gales Sweep Atlantic

Fishing Schooner Sinks; Crew Saved

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fierce, sporadic storms, with winds up to 60 miles an hour whipping up mountainous seas, swept across the Atlantic today, sinking a fishing schooner and imperiling at least six other ocean-going vessels.

The gales, which have plagued the Atlantic shipping lanes for five days, are expected to continue, the Coast Guard said.

Nine crewmen on a fishing schooner, "Catherine L. Brown," were taken off the sinking vessel after losing an all-night battle against rising water. The schooner developed a leak in the heavy seas.

The tanker S.S. Calusa radioed the Coast Guard that it had removed the crew and that the fishing vessel was going down rapidly 80 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.

Freighter Loses Propeller

The Navy tug Mosopelea fought gale winds 230 miles northeast of Bermuda in an effort to take in tow the freighter, S.S. Georgie, which sent out an S.O.S. Tuesday after losing her propeller. The tug succeeded in getting one tow line aboard but lost it.

The former Chesapeake Bay liner President Warfield, which participated in the invasion of Normandy, was taken in tow by the Coast Guard cutter Cherokee off the Virginia coast and reached Hampton Roads, Va., safely. The liner had reported springing a leak in rough seas.

Also in distress 245 miles southeast of Bermuda was the schooner Winifred Maris. The Navy tug Hoist, however, was standing by to aid her although gales prevented the rescue vessel from getting a line aboard at once.

The old Cape Verde packet Lucy and Evelyn, a three-masted schooner, wallowed in heaving seas 150 miles southeast of Cape Cod light, stripped of all but her mizzen sail.

Sighted By Trawler

She had no radio but was sighted by a Boston trawler. The Coast Guard cutter Legare was speeding to her aid. A navy plane also was dispatched to help the Legare find the schooner. The Lucy and Evelyn was en route from Africa to New Bedford, Mass., but already had been brought disabled into Norfolk 11 days ago.

The tanker Contreras, which normally has a crew of 48, radioed that it was disabled 50 miles east of Key West, Fla., the Coast Guard reported.

Another fishing vessel, the dragger Rainbow, became disabled 60 miles east of Boston, her home port, but was towed in by the Coast Guard.

Hotels And Restaurants Will Get More Sugar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—OPA officials said today that larger sugar rations will be given hotels, restaurants and other eating places when they apply for their May-June allotments.

The increase, it was said, "will be consistent with other ration increases."

The officials said that sugar allocations will be boosted for nearly all industrial and institutional users as a result of the increased supplies allowed the United States for 1947 by the International Emergency Food Council.

Recommends That U. S. Pay $475,500,000

Called Essential Peace Contribution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Herbert Hoover recommended to President Truman today that the United States pay $475,500,000 for food for German civilians in the 18 months beginning last January 1 as an essential contribution to peace and order in the Western World.

He urged that this sum not be "an irrecoverable expenditure" and that it be stipulated in all peace arrangements that the money be repaid from any future German net exports "before any other payments to other nations of any kind."

Such repayments thus would come ahead of reparations.

Hoover made the proposal in a formal report to President Truman after investigating relief needs in Central Europe. He expanded on it by telling reporters at the White House today that conditions all over Europe are the worst in 50 years.

"Pretty grim," he summed up.

"Everybody Is Cold"

He said railroads are still disorganized and that "everybody is cold" in Northern and Central Europe, where frozen canals and rivers do not permit shipment of coal even by barge.

Hoover said he will make another report to Mr. Truman probably next week, on Austrian needs and on how to develop German industries to the point that Germany can pay for food furnished by the United States and Great Britain.

On Capitol Hill, Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said the Senate Appropriations Committee would want a detailed explanation by the former President before it votes relief funds.

In a report on his recent economic mission to Germany and Austria, the former President said "it may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for these people.

"Indeed, it is something new in Human history for the conqueror to undertake. Whatever the policies might have been that would have avoided this expense, we now are faced with it. And we are faced with it until the export industries of Germany can be sufficiently revived for their food. The first necessity or such a revival is sufficient food upon which to maintain vitality to work.

Sees No Other Course

"Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace; if we want to preserve the safety and health of our army of occupation; if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order; if we want to reduce the size and expense of our army of occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have here outlined."

Hoover estimated that supplies which Great Britain and this country would have to furnish for the 41,700,000 German civilians in their combined occupation zones would cost $384,000,000 for the first six months of this year and $567,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Each nation would pay half of the costs.

The former Republican President returned from Europe last Sunday after spending three weeks abroad. President Truman asked him to undertake the survey after American military government authorities had requested huge sums for food for civilians.

State-Wide Use Of "Fast" Time Defeated; Teachers Assured Of Pay Increases

Finance Committee Report Is Adopted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP) — Maryland's school teachers and their principals becam evirtually assured of pay became virtually assured measure for new minimum salaries advanced to the passage stage in the State Senate.

Without debate or amendment, the Senate adopted a favorable report of the Finance Committee on a bill which would set an annual minimum of $2,000 for beginners without degrees and $2,200 for first year teachers who hold degrees.

The present minimum by law is $1,500 a year for both classes.

Under the new bill, both classes would receive $100 a year increases with experience. Thus, teachers with degrees could advance to $3,800 after 17 years of service. Non-degree teachers could go to $3,600 after 16 years.

Principals with graduate credi would receive amounts ranging from $400 to $1,200 in excess of those provided for the teachers, depending upon the number of assistant instructors under their supervision.

At the same time, the Senate received a bill sponsored by President Byrnes (D-Balto 5th) and Sen. Sothoron (D-Prince George's), George (D-Queen Anne's) and Guy Johnson (D-Cecil) to create an incentive fund to help meet the cost of the increases. It was referred to the finance committee.

The measure, which also would

No Floor Battle Develops On Issue

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP) — Farm delegations and legislators from District of Columbia border counties rose up today to defeat any state-wide use of dayiight time in Maryland this year.

At the same time, the House agreed unanimously that Baltimore County could have fast time. Baltimore City will have it by virtue of a referendum held last November.

The House vote against dayiight time, coming after weeks of backing and filling on the question, was 62 to 51.

The delegations from Montgomery and Prince George's Counties, which border on Washington, had been more or less for fast time until Congress vetoed it for the District of Columbia. Whereupon, they changed their previous position.

Contrary to expectations, no floor battle develped on the issue. Delegate Newcomer (R-Washington), a vigorous opponent of fast time, delivered a brief oration to the effect that legislators should not interfere with affairs of "the creator of the universe."

He declared that three persons in written history had directed that time be changed—Joshua of the Bible when the sun stood still at Jericho, President Woodrow Wilson during World War I and President Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II.

Calendar Cuties Must Wear Some Clothes, Post Office People Say

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—No naked calendar cuties, the Post Office Department warned today. If these calendars are to go through the mails, the girls will have to wear some clothes.

This information was in a bulletin to postmasters from coast to coast.

The Post Office people pointed out that the rule against mailing "obscene, lewd and lascivious matter" is still on the books.

And naked women on calendars, it added, are mighty apt to come under that classification.

Now suppose some nosey postmaster peeks at a calendar and—great day in the morning! Nekkid as a jaybird!

What does he do then?

No, ship the calendar right along to Washington, urge the Post Office big shots, and let us look at her.

Naturally our reporter on maidens and morals hastily hunted up Frank J. Delany, the department's solicitor, for more light on this cultural subject.

In the first place, why did this warning go out at the end, rather than the start, of the calendar mailing season?

"It's true this is the end of the calendar rush," said Delany. "But nude calendars bob up all year around.

Bevin Reaffirms British And American Solidarity

Britain To Support Four-Power Pact

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin reaffirmed today British-American solidarity despite "misunderstanding" over Palestine and said Britain would support at the Moscow conference the American proposal for a 25-year four-power pact to insure German demilitarization.

In the only reference to the storm aroused in the United States by his charge that President Truman had wrecked negotiations for a Palestine settlement by issuing a statement during the 1946 congressional election campaign, Bevin told the House of Commons:

"While there may have been some misunderstanding over the matter debated in this house two days ago, this is a matter which stands by itself. On all questions our relations with the United States are of the most cordial character, and we for our part will not allow any wedge to be driven between the two countries to disturb our friendship."

The White House issued a statement last night describing as "unfortunate and misleading" the British implication that Mr. Truman's statement had been motivated by political considerations.

Bevin said also that he hoped the pending British-French treaty would be signed "soon." Reliable reports from Paris said that Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault would sign the pact at a port on the French channel coast next Wednesday.

In a brief reference to negotiations for revision of the 20-year British-Soviet alliance Bevin remarked "I cannot help wishing that the Soviet government had taken the matter up in the first place through diplomatic channels." He referred to the article in the Moscow newspaper Pravda which gave the first indication Russia was not satisfied with the existing treaty on mutual defense.

Mother Doesn't Believe Boy, 9, Hanged Himself

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Nine-year-old Bruce Jennings responded to oxygen tent treatment at City Hospital today and his mother said she had asked the State's Attorney's office to investigate a police report the boy was found hanging from a coat hook in the cloakroom at his school.

"Bruce was happy and singing when he left home," said Mrs. Rose Irwin, his mother. "I do not believe he would hang himself."

Physicians said the lad's condition still is critical. He was unconscious when found and failed to respond to artificial respiration. A doctor brought him around with stimulants.

Two Military Prisoners Flee Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—District police said tonight that two "dangerous" military prisoners escaped from Walter Reed Hospital today after overpowering a guard.

The Sixth Precinct listed the escapees as Pvt. Jesse C. Trent, 22, from Chicago, who was serving five years for grand larceny and forgery, and Pvt. Edwin J. Sulinski, 28, of Brooklyn, who was sentenced to eight years for grand larceny.

Guarded by one soldier while working a ground detail at the hospital, police said they were informed the two knocked the guard down when he momentarily turned his back and seized his automatic pistol.

The guard reported that they discussed tying him up and quoted Trent as saying "Aw, let's shoot him now." He said he jumped up and ran toward the guardhouse and the prisoners fled in the other direction.

U. S. Army officers in World War II accounted for 13 per cent of battle deaths, a little higher than their proportionate strength of 10 per cent.

Corporation Will Make Newsprint From Waste

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—Formation of a $1,000,000 corporation to manufacture newsprint from de-inked waste newspaper was announced today by Frank B. Oldham, president of the American Industrial Company.

Oldham said the new firm, Newsprint Corporation of America, would be licensed by American Industrial to use the sterling pulp process, a de-inking method he developed before the recent war.

The new firm will reclaim waste newsprint by a "cold water process with low conversion cost and a small loss of fibre," Oldham said.

He described the process as both chemical and mechanical, requiring about 30 minutes.

Educational Program Endorsed By Legion

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP) — The Maryland Department of the American Legion today endorsed the educational program now before the General Assembly at Annapolis and pleaded particularly for higher pay for teachers.

The endorsement was embodied in a statement issued by John T. Boschen, Maryland commander.

"Underpaying our teachers is creating a dangerous situation," he said. "Good, capable teachers are leaving the school system in droves. We must pay them a living wage if we are to keep them."

Sheriffs' Fee System Bill Far From Dead

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—The debate-laden bill to abolish the sheriffs' fee system, given up for dead five days ago, took a new lease on life today as it sailed serenely over two legislative hurdles.

It passed the Senate 22-9 and when reported immediately in the House, scene of a rebellious uprising last Monday over newspaper criticism of its lack of action on this legislation, the bill's proponents won a major victory by getting it placed on the calendar.

By a vote of 65-25, the House approved a motion to take up the measure for immediate consideration, just one hour after it had passed the Senate and was carried by special messenger to the delegates' chamber.

Deep Ravines In Volcano Side Slow Flow Of Lava

PALERMO, Sicily, Feb. 27 (AP) — Deep ravines in the side of Mt. Etna appeared tonight to have canalized and slowed the flood of molten lava which for the last three days has threatened several Sicilian villages.

The flow was described by one observer from the air as "a snake with gleaming scales, moving sluggishly."

The lava still made headway tonight, but at a much slower rate than the 400 to 500 yards an hour reported earlier. Barring a new outburst from the crater it appeared that the flashing mass would falter and halt before cutting its way to the sea.

Owners Mourn Passing Of Saluting Raccoon

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Feb. 27 (AP) — "Sandy" has died of old-age, and his owners mourn the passing of "the world's only flag-saluting raccoon."

The animal, which had travelled more than 75,000 miles through 31 states and Cuba, succumbed February 25 at the age of 21. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thompson, said whenever the Star Spangled Banner was played, "Sandy" would sit upright, fold his left forefoot across his chest, and salute the American flag with his right.

House Subpoena For Marshall Is Issued, Recalled

Bradley Charges Headline Hunting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — A House subpoena was issued today for Secretary of State Marshall but recalled when the State Department furnished the information that was sought and Rep. Bradley (R-Mich) rebuked a colleague who started the fuss.

Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio), chairman of a House Merchant Marine Subcommittee investigating the status of 95 ships lend-leased to Russia and not returned, issued the subpoena. It called for Marshall to appear tomorow with all the correspondence with Moscow on the subject.

But Bradley, chairman of the full committee, stepped in with a crack about headline hunting and called a halt before the House Sergeant at Arms, William F. Russell, could serve it.

Weichel Learns Lesson

Later Bradley formally ordered it cancelled and Weichel said he would issue no subpoenas in future without the approval of Bradley and Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

This came about after Marshall spoke by telephone with Weichel and sent Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to the Capitol with information Weichel sought.

Acheson gave this report to Bradley and Weichel:

On March 18, 1946, the United States broached the subject of a settlement for the ships.

On April 22, the Soviets replied that they would discuss the matter in a general lend-lease settlement.

Russia Won't Reply

On September 14, the State Department answered that it would be glad to have a lend-lease settlement but wanted to discuss the matter of the ships separately. There was no reply.

On Oct. 31, the department requested a reply and suggested the Russians either buy the ships or return them. Again no reply.

On December 31, Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith sent a note on the subject to Foreign Minister Molotov. Still no reply.

Weichel told reporters this information makes his subpoena unnecessary. Bradley had protested that Marshall "has a lot of other things on his mind more important than those damn ships."

Huge Carrier Returns Home "One-Man" Ship

QUONSET POINT, R. I., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Navy's massive aircraft carrier, Philippine Sea, came home from the Antarctic today—a "one man" ship virtually dedicated to the courage of a St. Martinsville, La., pilot whose plane crashed and burned in the barren Arctic.

Lt. (jg) Ralph P. LeBlanc was the "one man," who despite the amputation of both legs and severe burns, forced a smile for newsmen and photographers after the carrier tied up here, her first United States stop after logging 19,000 nautical miles on Adm. Richard E. Byrd's third trip to Little America.

LeBlanc was pilot of a Martin Mariner that crashed into a ledge at the "bottom of the world," killing three men, and marooning six others for 10 days.

Late Author's Mansion Near Clarksburg Burns

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—Post Manor, showplace home of the late American author, Melville Davisson Post, was completely destroyed tonight by fire that apparently originated in a short circuit in the attic wiring, Fire Chief J. J. Martin, of Clarksburg, said.

Martin said the 23-room Swiss-chalet style mansion, located about 10 miles from Clarksburg on the Buckhannon Road, burned completely to the ground as firemen from Clarksburg and Meadow Fork stood by helplessly after saving some of the furniture.

Three Killed In Crash And Explosion Of Truck

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 27 (AP)—The crash and explosion of a heavy truck near here left three persons dead and eight others injured tonight.

The driver of the truck, bearing highly inflammable materials, was killed outright when the vehicle crashed into the side of a concrete bridge at Floyd's Fork.

Two bystanders were burned fatally when the truck exploded, dousing a circle of spectators with the flaming fluid. They were identified as Andrew Seward, 35, and Tyler Simpson, 64, both of Anchorage. Both died late today in General Hospital here.

The driver, identified as Jerry Willis, 28, Corbin, Ky., was hurled more than 25 feet and his body was severely burned.

2,400 Buffalo Teachers Move To End Walkout

Demand Assurances Of 1947 Pay Boost

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The president of the Buffalo Teachers Federation said tonight that the city's 98 strike-bound schools "could be open by Monday" with official assurances that state-proposed pay increases would be effective this year.

Raymond J. Ast declared in a prepared radio statement that today's report of Gov. Dewey's Special Education Committee "on the surface appears to be attractive."

Must Have Assurances

"We must have assurance from the Legislature that they will act on legislation to incorporate the committee's proposals into law for 1947-48," said Ast. "We must have assurance from the Governor that he will sign the bill."

The committee recommended a $2,250-$4,510 scale in Buffalo.

Mayor Bernard J. Dowd was not immediately available for comment on AST's statement, but earlier maintained that the problem was one for the state to solve.

The closing of the 98 public schools did not affect 30,000 children attending diocesan and parochial schools.

Committee's Recommendations

The Dewey committee recommended, effective July 1, a pay scale of $2,200-$4,510, with $2,400-$4,710 for those with master's degrees, for cities of 100,000 to 1,000,000. Buffalo's population is 575,901.

The present Buffalo scale is $1,875-$2,575 elementary teachers and $2,175-$2,975 for secondary teachers. The federation has been demanding an immediate $1,025 increase for all, with a $2,400 minimum for beginners, increasing to $4,000. It also seeks an immediate $500 cost-of-living bonus.

Gerhart Eisler Indicted For Congress Contempt

Communist Party May Be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Gerhart Eisler, alleged master-mind of American Communism, was indicted for contempt of Congress today while further measures were drafted against him and his party.

Chairman Thomas (R-NJ), of the House Committee on Unamerican Activities, announced the Justice Department is studying possible prosecution of the Communist Party on charges of violating the Corrupt Practices Act. This law requires political parties to report contributions and expenditures.

Thomas told the House his committee is preparing 15 measures aimed at "eliminating unamerican activities."

He introduced one committee bill which would create a "Federal Loyalty Commission" to investigate any government worker whose loyalty it doubts. The commission could order the employe discharged immediately. The worker then could appeal to the commission, but not to a court or any other authority.

United States Attorney George M. Fay said further evidence will be presented to the grand jury here which indicted Eisler for contempt to enable it to determine whether he has violated other statutes.

The Committee on unAmerican Activities seeks his prosecution also on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government, perjury, income tax evasion and passport falsification.

The contempt charge is based on Eisler's refusal to testify under oath when called before the House committee on February 6. The maximum penalty upon conviction would be one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Denounced by his own sister, Ruth Fischer, as a "dangerous terrorist" and by Thomas as the "supreme authority" of Communists in this country, Eisler was returned to the Ellis Island immigration station, New York, after his brief but stormy appearance before the House committee.

British Mining Towns' Food Allocations Hiked

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Britain granted housing priorities and larger food allocations to mining towns tonight in exchange for the miners' pledges of full cooperation in reaching the government's coal production goal.

Prime Minister Attlee announced the new inducements for greater mining efforts while domestic fuel restrictions were being prepared to follow resumption of coal-starved industrial production.

Under the plan for mining centers approved by Attlee's special "coal cabinet," greater allotments of both rationed and unrationed foods will go to the coal areas. No increase in individual rations was indicated, but the rationed foods may be used by restaurants and bakeries.

Attlee's emergency group promised the miners first call on the erection of temporary aluminum houses. It also heard suggestions by heads of the National Union of Mineworkers that taxes be lowered on miners' overtime earnings, but took no action.

Negotiations Recessed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27 (AP)—Contract negotiations between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO-United Steel Workers Union were resumed briefly today and then recessed for an indefinite period.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

OLD JUDGE: "Jerry, the folks up at the hospital asked me to come down and talk to you about heading up the hospital drive. How about it?"

JERRY: "I feel honored, Judge. But there's one thing I'd like to see done."

OLD JUDGE: "What's that, Jerry?"

JERRY: "When they build the new addition I'd like to see them include a clinic for the treatment of chronic alcoholics. The time has come, Judge, when every enlightened community should realize that alcoholism is evidence of a disease that's just as real as any other. Scientists have proved by research it must be treated professionally. You've got to get at the underlying causes of the alcoholic's abnormal behaviour."

OLD JUDGE: "Don't worry about the clinic, Jerry. The plans are all prepared and the Board has already talked to a young, up-and-coming doctor who has studied alcoholism at one of the big universities. As soon as the clinic is ready, he'll come here and take charge."

JERRY: "That's fine, Judge. You can count on me now that we're going at this thing sensibly and scientifically."

Somerset Group Seeks Bus Action

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 27—A protest of the month-long Somerset Bus Company strike is being lodged with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission by the Somerset County Chamber of Commerce.

Action was taken after the Chamber had been deluged with requests from businessmen that "something be done about the transportation tieup."

Emphasizing that the organization is taking no sides in the issue, a spokesman stated that relief will be sought through the PUC. The utility commission will be contacted this week. Business houses in Somerset have complained of a drop in volume of sales and tractions since the strike January 25.

Representatives of the businessmen pointed out that the buses provide the only means of transportation for Somerset, the hub of a large trading area in the Roof Garden district.

Strike-bound for more than a month, there appeared little likelihood today for a quick settlement in the dispute. The 32 drivers and maintenance men left their jobs to press demands for higher wages and settlement of other grievances.

The transportation pinch not only affects Somerset but many other communities in the area served by the Somerset Bus Company. There is no railroad transportation into Somerset.

Local Man Jailed For Drunk Driving

Mrs. Bland sustained a fracture of the left elbow.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace L. M. Yost here, Shives entered pleas of guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and also to driving on a license that had been revoked. He was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail on each charge.

Mother Love

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—Rancher Bob Bakker saw a fawn killed by a train and then watched for hours while another deer, presumably the mother, chased magpies and crows away from the fawn's body. When Bakker walked toward the scene, the deer advanced threateningly and held its ground until the man was within 15 yards, before fear overcame devotion and the animal fled.

Mr. Green's Concessions And Jurisdictional Strikes

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has made two concessions—he is "willing" for Congress to amend the Wagner Labor Act to assure free speech for employers and to have unions register and file financial reports for public consumption. But neither Mr. Green nor any of the labor leaders who have appeared as witnesses before the House labor committee have shown any indication of agreeing to a change in the statute that would outlaw jurisdictional strikes.

At the same time, not one of them has dared to defend such walkouts, but like Mr. Green, President George Q. Lynch of the A. F. of L. Pattern Makers' League, has conceded that in time-employers and the public possibly might be entitled to a little legal protection from such strikes.

Mr. Green of the A. F. of L. contended that the problem should be left to unions. Philip Murray of the CIO invoked some amusement that the House committee put it up to him and Mr. Green to seek a solution. Mr. Lynch, at least, did not make such a suggestion. He said it eventually might be reasonable to deprive unions of Wagner Act protection for jurisdictional strikes that seek to force employers to violate that Federal law.

It might be recalled that President Truman called jurisdictional strikes "indefensible." Most persons will agree that they are an ancient, deeply rooted evil. They are wars between unions, battles for prestige and power, fought at the expense of helpless employers and a helpless public.

Members of the House Labor Committee would need travel less than two miles from where they are sitting to see the effects of one jurisdictional strike, typical of thousands. Completion of a new and greatly needed Washington hospital has been delayed for seven weeks by a dispute over whether a few American Federation of Labor metal workers or a few American Federation of Labor carpenters should install some lockers. The dispute was referred to international officers of the two A. F. of L. unions in January, but has not been settled.

The question involved in many jurisdictional strikes is whether one union or another union shall represent a given group of workers. Many controversies arise because of the bitter A. F. of L.-CIO rivalry, and the workers concerned vote for the union they prefer. But after the votes are counted, after the winning union has been certified by the Labor Board as a majority's choice, after the employer has signed up to deal with that union as the law requires, the losing union—even though it got only a tiny minority of the votes—can strike.

The Wagner Act does not protect the employer who obeys it. His business can be damaged or ruined, and he has no legal recourse. But the Wagner Act, as Mr. Lynch concedes, protects the "right" of the minority workers to conduct a jurisdictional strike. The Supreme Court has so held.

He did not propose legislation to remedy this. Like the other union officers, he objected to all proposals for corrective labor legislation, (except the concessions made by Mr. Green), at this time, sharing the attitude that has caused even so pro-union a Senator as Wayne Morse, of Oregon, to warn labor "leadership" that it is inviting legislation which may go too far. In other words, union leaders hold that the present situation, so far as legislation is concerned, is ideal.

The public, of course, and many union workers know better than that. Memory is not so short that they have forgotten the disastrous strikes of 1946—strikes which on two occasions resulted in a virtual tieup of the country's economy and which revealed the tragic fact that a few men had it in their power to inflict suffering and privation on the people of the United States. To say that Congress should do nothing about this condition is to show a reckless disregard for the future of the nation.

Any revision of the labor laws, David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies' Garment Workers Union, has warned, would be "a body blow to our democracy" and destroy the economic security of the workers. His views are certainly not shared by a large number of union workers. It is not democracy but dictatorship when a John L. Lewis, at his own will and whim, can call a strike of 500,000 miners and not only deprive them of the opportunity of earning a living but make idle additional hundreds of thousands of workers in plants which depend on coal for their operating power. Nor does any American have economic security when at any time a Whitney can stop the wheels of the nation's railroads and prevent the movement of the necessities of everyday life.

Of course, Congress has given no sign that it is impressed by the negative attitude assumed by the labor leaders who have appeared before it. Remembering what happened last year, it is only natural to expect action will be taken to prevent it from happening again, but at the same time protect the rights of labor and employer alike.

In Flight From Ice Belt

Admiral Byrd's speedy evacuation of Little America before the ice belt closes in brings to a sudden end an expedition which has brought sudden and unexpected glimpses of the region around the South Pole. Every time explorers probe that remote and frigid wilderness, they bring back a few scraps of knowledge. Their harvest of recoveries seems richer than usual this time at least to the layman.

The finding of an area of unfrozen lakes on the Antarctic continental rim is one of the most spectacular and also one of the most promising to be reported since explorers first landed on the ice shelf. A later visit there may give the world many clues to the composition of this largely unknown continent and of the riches its ice conceals. It may open the way to settlement and exploitation, although both still seem far away.

In addition to this and other important discoveries the expedition made some rather disconcerting ones. Some of the bays, mountains and other geographical features which Admiral Byrd sighted on previous trips and named after men and women who had given him financial backing have either shifted their location, diminished in size, or in one case, could not be found at all.

This must be something of a disappointment to people who thought they had won a sort of geographical immortality. But this is a matter easily to be remedied as long as there are new and possibly less footloose mountains, lakes and bays to be discovered in Antarctica.

CRUTCHES—MECHANICAL HELPERS

HISTORY neglects to tell us who invented the crutch but it is conceivable that the origin is as old as man. At any rate, an Egyptian mural dating back to 2830 B. C. reveals a gentleman leaning on a T-shaped stick which was shoulder high. This type of crutch apparently endured until the 18th century when carpentry made it possible to saw and split a single upright so that a crosspiece could be inserted halfway down to support the hand. Our modern appliances are essentially the same altho many minor improvements have made them more efficient and comfortable.

Training and practice are needed to acquire skill just as skiers and other sportsmen must learn to manage their tools. This calls for time, strength, balance, and the will to succeed. Some become so adept and can walk as tho they had perfectly sound limbs. Wright tells of a boy who could "turn a corner on one crutch, with the other crutch and both feet whirling thru the air." Every one cannot do so well; a few never master the technic.

Teaching the use of crutches is a highly specialized field and can be classified almost as a science in itself. Many different ways of walking are described which are labeled "crutch gaits." Examples are the four, two, and three point alternate gaits, or the tripod, swinging, or rocking chair variety. The trick is to fit the gait to the patient and this depends on the kind of disability and under what circumstances the mechanical aids are necessary.

An individual who has sprained an ankle or broken a leg usually has no difficulty. The other member is good and besides, the ailing part is encased in a cast. But when the body below the waist is paralyzed, or a limb has been lost, a different situation is presented. For victims of polio, cerebral palsy, spinal cord injuries, and multiple sclerosis, the use of crutches is only one part in the long road to rehabilitation. But the results represent the difference between a lifetime in bed or wheel chair and being able to move about independently. Many other structures must be trained to take over the job of those that are gone. In compensation, muscles in the arms, neck, and head become highly developed.

Before this stage is reached, many must be fitted with corsets and braces to keep the knees and hips locked so that the legs will be steady. Special shoes are sometimes required. From the medical standpoint, being up and about is a tremendous asset. Not only does the individual feel better but exercise increases the circulation, improving all bodily functions. The more sedentary existence may produce pressure sores, wasting of unused muscles, deformities, and stiffness in the joint.

For the incapacitated person, the path is difficult but once dexterity has been attained he becomes self-sufficient and does not have to depend on others for his every need. Deaver and Brown make the following comment: "Every one has some scars somewhere, mental or emotional if not physical; hence an attitude without reference to illness is the proper one to adopt."

In a recent interview President Truman cleared up a mistaken impression by stating flatly that he is not against cats.

It's important he said this because not only the friendship of cat lovers, but possibly the future of America was at stake.

Suppose the cats of America were to feel the President did not love them.

First they'd be merely insulted; then they would grow angry. Picture it—millions of cats of America growing hateful cats whose history goes back to chasing rats on the Mayflower. Cats who licked their whiskers reverently in the silence that followed Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Cats who meowed to the tune of "Over There" in 1918 and "Wait For Me, Mary" in 1943.

No, these cats would not take this sitting down—they would organize and start a march on Washington. With a sudden blow they'd take over the nation—we'd have a "pussy" president, 9 alley cats on the Supreme Court, 96 angoras in the Senate, and so many cats in the House there wouldn't be room for the people.

The national anthem would become "Tom Waits For No Man." The only newspaper published would be the "scratch" sheet, and "Stars and Stripes" would be replaced by the "Flaming Catnip."

Even the hero of the children would be changed to "Santa Claws."

And so, Mr. Truman, as one citizen who likes people, I say "thank you" for keeping the country from going to the cats.

Freight-Car Shortage Could Have Been Avoided If Experts' Pre-war Advice Heeded; Rep. Taber Puts Finger On Army's Waste Notable Speech

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. — The current tragic tie-up of the nation's economy because of the freight-car shrortage might have been saved if the railroads had taken the advice of Washington experts.

It was never published at the time, but, two years before the war, J. Leonard Replogle, former Republican National Committeeman from Florida and expert on the Baruch Board during the last war, gave the railroads a blunt prediction of things to come.

Testifying before the Stettinius Board on National Resources necessary for the impending war, Replogle warned that the country would need 400,000 new freight cars to handle wartime economy. He told the Board that many of the cars now in use were old and would not bear up under the wear and tear of war. He urged a Government loan to finance 400,000 new cars.

This brought loud and vigorous protests from the American Railway Association. Their spokesman, the late J. J. Pelley, replied that the railroads were in good shape and needed no new cars. Nothing was done. Result: Critical steel had to be diverted from building freight cars during the war. And today with equipment getting older and older, there are more wrecks and not enough cars to haul vitally needed goods. Though new freight cars are now being built at the rate of 7,000 a month, old cars should be scrapped at the rate of 7,000 a month. Thus it will take a long time to overcome the present car shortage.

Army Waste

Congressman John Taber of New York put his finger directly on illustrations of Army waste during the closed-door Republican caucus on the budget. Taber, a rigid Congressional economizer, pointed out that the Army is now wasting manpower by maintaining four "liaison" offices on Capitol Hill, presumably to curry favor with Congressmen.

"There was only one such liaison office here during the war," declared Taber, who is Chairman of the Joint Budget Committee. "Why does the Army need four now when we are at peace? Very few members use those offices anyhow." That is just one example of waste, continued Taber. Another, he said, was the billetting of 22 Army officers, plus their staffs, in expensive hotels in Germany for the purpose of preparing a history of the Nuremberg trials.

"There are plenty of competent historians here in the United States, associated with universities, who would be glad to do the job if they were given visitors' visas," thundered the New Yorker. "Why saddle such expense on the taxpayers?"

There was only one brief flare-up at the GOP caucus when Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota began shooting questions at the leaders about whether the economy program was binding or optional upon the Appropriations Committee. This is the committee which actually appropriates the exact dollars and cents going to each Government bureau after Congress fixes the over-all budget for the entire Government.

"This is no time to bring in technicalities," exploded majority leader Charles Halleck of Indiana. "The purpose of the resolution is to decide whether we are for or against economy. It's that simple."

Note—Despite attempts by Congressman Charles Eaton of New Jersey, who is opposed to drastic budget cuts, to adjourn the caucus, Republican leaders invoked a motion proposed by Carl Van Zandt of Pennyslvania that the final secret vote bind every Republican in the House to support the full six-billion budget cut.

Read Around the World

The one-minute speech is one of the oldest institutions of Congress. It is a pet device by which Congressmen get grievance or some other personal project off their chests, usually delivered with one eye on the press gallery and usually forgotten after the speaker's gavel falls.

However, Freshman GOP Representative J. J. Javits of New York, a decorated war vet, made a short talk the other day that was read round the world. The speech was sent by the State Department to our diplomats everywhere because of its cogent analysis of refugee problems. Javits stated, in part:

"The plight of these living dead, the walking casualties of World War II, cries out for help to the conscience of the world. Four-fifths of the one million refugees and displaced persons are Poles, White Russians and Ukrainians, most of whom refuse to be repatriated because of their opposition to the regimes now governing their countries.

"It is a popular misconception that most displaced persons are Jews. In fact, only about 25 per cent of the aggregate number in Austria, Italy and Germany are Jews, while 75 per cent are Christians. The 25 per cent long only for the opening of the Jewish national home in Palestine. The United States is now spending an estimated eight to ten million dollars a month to maintain displaced persons in the American occupation zone in Europe.

"Subject to approval by Congress, the United States has subscribed 45 per cent of the operating budget of the International Refugee Organization under the United Nations. Even Great Britain, despite her own desperate plight, has agreed to subscribe 14 per cent. Canada has joined, as have France, Norway, Liberia, The Philippines, Denmark, Honduras, The Dominican Republic and Guatemala, bringing subscriptions to almost 75 per cent of the required IRO budget.

"Let us pray that, with united effort through this International Refugee Organization and through a just solution in Palestine, a ray of light may be introduced into the blackness which is life for the displaced persons and refugees in Europe in 1947."

Capital Chaff

Congratulations to Solicitor General "Shorty" Andrews of Georgia and his assistant, Paul Webb, for their conviction of the pro-Nazi Columbians . . . Herbert Hoover's quick return from Europe is in order to testify in favor of a large appropriation by which the American Army can feed Europe. He will oppose a drastic cut in the budget.

Congressional tax experts decided to reduce the 25 per cent communications tax following an urgent plea from officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who reported that Western Union faced an $8,000,000 deficit this year because great numbers of telegram-senders have refused to pay the tax and are switching to airmail.

Six Billion Dollars Represents Lifetime Toil Of 60,000 Men

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

What is six billion dollars anyway? Look at it this way: If a man earns one dollar an hour, forty hours a week, and has steady work for fifty years from the time he is twenty until he becomes three score and ten, he will earn $100,000. This shows that one billion dollars represents the uninterrupted lifetime work of ten thousand men. Six billion dollars are the life earnings of sixty thousand men. So, instead of talking about saving six billion dollars, let us ask whether we want to save the lifetime toil of sixty thousand men. Wouldn't you think a long time before sentencing sixty thousand young men to a life sentence to support one year's waste in Washington?

The Philadelphia Record and the Camden Courier have been sold, throwing sixteen hundred men out of jobs. The owner, David Stern, says the strike that forced him to this decision, was Communist inspired.

Stern's troubles are highlighted by a recent strike in Paris that shut down all non-Communist papers. The Communist papers were printed. This was followed by a city-wide strike in which all civil service employees quit cold—police, postmen, everybody.

Mr. Roosevelt's policy of coddling Communists, pardoning Browder, admitting Mrs. Browder, harassing the Dies Committee, giving Communists army commissions and government jobs, appeasing Stalin, etc., has lost its last sweet smell. Fortunately, President Truman has apparently decided to sign off as the executor of this policy.

Republicans should stop thinking as Republicans but rather as Americans. They need the help of Americans. That includes men like Congressman Bob Doughton of North Carolina who voted with the Republicans to cut federal spending by six billion dollars. The Republicans could not have passed the "no third term" amendment the other day without Democratic votes. Nor will they correct the worst abuses in labor without the same support. As some few Republicans go New Deal, the rest of them will need the Democrats who stay American.

In the judgement of the international court trying war criminals at Nuremberg, Germany, I read these words: "Only party members were appointed as judges." That was charged against the masters, and monsters, of the Nazi party. While they were doing that, what were we doing here in America? The same thing.

Britain is shut down. Not so well known is the fact that 75% of all factories in the United States zone in Germany have also been closed for lack of coal and transport. So, as Germans can't work, Americans must work harder and tax themselves more to keep Germans alive. Such is the bitter fruit of the Morganthau "potato field" policy for Germany.

I suggest this epitaph for the grave of O. Max Gardner, poor boy who became Governor of North Carolina and Ambassador to Great Britain. Gardner wrote it himself: "Three words, taxes, borrowing and spending stand as silent monuments to mark the fall and decline of character, credit and governmental stability in every hamlet, city and state throughout the length and breadth of this nation."

Bevin-Truman Incident Evidence Of Intimacy Of Governments

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—It is evidence of the informality and intimacy which prevails between the British and American governments that a Prime Minister in London should be speaking of American politics as o motivating factor in the decision of President Truman on the Palestinian question and that the American President should be making a reply that the charge is unfounded.

In times gone by—that is, many years ago—it would have been considered quite an affront for a friendly government to comment on a matter so plainly internal as the party politics of this country. But Prime Minister Attlee of the Labor Government has been an observer in the debates in Parliament under his distinguished predecessor, Winston Churchill.

It will be recalled that not so long ago Mr. Churchill expressed some irritation when the question of fixing the boundaries of Poland and other phases of the Polish controversy were up for consideration. Mr. Churchill didn't hesitate to say that consideration of American politics had made the settlement of that problem difficult for Mr. Roosevelt and he mentioned with some impatience the influence of the Polish vote in the United States as a factor in the presidential elections of 1944.

Practice Not Followed Here

There have been occasions when American observers, not necessarily officials, have called attention to activities in British politics which have prompted some expression of public policy. But it is doubtful whether the records will yield any public comment on British politics by any American official and certainly none from any American Secretary of State.

So perhaps the British and American administrations of today have put aside the formalities of previous procedure and now speak right up when it comes to explaining what goes on in the making of foreign policy.

It is, of course, not any surprise to find that American interest in external questions is sometimes related to domestic politics. For many years Americans of Irish descent pleaded their cause and obtained not only resolutions of sympathy at national party conventions but spoke through representatives in Congress who had constituencies with large Irish populations.

Way back when Britain was involved in a war with the Boers in South Africa, the Democratic Party pleased its Irish-American constituents by adopting a plank expressing sympathy with the Boers.

To find the Palestinian question entangled with American politics, therefore, is in line with tradition. The United States is made up of many groups which have their origin in other lands. There are various societies composed of descendants of European immigrants. Whenever a question affecting these same countries arises, it usually means petitioning letters or communications or resolutions from these societies addressed to American members of Congress or officials of the Department of State. The inference always is that the voting power of these groups may be exercised to support their pleas.

Wilson's Irish Plea Recalled

Perhaps the most important instance of behind-the-scenes influence of such political groups occurred during World War I. The late President Wilson undertook, quite informally but nevertheless firmly to urge upon the British government a settlement of the then-turbulent Irish question, and he pointed to the necessity for welding American sentiment behind the war issues rather than to allow irritations to grow to the point that some feeling for Britain inside the U. S. would be alienated. It is believed that Mr. Wilson did help in shaping what was subsequently determined upon as British policy in Ireland.

During the same period, Mr. Wilson used his influence with Foreign Secretary Balfour of the British government to obtain a declaration with respect to the future of Palestine which was regarded as of the utmost importance at the time and was called the "Balfour Declaration." There was no secret about the fact that influential groups in the United States brought about Mr. Wilson's action.

Susceptible of Explicit Proof

The question of where political or vote consideration begin and end and how much the actions of Mr. Wilson or Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Truman, respectively, were swayed by a feeling that the minority groups were asking for justice or by a desire to please a substantial segment of the electorate is not, of course, susecptible of any explicit proof. It is a fact that throughout American history, American political parties and substantial numbers of men in the House and Senate have expressed sympathy with oppressed peoples or with groups striving for independence.

Quite often in our history the Department of State, in tactful and discreet but nevertheless plain language, has indicated American sympathy with groups seeking to improve their lot under foreign rulers. This has been a policy of Republican as well as Democratic presidents, and not much new is added when a British Prime Minister raises the issue. Those observers familiar with politics in Britain will confirm what Senator Brewster of Maine, Republican, said this week in the Senate about the pledges made, during the British Labor Party campaign last year with regard to Palestine.

The whole incident merely makes more or less of a record of how international policy nowadays is influenced to some extent in all countries by the sympathizers with particular causes existing outside their borders.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Billy Rose

I'd appreciate it if Mr. Burpee would take me off his list. Every year around this time, he sends me a fancy seed catalogue. It's illustrated with pictures of pumpkins big as Cinderella's coach. It shows lima beans so big that if Glenn Davis saw one he'd scoop it up and run for a touchdown.

Each year I'm seduced. Every spring I send for the little packets, put on the Lum'n' Abner hat, and go back to the soil. Every fall, my bookkeeper tells me the radishes cost enough for my wife to wear them for earrings.

Tell you how I got into the farming business. Four or five summers ago, the Department of Agriculture asked all large-scale users of food to grow as much of ther own stuff as they could. This included me, on account of because I got a cabaret.

I went right to it. I had once successfully cultivated a window-box on 54th Street, and figured farming was pretty much the same thing, only more of it. Eleanor was all for it, and immediately had Hattie Carnegie run her up a pair of overalls.

The only skeptic was the experienced farmer who takes care of my place up at Mt. Kisco. "I hope you know what you're letting yourself in for," he told me.

The day after we planted the seeds, I got up early and went out to look at my garden.

Nothing.

Next day, likewise.

When the first bit of green peeked out of the ground, Eleanor had to stop me from pulling it up and pressing it between the pages of my diary. When the first green button appeared on a tomato plant; I began inquiring about the nearest county fair. I could hardly wait for what was going to come up.

What came up was Japanese beetles.

I went after these shiny monsters with everything but an injunction. I sprayed the plants with insecticide. The beetles lapped it up and looked around for a chaser.

When a dry spell came, I took it pretty hard. I didn't think it was funny when my missus suggested we plant onions next to potatoes, so the onions would make the potato eyes water and irrigate the soil.

In spite of hell and no water, the stuff began to ripen. I was especially proud of the tomatoes. "So round, so firm, so fully packed," I told the gang at the Stork Club One morning, Eleanor told me I'd have to hire some hands to pick the crop before it spoiled. She flipped I couldn't be a farmer by the sweat of my frau.

That was the year when the manpower shortage was really something. I advertised, but there were no migratory pickers available—guess they were all busy telling their experiences to John Steinbeck.

Eleanor came up with the solution. "You clutter up the house every weekend with those Broadway friends of yours. Let them work for their keep."

And they did. Every Friday night, after throwing a big meal into them, my missus would ad lib, "I've got a cute idea. Let's get up early tomorrow and pick tomatoes."

On cue, Eleanor's friend, Ginny Reynolds, would gurgle, "Sounds like fun!"

The next morning, while the sun was still snoring, the guests would be herded into the field. Well-publicized palefaces wound up with blisters as big as the electric lights which spell out their names. Most of them had never picked up a tomato without whistling at her first. The mosquitos which bit my footlight buddies generally lost blood on the deal. Little Willie strutted around giving orders, and all I needed was a black snake whip to pass for a watch-charm version of Simon Legree.

After stripping one tomato plant, Jimmy Durante refused to proceed unless the management provided him with chawin' tobacky.

Orson Welles was a big disappointment—he ate more than he picked.

That summer, my victory garden was the conversational tid-bit around Lindy's. George Jessel described my truck farm as a place where "the sparrows had to kneel down to eat the corn." Quentin Reynolds spread it around that I had to lather the field with shaving soap before I could cut the wheat. Ed Wynn reached back and came up with the one about some of my potatoes being as big as marbles, others as big as peas—and then there were the little ones.

Actually, we raised enough stuff on fifteen acres to keep my night club in fresh vegetables all that Fall. The combination salad I sold for ninety cents may have cost four bucks to raise, but I figured it was worth it when I thought of the manicured fingernails I had helped ruin.

The day before we went back to town, Eleanor presented me with a copy of "The Good Earth."

Since that summer, I haven't had much time for fellows who tell jokes about farmers. You'll get no laugh out of me by cracking that a son of the soil has a strong back and a weak mind. In my book, anyone who can produce things to eat at a profit rates with Einstein, the Quiz Kids and Harry Houdini.

I know another theatrical producer who agrees with me. He has a dairy farm not far from my place. I recently dropped in to see him.

"How about a drink?" he suggested.

"Fine with me," I said.

"What'll it be?" he asked, "milk or champagne? They cost me the same."

FHA Director Urges Turning Idle Space Into Rental Units

Conversion of existing structures into apartments, through the use of credit facilities available under the Federal Housing Administration system, is the quickest and most economical method of increasing the local supply of housing for veterans, according to E. Lester Muller, state FHA director.

Muller will be the principal speaker at a meeting scheduled for next Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium to discuss plans for an increased home building program during 1947.

FHA intends to point up the many advantages of converting older structures or idle space into multiple family units, Muller said, explaining that remodeling provides a source of added income through rental of the units to veterans.

Stating that the main FHA program for 1947 aims at a large volume of construction of rental units for veterans under the new liberalized insuring provisions of FHA, Muller said that a property owner may borrow up to $5,000 for a period of as long as seven years and may repay the loan in monthly installments.

"Local lending institutions have adequate funds available for the conversion of these properties and will make such loans on attractive FHA terms. In a majority of cases payments will be no more than the rental from the property and when the loan is finally paid, the owner has a dependable source of income," Muller said.

The state director pointed out that in many cases commercial buildings as well as dwellings may be converted into apartment units, adding that time and labor are saved because it requires less material to effect a conversion than to build a new structure.

U. S. state governments spent about half a billion dollars on highway construction in 1946 as compared with a billion and a half spent in 1930.

Ministers Hint At

might be expected unless the attempt was made in the utmost secrecy.

"Not only slot machines, but all other types of gambling could be stopped in the city if a real attempt were made."

He said the association has passed a resolution opposing their legalization and sent it to county legislators.

Said Rev. C. K. Welch, president of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association:

"If a real effort were made, machines could be removed from the city."

He added: "Authorities seem able to cope with other law violations and it appears that they could cope with the slot machine situation if they tried. All that is needed to prevent gambling on slot machines or any other type of gambling in the city is a concentrated effort on the part of law enforcement heads."

Rev. Mr. Welch said he was under the impression that State's Attorney Harris had jurisdiction over law officers and could organize a raid at any time he desired.

"Of course," he said, "I may be wrong."

Harris, who left last night on a two-week trip to Mexico, has pointedly declared that his office is not the law enforcement agency of the county but that that department is headed by the sheriff.

Made Plans Previously

The state's attorney said he did not want any publicity in connection with his trip because it might look bad in the face of developments in the slot machine situation, but added that he had made his plans sometime ago to accompany other Shriners on the tour and intended to carry them out.

Meanwhile, slot machines continued in operation in some places despite tipoffs that the "heat was on." One source said machines "were running wide open" on Virginia Avenue Wednesday night while another indicated machines were still in operation in some places in Mt. Savage although others in restaurants and confectionery stores were not in operation.

One local club, reported to have close to a score of slot machines, said its machines were in operation as late as Wednesday night and then were removed on the strength of additional information received about the "heat" being on in slot machine circles.

General reaction in Cumberland yesterday regarding the results of the meeting held Monday by Harris with the sheriff and chiefs of police was that it was "unsatisfactory and unconvincing."

It was reliably reported plans to hold the meeting were given out the week before and by the time the chiefs gathered in the Union Street School Building Monday afternoon if any drive had been contemplated it lost its element of surprise. Clubs were tipped off—a matter of minutes in some cases—after the meeting convened.

Pressure Building Up

Despite the fact that many persons were predicting that the "slots" would return as usual after a "cooling-off period", there is increasing evidence that pressure is being brought to bear on the State's Attorney's office and law enforcement officers, "to clean up the machines for good unless the Legislature should take action to legalize them."

In other words it is believed that the State's Attorney's office is being "given the ball to carry despite the disavowals of the prosecutor that he is not a law enforcement officer. The public has come to feel that in principle he is the key law enforcement officer in the county inasmuch as intricate investigation work requires the abilities of trained lawyers and detectives.

A statement made by State's Attorney Harris that he is not a law enforcement officer is borne out by the laws of Maryland and the constitution which does not give him or his investigators the power of arrest, but only the power to prosecute. However, it has been learned there are those who give the law a broader construction than the State's Attorney does—inasmuch as they feel the State's Attorney should in effect head up and take charge of any broadscale cleanup work that concerns the interests of the county.

The fact that the State's Attorney called Monday's meeting and reportedly indicated that there are others who are interested in the present clamp down would seem to indicate that his office is giving this broader interpretation of his authority some consideration.

Sees Business As "Racket"

While the State's Attorney does not have the power to make arrests, it was considered unfortunate in some circles that he gave the responsibility for the cleanup to the sheriff, since in so doing he gave the general public the idea that it should go to the sheriff rather than the State's Attorney to make any reports relevent to the operation of slot machines in the county. By training, it was pointed out that the State's Attorney is better fitted to handle and evaluate such matters than is the sheriff's office.

It was also learned that the State's Attorney's office has been impressed by the fact that at least part of the public has come to regard the slot machine business in the county as a "racket" and that it is up to his office to clearly show reports that protection has been furnished to such operators is untrue.

At Monday's meeting, Harris reportedly told police chiefs of county towns that reports were being passed about that the slot machine "racket" was being given "protection," and he wanted the machines "brought in by the truckload."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Too Much Talk

I have just finished reading a most interesting book—"Breakfast with the Nikolides," by the English writer Rumer Godden. It is more than a novel. Interspersed throughout it is great human wisdom and an interpretation of life.

One of the characters, urging a boy to go back to school, said: "The future of India lies in creating, improving, and saving the life of things. Tell them not to talk so much. Tell them to start at the bottom with the soil." The boy replied: "I will tell them to hold their tongues and use their hands."

There are times when too much talk is just sound. Action supersedes words. I recall a statement about the elder Marshall Field, who founded the great store in Chicago. I read all that was said about him when he died. One sentence has stayed with me: "He was a man of few words." Great doers talk little—do much.

President Grant said so little that he was known as "the silent President." President Lincoln stood solidly for him—because he said little—got victories.

People's eyes are usually drawn to the silent man or woman—the thinker and doer. They listen when such a one speaks, for usually they have already acted and done much.

Henry Ford has never been known to give a public speech. He has always been a man of few words—but think of what he has accomplished! The same was true of Edison.

That was a great compliment that Edward Everett paid to Abraham Lincoln, after the latter had delivered his Gettysburg speech, and thought it was a failure. Everett said he wished that he could have said as much in his long two-hour speech as Lincoln had in his brief speech of less than 500 words!

Cumberland Choral Group To Give Concert Mar. 25

Numbers To Include Religious And Secular

The Cumberland Choral Society will present a concert, including both secular and religious numbers, at 8:15, March 25, in Allegany High School auditorium, Jack E. Platt, director, announces.

The religious portion will be a repetition of the Hallelujah chorus of Handel's "Messiah," which has been requested because of the many people who were unable to get into the hall for the Christmas program. Mr. Platt said it would be given as a pre-Easter piece.

Soloist will be Rev. James A. Richards, who will sing two groups of numbers on the program.

The highlight of the secular portion of the program will be the "Polvetzian" dances from the opera "Prince Igor," presented by the chorus with accompaniment by Aden Lewis, and violin obligatto work by Wilton Sykes.

The society now comprises over 100 singers and 165 associate members and patrons.

A performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," will be presented May 20.

Music Club Meets

A program featured the meeting of the Never B Flat Music Club held earlier in the week at the home of Jean, Sandra and Thenston DeVore, Ellerslie. Others taking part were Charlotte Chaney, Alma Snelson, Marlene Burkey, Darlene Miller and Donna Reid.

Decorations were carried out in the Washington theme. Mrs. Ralph DeVore assisted her daughters in serving refreshments.

Mickey Keller Marks Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Keller, entertained with a party in honor of their son, Mickey, in celebration of his second birthday, Wednesday, at their home, 112 Elkton Place.

The usual nursery games were played, and pictures were taken of the children, after which refreshments were served.

A rainbow color scheme was used in the decorations and a three tiered birthday cake centered the table.

Guests included Patricia Trozzo, Janet Kurk, Margaret Keller, Barbara Powell, James Powell, Marian Grim, Francis Grim, Harold Sirbaugh, William Lease, Racco, Frantz, Catherine Frantz, Margaret Gross, George Cross, Ronald Gross, Clark Cornwell, Mary Frances DeLuca, Frank DeLuca, Doris Cimmino, Mary Louise Cimmino, Russell Keller, Robert McCullough, Paul Cruthers, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cornwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCullough, Mrs. Frank Trozzo, Miss Betty Jo Armentrout, Miss Mary Sirbaugh, Miss Virginia Lee Pannone, Mrs. Samuel DeLuca and Mrs. Carmela Muia.

In the Russian occupied section of Germany, girls are being trained as judges for courts. Five colleges for judges have been established in the Soviet zone for training both men and women.

The number of marriages in the United States in 1946 was approximately 35 per cent higher than the number in 1942.

HAS BIRTHDAY—Mickey Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Keller, 112 Elkton Place, was two years old Wednesday.

Victor Layton Is Feted On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Layton entertained in honor of their son, Victor, with a party, in celebration of his 18th birthday, Wednesday night, at their home, Wiley Ford.

The regular party games were played and refreshments were served. A blue and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the birthday cake and candles and repeated in the table appointments.

Fort Hill To Have Final Lyceum Program For Year

Instrumental Trio To Be Here Mar. 20

The fourth and final program for the year of the lyceum series, presented by the Antrim School Assembly Forum of Philadelphia, will be held at Fort Hill High School, March 20, Victor D. Heisey, principal, said last night.

An instrumental group, the Anderson Trio, will present a variety program, beginning with some numbers from Mozart and concluding with songs from "Oklahoma," and "The Song of Norway."

Members of the trio are Dianne Andrews, marimbist; Eleanore Lanz, violinist; and Shirley Jaynes, celloist.

Other programs presented during the year were "The Potters," who displayed the ways of making pottery; a program on the Science of Aeronautics which was a lecture and practical illustration on the science of aeronautics; and a Western Show, in which a man attired in "wild west costume" played a guitar, sang songs of the West, did rope stunts and tricks with his whip.

Zone 1 To Meet In Grace Church

The first combined meeting of all the circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Kingsley Methodist Church was held earlier in the week at the church, with Mrs. Marguerite Albertson presiding. Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, leader, announced that the Zone 1 meeting will be held March 12. It will be an all day session from 10 a. m., until 2 p. m., and will be in Grace church. A box luncheon will be held at noon.

Mrs. Albertson announced that the district meeting would be held today at Centre Street Church, and the executive meeting of Kingsley WSCS will be held at 8 o'clock, March 21 at the church.

A summary of the mission study work on India was given by Mrs. Thomas Lohr Richards, who illustrated her talk with maps.

The group also decided to send a "thinking of you" card to Mrs. John G. Cook, Frostburg. The Refreshment committee for the March 25th meeting was appointed. It includes Mrs. Albertson, chairman; Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Daisy Collins, Mrs. Leoda Gurley, Mrs. Bertie Hamilton, Mrs. Maude Twigg, Mrs. Samuel Rose and Miss Lottie Rollins.

Thirty-five members attended the meeting and refreshments were served.

Humbertsons Will Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Humbertson will celebrate their 46th wedding anniversary with a family dinner at their home, 317 Broadway, today.

Married in Ocean, February 28, 1901, Mr. Humbertson and his bride came to Cumberland to reside and are the parents of 13 children, seven of whom are living. They are Mrs. Grace Nesbitt, Hagerstown; William Humbertson, Mrs. Viola Raney, Mrs. Ruth Harper, Walter Humbertson, Mrs. Zelma Redmond, city and Carl Humbertson, at home. The couple have 17 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

A tiered wedding cake will center the table, which will be decorated in pink and white. Covers will be laid for 58 guests.

W. Md. Association Installs Central Maryland Officers

Members of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland were guests and officiated at the initiation and installation ceremony for the Central Maryland Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association, Wednesday night in Hagerstown.

Mrs. Gertrude Ferrell, Westernport, Junior past president, of the Western Maryland group was the installing officer of the Central association, which was organized, with 169 members, last February during her term of office, and was sponsored by the Western Maryland group.

Other officers assisting in the installation ceremonies were Mrs. Edrie Wolford, Keyser, organist; Mrs. Sara Barringer, city, chaplain; Mrs. Ella Crabbe, Hyndman, guide; and Mrs. Edna Murray, guard.

Mrs. Ruby Gaither, Mt. Airy, incoming president, presented each of the installing officers with a gift.

A pageant, portraying the wedding of George Washington, was presented in elaborate costume. Mrs. Ruth Yinger, Frederick, was the narrator and the Men's Chorus of the Blue Lodge of Hagerstown, sang during the pageant.

A social hour concluded the program and refreshments were served by the cast of the wedding party.

Twenty-two members of Western Maryland Association attended, with four from Lonaconing; three from Westernport and the remainder from Cumberland.

Allegany Public Speaking Contest To Be Held Today

Six students of Allegany High School will compete in the public speaking contest to be held in the auditorium this morning before members of the junior and senior classes. The contest is in charge of Miss Virginia Dixon, general chairman.

Two elimination contests were held Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25, to select the six representatives for the finals today

Subjects used in the speaking contest were: "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Causes and Cure"; "What Can Be Done To Solve Cumberland's Traffic Problem," and "The Pollution of Our Rivers and Streams." Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the winners by Principal Ralph R. Webster.

For the first elimination, three minute speeches were given in the senior high English classes and the basis for judgment set up at this time were carried throughout the contest. The speeches were judged for evidence of research, good English, clearness of outline, voice and general effectiveness of speaking.

Judges for the semi-finals were: Mrs. A. T. Rogers, Miss Olive Simpson, Thomas Winters, and Raymond McCullough, members of the Allegany high faculty.

Ali Ghan Temple Honors Potentate

Ali Ghan Temple honored its Potentate and his Divan with its annual ball and banquet last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Harold C. Wickard served as toastmaster and introduced the Potentate, Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown; Morgan Harris, chief raban Mrs. Spielman, to whom he presented a corsage, in behalf of the temple; and all members of the Divan and their wives.

Mr. Spielman, in his short talk reviewed the activities of the temple during the past year, with particular reference to the city and country clubs, and asked for the co-operation of the group. He also urged co-operation in assisting the Crippled Children's Hospital fund and announced that the Potentate's ball would be held in Hagerstown on Easter Monday.

A reception opened the program after which the banquet was held. Dancing concluded the entertainment of the evening, with music by the Arkstocrats.

Receiving guests with Mr. and Mrs. Spielman were Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Godon, Mr. and Mrs. C. Morris De Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flurshutz, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Englehart and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Rizer.

Dance To Mark Granting Charter To Oldest Railroad

An informal dance will be held tonight by Queen City Lodge No. 285, International Association of Machinists Helpers at the Queen City Hotel ballroom.

Marty Flynn and his Society Ramblers will play for the dancing from 9 until 1 o'clock.

The dance is commemorating the granting of the charter to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, 120 years ago. The B. and O. is the oldest line in the country.

M. R. Barrett, president and E. E. Dyche, recording secretary, are in charge of arrangements and have extended invitations to railroad and union officials of the division.

Cresap Women Plan Contributions

The Cresap Homemakers Club met yesterday at the home of Mrs Herbert Heineman, with Mrs. Trubador Lewis presiding, and discussed means of raising funds. Each member is expected to earn $1 and contribute it to the club. Contributions will be made at the meeting March 27, which will be held at the home of Mrs. John Thompson, Cresaptown.

Reviews of "Red Morning," and "Pleasant Valley," were given by Mrs. Heineman, who also accompanied the group singing at the piano.

Miss Maude A. Bean talked on "Space savers in the kitchen," and showed charts of ideal kitchens. She also spoke on conservation and urged all Homemakers to attend Louis Bromfield's lecture here, under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking of the "Hands Around the World" pageant to be given by the Homemakers May 5, the Cresap Club will represent Wales and will sing, "Men of Harlech" and "Ash Grove."

Members present were Mrs. Andrew Burrell, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. Julia Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Edward McKinney, Mrs. Marshall Willison, Mrs. Leroy Horton, Mrs. Herbert Logsdon, Mrs. Henry Fost, Mrs. Beatrice Thompson, and Miss Dora Lewis.

Child Guidance Club Selects Programs

Members of the Child Guidance Club chose the discussion topics and packed two boxes of clothing for shipment to Holland, at the meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Shaffer, Conrad avenue

Subjects selected will be "Your Family Today;" "Parenthood;" "The Most Important Leadership;" "Beginning of Speech;" "Making Speech Work for Us;" "Schedule Planning for Other Levels;" "Babyhood;" "When Are We Grown Up;" and "Parent Control of Childhood Environment."

Mrs. Guy Bradour was in charge of the monthly program on the topic, "Reverence and Right Living."

CIO Electrical Union Leaders Deny Communism

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Angrily charging "red-baiting" by the Senate Labor Committee, three leaders of the CIO electrical workers today firmly denied they are Communists.

Separately, at a stormy session on pending labor legislation, the union officers flung their denials in this manner:

President Albert J. Fitzgerald, shouting to Sen. Ball (R-Minn.)—"Do you want to ask me whether I am a Communist. I am not!"

James J. Matles, director of organization—"I do not happen to be one."

Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer—"Before you ask the question, the answer is no."

Then Fitzgerald, husky and red-faced, cried out: "I have seen one of the finest examples of red-baiting here this morning!"

Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball (R-Minn.) raised the question of Communism shortly after Fitzgerald started reading a statement opposing all labor bills before the committee. He charged they are "injurious" to workers and "aimed directly at the food on their tables and the clothing on their backs."

The question of Communism in labor unions was raised also before the House Committee on unAmerican Affairs, where Floyd D. Lucia, an employe of the Allis-Chalmers Company in Wisconsin, said a costly 10-months strike there apparently was "Communist-inspired."

Lucia said that there were not over 25 Communists and 25 fellow travelers in the union there, Local 248 of the CIO-United Auto Workers, but that they "dominate" the union.

He testified that the union once adopted a resolution asking that President Truman turn over the atom bomb to Russia, and that shortly after V-J Day strike talk arose on the ground that "Russia didn't need our aid" with the war over.

A company estimate as to the cost of the strikes was put at $70,000,000 to $80,000,000, not counting some $18,240,000 lost in wages.

Taft set off the Senate committee fireworks by asking Fitzgerald why his union had revoked the charter of a local at Bridgeport, Conn., for voting to expel 27 members on charges they either were Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Fitzgerald said he was opposed to barring "Communists, Socialists, Democrats, Republicans or anyone else" from union membership. He snapped that the union's constitution prohibits discrimination on any racial, political or religious grounds.

River Commission Launches Meeting

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—Engineers and state and federal officials who make up the Commission on the Potomac River Basin opened their quarterly meeting here today and turned their attention to pollution problems in the Frederick area.

Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia were represented.

Delegates engaged in a general discussion but decided to take no action on two bills now pending in Congress which would give the Public Health Service board powers to initiate interstate action for the abatement of pollution.

One bill would provide federal grants to states, municipalities and interstate agencies for surveys, plans and projects to eliminate pollution. The other would empower the Surgeon General to notify state health agencies when bad conditions exist and in some cases take court action.

Mayor Lloyd C. Culler greeted the visitors with an assurance that Frederick is ready to co-operate in their work.

The commission scheduled a public meeting during the evening and will resume its closed business sessions Friday morning.

No Floor Battle

There might be some necessity for the change in times of stress, said Newcomer, but absolutely none in peace time.

Administrative sources let it be known that Gov. Lane's two per cent sales tax bill, estimated to raise $18,000,000 a year to meet increased expenses, would reach the Legislature Monday night.

The bill, an integral part of the administration's financing program, already has been drafted by Attorney General Hall Hammond's office and is being typed for introduction.

It also was predicted that Lane would send in a message on the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge and a general highway program for Maryland. It should be received by the middle of the week.

The message has been delayed because of the Governor's illness from a streptococcic throat. He went to Baltimore today for a hospital checkup and was expected to be in his office the first of the week.

Former Rep. H. Streett Baldwin, who was defeated by Lane for the gubernatorial nomination last spring, was reported to have joined the opponents of the sales tax.

Several members have been advised of the former representative's opposition.

Calendar Cuties

"You see, the people who order these calendars don't care what day it is."

Delany said, no, the department has no hard and fast rules on how—or where—a maiden should be clothed.

"It's all in the way it's presented," he said. "If it has aesthetic value, we call it unobjectionable nudity. It doesn't arouse the base emotions.

"But calendars aren't ordered for their aesthetic quality."

Delany said the final decision is up to a board which sits around studying questionable books, magazines and pictures.

He said there are no vacancies on the board at this time.

provide funds for construction of schools and facilities, would make three additions to the enabling act by which education money is made available.

Each county sharing in the equalization fund would increase the annual tax for schools from 56 to 65 cents on each $100 of the assessable property.

In addition, the counties would be required to allocate to schools funds a percentage of the money received from licensing of Class A and Class D Motor vehicles equal to the percentage of school taxes taken from all county taxes.

11 Escape Raleigh County, W.Va., Jail

BECKLEY, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP) — Sheriff C. C. Lewis said 11 men broke out of the Raleigh County jail tonight after jamming the automatic cell-locking device and overpowering a jailer, and two of them have been recaptured.

The other nine, including six federal prisoners and two state prisoners awaiting transportation to the state penitentiary at Moundsville, are still at large and all available state, county and city police have joined forces in an effort to round them up, the sheriff added.

Lewis identified the escapees as: Nelson Nidifer, 21, and Orland McKinney, 20, both of Raleigh County and both awaiting transfer to Moundsville to serve one-10 year sentences imposed after the conviction on charges of robbery of a furniture store last December.

Federal Prisoners James Mitchem, Bill Norman Lucas, Ralph Hedrick, Harry Short, Garland Hartwell and Levi Lucas, none of whose addresses were available immediately.

Harry Reed, Raleigh County, serving six months on a drunkenness charge.

Lewis said the two men recaptured were Walter Lee McDaniel and Jesse James Williams, both of Beckley. They were found hiding in a closet in the jail corridor, he said.

State Senate To Decide Rent Control Bill's Fate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—The State Senate will decide next Monday night whether to junk a measure providing for rent control in Maryland in the event federal regulations are abolished or to accept it with amendments.

The bill by Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) was made a special order of business for 9 p. m. Monday upon his motion, which was agreed to by Sen. Bolton (D-Balto County), chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Bolton previously reported that the committee had voted unanimously to kill the bill, adding that he felt there "is no longer any need for rent control."

At that time, Bolton said Ellison would be given a chance to offer amendments before a vote is taken on the committee's unfavorable report.

Labor Board Announces Significant Policy Change

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board announced tonight a significant policy change designed to reduce union jurisdictional strife.

It provides that where a union has a two-year contract with a company, no rival union may challenge it for the life of the agreement.

Previously the board has limited this protection to one-year contracts except where longer agreements were customary in the industry involved.

Warden Print Wins Camera Contest

"Cloaked in a Mantle of White," a print by J. C. Warden, won the monthly black and white print contest of the Cumberland Camera Club Wednesday night. Warden's print, "Gum Fun," also won second prize.

"Majesty of Creation," photographed by Miss Dorothy Willison and Jack Hershiser, won third prize while fourth honors went to Charles Fields for his portrait, "Mr. Smith." Fred Reith's print, "Johnny," won the fifth prize. Morris Fram was the judge.

In the color slide competition, first prize went to William Price's "Carolina Sunset," and his "Sunset Trail" won second prize. Third honors went to Leo Leasure's "Mountain Music," while Gordon Hershberger won fourth place with "Tranquility" and fifth place with "Carnation." Hershiser was the judge.

It was announced after the meeting that color slides winning first prize in January, February, March, April and May will be sent to the Photographic Society of America to be shipped and displayed throughout the country.

It also was announced at the meeting that Edward L. Bafford, Baltimore photographer, will address the club March 28 on "Proper Negative Exposure and Development."

The annual judging of the picture of the year and banquet of the club will be held May 8, with Holmes I. Mattee, prominent Baltimore professional photographer, as the judge.

Corriganville Meeting To Be Held Tuesday

The Corriganville Improvement Association will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Corriganville Fire Hall, to discuss further plans to form a cooperative association for the purpose of acquiring street lighting for the community.

J. Milton Dick, president of the Potomac Park Association, is expected to be present to answer questions regarding the plan and to outline how such a chartered group can operate for the general good and improvement of the community, according to Joseph C. Stuckey, president.

East side Fire Company was called to the home of Fred Bennett, 506 Baltimore Avenue, when the furnace overheated. There was no damage, firemen said.

W. O. Stolzing, Pittsburgh, gave a talk on "Diaphragm Control Valves" at the dinner and technical meeting of the Cumberland Section Instrument Society of America at the Queen City Hotel Wednesday. He was with Tagbiabue Instrument Company for 12 years before entering business for himself. The next meeting of the society will be held March 25.

South End Fire Company was called to the home of M. R. Barrett, 335 Virginia Avenue, last night at 8:58 o'clock to extinguish a flue fire. Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived.

DEATHS

MRS. MARGARET ANDERSON

Mrs. Margaret Bone Anderson, 62, died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jane Tyree, Klosterman's Addition.

Mrs. Anderson, known to her friends as "Maggie," had made her home with her daughter here for the past 11 months. Her husband, George W. Anderson, died in January, 1946.

She was a native of Frostburg and a daughter of the late John and Tennant Bone. Mrs. Anderson was a member of North Cumberland Assembly of God Church.

Also surviving are one son, Thomas B. Anderson, Indian Head, Md.; a foster daughter, Mrs. Harold Midmeyer, Hancock; two brothers, James W. and J. M. Bone, both of Cumberland, and two sisters, Mrs. Julia Steen and Mrs. F. W. Schanning, also of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. J. L. Stewart, pastor of the Assembly of God Church and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

GARRETT J. LUTEMAN

Garrett John Luteman, 78, well known Oldtown farmer, died yesterday at noon in Allegany Hospital where he was admitted February 20.

He was a lifelong resident of Oldtown, a son of the late Randolph and Evelin Twigg Luteman. His wife, Mrs. Anna Luteman, died some years ago.

Surviving are two brothers, James and Joseph Luteman, both of Oldtown, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Barrager, Oldtown.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home. A requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic Church and interment will be in St. Agatha Cemetery, Bridgeport, Pa.

EDWARD CASSEN

Edward Cassen, 77, a native of this city and an uncle of Reid C. Cassen, city policeman, 551 North Centre Mechanic Street, died yesterday at his home in Massilon, Ohio.

Mr. Cassen, a son of the late Casper and Elizabeth Rizer Cassen, was a retired engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was an employe of the old Georges Creek and Cumberland Railway here about 40 years ago. His wife, Mrs. Ida Cassen, preceded him in death.

Mr. Cassen was a member of the Moose and Eagles lodge in Massilon.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Ida Hilleary, this city.

The body will arrive here tomorrow afternoon and will be taken to the Stein Funeral Home.

MRS. BURROWS RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Eleanor C. Burrows, a former resident of this city who died Wednesday night in Sibley Hospital, Washington, D. C., will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Mrs. Burrows, who died following an operation, was the widow of Fleming W. Burrows, manager of the Cumberland branch of the National Biscuit Company for many years.

Known familiarly as "Ma," Mrs. Burrows served as nurse and chaperon at the Central YMCA's summer camp on the South Branch a number of years and in recent years held that position at Camp Cliffside.

She was a past matron of McKinley Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, a member of the Past Matrons' and Patrons' Association, and of St. Mark's Church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Smith, 627 Hamilton Street, Washington, and two grandsons.

MR. MILLER RITES

A brief funeral service was held yesterday morning in Stein's Chapel for Jacob Miller, 67, 214 Spring Street, well known local painter, who died Sunday. Interment was in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery and pallbearers, members of Cumberland Aerie, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were R. P. Lippold, H. L. Gillard, Frank C. McKnight, R. I. Frantz, C. E. Burkey and D. R. Scharf.

JAMES WILLIAMS RITES

A funeral service for James Russell Williams, 49, 511 Louisiana Avenue, retired B. and O. brakeman, who died Monday, was conducted yesterday afternoon at the home. Rev. Joseph W. Young officiated and interment was in Greenmount Cemetery.

Full military rites were accorded by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Pallbearers were Frank Hymes, George Banzhof, Raymond Reynolds, John H. Stitcher, Morris Leasure and Leo Thrasher.

BARTLEY KILROY, SR.

Bartley Kilroy, Sr., 73, died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted December 17. He had been a patient at Allegany County Infirmary, Valley Road.

A native of Piedmont, W. Va., Mr. Kilroy resided here for a number of years. His parents were the late Thomas and Bridget Rowan Kilroy.

He is survived by three daughters and a sister, Mrs. George Middleton, Keyser, W. Va., and a number of nieces and nephews. The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

Paul LaValle Adds $1,500 Prize In Music Contest

Federation Offers Four $1,000 Awards

In addition to prizes of $1,000 each to the winner of contests for voice, violin and piano, to be given through the Music Federation, Paul LaValle, noted orchestra leader will give a scholarship of $1,500 to some deserving young musician between the ages of 16 to 25, or 28 years if a veteran, according to Mrs. Howard M. Kern, chairman of the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs and Regional contests and auditions.

Participation in competition for the LaValle scholarship will not disqualify any young musician from eligibility for the prizes offered in the finals by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

There will be a meeting of the contest committee at the home of Mrs. Howard M. Kern, Pikesville, Md., March 3, to formulate further plans for the coming contest.

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs will hold its contests for student musicians and auditions for young artists Saturday, March 15, at Peabody Institute at 9:30 a. m., according to Mrs. Robert E. Clapp, president of the Maryland Federation. Applications will not be accepted after March 1, and must be sent to Mrs. H. Z. Meginnis, 1930 Linden Avenue, Baltimore.

Winners in the Maryland contest will then compete in the Regional Contests, also to be held in Baltimore in April. Talented young musicians of 27 states will be participants in the Regional Contests, winners of which will be eligible for Final Contests of the National Federation in Detroit, Mich.

That final winners of male voice, female voice, piano and violin will each receive a prize of $1,000. Expense free trips have been provided for any successful Marylanders by the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs.

Life Underwriters Have Open Forum

An open forum on "Guiding Principles in Agency Management," conducted by Franklin W. Kremer, national committeeman on agency practices, featured the meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters' Association, last night.

A large number engaged in the discussion and definitely decided that a careful selection of agents by various companies will increase the efficiency in distributing life insurance and in adequately serving the insuring public.

A dinner preceded the meeting at which Donald Hugh Moffett presided. Mrs. Helen McDonough led the group singing with Perry Rosenmerkle at the piano. Roy F. Hamner introduced all members and their guests; and Lawrence M. Robertson, treasurer of the association, outlined plans for an advertising program to be carried out by the association.

A motion picture entitled, "The Search for Security," was shown. It began in 1690, when in England it was customary for a group of business men to share in underwriting a risk, principally a voyage of a ship. By means of animations and carefully staged scenes facts of life insurance as it operates today were explained.

Seventy members attended last night's meeting. The next meeting will be held March 27.

sense of responsibility, and who cannot get along with others, should not join the Guard.

"But to young men with a sense of patriotism," Judge Henderson concluded, "to young men who want to do something worthwhile with other men, who want to develop themselves into leaders in the community, as well as in the Army . . . to such men, the Guard offers a real opportunity."

Lt. Col. Millholland, also a veteran of long years of National Guard service and who commanded Company G when it left here for World War II, reviewed the history of the National Guard in World War II.

Col. Millholland reminded his listeners that there were, at the time of Pearl Harbor, only nine regular Army divisions in this country, but there were 18 National Guard Divisions, and the American Division, National Guard was later formed. Of these 19 National Guard Divisions, 10 saw combat throughout the Pacific Theatre and nine fought in the European theatre. Each one made an enviable combat record and went through and won the most severe battles of the war, the Colonel stated. He declared that had the National Guard divisions been non-existent, the war would have been prolonged a year or more, and he expressed doubt if this country could have won it at all.

Opportunities Listed

In the postwar Guard, now being organized, Col. Millholland also stated there are oppartunities for patriotic young men to serve their country without interfering with their normal activities at school, at work or at home ,and at the same time they can learn new things, make new friends and gain new experiences.

Col. Millholland, who is executive officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard explained that Maryland is to have 9,306 men and officers in the new National Guard, most of whom will be part of the 29th Division.

"Here in Cumberland," he stated, "we are organizing Company C, of the 115th, consisting of 186 men and officers, and the First Battalion Headquarters Company, consisting of 127 officers and men. We are well on our way now with this organization and many returning veterans have rejoined and quite a few who were too young for the war have enlisted. Some of our new men are local high school students who give the appearance of making top notch soldiers.

"Here is an excellent opportunity for every able-bodied young man to avail himself of the privilege of serving in his country's armed forces without leaving home, or without interference in his normal course of life," Col. Millholland concluded. "We invite every young man of this community to come to the State Armory and talk over this opportunity with the Recruiting Officer."

The two speakers were introduced by Major Howard Dickey, commanding officer of the First Battalion, with headquarters here. Major Dickey is also a veteran of World War II, and a former member of Company G.

Amvets Auxiliary President Named To National Post

Mrs. Joy Effland, president of the auxiliary unit of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, announced last night that she has accepted an invitation to serve on the Hospital Committee of the Amvets Auxiliary

Mrs. John C. Patsos, Washington, D. C., regional vice president of the Amvets Auxiliary and chairman of the National Hospital Committee, informed Mrs. Effland that the committee will meet in Washington in the near future with Gen. Omar Bradley, head of the Veterans' Administration.

Mrs. Patsos said that the local auxiliary's application for a charter has been accepted, and that she will come to Cumberland to present the charter and to install officers as soon as it is granted.

Four new members were accepted last night. They are Mrs. Leroy Welsh, past commander of the Navy Mothers' Club; Mrs. Naomi Beckman, Mrs. Irene Meconi and Mrs Lyde Wilt.

It was reported that the auxiliary's project to furnish and equip a reading room at the Amvets' home will be completed by the next meeting, to be held March 13.

Mrs. Margaret McGann was named chairman of a committee to aid Hillcrest Burial Park officials in setting up a complete record of World War II veterans buried there, with pertinent service data Mrs. McGann will be assisted by Miss Freda Skelly.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Firm Stand Has To Be Taken Sooner Or Later In Bad Situation

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There are very few bad situations that get better by fooling around with them. Sooner or later, a firm stand of one sort or another has to be taken, and the longer it is put off, the harder it is to do it.

It is, of course, easy to see why so many women, confronted with a marital problem, would rather procrastinate than have a showdown over it. Obviously, they are afraid that the showdown would result in leaving them high and dry, without a husband, and, when they are in love with their husbands, they will try everything—even an indefinite period of doing nothing — before they can bring themselves to be decisive about the matter.

Here is a woman whose husband is obviously making a fool of her, yet she lets him go right on doing it. He is her second husband with a son by a former wife.

After they were married, she says, "Life was really wonderful, till he joined a certain club and the members called him 'henpecked' because he did not live there. But he would hang out there and play the slot machines, and finally I had him suspended because we had no money to pay the rent.

"Then his son came home from overseas. He drank, and drove his car without a driver's license, and overstepped his rights with me by trying to make me be untrue to my husband, which I would not do, as I loved my husband and still do. I told my husband his son had to leave, and my husband said if he went he would, too. So they both left four and a half months ago."

That, I should have thought, would have been that. The husband decided that he had to choose between his wife and his son, and he chose his son. Apparently, he had been gambling away his money on slot machines and his wife was supporting the home anyhow, so it wouldn't seem as though she had lost much. She seems to feel differently about that, however, for she goes on to say:

"My husband has been coming to my home and staying overnight and telling me he loves me and always will. He cries and says I am a good housekeeper and a good cook and his misses his home and doesn't like it at his cousin's, where he is living. But why he doesn't come home to live, I cannot figure out. He has told a number of people that he will always love me, as they have told me. He told me over two months ago that he would come to see me oftener if I had a back way to my apartment, and yet he has had me uptown twice so people saw us together.

"All this has put me a very nervous condition so that I cannot work. I have kept the apartment going, paying all bills and owe nothing. It is now 17 days since he was home last, but he looks up and smiles every day on his way to work.

"Please let me know what you think of his actions.

"MRS. S. S. M."

I think, "Mrs. E. S. M.," that his actions are ridiculous and that yours are, too, in standing for them. When you husband left you, of his own free will, over a matter in which, if he had been any kind of man he would not only have backed you up, but would have thrown that son out himself, why should you permit him to make a fool of you now? He tells you he would come to see you oftener if there were a back way to the apartment for which you are paying. Obviously, he wishes the neighbors and your friends to believe that he has nothing more to do with you. And you are willing to let him humiliate you in that fashion!

If you have any self-respect at all, or if you want this man to have any for you—which he obviously does not now—I advise you to take a firm stand at once and tell him that he can either come back and take over the support of his home and behave like a decent husband, or get out of your life entirely. Tell him that you are through standing for any such farce as he is making of your marriage; that he will have to make up his mind once and for all whether he wants to come back and behave himself or whether he wants to stay away entirely. And then show that you mean it.

Frozen Pie In The Sky Flies To Market

SAN DIEGO, Calif., (AP)—Frozen pie in the sky is another product of modern progress.

The sky angle, shipment by air, was used for initial "rush" orders, explained Monroe Boston Strause, who developed the freezing process for pies during the war.

Strause's bakery and freezing plant, turning out 15,000 pies daily, is also shipping by railroad refrigerator cars.

Slot Machines Are Stolen At Hancock

Seven to eight slot machines stolen from the Hancock American Legion Home and the second floor of Hovermill's Restaurant, Hancock, within the last two week's probably will be located after the snow melts, State Police said yesterday.

Five machines were taken from the Legion home and two or three from the restaurant, according to police, who said the search had to be abandoned because of the snow.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's newsboys peddle a million and a quarter more papers daily — with increases averaging 127,879 for each of eight national newspapers — since the government partially relaxed strict newsprint restrictions last September.

Figures published in the World Press News, British journalism trade paper, showed similar circulation boosts, averaging 150,775 for five great Sunday newspapers under new circulation regulations permitting publishers to print as many papers as the public will buy.

Skeleton-thin beside their plump American counterparts, the papers themselves are still limited to an occasional maximum of 12 pages. Throughout the war newsprint controls kept their circulation figures stable and resulted in early sellouts at every newsstand.

Significantly in the daily field large percentage increases were shown by the Communist Party organ, the Daily Worker, and the ultra-conservative Daily Telegraph and Times.

The Daily Worker jumped its circulation by 14 percent but still remained on the bottom of the list with an average daily sale of 121,509. The Telegraph, which is sometimes known as the civil servant's Bible, showed a 17.5 percent increase, bringing its average daily total to 977,689.

POLIO VICTIM AT 78 MANAGES OWN HOUSE

AP Newsfeatures

PETERSBURG, Va., — Seventy-eight year old Miss Della Sermons, who lost almost all use of her legs as an infant as a result of infantile paralysis, runs her own house, alone and enjoys it.

In her neat gray house on South St., Miss Sermons does her own housework, which includes getting coal from a downstairs bin for her second floor rooms.

Propelling herself with her arms, in a sitting position, Miss Sermons loads the fuel in small buckets which are hooked onto ropes tied to upstairs banisters. Then she returns to the second floor and hauls up the buckets.

She places herself on crutches to make up her feather bed, but her arms provide most of her locomotion and lift her into her favorite chair beside the radio and telephone.

"It's certainly a good feeling in winter, when I get the coal up here and can look out of the window all nice and warm," she said. "Then I have just about everything I could want."

But For Cherry Pie This Is Sacrilegious

BRAZIL, Ind. (AP)—Deciding pie-throwing is justifiable self-defense against name-calling, a circuit court jury acquitted Mrs. Mildred Boor of assault and battery. She testified she threw a coconut pie at a picket who "called names" when she tried to enter a cafe.

Where Red Light Stops Motorists At No Crossroad

AP Newsfeatures

NATURAL BRIDGE, VA.—Motorists speeding north over route 11 through Virginia's Shenandoah Valley suddenly find themselves confronted by a red traffic light. It is an unusual light—there is no highway intersection anywhere near and the scene is entirely rural.

The light warns of the approach to the 90-foot span of the Natural Bridge of Virginia across a 215-foot gorge. The highway at the point twists sharply on a steep downgrade just before crossing the natural span. It was—and still is—dangerous.

Highway department planning engineers, who erected the light two years ago after a series of serious accidents, say the result has been "highly satisfactory" — no smashups at a place where there had been 28 in 10 years, killing 12 and injuring 53.

If the motorist approaches the light at a speed greater than 25 miles per hour it flashes red. And the light won't turn green until he slows down. If the motorist doesn't slow down he will have to stop at the red, but when he does the light flashes green. It is controlled by a complicated sequence of electronics, rigged with underground wires to a detector arm imbedded in the highway 280 feet [illegible] the light.

The highway department is planning a number of similar lights at danger zones.

What's In A Name! A Lot Of Furrows, Says This Plowboy

AP Newsfeatures

OKLAHOMA CITY — It has taken a lot of patience, and a number of years, but State Representative C. Plowboy Edwards of McAlester, Okla., finally has convinced everyone that Plowboy is his real moniker and not a nickname.

In the midst of an oration on the House floor, Edwards paused to relate how he got his middle name.

"I was born on an old plantation down in Mississippi," he said.

"Dad was sorely pressed for help, but all he had was girls. He needed somebody to help with the plowing. The day I made my entrance to this world, Dad was out in the field plowing as usual. Somebody went out and rang the dinner bell, and Dad, knowing it wasn't dinner time, figured the stork had arrived.

"He came loping up to the house on an old flop-eared mule.

"The doctor handed me to Dad and told him, 'Well, here's your plowboy.'

"So Dad named me C. Plowboy Edwards and that's the way it is."

Santa Still On Move

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (AP) — The Santa Claus Postoffice has moved into an abandoned toy factory until a new structure can replace the old general-store quarters, where 4,500,000 pieces of Christmas mail were handled last year.

Stocks Generally Enjoy Recovery Push; Some Respond To Dividends

NEW YORK, Feb. 27, (AP)—Stocks generally enjoyed a recovery push in today's market although the speed which accompanied the recent decline was lacking.

Dealings frequently slowed and transfers for the full stretch amounted to 970,000 shares compared with 1,350,000 the day before.

A number of shares responded to pleasing dividends but others were notably indifferent. Among the former were Abbott Laboratories, up four at 76½; National Cash Register two at 39, Homestake Mining 2⅜ at 43, United States Freight 1⅝ at 17¾, Moore-McCormack 1¼ at 25¾, Mueller Brass one at 22½ and Great Western Sugar three-fourth at 26¼.

Declines were posted for Sperry, Great Northern Railway, Pennsylvania Railroad, Woolworth and American Can.

Among forward Curb leaners were American Cyanamid, American Gas, Cities Service, McCord Corporation, Rome Cable (on an extra dividend), Middle West Corporation and Consolidated Steel. Turnover here was 270,000 shares versus 310,000 yesterday.

A long list of rails, along with obligations of selected utilities and industrials, advanced fractions to more than a point in today's bond market, although a few soft spots persisted.

Total sales were $3,272,000 compared with $4,170,000 Wednesday.

United States government obligations improved narrowly. The Victory 2½s of December '67-'72 advanced to 102 31-32 both on the exchange and in over-the-counter dealings.

Expensive Bolt

YORKTOWN, Va. — (AP) — That lightning bolt which damaged the Yorktown Victory monument back in 1942, is going to cost Uncle Sam about $100,000. The Department of the Interior says the allegorical figure of Liberty atop the tall shaft will have to be replaced completely —not just repaired.

Public Sympathy Is With Teachers In Drive For Wage Hike, Poll Finds

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 27—The school teachers of the nation, many of whom are fighting at this time for increased income, have the sympathy of the vast majority of the U. S. citizens.

School teachers have done an impressive job during the past six months to their cause. Six months ago 44% of the people in a nation-wide poll thought that tachers' salaries were too low. Today the figure stands at 64%—a very sharp increase of 50% among those who regard teachers' salaries as inadequate.

Moreover, among these people, more than three out of four say they are willing to pay more taxes so that school teachers can be given more pay.

The survey includes questioning of voters in all walks of life, in communities large and small across the nation. The questions;

1. "Do you think that school teachers' pay in wour community is too high, too low, or about right?"

The replies to question one are contrasted to those in the September survey on the same question.

	Today	Sept., 1946
Too High	2%	2%
Too Low	64	44
About Right	22	33
No Opinion	12	21

The second question in the survey limited to those people who said they think school teachers' pay is too low at the present time.

Tax authorities cannot take replies to the second question as a "go-ahead" to levy a series of special taxes in order to finance salary boosts for teachers.

While a majority of voters who think teachers' salaries are low now say they would be willing to pay an additional tax in order to raise teachers' salaries, many people may not feel that a special tax is necessary. They may for example feel that economies in other departments will be able to finance the increased cost of higher salaries for teachers.

Moreover, replies to the questions do not constitute approval for any specific proposal.

2. Would you be willing to pay higher taxes in order to raise money to raise teachers' salaries?"

Yes	51%
No	11
No Opinion	2
Total Who Think Teachers' Pay is Too Low	64

Frugal Soul Now Bathes Freely

ALVA, Okla., (AP)—A customer had to come clean, but Kenneth McClain, who operates a plumbing supply store here, finally found out where he got 356 half-dollars he used to purchase new plumbing. The customer explained to McClain that he figured every time he took a bath it was worth 50 cents toward modern facilities. So he put a 50-cent piece in a jar each time he bathed until he had the money to purchase new plumbing.

The Big Moose Held Up the Mail

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—Early Ryan was riding his mail route from Belton to Trail Creek when a cow moose charged the tractor he was riding. Using a gun he carries by special permission for such emergencies, Ryan shot the enraged animal and it fell dead two feet from the tractor.

Assistant Chief Ranger Dick Nelson went out to investigate the killing, was stopped by a second moose and delayed two hours before the animal withdrew.

New Record Set Here In Cashing Checks

Cumberland banks cashed checks for a total of $20,572,000 in January, an increase of 12.7 per cent over January 1946 and 155 per cent over January 1940, according to the American Banker. The figure is the largest for January on record for local banks. Debits in Baltimore advanced 16 per cent over January 1946, Frederick was up 26.9 per cent and Hagerstown jumped 23 per cent.

Blubber, Blubber!

NORFOLK, Va.,—(AP)—It has been a whale of a winter off the Atlantic seaboard. Many whales have been sighted off the coast near here and the Cape Henry weather observer saw one come right up to the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. At least three dead whales have been washed ashore, two off Massachusetts and one near Manteo, N. C.

ARE WE CHEATING OUR CHILDREN?

Are the children of Maryland being deprived of their primary need for a successful life...a sound education in Maryland schools?

Without the priceless advantage of good, sound education available from a modern public school system, your children will not be equipped to face the world in which they must take their places.

But, right now, we in Maryland are educating our children in a public school system badly in need of repair. Here are the facts:

The average class size in public schools is nearly 39 pupils. Yet, educational authorities recognize that one teacher should not have to handle more than 30 pupils in each class, to allow time for individual instruction, as necessary, and to get the lessons across to each student.

Of the 1000 school buildings in Maryland, 80% are in need of major repairs such as new floors, heating plants, walls, roofs, etc., and additions such as cafeterias, libraries, gymnasiums and laboratories.

Right now there are 300,000 pupils in Maryland public schools. To provide the badly needed facilities for them all will require the construction of millions of dollars worth of additional buildings—and still not allow for expansion of total enrollment.

There are now 113 potential new teachers studying in all 5 of Maryland's teachers colleges for graduation next June. Yet, next fall there will be over 600 vacancies to be filled in grade schools alone.

But, This Situation Is Not Hopeless

The Maryland Assembly is considering a series of bills which, if they are passed, will force these changes in the public school system:

Class enrollment will be limited to thirty pupils. This will mean an average attendance of 26 or 27.

Three million dollars will be made available from state income to help finance the construction of new schools and the renovation and modernization of present school buildings.

The scale of teachers salaries will be increased to a range of $2200.00 to $3800.00 yearly to attract more and better teachers to Maryland Schools, and to guarantee a fully qualified teacher in every classroom.

Other bills will provide minor changes in school operations—changes that will help streamline the entire public school system.

Here's How You Can Help Better The Public Schools

Let your representatives at Annapolis know how you feel about your public schools. Let them know that you want your children to have every chance for a sound education when they attend public school in Maryland. Yes, write to your state senator and delegate today—tell them to vote "YES" on the school improvement bills that will guarantee your children—

Frostburg Elks Plan Anniversary Dinner March 17

Lodge Schedules Other Activities

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 27—Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, appointed Carmel Pinto to serve as chairman of the committee in charge of the 48th anniversary banquet of the order, which will be held at the Clary Club Monday, March 17 at 6 p. m., for members only. Following the banquet, the membership will return to the Elks home, East Main Street, for an evening of social activities.

The Elks also decided to entertain Sunday, March 23, at 2 p. m. in the main lodge room with a program of motion pictures, showing the 1946 World Series baseball games and the 1946 All Star baseball games. Lefty Groves, Lonaconing, whose name was recently placed in baseball's Hall of Fame, will be present.

The guests of honor will be the boys who are taking part in the Elks basketball league. Trophies will be presented by Groves, representing the Elks, to the winning team of the Elks league and the junior and senior teams, sponsored by the Elks, who were the championship winners in the city basketball league. Coaches of the various schools of this section will also be guests.

Following the motion picture program and the presentation of the trophies, refreshments will be served. Harold C. Carl, local photographer, will take pictures for submission to the Elks national magazine.

It was announced that all Past Exalted Rulers will be asked to attend a special meeting Tuesday, March 4 at 8 p. m., at the Elks home to elect officers and adopt a constitution and by-laws for a Past Exalted Rulers' Association.

Legion Plans Drive

Vincent Bollino, chairman of the membership committee of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, will preside at a meeting of the committee Friday, February 28 at 8 p. m. in the Legion Home, East Main Street. The purpose of the meeting is to begin a campaign to increase the membership of the post from 455, the present enrollment, to 500 by March 1.

When a total of 500 is reached, a second drive for members will be started with a goal of 1,000 by May 23, the date on which National Commander Paul H. Griffith will be here as the guest of honor at a banquet to be held at Beall High School.

Daniel Middleton Dies

Daniel Edward Middleton, 57, died Thursday morning at his home in Carlos, after being in failing health for several years. He was a son of the late Alex and Mathilda Hott Middleton and the husband of Nettie Patkin Middleton.

Besides his widow, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Nettie Hitchins, Carlos; two sons, Alex and Kenneth Middleton, Carlos; a sister, Mrs. Melvin Wade, Carlos, and three brothers, Albert, Cumberland; David, Grahamtown, and James Middleton, Carlos.

Mr. Middleton was last employed at Spates's Atlantic Service Station, Frostburg. He was a member of the Carlos Methodist Church. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Fund Drive To Start

The house-to-house canvass in the annual Red Cross drive will begin Saturday with three captains directing the work of a large group of volunteers assigned to the various zones.

The captains are Miss Elizabeth Wilton Jankins, Mrs. Kathleen Todd and Mrs. George Hale. The drive will be conducted by William Lewis, general chairman, and fraternal, civic, labor, religious and social organizations will be solicited.

The goal for Frostburg this year is $2,000. Headquarters will be established in the lobby of the Gunter Hotel.

Volunteer solicitors may secure the necessary window stickers and contribution blanks from Mrs. J. C. Cobey.

Frostburg Briefs

At the regular practice session of the drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, held Wednesday night, plans were discussed to attend the apple blossom festival in Winchester, Va., in the spring.

Poland Reports Economic Progress

WARSAW (AP) — Led by the coal industry with production reaching approximately 47,000,000 tons—1,000,000 more than expected — Poland substantially achieved her industrial targets for the year 1946, the newspaper Gazeta Ludowa reports.

The journal, organ of Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, said outside of coal, most of the other industries came within a small percentage of reaching the high goals set at the beginning of the year.

Clean Lampshades

Skim milk is a good cleaner for paper lampshades, both those of unfinished paper and those with a shellac, varnish or waxlike finish. Milk does not penetrate paper readily because it contains casein. It slips over the surface carrying soil with it. As the milk darkens with dirt, use a fresh supply. If the milk seems to soften the paper, let the shade dry before continuing. Sponging the milk on with a soft cloth hastens the cleaning, but if the cloth roughens the paper, discard this method.

Bennear Assault Probe Continues

Winchester, Va., authorities said last night they are continuing a probe in the three-month-old assault of Robert Bennear, Thomas, W. Va., Army veteran who was shot in the back and left for dead off old Route 50 near Gore, W. Va., in November.

Bennear, unconscious for more than a week from a skull fracture suffered in the assault, returned to Winchester recently to reconstruct events which led up to the robbery and assault by an unknown assailant.

Deputy Sheriff Robert DeHaven, Winchester, who is working on the case with Virginia State Trooper E. B. Michaell, said investigation is proceeding on the theory that a hitchhiker Bennear picked up several miles west of Fairfax, Va., on Route 50, was responsible for the attack.

Bennear told police the hitchhiker stuck a .32 caliber revolver in his side and robbed him of his watch, two rings and his wallet, containing $12 or $13 in cash. Bennear said he was ordered out of the car and had taken about five steps when he was shot in the back.

The ex-soldier described his assailant as "about 24 years of age, between five feet, seven inches to five feet, ten inches tall, with brown hair, slender build and a southern accent." Bennear was hospitalized for several weeks in Winchester Memorial Hospital.

Ninth Graders Win Bowling Contest

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 27 — The ninth grade of Bruce High School held a bowling party at the Maple Lane's alleys. The teams headed by Miss Agnes Laughlin and Miss Audrey Rodriguez rolled a three game match which was won by Miss Laughlin's team with a total of 2,248 pins against 2,119 for Miss Rodriguez's team.

High score for the three games went to Edgar Fox of the winning team who rolled a total of 365. On the losing team, Carol Robinson was high with a score of 332. Miss Laughlin's team took the first game by 8 pins 639 to 631, but Miss Rodriguez's team came back taking the second by 45 pins going into the last games with a 37 pin lead. But Fox's 157 in the last game was too much for the losers and they dropped it by 166 pins to lose the match by 129.

6 WAYS to Make Your Chicks Grow!

Here are 6 good rules to follow to insure fast-growing, healthy chickens and at the same time to conserve scarce proteins:

1 Use a good quality chick mash, such as Tuxedo Starting and Growing Allmash.
2 Keep a fresh supply before the chicks at all times.
3 Avoid wastage by using properly constructed feeders.
4 Watch sanitation. Keep houses, equipment and yards clean.
5 See that the chicks have a constant supply of clean, fresh water.
6 Provide grit to improve feed efficiency.

Labor Legislative Experts Invited To Speak At Rally

Legislative experts of the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations and the Railroad Brotherhoods have been invited to speak at the rally of Allegany County labor organizations to be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Textile Workers hall, North Mechanic Street. C. E. Stutzman, president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, reported yesterday.

G. Edwin Parker, vice-chairman of the Maryland Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who is in charge of the program, said last night that the exact list of speakers has not yet been decided, but left no doubt that Maryland labor would unlimber its big guns in the blast against legislation which they report would "bust the unions wide open".

Stutzman said Robert J. Buxbaum, Baltimore, president of the Maryland-D.C., Federation of Labor, and the Maryland AFL legislative representative in Washington, has been invited to speak at the conference.

John W. Edelman, Washington, TWUA legislative representative, has been asked to speak for the CIO at the meeting, according to Joseph J. Barley, business manager of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

Invited to represent the Brotherhoods are Benjamin W. O'Rourke, chairman of the legislative committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and C. W. Mitchell, state representative of the B. of R. T., as well as R. T. Miller, Hagerstown, chairman, and W. H. Mowers, Baltimore, secretary of the board.

New Enlightening

Today, as the King Features columnist of "These Days," bushy-haired, stocky George is recognized as one of the soundest-thinking national commentators, and is widely in demand as a lecturer and industrial consultant. "I like Sokolsky," Father James M. Gillis, C.S.P., once wrote in "The Sign," "because he seems to me so consistently and so remarkably right."

The Sokolsky story began in Utica in 1893. George was the son of a Jewish rabbi who possessed a temper that occasionally is equaled by the columnist today—and, according to Sokolsky, this trait kept his father from holding posts more permanently than he did. Ultimately the Sokolskys found their way to the lower East Side in Manhattan, where George grew up.

George was almost a prodigy. At the age of 10, he was—believe it or not—stumping for the Republican party (in a Tammany Hall hotbed) as an inspired young orator.

Never athletically-inclined, George concerned himself with social, civic and labor problems all through his youth, and held more than 20 jobs before finishing his journalism course at Columbia University. During those days, he probed into the I.W.W.'s, anarchists, and socialists—now and then joining in the demonstrations of whatever group he was studying.

Just as he completed college in 1917, the lid blew off the pot in Russia, and George went to that country to be in on the famous revolution as a correspondent for the "New Republic News Service." Mail service was impossible, however—and George found himself in Petrograd out of a job. Undaunted, he finally went with the "Russian Daily News," an English language paper, as editor.

Disappointed In Russia

"Russia," George says, "was a disappointment to me from the start and that disappointment was heightened when the Bolshevists took over. They did not believe in liberty. They did not believe in opportunity for the individual. They did not recognize the right to independence of thought and speech. They were despots. They were tyrants. They murdered men and women without mercy. I lived through a terror in Russia which has ever been with me—an endless nightmare of horror."

In 1918, George made his way across Siberia to Peking, there to start work for the North China Star—to make money for his passage to America, he figured. As it was, he stayed in China for 13 years. It was there that he married his first wife, English-educated, Chinese-born Rosalind Phang, who died in 1933 after bearing him one son, Eric.

The China years were busy ones for Sokolsky; he was a foreign correspondent, editor of an engineering magazine, advisor to Chinese officials, political advisor to American business firms and many other things. Once he held as many as six jobs. Around 1930, however, a nationalistic spirit seemed to be developing in China and there was less opportunity—which was as it should be, George says—for a foreigner to speak his mind or influence government.

Back in this country, George began a series of lectures and writings on China and Japan—but when labor came to the fore as a national problem, he steered his guns towards the Communists in the ranks of the working people. "My experience," he says, "had proved to me that some things that human beings like to try, do not work."

Lives In Manhattan

Today, with his second wife, the former Dorothy Fiske, and his young children, George E., Jr. and Dorothy R., George lives in midtown Manhattan in a handsomely-furnished apartment, in which he also maintains his office. In the summer, the family, together with George's incomparably efficient and attractive secretary, Helen Patt, withdraws to a farm in Massachusetts, there, as Sokolsky says, "to recapture in our own lives something of the glories of an earlier America when the family was the soul of society."

Father Gillis summed the man up thus:

"Obviously, this man, George Sokolsky, born 51 years ago, Jewish by race and religion, and I know not of what upbringing in philosophy, has an instinct for truth and right. If there were others in sufficient numbers who would speak out as boldly as he and with as holy a recklessness of personal consequences, we might still save all worth saving in America and in the world."

Jaycees Urge The Improvement Of State Mental Hospitals

Declare Maryland Standards Too Low

The Junior Association of Commerce of Maryland has completed an extensive survey of Maryland State Mental Hospitals of all classes, which has resulted in a resolution making several pertinent suggestions to heads of the institutions and has presented a resolution to Gov. William Preston Lane.

The resolution states that state mental hospitals of all classes provide inadequate care for patients due to the lack of personnel — medical, nursing and attendants; that food is insufficient and poorly prepared, that insufficient curative procedures are followed; and there is considerable over-crowding and lack of proper and adequate clothing for the patients.

The Jaycees state they find handling of patients unskilled, due to lack of proper training of attendants, and there is a lack of facilities for the handling and segregation of certain classes of patients.

Trained Personnel Needed

The Jaycees also inform Gov. Lane that it seems to have been impossible to maintain a full staff of trained personnel due to inadequate salaries; lack of proper housing and recreation facilities; abnormally long hours, particularly when compared to all other state employees; lack of basic and advanced training opportunities for employees; and lack of a sound program for the employment of new personnel.

The resolution states that the Maryland Jaycees believe these conditions reflect great discredit on the State of Maryland and urge the Governor and the General Assembly to take immediate steps to remedy the condition.

Five proposals were offered:

(1) To approve as submitted the budget for the various State Mental Hospitals.

(2) To establish a Psychiatric Institute as an integral part of the University of Maryland Medical School.

(3) To amend existing law to include on the State Board of Mental Hygiene persons trained in modern mental hygiene and interested and well qualified layman.

(4) To establish sound procedure for employing new personnel.

(5) To reduce the employees' work-week to conform to that of other state employees.

Walter Brooks Bradley, Baltimore, vice-president of the Junior Association of Commerce in a letter to C. Keating Bowie, Jr., president of the State Association, outlined in detail the findings of his committee investigating the State's Mental Institutions.

The letter discloses that Maryland ranks as the 28th state in the amount of money spent on each patient. Only 22.4 cents per day is spent for food for each patient, and this ranks the state 24th in the country on money spent for food.

In overcrowding, Maryland ranks 27th so far as adequate facilities are concerned.

Maryland ranks 30th in the number of patients discharged from mental institutions. The state ranks 31st in the number of patients returned to society permanently.

One doctor for each 199 patients is employed, while the national average is one for each 150.

In Maryland, one graduate nurse is employed to each 356 patients and the approved number is one nurse to each 40 patients.

Maryland has one ward personnel to each 11.1 patients while the approved number is one to eight.

Number of patients to employes of all types in Maryland is one employee for each 7.1 patients, and in this Maryland ranks 27th in the country.

Over 8,000 Patients

Figures show the greatest single source of persons entering the State's five mental institutions, is Baltimore city, and many persons are kept in jail there for long periods because of over-crowded conditions in the hospitals.

Maryland has over 8,000 patients in its five mental institutions and has a capital investment in them of 14 million dollars, the report shows. The total operation budget for the fiscal year is $3,108,000 or about $325 per patient. This makes these institutions the most cheaply run in the state and for similar Federal services more than twice as much is spent, with some states spending 30 to 50 per cent more per capita than in Maryland.

The report says a survey of Maryland shows that one out of every 22 persons in Maryland will sometime in the course of his lifetime suffer from a mental illness, and one out of every 10 will sometime in his lifetime need psychiatric treatment for some mental disorder, major or minor, the report concludes.

Copies of the resolution to Gov. Lane and the committee's report have been submitted to the local Jaycees, according to David Kauffman, president.

Miner Is Injured By Fall Of Rock

Fred Sharpless, 24, Swanton coal miner, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of a left hand injury. Attaches said he reported he was injured when a rock fell upon his hand as he was at work. Attaches said his condition was good.

Lester T. Crock, 21, Springfield, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for a laceration on the left leg. The B. and O. tie plant worker said he was injured when he ran a pick against his leg.

Francis Largent, 21, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was injured at the Western Maryland Railway coal tipple Wednesday when a coal hopper ran over his left hand was reported in fair condition last night.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 — The Pearl Buck novel, "Pavilion of Women" is being scrubbed clean and the censorable moments taken out by Otto Preminger. Twentieth Century-Fox has an option on the Buck story.

Barbara Britton

If the Johnston office then passes the renovated script, Otto will star Gene Tierney in the role of the attractive Chinese woman. Not so long ago Gene played many Oriental characters. In fact, that's how she started at 20th. Then one day her boss, Darryl Zanuck, decided to put her in "Leave Her To Heaven," and you know the result. Today she is 20th's top dramatic actress.

Lana Turner is home and promises she won't take another jaunt to Mexico to see Ty Power before she starts her next, "Coquette." (Ohhhh, that title where Lana is concerned! It's a natural)

No news that Lana is going to make this dramatic story of a southern belle—the same that won Mary Pickford the first Academy Award and starred Helen Hayes on the stage for years. But it is news that the tragic young lover opposite "Coquette" will be Robert Walker.

It's a Walker year. He has just a bit in "Sea Of Grass" but he's so good he makes it a stand-out. I don't always agree with Bob in his opinions about an actor's publicity (he thinks nothing about their private lives should reach the prints!) but he's such a doggone good performer, I forgive him for that juvenile outlook.

California, here she comes—and I mean, Bette Davis.

The New England queen of the screen has become such a convert to California that you'd never believe it was just a few months ago she told me, "I want by baby to be born a New Englander—because that's what I am and that's where my roots are."

Well, after two long, cold and stormy months at her eastern farm, Butternut, Bette is making her permanent home at Laguna. She's bought the Edward Sanford home, right on the beach, for $85,000 and the sun shines almost 365 days out of the year on the private beach where our former "New Englander" will suntan herself.

The house has 20 rooms, enough for several nurseries if Bette's family increases.

Chatter in Hollywood: The only man in the world more nervous than an expectant father pacing a hospital corridor, is a producer trying to finish a movie with a leading lady on the stork's calling list. This time, it's two producers—Bill Pine and Bill Thomas—trying to complete "Albuquerque" before Barbara Britton's doctor says, "no more work."

Today, Barbara's husband, Dr. Gene Zukor, entered the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for a serious nose operation resulting from an automobile accident. Barbara begged off the set to be with him. And while the good hearted Messrs. Pine and Thomas said "yes," they're floor pacing and fingernail biting until she gets back.

A young American writer called Horace McCoy, who was much publicized when he wrote a book, "They Shoot Horses," has become one of Europe's best selling authors.

He has just sold "No Pockets In a Shroud" to Arthur Rank, British movie magnate, while a French company has bought his original epic, which as I remember it, was pretty censorable.

Along with all these exciting things happening in Europe, Mr. McCoy, who is a nephew of Larry Gray, has sold a new novel, "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye," coming out very soon.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The condition of Howard Hughes, who has been very sick at the Reforma Casa-Blanca in Acapulco, has worried his friends.

Danny Kaye heads for the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas to recuperate from that eye injury received in San Francisco. He had three pieces of glass removed from his eye after a fan's flash bulb exploded in his face.

The lady Ernst Lubitsch sees most often is Natalie Schafer.

Simeon Elwes, artist who painted the king of England's portrait, is in Hollywood and was a dinner guest at Lady Mendl's party. Another distinguished guest was Evelyn Waugh, British novelist.

Monty Wooley's account of the difficulty he had in finding a collar button to wear with his dress clothes to the party was very amusing.

He finally ended up at an antique store and bought a gold one which cost him five times what it was worth.

The Van Johnsons with the MacDonald Careys were at the Biltmore to see the Los Angeles version of "Anna Lucasta."

Betty Hutton was also there I talked with Charlie Chaplin and Oona. Charlie is working, he tells me overtime to try and get his picture finished.

The Walter Wangers are entertaining with a dinner-dance at the Chanteclair on Saturday. It celebrates Joan's birthday which is actually Friday. Also Reggie Gardiner and David Niven's natal day.

When Bob Cobb told his Sally they would celebrate their second wedding anniversary by taking a boat or a plane trip, Sally got all excited and went over her wardrobe to see if she had enough clothes for Europe or Bermuda. Then Bob said, "We're headed for Catalina." Well, anyway, happy second anniversary, kids.

My typewriter slipped or the teletype did me wrong when it came out that the Adolph Zukors were married twenty years instead of fifty.

The Chinese bride of Dean Jagger is extremely attractive. They were a dinner twosome at Ciro's.

That's all today.

Bills Introduced To Restore Plats

Three bills governing the restoration of Allegany County plats and continual care of permanent records were introduced in the House of Delegates this week after being drafted by William R. Carscaden, chairman of the plat committee of the Allegany County Bar Association.

The bills, if passed, would clear the way for restoration of old plats which have become torn and frayed due to time and usage.

The proposed legislation consists of three parts as follows:

1—An act asking for the repeal of the law passed in 1933 requiring that the County Commissioners be paid $25 for each plat offered for record. Carscaden said the Bar Association is of the opinion this bill has resulted in the loss of records that should be on the books. This is due to the fact that owners of small holdings, such as one or two acres, conveniently neglect to record their transactions when they subdivide these holdings into lots and sell them—to avert the necessity of paying the County Commissioners the $25 required by law.

2—An act asking for the repeal and reenactment with amendments, of Section 72D of Article 17 of the Acts of 1945, regarding plats and to provide that Allegany county be exempted from this state-wide measure. Harford, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Dorchester and Talbot counties are already exempt from this state-wide act. In commenting on this act, Carscaden said, "It is not our intention to change the state-wide act in any manner except to exempt Allegany county from its operation. We do not feel the act is pertinent to us since it does not provide for the redrawing of old plats."

3—An act to govern the recording of plats in Allegany county and providing for the redrawing of plats already recorded.

The bill provides how plats shall be recorded to insure their durability and also provides that the Clerk of Court shall employ a competent surveyor or draftsman who shall make copies of plats as required.

The County Commissioners, under the act, would levy for and pay the person who may be selected to make copies of plats such sums of money as may be due him.

The bill also requires that all plats shall be submitted to the county engineer for approval or disapproval.

Cowherd Named To PE Post At Martinsburg

William F. Cowherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Q. Cowherd, 304 South Allegany Street, has been named manager of the service department of the Potomac Light and Power Company at Martinsburg, W. Va. The firm is a unit of the Potomac Edison system.

Cowherd, a veteran of World War II, was first employed by PE here in 1936, and upon his discharge from service was assigned by the company to Winchester.

Indian Sign Out For Montana Hunters

HELENA, Mont. (AP) —Because some white men waste the meat of big game animals and fish, allowed to die in irrigation ditches, the Indians of the Flathead reservation in northwestern Montana want the state legislature to let them control hunting and fishing in their home area.

Henry Matt, chairman of the tribal game commission, headed a delegation which came to the capital and he declared:

"Our tribal laws prohibit wasting any edible part of the carcass of an animal. The hunter must preserve all game for food. But the state sells licenses to hunt on our reservation and many hunters take only a small part of the meat, leaving the rest to waste."

Matt claimed also that millions of fish die each year when irrigation ditches are drained and asked that the game commission require screenings of irrigation networks so fish could not swim into ditches where they would be stranded.

Antarctic Apples Baked By Cold

Admiral Byrd in a radiogram from his ship, the U. S. S. Mount Olympus, advised his brothers that the apples, under snow for 14 years, were "full of juice and looked and tasted exactly like baked apples."

Diamonds For Elizabeth

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK — Jewelers here are speculating on the fabulous pieces of jewelry that can be made from the diamonds to be presented to Princess Elizabeth for her 21st birthday by the Union of South Africa.

The collection includes two rare half-moon diamonds, which could be used strikingly for earrings; three large emerald cut diamonds which might form the center of a bracelet; a complete set of brilliant-cut diamonds and small baguettes which could be used for a necklace or diadem.

Although 26,000 tons of maple sugar was produced in the United States in 1860 and a similar amount in 1918, only 4,100 tons was produced in 1946.

All Virginia Cooks Should Win, Suh!

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce has proposed a tournament in Virginia cookery.

And it will not be limited to single dishes if the Virginia Hotel Association approves the chamber's plan. Whole meals will be involved as well as such Virginia specialties as spoon bread, escalloped oysters and fried chicken.

Diners would fill out the score cards, rating the hotel chefs on their offerings.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

Broadway Beat

In certain California circles they're freely predicting that the dark horse in the 1948 Democratic race will be named Jimmy Roosevelt. . . In Washington they're saying that while Secretary of War Patterson is openly approving Lilienthal's appointment to head the Atomic Engery Commission all the army men are against it. And even if Lilienthal wins his fight it will be a Pyrrhic victory, since the Army has no intention of releasing its top secrets to civilians. . . Secretary of State Marshall is said to be taking ten alternate plans with him to Moscow in the hope that at least one of them will meet all the objections expected.

Leo Durocher's ban on gambling wasn't so much to placate the sports investigators, they're saying, as to minimize the intra-team feuds that develop from gin rummy games. . . One of Florida's swankier inns is offering free steaks and champagne as a come-on to prospective gamblers. . . . Around Broadway the gag is that one particularly "difficult" head waiter is upset because business is so bad he can't give anybody a bad table. . . . Jack (Associated Press) O'Brien's comment on the Donald Wolfit opening was, "Oh, to be in England, now that Wolfit's here."

Prince Yuka Troubetzkoy, brother of Barbara Hutton's latest fiancee, is featured in two French movies which will soon be released here. (You can see him in the flesh almost any nite in El Borracho.) Hollywood recalls that the Prince once appeared in pictures there with Norma Shearer and Pola Negri. . . . Now it's John Garfield who is being proposed for a streamlined stage revival of "Peer Gynt." And Orson Welles for a Salt Lake City version of "Hamlet." . . . The French Ambassador, Henri Bonnett, and Mme. Bonnet will be on hand for Maurice Chevalier's first concert at Henry Miller's Theatre here, which should squelch once and for all those canards that Chevalier was a collaborationist. . . . John Vandercook, one of the recently deposed liberal commentators, is so disgusted that he is going to the South Seas to write detective novels. Another of the D. C.'s (deposed commentators), Johannes Steel, will be back on the air May 15.

Laraine Day due in Brooklyn for the baseball season and possibly a whirl on the Broadway stage. . . . Alice Faye, husband Phil Harris and their infant daughter slated to do the first Mr. and Mrs. and Miss radio show. . . . The nite club and restaurant hat check gals are reviving their annual ball at Manhattan Center next Monday (under the auspices of Check Room Division of Local 144) and if you care to keep on the good side of 'em, and who doesn't, you had better buy tickets. . . . The Greenwich Village Artists Ball is set for the following Friday at Irving Place Plaza, at which Cleon Throckmorton will award a prize for "the best abstract costume." . . . And the Artists League of America's "Salute to Spring" ball, due here at historic Webster Hall March 29 will honor the woikin' girl by crowning one of their number Miss Trade Union Pin Up of 1947. . . . The Met Opera's new tenor sensation, Feruccio Taglaivini, to sing at the White House Correspondents' dinner in Washington.

Dimitri Matvienko, Russian fire-eater, gives out with his gastronomical exhibits at the Casino Russe, so of tonite. . . Kirby Walker, Fats Waller protege goes into Le Ruban Bleu March 11. . . Dancers Juanito and Anita are the new heel-clickers at El Chico, with Rosita Rios a singing holdover (natch!). . . . The Sheraton Lounge's organist Bud Taylor takes nitely polls of patrons on who wants to hear "Richard," finds nobody wants to hear him until the wee, small hours. . . . ALABAMA MAY OUTLAW 'HURRY UP' DIVORCES

AP Newsfeatures

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Alabama's "hurry up" divorce laws—a South Carolina couple was parted in less than 12 hours recently—may be in for a general overhauling by the state legislature.

A freshman legislator, Rep. George C. Wallace of Clio, says "if no one else takes the lead" he will introduce a measure to strike out provisos of 1945 amendatory acts which have been construed as permitting "divorce mills."

Two sections of the state code were amended to place jurisdiction in the [illegible] court when both parties to a prospective divorce appear before the court.

The author of the amendatory section, Rep. Paul J. Hooton of Roanoke, said the legislature originally intended "to expedite friendly and sociable divorces" and said he had no intention of trying to put Alabama in competition with Nevada and other states having liberalized divorce laws.

He pointed out that while under Nevada laws it is possible for one party to instigate divorce proceedings without the knowledge of the other, this is not true under Alabama's law since both parties must be present before the court is allowered jurisdiction.

Explaining that it is a "natural phenomenon" for the divorce rate to increase after wars, he said the changes were proposed to "head off the anticipated logjam of divorce litigation."

Although the revised divorce laws may have had little or no effec on it, Alabama appears destined to see an all-time high in legal separations this year.

Fire losses in the United States during 1944 amounted to $423,538,000, and largely because of man's carelessness.

LIVING WORDS

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us. John 1:14. Read John 1:1-14.

We are rash to endeavor to phrase thoughts capable of revealing the meaning of the Passion of our Lord. Some conceptions lie too deep for words; only life will make them clear. They must become flesh or remain mysteries.

Such were the thoughts of God. With all the universe to speak for him, God yet needed a Son in the flesh, living and working among us, to make us understand his love. A former slave could not distinguish between Abraham Lincoln and Almighty God. Lincoln had become what the slave believed God to be. This Jesus succeeded in doing. God spoke in what Jesus was.

If we are to understand, we also must become living words. We refer to such a process when we say of a man that he is kindness itself. As we incarnate Christian virtue, we develop sensitivity to the inner drama of Holy Week. Meanings open to loving hearts which brilliant minds cannot understand.

Let Us Pray: God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, "for the beauty of the earth, for the splendor of the skies, for the joy of human love," we give thee hearty and grateful praise. But most of all we thank thee for the supreme gift of thy Son. We do most earnestly believe in him and have found in him the way, and the truth, and the life. Amen.

Food

Shrimp For Lent

SHRIMP CREOLE . . . Serve it often on fish days.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned shrimp is back in pretty good quantity just in time for Lent. It's so long since this delectable shellfish was plentiful that the family will probably be happy to have them served often during the Lenten season.

Shrimp Creole

3 strips bacon
2 medium onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in rings
½ cup diced celery
3 cups tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked green peas
2 No. 1 cans shrimp
1 teaspoon chili powder
3 cups hot boiled rice

Cut bacon in quarter-inch pieces. Put in a frying pan with the sliced onions and cook until the bacon is crisp and the onion slightly yellow. Add the pepper rings, diced celery, tomatoes and salt. Cook until the celery and pepper are tender and the sauce is thickened. Add shrimp and chili powder and cook five min. more. Mold rice in ring and fill unmolded ring with the shrimp mixture. Makes six servings.

Olive Shrimp Souffle

1 cup ripe olives
1 cup canned or cooked fresh shrimp
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Black pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 eggs

Cut olives from pits. Clean and chop shrimp. Melt butter, add flour and blend well. Add milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add seasonings, shrimp and olives. Remove from heat. Separate eggs and beat yolks and whites separately. Pour cooked mixture over yolks, stirring constantly. Fold in beaten whites. Pour into greased carrerole, set into pan of hot water, and bake 45 min. in moderately slow oven (325°). Serve at once. Serves six.

Egg and Shrimp Casserole

4 hard-cooked eggs
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 pound cooked shrimp
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ cups milk
1½ tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Salt and pepper
Dash of paprika
Mayonnaise
Buttered bread crumbs

Make a cream sauce of the milk, flour and butter or margarine. Season with salt and pepper. Halve the eggs, remove and mash yolks, adding onion, seasonings, and enough mayonnaise to blend. Put seasoned egg yolks back into whites. Arrange in the bottom of a buttered casserole. Lay cleaned shrimp on top. Pour cream sauce over, but do not stir. Top with buttered crumbs. Bake at 350° for 20 min., or until casserole is bubbling and top is brown.

Ley Farm Is School

BERLIN (AP)—The former 150 acre estate of Robert Ley, hanged as a Nazi war criminal, has been converted into a college to give religious training to young Germans. The farm is located at Gummersbach in the Rhineland.

Creation Of West Va. Apple Agency Authorized

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27—(AP)—Creation of a West Virginia Apple Commission to publicize and promote the commercial fruit crop was legally authorized yesterday as Gov. Clarence W. Meadows signed into law a measure approved by the Legislature.

The law, similar to one already effective in Virginia and another proposed in Maryland, levies a one-cent-a-bushel tax on all commercial apple production over 500 bushels, to continue work which has heretofore been financed on a voluntary basis.

The tax will become effective beginning with the 1947 harvest.

Complications Set In But Everybody's Well

DANVILLE, Ill (AP) — Any talk about this family soon lapses into double talk.

On the same day and in the same hospital, babies were born to Mrs. Charles Mockbee and Mrs. Merle Mockbee.

The two young wives are sisters, and they are married to brothers.

The mother of the young women and the mother's sister married brothers, too.

And the names of both the maternal and paternal grandparents of the new little Mockbees are John and Ethel.

What was probably the world's first tourist camp was built on the outskirts of Douglas, Ariz., in 1913. An enterprising citizen built six board shacks containing bunks and cook stoves. The number of tourist courts now exceeds 20,000.

Flying Farmers Want Grass To Grow White

LINCOLN, Ill., (AP) — Scientists have been asked to develop a snow white grass.

The suggestion was made by some plane-piloting Illinois farmers. If they can't get white grass, they'll settle for grass of some other color that would plainly mark the runways on rural landing fields.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW DO YOU TAKE YOUR BAD BREAKS?

There's an old western saying that you can tell a man's age by the wrinkles around his eyes. Which, in those sky bazing horizons, is as good a test as any of the years on the calendar.

But there is one that's even a better test of your real life—and that's the way you take your bad breaks.

As youngsters we all take bad breaks in pretty much the same manner. We consider them highly personal affairs or even as an unnecessary insult offered by nature. And squawk accordingly.

But, as the years go by, our attitude toward bad breaks varies greatly. Many of us continue to feel that all grief and loss and pain that comes our way is a personal matter to be deeply resented. We resist or rebel or sulk according to our natures.

But some, who are wiser, come to understand that there is a pattern in all these matters. Bad breaks are not personal insults nor purely accidental. There is a plan behind them. They are part of the scheme of things—a scheme which we too often contrive for ourselves. In other words, we stick our own necks out for much of our trouble and have no one to blame but our own stupid and willful selves for the unhappy consequences.

But there is, of course, much misfortune over which we have no control. There is the general misery of the disordered world and a changing social program. There is a vast upheaval and confusion which makes life far harder than it was a hundred years ago. And And the real test of anyone's character lies in the way he meets such misfortune.

A child of 7 who yells with rage because he has fallen into a mud puddle is reacting normally. But when that same child goes into a pout at 47 because life hasn't treated him as he wished, you can bet your last nickel that he's nothing but a spoiled brat. He may look like a grown man but spiritually he is still in didies.

The girl who sobs because her dolly is broken at 6 is a pathetic little object whom we all long to comfort. But the woman of 36 who lets her present heartbreak disrupt a whole circle of friends is neither to be pitied nor coddled. She may have lost the one dearest on earth to her, husband or son, daughter or mother. But regardless of the poignancy of her grief she has no right to let it interfere with her duty toward her family and friends and society.

These seem hard words to say. And I'm writing them, my dear, with the tears of recent bereavement on my own face and in my own heart. But however sharp my present pain I realize that I have no right to inflict it on the lives of others. I can and I should share the wisdom which has come from it. I trust I shall be, and shall truly try to be, a wiser and kinder woman because of it. But my first duty is to bear that grief so gallantly that it will not embitter any other life.

We are big boys and girls now and we can't go into tantrums which we indulged at 5. Whether we like it or not we must bear ourselves as gentlemen and ladies.

We have all seen terrible things during this last war. I think I have never seen anything as heart wrenching as the gallant smiles of the mothers and fathers whose boys did not come back and yet who gave themselves generously to the luckier lads as if they were welcoming their own in return.

Yes, you can certainly tell a person's real age by the way he takes his bad breaks.

Auger Bore It At Least Since 1903

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — R. S. Cleveland, an inspector for the city building inspector's office, looked over the application for building alterations at 520 S. Washington Street.

"Hu'mm," he mused, "that's the place where I lost the ship auger on that construction job in 1903, when I was carpenter foreman."

He mentioned the incident to workmen on the alteration job. They found the auger bit, firmly stuck in a piece of wood, where Cleveland left it.

The Chinese were unquestionably the world's greatest potters. From as early as the 12th century, during the Southern Sung period through Ming and Ch'ing, they made discoveries and developed techniques that influenced all the later great European work.

Higher Cost Of Higher Education

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP)—Li Nei-Yu of Peiping, China, spent $1,400 getting a transcript of her work submitted for admission to Winthrop college here.

The expenditure was for postage. Local postal employes said the $1,400 in Chinese stamps was equal, at current exchange rates, to 70 cents U.S. money.

Ridgeley Trips Fort Hill; Keyser Wins No. 20

Third Cumberland Team Is Beaten On Hawks' Court

800 See Sentinels Lose Finale, 51-42

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley Blackhawk cagers closed their regular 1946-47 basketball season in a blaze of glory as they thumped the Fort Hill Sentinels 51-42, last night at Ridgeley to make it a clean sweep over Cumberland schools on the Hawk court.

An overflow crowd of over 800 spectators watched the two teams battle point-for-point in a hectic first period and then saw the Blackhawks walk away from the Sentinel cagers to run their margin to 15-points by the time the third period whistle had blown.

The Ridgeley five, working like a well-oiled machine, completely dominated play during all phases of the contest except for brief periods in the first and final quarters. Big Joe Moss, using his massive height to knock down Sentinel shots at the hoop, grab rebounds and score seven baskets, teamed with Bill Brehany to squash all Scarlet and White hopes of victory. The unsung hero of many of the Sentinel games, Robert "Bub" Frye, came through with a superb exhibition of passing and connected for two baskets at the opening part of the final stanza to aid a Sentinel rally which almost caught the Hawks. Frye, along with Charlie Lattimer, Mel Dean and Jim Manges, rallied the Hilltoppers from a humiliating third period to put the Cavanaugh crew back in the ball game during the final eight minutes of play.

The Sentinels jumped off to a 4-1 lead as the game got underway but Ridgeley struck back to score eight points on baskets by Jimmy Flanagan, Joe Moss, Bill Brehany and Roy Comer while Elmer Freeland was converting a free toss to make it 9-5, Ridgeley. Mel Dean and Moss traded baskets and then Jim Manges and Dean hit the net for baskets to tie the count at 11-all at quartertime.

Abe Breaks Deadlock

With the score knotted 14-14 in the second canto, Alfred Abe sank a charity toss to put Ridgeley ahead to stay and the Hawks left the court at halftime leading 23-16.

As the third period opened Brehany took the ball on the tip off and drove down the court to score and the Ridgeley five continued to soar their margin until the count stood 38-23, Hawks as the final period began.

The stunned Sentinels settled down in the final period and began the task of hacking away at the Hawk's lead. Cage converted from the fifteen foot line in the first six seconds of play. "Bub" Frye dropped in a neat pivot shot and followed with a one-hander from in front of the hoop to make it 38-28, Ridgeley. Moss sank a free throw to break the ice for Ridgeley but Freeland scored a twin-pointer and was fouled on the play. He converted the free chance and was followed by Dean's set shot from the side to cut the Blackhawk margin to six points (39-33). That was the extent of the Sentinel spurt as Moss, Brehany, and Abe tallied fielders to shove Ridgeley's lead to twelve points (45-33) and the Hawks coasted on to a 51-42 victory.

Hawks Cop No. 13

It was the thirteenth win in twenty-one starts for the Riggleman team while Fort Hill closed their season with a 17-9 record. Joe Moss and Bill Brehany with 15 and 13 points led the Hawks while Elmer Freeland topped Fort Hill with 12 markers. Lineups:

Max Says Bike Is Pain Killer

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA — Max Bittorf, who's nudging 73 but acts like a man of 40, is a firm believer in the bicycle as a health-giving device.

Max, a former prize fighter now employed as a bookbinder in the Free Library, ought to know—he has been riding bicycles a long, long time and has covered a lot of territory on them in his day.

"Get a bike," says Max, "go out in the fresh air and ride it regularly. Keep out of the way of automobiles. Take it easy when you get tired, but speed like the dickens if you feel good and the road is safe. Then go home and see what happens to your appetite."

Bittorf is not one to belittle doctors, but there are certain minor ailments he believes a bicycle expedition can take care of.

"Me, for instance," he says, "I got rheumatism in one leg. It gets stiff unless I ride, but, boy oh boy, the exercise makes the blood roll through the veins just pushing the pain to one side."

In the last six years Max has traveled round trip by bicycle from his home in Philadelphia 90 miles to Wildwood, N. J., for a seashore vacation. And in between vacations he rides an average of 25 to 30 miles each week in "little trips."

"Ah, it's pretty along the open road," Max says wistfully. "First comes the sunrise. You can see larks go straight up singing their heads off. The flowers seem to be smiling. The whole darned world belongs to you."

In recent years he's been forced to give up the ring in favor of the bicycle. The father of nine daughters, including three sets of twins, he has taught all of them to ride. Right now he's waiting anxiously for his seven grandchildren to grow up enough to straddle a "wheel."

Toronto thieves stole a ton of feathers. If caught with that kind of loot, says the man at the next desk, they can, naturally, expect to wind up in the coop.

A total of 206 women are serving in state legislatures, according to the Democratic and Republican national committees.

SUNDAY GAME
Lonaconing at Mt. Savage

Lonaconing's American Legion quint advanced a step closer to winning both halves of the Interstate League split season race by walloping the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose last night in Lonaconing by the score of 61-27.

In marking up their tenth victory in 11 starts for the second half race, the floormen of James P. Love Post racked up 26 field goals while limiting the visitors to nine. Each team connected for nine points at the charity stripe.

Oberhaus, Orr and Johnson headed the Coney assault with 18, 16 and 15 points.

The Moose team trailed at all quarters, 12-6, 32-10 and 41-20.

Legion Wins Another

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, remained one game in the rear of the pace-setters by trouncing Fulton Myers Post, 78-37, in the opening game of a double header on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Johnny Cox, Don McIntyre, Tommy Geatz and Jimmie Macfarlane were the "big guns" for the winners with 19, 16, 13 and 12 points.

The Legion led throughout, quarter scores being 8-3, 28-16, 54-25.

Yates was top man for Fulton Myers with 14 points.

Amvets, Caseys Score

With Sherman, Boyle and DeHart accounting for 39 points, the Cumberland Amvets downed the Mt. Savage VF.W. at Mullaney's Hall, Mt Savage, by the score of 52 to 31.

Sherman led the offensive with 16 points. Boyle got 13 and DeHart 10.

The Cumberland K. of C. handed the Paw Paw American Legion quint its tenth defeat of the season by the score of 51 to 28 in the nightcap of the twin bill on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Lonaconing will play off a postponed game at Mt. Savage on Sunday at 3 o'clock. Lineups:

Four Ball Golf Meet Listed For Birmingham

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Southern four-ball golf championship will be held Aug. 18-22 at the Birmingham, Ala., Country Club Lee S. Read, Louisville, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Golf Association, announced today.

Read said the site was selected in a poll of directors of the association, which includes 14 Southern states. The tourney, in honor of Bobby Jones, Atlanta, Ga., golf star, formerly was held annually at Atlanta's East Lake Country Club. It was suspended during four war years.

Loyola Cagers Win

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP) — A Loyola College fought off a second-half rally by American University tonight to win 57-55 and clinch the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball title.

The victors finished the season with 12 victories and four defeats.

Loyola's high scoring forward, Jim Lacy, contributed 18 points.

Sammy Angott Scores K.O. Over MacFarland

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 27 (AP) — Sammy Angott's two-fisted attack brought him a two round technical knockout over Jackie MacFarland of Canton, O., here tonight.

Angott, weighing 146, gave his opponent a 14-pound edge and had MacFarland on the canvas three times in the final round which lasted 2:45.

Golden Tornado Wins Over Beall In 43-37 Battle

Winds Up Schedule With 20-2 Record

FROSTBURG, Feb. 27—Keyser High School lowered the curtain on its regular 22-game schedule by winning a close and interesting game from Beall High School here tonight by the score of 43 to 37.

The victory was the twentieth against two losses for Coach Fred Clark's passers. Keyser took the series opener last month by the score of 53-42.

Keyser stepped away to a 12-7 lead at the quarter and held the upper hand throughout with Beall making an interesting battle of it right down to the final whistle. At half time the score was 22-19 while at the close of the third period the count was 35-32.

Fred Blamer with ten points and Don "Cotty" Cline and William "Pickle" Jones with nine tallies each paced the Keyser attack while Robert "Ozzie" Nelson headed the Mountaineers with five fielders and 13 points. The shooting of Bill Farrady and Nelson kept Beall in the thick of the fight in the second half while Best and Murray played nice defensive ball.

Keyser's Jayvees took the Beall Jayvees into camp in the preliminary game by the score of 40-23.

Beall will play LaSalle in Cumberland next Tuesday and will be host to the Alumni on Friday. Lineups:

Bethany Pulls Surprise, Beats Battlers, 91-77

BETHANY, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Bethany College Bisons, the current giant killers in the West Virginia Collegiate Conference pulled another upset out of their hats tonight with a 91-77 victory over the second-place Alderson Broaddus Battlers.

Bethany pulled a like stunt last Saturday when it took the league-leading Fairmont Falcons, 85-64.

Martin, who led the Bisons in their rout of Fairmont last week, repeated tonight with a 23-point performance that topped the scoring, while Darl Wilmoth, the surrent leading scorer, came through with 20 for Broaddus.

Bethany led all the way and was ahead 45-30 at the half.

Allegany And LaSalle Clash For Title

Capacity Crowd Will See Finale At SS. Peter-Paul

Schools Meet In 53rd Contest Since 1921

LaSalle and Allegany will battle it out on SS. Peter and Paul court tonight for the city scholastic basketball championship.

Each school has won two games and lost one in the three-cornered race for the title. Fort Hill is out of the running with one victory and three defeats.

Allegany is the defending champion and goes into the crucial battle holding two decisions over Fort Hill, 41-21 and 34-29 while losing to LaSalle 38-36.

LaSalle split even with Fort Hill, losing the opener, 34-22, and winning the second game, 39-36. The third intra-city game on the Explorers' schedule was the two-point decision over Allegany.

Schools Meet 53rd Time

Tonight's LaSalle-AHS game is the fifty-third of the series between the schools which was launched in 1921. A.H.S. has won 32 and LaSalle 20.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' team goes to SS. Peter and Paul court tonight with a record of 15 victories and five defeats. The Compobello floormen have bagged their last eight games and won the W.M.I. League title last week by closing the campaign with a record of 10 straight wins. LaSalle has won 16 games and lost 10.

A capacity crowd will witness the game scheduled to start at 8 o'clock. Clifton Van Roby and Clifford Fearer will officiate.

There will be a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

Other Games Tonight

Other games on tap tonight include:

Romney at Piedmont (P.V.C.)
Petersburg at Moorefield (P.V.C.)
Barton at Oakland.
Berkeley Springs at Paw Paw.
University High (Morgantown) at Thomas.
Bruce at Fort Ashby.
Ferndale at Bedford.

'Ints' Will Open Season April 17

Baltimore Is Host To Toronto Leafs

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The International League, oldest minor league baseball organization in the world, begins its 64th consecutive season April 17.

The league, which began in 1884 as the Eastern league, has also been known as the New York State League, International Association, Eastern Association and the new International League.

Montreal's Champion Royals will open the defense of their title at Syracuse while Rochester is at Newark, Buffalo at Jersey City and Toronto at Baltimore fill out the remainder of the opening day card.

The visiting clubs on opening day will stage their home openers April 30 with Montreal playing host to Syracuse, Baltimore at Toronto, Jersey City at Buffalo and Rochester at Newark.

New managers will be at Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto with Cedric Durst, Paul Richards and Elmer Yoter holding forth respectively.

Returning mentors are, Clay Hopper, Montreal; Bruno Betzel, Jersey City; Tommy Thomas, Baltimore; George Selkirk, Newark and Jewel Ens, Syracuse.

Cerdan To Return

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, accompanied by his wife and two children, left today for London where the European middleweight boxing champion will embark tomorrow on his second trip to the United States.

Cerdan, who defeated Georgia Abrams of Washington, D. C., on his previous journey, hopes to fight Tony Zale for the world title on his present trip.

Two Big Racing Shows

There will be two big racing shows on Saturday that are likely to write two important chapters in racing history—for the next year at least. The first is the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. The second is the rich $50,000 Flamingo at Hialeah.

The first will give us a good line on the handicap star of the year, plus the hot battle for the leading money winner of all time. The second can give us at least a hint on what might happen in the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont, involving the $300,000 Triple Crown.

Oddly enough the Calumet Stable, handled and directed by Ben Jones and his son, Jimmy, plays the leading advance role in the two big races. The Calumet Stable is aiming at $150,000 for one afternoon's performance which could be a new record—provided Faultless and Armed come through.

With good weather and Armed on hand, the Santa Anita feature should be run before 80,000 spectators. There were over 80,000 a year ago with no standout running. Breathing could be a tough human process on Saturday with Armed on hand. Some lightweight horse, such as See-Tee-See, Monsoon, the filly, or one from many who have been beating one another, may find Armed having an off day and slip through.

But the betting won't be that way. And if Armed can pick up this extra $100,000, he will draw a big jump on Assault and Stymie, the two handicap stars who have the chance to add many doubloons in the East and Midwest this coming season.

As fine a horse as Armed is, Maxie Hirsch has always felt that Assault could handle him on the basis of weight for age. This will all make an interesting racing picture for the season on ahead—the campaigns by Assault and Stymie to overtake Armed, should the Calumet star, after his flying trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific, take over another $100,000.

Armed will still be a vital part of the 1947 picture, even if he is beaten. But he will still move into stout contention with Assault, if the King Ranch flyer reports in good shape after his winter's rest.

The Flamingo won't be quite as important a test as far as the three-year-old crop and the Triple Crown are concerned. There are too many strong Derby, Preakness and Belmont candidates waiting in the offing, training now at other tracks or running in the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby next week.

It would be interesting to know what Bull Lea, a famous Calumet sire, is thinking about Saturday's races.

Bull Lea has two busy sons at work tomorrow—Armed at Santa Anita, and Faultless at Hialeah. They have drawn a bead on a $150,000 target. Bull Lea won the Widener, but his two famous sons have bigger dreams ahead.

Faultless will be favored in the Flamingo, although Bullet Proof beat him a few days ago. Calumet and the Jones family also have Fervent warming up as far as the Triple Crown is concerned. But after all Faultless and Fervent and Bullet Proof are hardly dominating the Derby or the Triple Crown at this fading February date.

There is also a horse known as Phalanx. There is a horse called Jet Pilot. Also Owner's Choice, On Trust, and too many others to mention now—most of whom will never even start.

You may remember this date a year ago. Who was to win the Kentucky Derby and the Triple Crown? The consensus was Maine Chance in a canter with Lord Boswell or Knockdown. How many people were talking about Assault? Practically none. Assault was 9 to 1 in the Experimental, 9 to 1 in the Wood and around 8 to 1 in the Derby.

He was just another horse, running for hay. But who won the Triple Crown? Just a bum named Assault.

In spite of all this, two of the best races just ahead, for an early opinion, include the Flamingo and the Santa Anita Derby, the latter to be run on March 8. These races are not going to tell you who will win the Derby, the Preakness or the Belmont. Not with so many good three-year-olds taking their time to get in shape for the main job ahead.

But at least they give you an early line on the best we have in actual competition. They will be the best we have in late February or early March. But late February and early March are a long way from May, as far as thoroughbreds—especially three-year-olds are concerned.

Money, of course isn't everything, but it is still something when it comes to competition and what you might call reader interest. It still pays bills.

Lesnevich Puts Crown On Line In Go With Fox

Light-Heavy Champ Faces Kayo Artist

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—World Light-Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich puts his crown on the line in this country for the first time in nearly six years tomorrow night against belting Billy Fox, who sports the gaudiest knockout record in ring history—and the betting is that belting Billy will wind up as boss-man.

They collide over the 15-round derby route in Madison Square Garden—the blonde champion with the solid left hook and the tan thumper from Philadelphia who has put his opponent to sleep in every one of his 43 trips to the ringpost in the punch-for-pay trade.

And the 49th street betting shoppes are so sold on the wrecking machine that Billy from Philly carries his right hand that they've put him up as a 2 to 5 choice to take home the bauble, and 2 to 3 that he does it the hard way—by humming the old lullaby to Lesnevich.

In their rush to tab the flailing Fox as the man to follow Tommy Loughran and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in bringing the light-heavyweight crown to the city of brotherly love, they're pracically forgetting that (1) Billy is practically a baby in the beak-busting business, (2) that Gus is an experienced workman with pretty close to a master's degree in raising lumps on another guy, and (3) that no light-heavy has been able to beat Gus since Willy Conn did it back in 1940.

There is no doubt that Billy can belt. Forty of his 43 none-too-distinguished rivals heard the birdies sing in four rounds or less. Another went out in six, and cagy Ossie Harris managed to last until the tenth twice before the roof fell in.

But Fox has boxed a total of just 121 rounds since he first came down the pike out of Tatum, Okla.—by way of Richmond, Va., and Quakertown — and at 21 is still somewhat of a green hand in the more fancy forms of operating inside a square ring in spite of the ether cans he can pitch around.

Gus, on the other hand, has 68 fights in the books, totalling 544 rounds, and has learned the answers to the tougher questions that might come up in the debate.

Pollet Says Terms Are Unsatisfactory

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Howard Pollet, hold-out pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, said tonight he was staying in Houston until President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals sends "me a satisfactory contract."

Pollet, who has returned three contracts to the Cardinals unsigned, said he had not heard from Breadon for a week and that he was leaving the next move up to the Cardinal president.

"I haven't made any specific demands," said the 21-game winner last year. He declined to reveal the extent of his disagreement with Breadon.

Texas Wesleyan Cagers To Fly To Baltimore For Loyola Game

Nation's Top Scorers Will Clash Tomorrow

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Little Texas Wesleyan's quite terrific basketball team hits the air lanes tomorrow, hopping up to Baltimore for a battle between the nation's leading scorers.

Attired in western regalia which of course is always expected of Texans making a trip to the east, the Rams will depart for the Maryland city at 7:40 a. m.—the first time a Wesleyan athletic team ever flew to an engagement. They will play Loyola Saturday night.

Clifton McNeeley, the speedy Wesleyan forward who has rolled up 637 points in 27 games to be No. 1 in the nation's scoring will match field goals and free throws with Jim Lacy of Loyola who is in second place with 540 points in 26 contests.

McNeeley's record indicates he should shade Lacy. The Texan has averaged 23.6 points per game, Lacy an even 20.

The much-traveled Wesleyans will be doing something a Texas team never tried before—sandwiching a game in the east between two tilts in Texas in a period of five days.

The Rams played Southwestern at Georgetown tonight, then hurried back to Fort Worth in order to make the morning plane for Baltimore. They will ramble back to Texas Sunday so they will be ready to journey over to Sherman Monday night to play Austin College.

The Rams had a record of 27 victories against three defeats prior to tonight's game at Georgetown—the best mark a Wesleyan quintet ever hung up. But at that, the Rams appear destined to be tied for the Championship of their league—the Texas Conference. Abilene Christian College split with them and those are the only defeats the two teams have suffered in conference play.

Also figuring in the Baltimore game will be the nation's third top scorer—E. F. Parham of Wesleyan, who has rolled up 482 points in 30 games.

Hogan, Bradley Post 5-Under-Par 66's In Tourney

Tie For Leadership At St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—A young navy veteran who's almost a total stranger around pro golfing ranks, and one of the old masters, Ben Hogan, shot five under par 66's today to grab the lead at the end of 18 holes in the St. Petersburg open golf tourney.

The 25 year old veteran, Jackson Bradley of Chicago, had things his own way after he fired a 32-34 over the 6,260-yard Pasadena course until Hogan came along late in the afternoon with a pair of 33's to tie Bradley.

Right behind with 67's were Jim Ferrierra of San Francisco and Chick Harbert of Detroit.

The leading first round scores included:

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., 33-33—69.

George Payton, Hampton, Va., 33-37—70.

Vic Ghezzi, Knoxville, Tenn., 34-36—70.

Al Smith, Danville, Va., 35-36—70.

MARYLAND FAVORED IN BOXING TOURNEY

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—On the past performance record, the University of Maryland will be heavy favorite to capture the title in the Southern Conference boxing tournament which opens tomorrow night at Ritchie Coliseum.

Tournament pairings, announced tonight, indicate that Clemson and The Citadel will be threats.

South Carolina and North Carolina are rated out of the running, but the former entry is given a chance to capture one or two individual titles.

Maryland got a break in the draw when Bob Gregson drew a bye in the 165-pound class, thus assuring Maryland of three points even if he loses his finals bout.

Fifteen preliminaries and semi-finals are set for Friday night; three more semi-finals Saturday afternoon and eight finals Saturday night.

Rookies Pound Ball

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Long range hitting by rookies Bill Howerton and Tommy Glaviano drew praise today from St. Louis Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer.

Howerton, 25-year-old outfielder, batted .302 for Columbus in the American Association last year while Glaviano, up from Fresno of the California State League, hit .338.

RIDGELEY RESERVES BEAT FORT HILL

The Ridgeley Reserves defeated the Fort Hill Reserves 31-27 last night in the preliminary to the Fort Hill-Ridgeley game at Ridgeley.

Paul Fisher's basket broke a tie in the first period to put Ridgeley ahead to stay. The Little Blackhawks led 14-8, 22-17, and 26-21 at the quarters. Fisher led Ridgeley with 14 points while Don Wimer topped the Sentinel Reserves with seven tallies.

SCAC Boxers Will Enter Baltimore Meet

Catanese, Goss, Tressler To Vie In S.A. Contests

Winners Next Month Will Go To Boston

Three representatives of the South Cumberland Athletic Club will file applications for the South Atlantic Association boxing tournament to be held Wednesday, March 12 and Wednesday, March 19, at the Baltimore Gardens, Payette and Paca Streets, Baltimore, it was announced last night by Presley W. "Red" Mauk, local matchmaker and fight manager.

The three SCAC boys entered in the amateur tournament are Bobby Goss, flyweight; Jimmie Catanese, featherweight, and Johnny Tressler, heavyweight.

Catanese is at present enjoying a six-bout winning streak, his last start having been a two-round knockout victory over Johnny Crowell, of the Southwest A. C., of Washington, D. C. Since getting his discharge from the army, "Jolting Jimmie" has won seven matches and lost eight.

Bobby Goss, the No. 1 flyweight in this section, has a record of eight wins and four defeats. He had won seven straight until last Monday night when he tired and dropped a decision to Umberto Vagarini, 112-pound novice flyweight champion of Washington, D. C.

Tressler is a novice heavyweight, who made his bow almost a month ago in an SCAC show, defeating Charley Smith, of Flintstone in a knock-down and drag-out battle at the armory.

Mauk obtained entry blanks for the South Atlantic Association tournament from the local boxing commissioner last night.

Entries for the tournament will close at midnight, March 8, 1947.

Winners in each weight class are eligible to compete as representatives of the South Atlantic Association in the National Senior Boxing Championships at Boston, Mass., in April.

NEVADA NIFTY — Top-rated among the country's leading fives last season, the University of Nevada Wolfpack again is one of the nation's better teams. The Reno quint has won 18 games on a national scale. The club recently returned from a 5,000-mile air jaunt to New York. Among the stars of the team is Hal Fischer, center, who was an all-star cager in the Army when stationed at the Tonopah Air Base. Fischer is 6 feet 4 inches tall and his home town in Hollywood, Cal.

Duquesne Will Seek 18th Consecutive Win In Game With Hoyas

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27 (AP)—Seeking their 18th straight victory, the golden dukes of Duquesne tangle with Georgetown tomorrow night at McKeesport in their final home basketball game of the season.

After their engagement with the Hoyas, the Dukes go to Reading, Pa., for a game with Albright Saturday night and finish off what Chick Davies hopes will be his first undefeated season in 20 years of coaching at Duquesne with games against Georgetown at Washington March 4 and the Quantico Marines the following night.

Phils Sign Kennedy For Utica Farm Team

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—19-year-old Phil Kennedy was the talk of the Philadelphia Phillies' baseball camp today.

Phil, former student at St. John's Prep in Brooklyn, N. Y., came to Clearwater and obtained a job as a busboy at the Phillies' hotel—all so he might try for a chance at playing big league baseball.

Manager Ben Chapman heard his story and gave the young infielder a chance. Phil looked so impressive, Chapman said, that he has been signed to a contract for the Phillies' Eastern League farm at Utica, N. Y.

Valley Forge Patients Will See Tournament

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Second Army headquarters today picked the Proving Ground Bombers from Aberdeen, Md., to meet Camp Campbell, Ky., and Fort Meade, Md., to battle Fort Knox, N. Y., in the opening round of its seven-state basketball tournament for soldier teams.

Two other opening-round games will pit Fort Eustis, Va., against Fort Hayes, Ohio, and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., against Camp Lee, Va.

The eight teams are the winners and runnersup in district eliminations run off in the second army area. Winners of the opening round games will meet in semi-final playoffs at the hospital Tuesday, with the championship tussle on Wednesday.

The tournament was scheduled at Valley Forge to provide entertainment for patients there.

Ruel Announces Plans

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Herold (Muddy) Ruel, freshman Manager for the St. Louis Browns, took a look at last year's records and announced that base stealing and bunts will find favor with this year's club.

"According to last year's averages," Ruel said, "the Browns didn't do much bunting or base stealing. But they will while I'm managing."

He gave the players a full session in the pit today on how to slide properly.

Arthur Holmes of the University of Edinburgh has recalculated the age of the world and places it at 3,350,000,000 years.

In Memoriam

Sad remembrance of our dear boy, Daniel Lipson, who died five years ago today, February 28, 1942.

As the months and years roll by,
We miss him more each day.
This day brings back sad memories,
Of a loved one gone to rest.

No one knows our aching heart,
For the one who passed away,
Memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

HIS PARENTS
2-28-1t

James—In loving memory of my wife and our mother, who passed away February 26, 1945.

Your memory is as dear today
As in the hour you passed away
Our home is oh so empty
But you are never forgotten.

Sadly missed by

Krampf—In loving memory of our son and brother, James Frederick Krampf, who died 3 years ago today, February 28, 1944.

We have only your memory, dear James
To remember our whole life through;
But the sweetness will linger forever
As we treasure the image of you.

Loving,
MOTHER, FATHER

A RARE PRIVILEGE FOR YOU IF YOU CAN MEASURE UP

If you have the necessary qualifications, here's your opportunity to "write your own ticket" in the U. S. Army. If you enlist for 3 years, and are eligible, you may:

1. Elect to join up with the famous 24th Infantry Division which won historic laurels in the liberation of Corregidor Fortress in the Philippines.

2. After initial training in the U. S., join the hard-fighting "Victory Division" on duty in Japan.

3. Take advantage of the 20% extra pay for overseas service. Starting base pay for Privates is $90 a month in addition to food, clothing, good quarters, medical and dental care.

4. Enjoy the exceptional recreation facilities provided for the Army in the Far East — swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts, baseball diamonds, clubs. Sightseeing is encouraged.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

INNOCENTS IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27—The facilities for entertainment in Hollywood are unmatched anywhere in the world. Entertainment in private homes, for instance, is better than anything you will see on the screen of hear on the radio, though generally they are the same entertainers. To a certain extent, this is because you are in more intimate contact with the entertainer than any mechanical medium can provide; but to an even greater extent, the reason, I think, is that the entertainers are free of all restrictions—directors, advertising agencies, or censors. The entertainer is not conforming to any particular policy and is not slanting his material for mass consumption.

John Crosby

One of Hollywood's greatest entertainers is not well known outside the movie capitol. His name is Abe Burrows, who writes the dialogue for the Dinah Shore show. Burrows is allowed to put only his talent into the Shore show; his genius is reserved for his parodies on popular songs and no one ever attempts to sing them except Burrows. Given a piano and enough drinks, Burrows can continue for hours, though half an hour of Burrows is about as much as the ordinary person can take without laughing himself to death.

Just a list of the Burrows titles will give you some idea: Here are a few: "I Can't Wait Till The Boys Pull Their Fingers Out Of The Dikes and Go Home To The Girls They Love." "The Girl With The Three Blue Eyes" ("What makes her different? It's the way she walks, the way she talks."); "I Looked Under A Rock And I Found You," "Green Christmas," and "If I Had It To Do All Over Again I'd Do It All Over Again."

Abe, a great hulk of man who has never forgiven "Time" magazine for calling him "balding," sings them in a voice which ranges from a rasp to a lugubrious wail. The voice is most of the fun when he croons in his best southern accents:

"Engineer, is this train goin' south:
"Down where the magnolias bloom. . . .
"Engineer, if this train's goin' south
"Then turn this train around."

Even the melodies are exquisite little parodies on all of Tin Pan Alley's best efforts: The nostalgia is almost heart-breaking in the melody of one of the Burrows best songs, which goes:

"I was walking down memory lane with nothing to remember.
"I was strolling down memory lane without even a dying ember.
Some folks remember their mothers.
"Others their girls behind
"But I was walking down memory lane without a Goddam thing on my mind."

Burrows originally wrote "Duffy's Tavern" and set the style for what became one of the most refreshing new shows on the air. Later, he wrote a show called "Holiday & Co." where his teeth were were so effectively pulled that the program was a failure.

Guide to Hollywood Joke: Hollywood and Vine, on intersection made famous by innumerable radio comedians, looks not much different from the main intersection in Fargo, N. D. On the southwest corner stands Broadway-Hollywood Hotel. Across Hollywood Boulevard on the northwest corner is the Melody Lane Cafe, a pink, two-story structure of glass, plastic and steel. The Equitable Building, which looks like all Equitable Buildings, stands on the northeast corner and an Owl Rexall Drugstore, which looks like all Owl Rexall drug stores, stands on the northwest corner. Hollywood Boulevard is distinguished by streetcar tracks, and two and three story stores; Vine Street, by the beautiful homes on its southern tip. Any other questions?

Red Cross Day Being Observed On All Networks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Red Cross day is being observed by all networks on Friday. The occasion is the opening of the 1947 campaign. The main feature is a 5-minute talk by President Truman scheduled for 10 o'clock, the regular schedule being rearranged to that time extent.

In aiding the campaign, the plan is to have each program make a special appeal either through extra announcements or guest speakers.

A title bout is on the ticket for ABC at the delayed time of 10:05. It is in the light heavyweight division, with Champion Gus Lesnevich battling it out with Billy Fox. The bout also will be televised by NBC.

A sponsor shift is leading to some program changes on MBS. Meet the Press, formerly at 10:30, goes up to 10 o'clock, although for this broadcast it will be 10:05. The guest is Sen. Joe. R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. Its change to the new time is due to the fact that the sponsor has dropped Spotlight on American and has switched his attention to Bulldog Drummond, which continues at 9:30.

Another MBS change moves Leave It to the Girls from Saturdays to 8:30, where the Story Theatre passed out last week.

The last episode of "Old Wives Tale" comes to the fore in Great Novels of NBC at 11:30.

Here are some CBS discussion periods, almost one after the other: 5 In School of the Air's Opinion Please, "Should Americans buy more foreign Goods?" 5:45 Sec. of Interior Krug on "The 49th State" from Honolulu; 6:15 from Washington, "Willkie Journalism Awards."

The Radio Clock

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28

Changes in programs as listed are due to corrections by networks made too late to incorporate.

All times PM eastern standard. To change to central standard subtract one hour; to mountain standard subtract two hours.

Times listed are those supplied by networks. Relay times by local stations, may vary in some instances.

Strip Mine Bill Meets Opposition At House Hearing

Walsh, Sloan Term Measure Unjustified

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—A bill to require strip miners in Allegany and Garrett counties to rehabilitate land from which they have taken coal ran into opposition at a hearing before the House delegations of the two counties today.

Former Judges William C. Walsh and D. Lindley Sloan, representing the Georges Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Association, charged that the bill was "unjustified" and would drive small operators out of business.

They contested the argument of Delegate Geppert (R - Allegany), sponsor of the measure, that it would be for the "general welfare of the people" by conserving land, protecting wild life and preventing water pollution.

Provides For Bond

The bill requires that strip miners post a $300 bond per acre mined before starting their operations and forfeit the security if they failed to fill in the cuts and plant trees, shrubs or grasses when they were finished. Failure to put up the bonds would bring a fine of from $5,000 to $10,000.

"This bill would give a monopoly on strip mining to big corporations able to afford the bonds," Walsh contended, "and drive the little fellow out of business."

He said most of the strip areas are isolated and "worth only $2 an acre."

What would be the justification, he asked, for "building a forest" on previously barren plots?

Sloan told the committee it was "52 years too late to try to restore the face of nature in Allegany County," where he said slack piles have already done the damage.

Declaring that the bill was an unwarranted interference with one of the two natural resources left in Garrett County, Sloan maintained that Chief Mining Engineer John J. Rutledge had statutory power to make such regulations as might be necessary.

Suggests Taxing Coal

Walsh had suggested that County Commissioners tax the coal if they wanted to do so.

Commenting that he was taking no sides, Rutledge said some conservation measure might be practical, although "if left alone," some grass would grow on the strips.

More than 400,000 tons of coal were stripped in the two counties last year, he said, and later reports from operators might boost the amount.

W. H. Naylor, of the Davis Coal and Coke Company, Baltimore, asserted the strip coal market was dissipating and that the bill would put "future and present operators out of business."

Delegate Geppert said last night that he called the attention of persons attending the hearing to the evils of strip mining, saying that it causes soil erosion, accumulation of stagnated waters and polluted streams, destroys the value of land for taxation purposes, tends to destroy bird and wildlife, enhances the flood danger, destroys the esthetic beauty of the countryside, and creates a danger that exposed coal may ignite.

Geppert said he pointed out that West Virginia passed a similar law in 1939 and that it has "worked out well." He added that Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois also have strip mining acts wherein it is required that the land must be restored to reasonable contours and that all of the acts have been satisfactory.

On some acreage, strip mined coal amounts to $15,000 per acre, Geppert asserted, adding that in 1945 one operator made over half a million dollars net profit.

Strip mine operators, however, pay no tax on coal they take out and thus differ from deep mine operators whose coal is taxed whether or not it is removed, Geppert stated.

Commercial Travelers Will Elect Officers

Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, will elect and install officers Saturday at 8 p. m. at a meeting to be held in the IOOF Temple, 12 South Mechanic Street. Past Grand Councilor Robert C. Bowers will have charge of the election and Past Grand Councilor William Englehart will install the officers.

Senior Councilor Ralph F. Sell said yesterday that the year closing March 31 will show the largest gain in membership for the council in the past 20 years. The membership at the present time is over 300 and a large class of candidates is expected to be initiated on March 29.

Three delegates will be elected Saturday to represent the council at the Grand Council session to be held at Norfolk, Va., on June 12, 13 and 14.

Eckhart Miner Is Reported Improving

Johnson DeVore, 53, Eckhart miner, who was injured in a "coal fall" at Consolidated Fuel Mines No. 3, Hoffman, Wednesday, was reported in an "improved condition" at Miners Hospital Frostburg, last night.

DeVore was installing roof supports with Paddy Thomas, Eckhart, in the mine when a roof fall caught him and partially buried him under a ton and a half of coal.

Attaches who said he was in a semi-conscious condition when admitted, reported last night that he had regained consciousness and added he is suffering mostly from shock.

Milton Lease Fined

Charged with disorderly conduct as the result of an argument, Milton Lease, 205 Spring Street, was fined $5 yesterday morning in Police Court. Charges were preferred by Detective Edwin Lilya and Sgt. John H. Newhouse. Police said the argument was over a "snowball throwing incident."

READY TO GO—Shown above are some of the captains and workers in the women's division of the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign in Allegany County, who met at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building yesterday afternoon to receive supplies before starting house to house canvassing to raise their quota of $6,000. The campaign for $29,560 officially starts tomorrow, but many of the women workers plan to start canvassing immediately. Shown standing are the two co-chairmen of the division, Mrs. Jim McQuown (left) and Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna. In the front row (left to right) are Mrs. Nevin Uhl, Mrs. H. A. Mackey, Mrs. Thomas G. Davis, Mrs. Thomas L. Rudd, Mrs. A. E. Kesecker, Jane Early and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Early; Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. W. P. Hahn, and Miss Catherine H. Lippold. In the second row, same order, are Mrs. E. M. Schiller, Mrs. Fred Lehman, Mrs. R. H. Kaske, Mrs. W. S. Russell, Mrs. Millard Crabtree, Mrs. Theodore Stegmaier, Mrs. George W. Hartung, Mrs. Mary E. Nave, Miss Mary J. Schellhaus, Mrs. L. J. Lanich, Mrs. R. A. Compton, Mrs. John S. Cook and Mrs. Grace H. Storer.

Several Captains Needed In Fund Drive Division

Classified Group Leaders Named

Captains have been selected for nine of the 12 sections of the classified division of the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign, which opens tomorrow, according to George Young, co-chairman of the division with Max Bastian.

The division has a quota of $5,000, while the total campaign goal is $29,560. After a meeting last night at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building, Young announced that section captains and their quotas are as follows:

Stuart Rosenbaum, mercantile, $1,000; Commissioner William V. Keegan, served commodities, $350; Bert J. Graham, automotive, $700; Cyrus Bowers, general, $500; Charles L. Kopp, schools, $400; James B. Reinhart, financial, $380; Howard Smith, utilities, $300; Charles L. George and Byron Kight, professional, $300; Robert L. Ebert, women's apparel, jewelry and shoe stores, $400.

Other sections lacking captains are public service, $200; governmental, $300, and food, $275.

The classified division, which will canvass employes of business establishments, will hold no report meeting, Young said. Workers will be asked to submit partial or complete reports to volunteer auditors at campaign headquarters next Wednesday and Friday, and to have their final reports in by Tuesday, March 11.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, said that several volunteer auditors will be on duty at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building starting Monday. The kickoff dinner of the campaign will be held Monday night at Central YMCA, starting at 6:15, and the victory dinner will be held Tuesday, March 11, at the "Y".

Women Receive Supplies

Classified section workers received supplies at last night's meeting, including window stickers, Red Cross pins, and certificates to be presented to donors. Young said it is hoped that window stickers representing 100% donations on the part of employes will appear in all store windows.

Supplies were also distributed to workers in the women's division, headed by Mrs. Jim McQuown and Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in campaign headquarters. Mrs. McQuown and Thomas B. Finan, general chairman of the drive, addressed the captains and workers, giving them final instructions prior to the start of house to house canvassing. The division's quota is $6,000.

Mrs. Witherup pointed out that Mrs. R. A. Compton, a veteran worker in Red Cross fund campaigns and roll calls, will head the South Cumberland section of the women's division again this year.

Mrs. Compton, who served as volunteer Red Cross secretary for a number of years before, during and after World War I, recalled last night that her section, which this year has a quota of $1,225, has always exceeded its quota. In 1942 the section had a quota of $4,500.

Appeal For Bakery Permit Is Filed

James Carbaugh and Emory Davis filed an appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday when their application for a permit to use part of the first floor of the reconstructed Hendricks Hotel building, 19 Laing Avenue, was refused in the city engineer's office.

The application was denied because the property is located in a Residential B section. Carbaugh and Davis seek a permit to operate a bakery and salesroom on the first floor, in the space formerly occupied by a bar.

Flames badly damaged the upper portions of the Hendricks Hotel, originally a three-story frame structure, last March. Quentin Rice, who purchased the building from M. D. Reinhart, reconstructed the building with two stories, and now resides on the second floor.

Seven Tons Collected

Seven more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday in the monthly drive, boosting the total to date to 31 tons. The collection today will cover all sections south of Oldtown Road.

Local Young Men Being Urged To Join New National Guard

Veterans Outline Postwar Plans

Citing the importance of the National Guard to the nation's defense structure, as well as its advantages to the individual who enlists, Associate Judge George Henderson and Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, spoke over WTBO last night, as a part of the recruiting campaign program now underway to bring two postwar units here up to strength.

Judge Henderson, a veteran of two World Wars, who has been a member of the National Guard for 30 years, finally retiring November 30, 1946, after a total of seven and a half years active service, told his audience that the postwar Guard is destined to play a more important part than ever before in the peace of the world and this nation's defense.

In 1939, Judge Henderson outlined, there were less than 300,000 men and officers in the National Guard. Postwar Guard plans call for an authorized strength of 700,000.

"As a result," he continued, "Allegany County will be permitted to have a total of 320 men and officers, whereas in 1939, we were allotted only 90."

Service Is Explained

"The good the National Guard does our country is clear, and the good it does the individual is no less clear," Judge Henderson continued. "He gives some of his time, at least one evening each week; and two weeks at a summer camp. He draws pay, the amount of which depends on his rank. He learns something about military training, how to care for himself in the field, how to get along with other men, how to obey and how to command others. He has an opportunity to develop his capacity for leadership.

"He has the use of the Armory, with its club rooms, rifle range and other facilities. He has the right to see the athletic contests held at the Armory and to play on Company teams here and at camp.

"It is not all fun . . . neither is it all work. It is certainly not the sort of service that a 'drug store cowboy' would enjoy," Judge Henderson said, "for it is a man's game, and those who cannot take it as well as dish it out, who have no

Store Employe Held For Air Rifle Sale

The assistant manager of Montgomery Ward and Company Store, Baltimore Street, was arrested yesterday afternoon, after city police said air rifles were being sold at the store in violation of a city ordinance.

The assistant manager, who identified himself as Harry Holliday, said he has been in the city for only a short time and declared he is not familiar with the ordinance. He said the manager, V. R. Burns, was out of town when a shipment of rifles arrived and he placed them on sale.

Questioned by Detective Edwin Lilya and Sgt. R. R. Johnson, Holliday posted bond of $25 for his appearance in Police Court this morning and declared he would appear.

Detective Lilya said an investigation was made after several complaints were received at headquarters about youths firing the rifles in the city, and it was learned that the guns were purchased at Montgomery Wards.

Holliday said about 18 rifles were shipped to the store, and unaware of the city ordinance he placed them on sale and sold two rifles. However, he removed the remaining 16 rifles from display yesterday after being informed that he was violating a city ordinance, he declared.

Marriage Licenses

Joseph Maxwell Ashby, 320 Central Avenue, and Bernice Edwards, Frostburg.

Robert Lee Swick, Petersburg, W. Va., and Zolla Ethel Kimble, Brushy Run, W. Va.

Carl Viggo Hansen, 424 North Mechanic Street, and Margaret Elizabeth Nolan, 202 North Centre Street.

Carl Divain Whitacre, RFD No. 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., and Lois Jean Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa.

Bruce Carl Dietle, and Susan Frances Belcher, Meyersdale, Pa.

Homer Edward Robinette, 207 Offutt Street and Mollie Mae McCabe, Paw Paw, W. Va.

Glenville Leroy Oates, Keyser, W. Va., and Dorothy Burn Duckworth, Westernport.

Lester Virgil Bosley, Westernport, and Phyllis Julia Robertson, Midland.

Bus Drivers And PE Officials Meet Today

A meeting has been scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning between Potomac Edison Company officials, the negotiating committee of Local Division 1110, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, AFL, and Conciliator James A. Holden, of the United States Conciliation Service, in an effort to reach a settlement of the contract dispute between the company and PE bus drivers.

The contract expires at midnight tonight and Cumberlanders may be without bus transportation tomorrow unless the union and the company get together and reach agreement before that time and prevent a strike.

Henry W. Price, district manager of the company, and John M. Elliott, international representative of the union, said Holden, who arrived in Cumberland yesterday afternoon, arranged the meeting for today.

Garrett County Roads Are Open

The snow-bound highways of Western Maryland, especially in Garrett County were reported open for two way traffic last night for the first time in a week, but many of the secondary roads were still blocked although the snow storm was considered over about noon.

State Road crews in Garrett County where an average depth of 3 feet is reported, said all equipment, that has been working "day and night" for the past week was in the garages last night and roads were open although chains were advised.

Crews Stop Work

An attendant on duty in the state arage at Accident said the crews stopped work about 8 p. m. and expressed hope that a moderate wind that was blowing would not grow stronger. Under present weather conditions, he said, there will be no difficulty in maintaining two way traffic from now on.

In Oakland the highways were also reported open to two way traffic, but crew members said about three or four inches of snow was still packed on the roads, and advised motorists to use chains.

In both sections of the county, however, there was little progress reported on secondary roads, over which many of the school buses must run. County crews are still working 24-hour shifts in a effort to cut passage through the hugh snow drifts that have reached a height of 15 feet in some places.

Temperatures in Garrett were averaging about 15 degrees above with the Accident section reporting 16 degrees above. A light snow that began falling early yesterday morning stopped about noon and increased the depth by only an inch or so, crew workers said. Last midnight the moon was shining down on the two week snow fall for the first time.

Open For Two Way Traffic

In Allegany County, west of Frostburg state road crews were still working at a late hour, but members said the roads were open to two way traffic and had been most of the day. The secondary roads however were still reported in "pretty miserable" condition.

In other sections of the Tri-State area the snow fall was reported about over also. Deal, Pa., was shoveling from under a 22 inch fall that ended yesterday morning but a cloudy sky was still threatening with brief flurries and the temperature was 12 above. At Thomas, W. Va., a 14 above reading was taken at midnight and brief squalls were reported falling on the already 35 inches of packed snow.

In Cumberland and outlying districts, the temperature was 26 above and clear weather reported. Most of the secondary roads were open, but icy spots on the highways were still a threat to motorists, State Police said.

Is Injured In Fall

Fredia Lohr, 24, 126 Main Street, Ridgeley, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, was examined yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital after she fell down several steps and injured her left elbow.

Celanese Named Party Defendant In Tax Case

Petitions Court To Enter Dispute

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday, by Charles E. Heskett, attorney for the Celanese Corporation of America, asking to intervene in the equity suit filed by James H. Reed against the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the Celanese, challenging the county tax exemption granted the company on tools and machinery.

Reed's suit was filed February 6, the same date a similar action was entered protesting the exemption of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill Company and a few days after the court was petitioned by Reed to set aside the exemption granted Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

As was done in the other two tax exemption actions, the Court signed an order permitting the Celanese to intervene and become a party defendant in the actions. March 20, is fixed by the Court as the final date to file answers by attorneys.

The action by the Celanese was predicted by Court House attaches and other attorneys after the Kelly Springfield Tire Company intervened.

Tax records indicate that the total exemptions granted the three corporations amount to about .22 cents on the tax rate, based upon the last or current assessable basis.

Divorce Suits Filed

An English war bride, Mrs. Valerie Lancaster, has entered suit for divorce from Melvin Lancaster. The couple appeared at the Court House yesterday in an effort to settle their differences, and a suit for partial divorce was entered.

Lancaster met Valerie at Harold Wood, England, while serving with the Army, and after a brief courtship, married her. When the couple came to this country they established their residence with his parents near Danville.

Mrs. Lancaster alleges her husband deserted her and she was asked to leave the Lancaster home and moved across the road. Lancaster said his wife did peculiar things such as going to her bedroom and firing a gun to indicate she had committed suicide, and on another occasion she stood over him with a knife while he was in bed, he declared.

Associate Judge Henderson said he would study the case in which a partial decree is asked, together with a $15 a week alimony.

A bill of complaint was also filed in equity by Marie O. Miller against David N. Miller, seeking a divorce.

Divorces Granted

William Addison Rinker, local photographer, was ordered to pay his wife $10 per week for the support of their infant son, in a divorce decree signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster yesterday. Rinker was sued by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Lee Rinker on a charge of desertion.

Mrs. Emma E. Sharon was also granted a divorce, in her suit against Charles L. Sharon. The decree was signed by Judge Huster.

Beer License Issued

Alma Spencer, of Bowman's Addition, was granted a license yesterday, for off-sale of light beer, beer and light wine, for her grocery store. Known as a Class A license, the permit was granted by Circuit Court judges.

Housing Meeting Planned For Tuesday

A public meeting, sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and other groups, will be held Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium, to discuss rental housing for veterans.

According to E. Lester Muller, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, the purpose of the meeting is to spearhead the vigorous 1947 program of rental housing proposed by the Federal government for private building industry cooperation under sections 603 and 608 of the National Housing Act. Charles T. Batterden and Owen C. McFadden will accompany Muller here for the meeting.

Muller also stated that the meeting will be of interest to veterans seeking homes as well as city and county officials, approved mortgagees, lumber dealers, realtors, architects, contractors, builders, and others interested in housing.

New, Enlightening Column, Dealing With World Affairs, Soon To Appear

Beginning next week, The Cumberland News is bringing to its readers "These Days," a timely, fearless, authoritative column of comment on national and international affairs, by George Sokolsky, one of the country's outstanding authors and lecturers. It will be an addition to the already large list of features that are making this newspaper one of the most widely read dailies in Maryland.

"For some reason," Mr. Sokolsky says, with his slow grin, "—perhaps because of the sky at the end of my name—it is often assumed that I was born in Russia and that sometime or other I was a Communist."

Nothing, believe me, could be further from the truth—for George Sokolsky is a complete American, by way of his native Utica, N. Y., and far from being a Communist, he has been one of its most outspoken enemies in the United States for years.

Yet it is not as if Sokolsky has never brushed up against Communism at all; indeed, as a St. Louis newspaperman once wrote, "he has rubbed elbows with 'em (isms) all." It is this firsthand knowledge of anarchism, Communism and other radicalisms that has made Sokolsky a conservative and a defender of the capitalistic faith.

ABL To Take Part In Fund Campaign

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, a concern that believes in 100 per cent co-operation with the American Red Cross, today was completing publicity plans to bring the drive that opens tomorrow to the attention of the workers.

According to Fred Shafnacker, personnel superintendent, about 50 per cent of the employes in the West Virginia concern, or around 140, are Marylanders and therefore every opportunity is given them to contribute to the annual drive.

Yesterday, Shafnacker was making plans to put Red Cross posters on display on all five company bulletin boards and bulletins, cards and stickers are ready for distribution.

Shafnacker said the foremen, supervisors and clerks are selected to take charge of any contributions made by the workers and the total is turned in at the front office to be forwarded to Red Cross headquarters.

"We have always believed in giving the Red Cross our full support," Shafnacker said. "It's one organization we believe in going all out for."

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Abell, Cresaptown, announce the birth of a daughter in Allegany Hospital Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Stottlemeyer, Mt. Lake Park, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial Hospital Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carolan, 247 North Centre Street, announce the birth of a son in Allegany Hospital Thursday night.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Meyers, 410 Springdale Street, Thursday morning in Allegany Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Waugaman, 33 South Centre Street, announce the birth of a daughter Thursday morning at home.

Twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, 220 Mechanic Street, Frostburg, Wednesday night in Miners' Hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Bartlett Bishop, Oxford, Md., announce the birth of a son Wednesday in the Easton, Md., hospital. Mrs. Bishop is the former Kay Carpenter, this city.

Shriners Leave For Visit To Mexico

Two Cumberland members of Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine and their wives left last night with Potentate and Mrs. Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown, on a 12-day tour of Mexico. They are State's Attorney and Mrs. Morgan C. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Brotemarkle.

The three couples left Keyser, W. Va., last night on the National Limited for St. Louis, Mo., where they will board a special train of Shriners for Mexico.

Shriners will accompany Imperial Potentate George H. Rowe on the first visit of an imperial potentate south of the border since 1939. The trip will be climaxed with Rowe's official visit to Anezeh Temple in Mexico City.

The local people are expected home March 14.

Experiences In War Related By Verner

Some of his experiences in the Naval Intelligence in World War II were related by A. A. Verner, head of the Export Department of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company at the Kiwanis Club meeting here yesterday at noon in Central YMCA.

Verner served for many months in Panama and was later transferred to England where he helped make plans in connection with the invasion of France as well as to outline the work of specially trained men after the invasion. He also told of his experiences in Germany and of some dealings he had with the Russians.

Deeds Recorded

Henry N. and Agnes R. Dressman and Claude L. Deal conveyed to The Blue Ridge Products Co., a corporation, a lot in District 29 on Mill Road for $600.

Mayor and City Council of Cumberland conveyed to James F. Juliano, lot at Cedar Street extended and Thomas Street extended for $400.

King Realty Company conveyed to Washington Heights Corporation, 18 lots and a 50-acre tract on Washington Heights Addition for $4,000.

See Says Correct Vote On Reporting Bond Bill Was 3-2

Delegate Charles M. See said last night that a $150,000 bond issue bill for recreation in Cumberland received a favorable county delegation report in the General Assembly by a three to two vote Wednesday and not by a five to one vote as reported yesterday.

See said that although he opposed a referendum provision on the bill he did not vote on the measure because his opposing vote would have meant a tie vote and the bill would have gone to the Speaker of the House without a report. That would have meant an argument on the floor of the House, he added.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, "must not have paid attention to the vote or he would not have reported such a mistake," See declared.

He added that Whitworth and Delegates Noel Speir Cook and William H. Geppert voted for the bill with the referendum attached, but that Delegates John T. Fey and Lester B. Reed voted against it because of the referendum. See did not vote.

"Three of us thought the bill should not have a referendum," See stated.

He said he took position against the referendum because the Mayor and City Council on Monday unanimously authorized appointment of a recreation commission, and explained that the referendum means the commission will have no money until the bond issue is passed in 1948.

"Why have a commission if there is no money?" See asked.

He said he believes persons appointed to the commission would handle the money wisely.

Further explaining his position, See stated that he realizes "the need for a recreation program, especially playgrounds and more especially a playground in South Cumberland."

He termed the present playground located in back of Penn Avenue School "not a good sandlot for children to play on."

A good recreation program is one way to curb delinquency, See said, adding that children should be given a place to play and have recreation.

"That's why I am not for a referendum," he declared.

See criticised Whitworth for disclosing the vote on the recreation bond issue bill which was taken in executive session, and asserted:

"It has never been customary in the past, since my having been a member of the House of Delegates and I am now in my third term, to divulge a vote taken in executive session.

"Why Mr. Whitworth has broken this long-standing rule I am at a loss to know. It is an unwritten rule of all standing and select committees in the House and Senate that the vote in executive session is not passed to the public because it is not a matter of record."

J. Harry Bibby Named To Insurance Post

J. Harry Bibby, brother of G. William Bibby, president of the Cumberland Brewing Company, was elected as vice-president of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, at a meeting of the board of directors in Baltimore Wednesday. He was formerly assistant director of casualty insurance underwriting.

A native of Baltimore, Bibby has been employed by the company for 25 years, first in the Atlanta and Richmond offices, and for the last 10 years at the home office in Baltimore.

Saville Is Serving On USS Mount Olympus

Charles H. Saville, 19, electronic technician's mate, second class, USN, of Cumberland, is serving aboard the USS Mount Olympus, flagship of the Navy's 1947 Antarctic Expedition.

Saville entered the Naval service Aug. 3, 1945, and received his recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. He attended Naval electronics school for 10 months before reporting aboard the Mt. Olympus in November, 1946.

Ministers Hint At "Neglect" In Slot Machine Debacle

Say "Real Effort" Needed For Removal

Cumberland ministers entered the current slot machine confiscation debacle last night, declaring that authorities apparently are neglecting their duties and "really" do not want to remove the devices.

Not a machine has been confiscated or destroyed since Monday when State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris called a meeting of law enforcement officers and instructed them to bring in the devices "by the truckload," and ministers intimated last night that no real attmpt was made to take any machines or make any arrests.

Rev. Ray L. Henthorne, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, declared that he believes "responsible law enforcement authorities could remove slot machines if they really wanted to There seems to be no secret about where the machines are kept and played," he stated, adding, "In fact, almost every citizen in the city seems to know."

"Deliberately Foiled"

"Apparently someone is neglecting his duty," Rev Mr. Henthorne said.

"From newspaper reports," he stated, "it looks as if some authority deliberately foiled the allegedly planned raid for this week, but such

Gibson Will Check Airport Statement

A copy of the 1946 financial statement of Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, which operates the Cumberland Municipal Airport on a lease from the city, will be submitted to Arthur B. Gilson, city auditor.

The Municipal Airport Commission, meeting last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, decided to turn the financial statement over to the city auditor instead of making the contents public immediately.

John A. Chapman, airport manager, was asked to make application to a Civil Aeronautics Administration for certification for a 24-inch rotating beacon showing a clear light, signifying the location of an airport, in lieu of the green beacon for which certification was received last July. The latter type means than an attendant is on duty at all times at the airport.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, was requested by Edmund S. Burke, chairman, to communicate with Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth District, requesting him again to take any possible action toward expediting the processing of applications made by airlines to the Civil Aeronautical Board for service here.

The appointment of a successor to Charles Z. Heskett, who resigned from the commission last fall to become a member of the State Aviation Commission, was deferred last night because a quorum was lacking.

Shires was instructed to request Charles F. Heller, airport maintenance foreman, to prepare a budget for the ensuing fiscal year.

A. Derr Golladay, one of the operators of the Mexico Farms airport, attended the meeting.

Officers Reserve Is Started Here

The 208th Composite Group of the Army Officers Reserve Corps of Allegany and Garrett Counties yesterday opened headquarters on the second floor of the Union Street County Building.

Capt. Thomas Stafford, officer in charge, said the local office has a card index file on every resident of the two counties who served during World War II as officers and that from among these men the commanding officer of the corps will be selected.

The Officers Reserve Corps here will consist of the 80th, 81st, 82nd and 83rd Battalions, according to Capt. Stafford. At present the corps is just being organized and men interested in the organization are asked to contact Capt. Stafford. It is planned to hold meetings once a month for lectures, movies and other military matters pertaining to the organization, he explained.

New City Directory Is Being Prepared

A canvass of the City of Cumberland is being made at the present time to collect data for a new city directory which is expected to be published within the next few months, Harold W. Smith, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said yesterday.

The directory, like the 1946 edition, will contain an alphabetical directory of business concerns and private citizens, a directory of householders, occupants of office buildings and other business places including a street and avenue guide.

Midland Youth Enlists In Regular Navy

John Joseph Manley, 17, Midland, enlisted in the regular Navy for a minority term and has been sent to the training station at Great Lakes, Ill., according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader of the local Navy recruiting station.

George Woodrow Cook, RFD 3, Bedford, Pa., a veteran of 19 months' Army service, has enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve for four years as a seaman second class.

Two Join Army

Two men enlisted in the United States Army yesterday at the local recruiting office. They are:

Mark Stanley Uphole, Deer Park, who signed for three years, and Pfc. Roy C. Crites, Petersburg, W. Va., who re-enlisted for three years. He has three years prior service.

HOOVER ASKS GERMAN FOOD FUND

Senate Group Would Halve OPA's Rations

$22,000,000 Is Voted To Liquidate Agency

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Senate Appropriations Subcommittee voted today to put OPA on half rations for the next four months and then kill it.

The vote was 6 to 5, to give the once huge agency $22,000,000 to wind up its business by June 30. However, out of that total must come $7,000,000 for employes' terminal pay and $5,727,000 for the costs of liquidation.

"That means that OPA must reduce its operations by more than half immediately," said Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Appropriations Committee.

Closed Meeting

The OPA now supervises controls over sugar, rice and rent. Bridges, in reporting on the closed meeting to reporters, said he thinks a month's time is enough to transfer these functions to other government agencies.

Bridges related that he had supported a proposal by Sen. Gurney (R-SD) to give OPA only enough money to run until March 31. That motion lost by only one vote, he added.

Bridges said that OPA would have approximately $9,000,000 to operate on during the next four months, as compared with $20,000,000 he said OPA wanted.

Even rougher treatment may be handed OPA when the full Appropriations Committee meets tomorrow, the chairman said, remarking that the subcommittee vote may be reversed then.

Wants "Orderly" End

Before today's subcommittee meeting, Bridges took note of the House action in voting to lop $9,000,000 from the agency's appropriation for the current fiscal year and to refuse a $5,900,000 supplementary fund.

"I do not mean that I favor extending any of these controls at all," Bridges said. "The House already has killed them off by not voting funds. I want to be certain that whatever is decided, the agency can end in an orderly manner."

The Senate subcommittee agreed to restore the $9,000,000 in addition to voting money for terminal pay and liquidation costs.

Pearl Harbor Dock Fire Under Control

PEARL HARBOR, Feb. 27 (AP) — An oil-fed fire that swept suddenly over a quarter-mile long wooden dock at Pearl Harbor was brought under control today by 500 sailors and marines after a three-hour battle.

Twenty-five firefighters were overcome by smoke and taken to Navy Hospital for emergency treatment. None was believed in serious condition.

The dense, oily smoke, rising from one of the worst blazes in Pearl Harbor's history, overcame many others, but they were given first aid on the docks and returned to help fight the flames.

At 3:30 p. m., naval district headquarters announced the fire completely under control, although firefighting crews still poured water and chemicals on fires smouldering beneath the docks.

The extent of the damage was not yet known, but it was expected to be heavy. Cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Baltimore Store Fire Called "Work Of Firebug"

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Howard Travers, chief engineer of the Baltimore Fire Department, said tonight a nine-alarm fire at the May Company, downtown department store, was "beyond a question of a doubt" the work of firebug.

Travers said preliminary findings of the arson squad indicated the blaze, which swept the store's fifth floor Monday night, was the work of "experienced" incendiarists.

HOAX GIRL—Jacqueline Mae Stang, 17-year-old Long Beach, Calif., high school girl, is shown above telling a story of being abducted and tortured to a deputy sheriff but later she confessed she herself had inflicted the cuts and burns on her body which she told police were the work of her assailant.

Girl Admits Her Story Of Abduction Was Hoax

Teen-Ager Inflicted Cuts, Burns On Body

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 27 (AP)—Police announced today that a pretty 17-year-old high school girl's story of being abducted by a man, bound, gagged, then disrobed and tortured, much in the manner of Los Angeles' recent "Black Dahlia" case, has turned out to be a hoax.

Juvenile authorities said that Jacquelin Mae Stang, daughter of a Long Beach businessman, had confessed she herself had inflicted the cuts and burns on her body which she told police were the work of her assailant.

Discrepancies In Stories

"She admits her whole story is a hoax," Juvenile Bureau Director Joseph H. Kennick announced after authorities had found discrepancies in two stories she told.

"Could it be despondency over differences with your boy friend that caused you to tell this story?" a juvenile officer asked Miss Stang.

"It could be," she answered.

The girl was taken to the city health physician's office late today for a physical examination. A police physician said she had not been raped.

Bound Herself

Police said she told them she was en route home from Long Beach Polytechnic High School late yesterday when a man accosted her from behind, placed a gloved hand over her mouth and she lost consciousness. She said she believed she had been chloroformed.

"When I came to, I had no clothes on," police said she related. "The man was scratching me. He blew cigaret smoke into my mouth and laughed fiendishly. He burned my left wrist with a cigaret."

Kennick said the girl had admitted she bound herself with strips of her own underclothing, burned her wrist and inflicted cuts on her body.

Army Plane Begins 4,978-Mile Honolulu To New York Flight

HONOLULU, Feb. 27 (AP) — A United States Army twin-engined P-82 took off today in an attempt to smash all long-distance fighter plane records with a non-stop flight to New York.

The new type fighter, the Betty Jo, took off at 3:05 p. m. (8:35 p. m., Eastern Standard Time) and its pilot and co-pilot expected to land 14 hours later at New York.

The plane carried 30,000 pounds—nearly half of that fuel—in what was believed to be the heaviest load ever taken aloft by a fighter. It expected to have enough fuel left when it reach New York for 200 miles of flight.

The twin-engine, long-range fighter plane was loaded with more than seven tons of gasoline for the 4,978-mile haul across the Pacific and the continental United States.

Secret Conference Stirs Speculation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — A top secret conference by President Truman, his diplomatic advisers and key legislators stirred speculation today that some diplomatic decision of world import might be in the making.

Its importance was underscored by the fact that all the conferees were pledged to secrecy. Nine congressmen, including the Republican chiefs of the Foreign and Appropriations Committees, were consulted by the President but none would go beyond an announcement of Chariman Vandenberg (R-Mich) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee:

"On the eve of Secretary (of State) Marshall's departure for Moscow we had a general discussion of the European problem which is involved in the approaching meeting."

The session, for which Marshall and his staff will leave March 5, was arranged to consider the peace treaty for Germany. But it will be the first meeting of the Foreign Ministers of the United States, Russia, Britain and France since Britain's economic plight came to a head in the industrial shutdown forced by the coal shortage, leading to some talk that Britain might be forced to reduce her political and military commitments.

Gas, Kerosene Prices Boosted By Standard

NEW YORK, Feb 27 (AP)—Standard Oil Company of New Jersey today announced advances up to three-tenths of one cent a gallon in the posted terminal prices for motor fuels and aviation gasoline, and increases up to two-tenths of a cent in kerosene, effective March 1.

The company said the advances were made to meet increases in the wholesale market at refineries.

At other than terminal points, the company added, the added cost of transportation in such states which have authorized the new tariffs will be included in the new tank car and tank wagon prices.

The following states will be affected: New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Louisiana.

Jeweler Says Many Hesse Gems Missing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Bernard N. Burnstine, Washington jeweler, said today during a recess in Col. Jack W. Durant's trial for theft of the Hesse crown jewels that $1,000,000 worth of the gems are still missing.

Burnstine made the statement to reporters after testifying in court as to the value of a glittering array of diamonds, rubies, pearls, sapphires and emeralds exhibited by the army as part of the loot recovered so far. The Hesse fortune in gems has been valued at $1,500,000 to $7,000,000.

Subcommittee To Investigate Albanian Issue

U. N. Council Votes 8-0 To Set Up Group

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council today set up a three-nation subcommittee to investigate British mine-laying charges against Albania after wrangling two hours on whether Russia had a right to veto such a step.

The vote was 8 to 0 with Russia, Poland and Syria abstaining.

Immediately after the ballot, the council debated composition of the subcommittee for another hour and finally selected Australia, Colombia and Poland. The core of this discussion centered on Russia's insistence that Poland be given a seat.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko was unable to muster any support for his contention that the step of setting up a subcommittee was substantive and thus subject to veto. He finally said he would abstrain, but insisted that he held the power to block the move.

The subcommittee resolution, submitted by Australia, provides that the group report back to the council not later than March 10. The three-man body is empowered to gather further information here from the parties to the dispute and "make a report on the facts of the case as disclosed by such evidence."

Two members of the subcommittee—Colombia and Poland—already have indicated their belief that the case should be referred to the International Court of Justice.

The British accused Albania of responsibility for laying mines in the Corfu Channel where two British destroyers were damaged last October 22. Forty-four sailors were killed in the incident and London seeks an apology and compensation for loss of life and property.

Battle Over Economic Plan For Europe Looms

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—A new battle between Russia and the western powers over measures to rebuild Europe's war-wrecked economy appeared to be shaping up tonight as delegates to the United Nations Economic and Social Council prepared for the opening of their fourth session tomorrow.

This issue was high on the crowded agenda, which was expected to keep the 18-nation council in session for at least three weeks.

The major question involved was the proposed creation of a special economic commission to co-ordinate the economic development of Europe and a similar commission for Asia and the Far East. This proposal, backed by the United States and Great Britain, was bitterly opposed by Russia when it came before the council last fall.

The Soviet attitude was modified somewhat during the General Assembly debate on the question and Russia finally voted for a resolution which called on the Economic and Social Council to "give prompt and favorable consideration" to the creation of these commissions.

The main fight during the coming session is expected to be over the duties and functions of the commissions, rather than over the question of their creation. Russia has contended that more emphasis should be placed on immediate measures instead of long-term planning as advocated by the western powers.

House Expected To Pass Portal Pay Bill Today

Sabath And Cellar Blast Legislation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) called upon his fellow Democrats today to "stand with the working man" and beat the portal pay bill but the House debate made it evident a large group of them will vote with the nearly-solid Republicans to pass it.

The measure, to be voted on tomorrow, would permit employers to plead "good faith" as a defense in suits to recover for overtime pay under the wage-hour law, bar suits seeking pay for activities not covered by formal or implied agreements, eliminate double damages, fix a one-year statute of limitations for claims, and permit out-of-court settlements.

"Vicious" Measure

"I hope the Democratic party will stand with the working man and that the country next year will elect a Democratic Congress and a Democratic President," declared Sabath in labeling the bill "vicious anti-labor legislation."

The opposition concentrated its fire on the section which would allow employers to claim "good faith" as a defense.

Leading the opposition, Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.), ranking Democrat on the Judiciary Committee, acknowledged that he was "swimming against the tide."

"Hysteria" Is Cited

But he contended that advocates of the bill "under the guise of blocking portal suits are attacking and emasculating the Fair Labor Standards Act."

He and Sabath argued that there is a "great deal of hysteria" over the portal suits—now amounting to $5,785,000,000. Both, too, said that some of these suits are "good, some bad." Sabath claimed the "bad" ones are the exception rather than the rule.

Gas Station Blast Kills Five Persons

BRISTOL, Va.-Tenn., Feb. 27 (AP)—Five persons were killed and another was critically injured in an explosion of undetermined origin that wrecked a service station at 11:05 a. m. today on a busy corner three blocks from downtown Bristol.

The explosion, which apparently came from one of two gasoline storage tanks beneath the service station, sent sheets of flame spurting into the air, hurtled huge blocks of concrete several hundred feet, wrecked five automobiles and a pickup truck and shattered windows of several nearby stores and the First Baptist Church.

Dead Are Identified

Workmen continued delving in the wreckage tonight although authorities reported only the five known dead. They were identified as:

Frank Robinette, Sr., 51, owner of the station; Frank Robinette, Jr., 22, son of the operator; J. S. Smithson, 32, Pulaski, Va., a customer; Howard Darter, 25, a farmer of ncarby Tennessee, and Charlie Entry, also a farmer of the same neighborhood.

Jasper Richardson, 41, Bristol, was in a hospital with injuries described as critical, and six other persons were slightly hurt. One was four-months-old Ralph Cash, Jr., who was tossed from his bed against a steam radiator in his home.

Both Police Chief W. J. Rogers and Fire Chief W. A. Buckles said they had been unable to determine the cause of the explosion, which demolished the brick station and shattered windows in buildings within a radius of several blocks.

Battle Fire For Two Hours

"I saw a huge yellow flame shoot up and suddenly the air was full of debris," said J. J. Smith, Jr., operator of a grocery store across the street from the station. "The blast knocked me to the floor of my store."

Firemen battled the resulting blaze for nearly two hours before they brought it under control. A gas main was broken by the explosion and firemen ordered the gas turned off to prevent another blast, Buckles reported.

Rogers said there apparently was no basis for an earlier report that two children were trapped in the fire-seared wreckage.

Ships Disabled As Fierce Gales Sweep Atlantic

Fishing Schooner Sinks; Crew Saved

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Fierce, sporadic storms, with winds up to 60 miles an hour whipping up mountainous seas, swept across the Atlantic today, sinking a fishing schooner and imperiling at least six other ocean-going vessels.

The gales, which have plagued the Atlantic shipping lanes for five days, are expected to continue, the Coast Guard said.

Nine crewmen on a fishing schooner, "Catherine L. Brown," were taken off the sinking vessel after losing an all-night battle against rising water. The schooner developed a leak in the heavy seas.

The tanker S.S. Calusa radioed the Coast Guard that it had removed the crew and that the fishing vessel was going down rapidly 80 miles southeast of Cape May, N. J.

Freighter Loses Propeller

The Navy tug Mosopelea fought gale winds 230 miles northeast of Bermuda in an effort to take in tow the freighter, S.S. Georgie, which sent out an S.O.S. Tuesday after losing her propeller. The tug succeeded in getting one tow line aboard but lost it.

The former Chesapeake Bay liner President Warfield, which participated in the invasion of Normandy, was taken in tow by the Coast Guard cutter Cherokee off the Virginia coast and reached Hampton Roads, Va., safely. The liner had reported springing a leak in rough seas.

Also in distress 245 miles southeast of Bermuda was the schooner Winifred Maris. The Navy tug Hoist, however, was standing by to aid her although gales prevented the rescue vessel from getting a line aboard at once.

The old Cape Verde packet Lucy and Evelyn, a three-masted schooner, wallowed in heaving seas 150 miles southeast of Cape Cod light, stripped of all but her mizzen sail.

Sighted By Trawler

She had no radio but was sighted by a Boston trawler. The Coast Guard cutter Legare was speeding to her aid. A navy plane also was dispatched to help the Legare find the schooner. The Lucy and Evelyn was en route from Africa to New Bedford, Mass., but already had been brought disabled into Norfolk 11 days ago.

The tanker Contreras, which normally has a crew of 48, radioed that it was disabled 50 miles east of Key West, Fla., the Coast Guard reported.

Another fishing vessel, the dragger Rainbow, became disabled 60 miles east of Boston, her home port, but was towed in by the Coast Guard.

Recommends That U. S. Pay $475,500,000

Called Essential Peace Contribution

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Herbert Hoover recommended to President Truman today that the United States pay $475,500,000 for food for German civilians in the 18 months beginning last January 1 as an essential contribution to peace and order in the Western World.

He urged that this sum not be "an irrecoverable expenditure" and that it be stipulated in all peace arrangements that the money be repaid from any future German net exports "before any other payments to other nations of any kind."

Such repayments thus would come ahead of reparations.

Hoover made the proposal in a formal report to President Truman after investigating relief needs in Central Europe. He expanded on it by telling reporters at the White House today that conditions all over Europe are the worst in 50 years.

"Pretty grim," he summed up.

"Everybody Is Cold"

He said railroads are still disorganized and that "everybody is cold" in Northern and Central Europe, where frozen canals and rivers do not permit shipment of coal even by barge.

Hoover said he will make another report to Mr. Truman probably next week, on Austrian needs and on how to develop German industries to the point that Germany can pay for food furnished by the United States and Great Britain.

On Capitol Hill, Chairman Bridges (R-NH) said the Senate Appropriations Committee would want a detailed explanation by the former President before it votes relief funds.

In a report on his recent economic mission to Germany and Austria, the former President said "it may come as a great shock to American taxpayers that, having won the war over Germany, we are now faced for some years with large expenditures for relief for these people.

"Indeed, it is something new in Human history for the conqueror to undertake. Whatever the policies might have been that would have avoided this expense, we now are faced with it. And we are faced with it until the export industries of Germany can be sufficiently revived for their food. The first necessity or such a revival is sufficient food upon which to maintain vitality to work.

Sees No Other Course

"Entirely aside from any humanitarian feelings for this mass of people, if we want peace; if we want to preserve the safety and health of our army of occupation; if we want to save the expense of even larger military forces to preserve order; if we want to reduce the size and expense of our army of occupation—I can see no other course but to meet the burdens I have here outlined."

Hoover estimated that supplies which Great Britain and this country would have to furnish for the 41,700,000 German civilians in their combined occupation zones would cost $384,000,000 for the first six months of this year and $567,000,000 in the fiscal year beginning next July 1. Each nation would pay half of the costs.

The former Republican President returned from Europe last Sunday after spending three weeks abroad. President Truman asked him to undertake the survey after American military government authorities had requested huge sums for food for civilians.

Hotels And Restaurants Will Get More Sugar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—OPA officials said today that larger sugar rations will be given hotels, restaurants and other eating places when they apply for their May-June allotments.

The increase, it was said, "will be consistent with other ration increases."

The officials said that sugar allocations will be boosted for nearly all industrial and institutional users as a result of the increased supplies allowed the United States for 1947 by the International Emergency Food Council.

State-Wide Use Of "Fast" Time Defeated; Teachers Assured Of Pay Increases

Finance Committee Report Is Adopted

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP) — Maryland's school teachers and their principals becam evirtually assured of pay became virtually assured measure for new minimum salaries advanced to the passage stage in the State Senate.

Without debate or amendment, the Senate adopted a favorable report of the Finance Committee on a bill which would set an annual minimum of $2,000 for beginners without degrees and $2,200 for first year teachers who hold degrees.

The present minimum by law is $1,500 a year for both classes.

Under the new bill, both classes would receive $100 a year increases with experience. Thus, teachers with degrees could advance to $3,800 after 17 years of service. Non-degree teachers could go to $3,600 after 16 years.

Principals with graduate credi would receive amounts ranging from $400 to $1,200 in excess of those provided for the teachers, depending upon the number of assistant instructors under their supervision.

At the same time, the Senate received a bill sponsored by President Byrnes (D-Balto 5th) and Sen. Sothoron (D-Prince George's), George (D-Queen Anne's) and Guy Johnson (D-Cecil) to create an incentive fund to help meet the cost of the increases. It was referred to the finance committee.

The measure, which also would

No Floor Battle Develops On Issue

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP) — Farm delegations and legislators from District of Columbia border counties rose up today to defeat any state-wide use of dayiight time in Maryland this year.

At the same time, the House agreed unanimously that Baltimore County could have fast time. Baltimore City will have it by virtue of a referendum held last November.

The House vote against daylight time, coming after weeks of backing and filling on the question, was 62 to 51.

The delegations from Montgomery and Prince George's Counties, which border on Washington, had been more or less for fast time until Congress vetoed it for the District of Columbia. Whereupon, they changed their previous position.

Contrary to expectations, no floor battle develped on the issue. Delegate Newcomer (R-Washington), a vigorous opponent of fast time, delivered a brief oration to the effect that legislators should not interfere with affairs of "the creator of the universe."

He declared that three persons in written history had directed that time be changed—Joshua of the Bible when the sun stood still at Jericho, President Woodrow Wilson during World War I and President Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II.

Recession Can Be Avoided, CPA Says

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration said today that a recession can be avoided in 1947 by intelligent cooperation of management and labor but warned that if a dip does come it may mean 6,000,000 unemployed by year's end.

The agency's economic staff published a 44-page booklet entitled "Production Outlook 1947" which said two sets of forces are pushing the economy in different directions.

On the one hand are inflationary forces which on the basis of past history, particularly that of 1919-21, would tend to "presage a mild recession starting before long."

On the other are special sustaining forces such as the large backlog of demand for producer and consumer durable goods.

Under the pressure of these contending forces, the report says, the economic trend may take either of these two courses:

A.—Production and employment to continue at or slightly above the present level, prices to rise only very moderately during the first half of the year and decline equally slowly during the second half.

B.—An alternative (which corresponds more closely to the pattern of previous business cycles) of sharper increases in prices and a very small expansion in production during the first half of 1947, followed by a substantial although not very severe decline in production, employment and prices, extending into 1948.

Cost Of Living Drops But Rising Wholesale Prices Might Boost It

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — A 10-month steady rise in the cost of living came to a halt in January, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. Its figures suggested, however, that a new advance might be in store.

The bureau said the cost of living index as of January 15 was about .1 of one per cent lower than the postwar peak of mid-December.

The decline reflected a decrease in food costs. All other items in the cost of living index, such as clothing, fuel, electricity, household furnishings and services, increased during the month.

While the mid-January statistics were the latest available on the cost of living, the Labor Bureau reported that its index of wholesale prices covering about 900 food and non-food items reached a record level last week.

This was the second consecutive weekly rise to a record height. It might mean higher prices at retail stores unless housewives balk at paying them.

Agriculture Department officials expressed confidence that the general level of food costs will not climb back to the postwar peak of last November despite recent increases in prices of hogs and some grains.

They said they foresee a gradual decline in food prices this year, although there may be occasional minor fluctuations caused by temporary market shortages of some items.

Calendar Cuties Must Wear Some Clothes, Post Office People Say

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—No naked calendar cuties, the Post Office Department warned today. If these calendars are to go through the mails, the girls will have to wear some clothes.

This information was in a bulletin to postmasters from coast to coast.

The Post Office people pointed out that the rule against mailing "obscene, lewd and lascivious matter" is still on the books.

And naked women on calendars, it added, are mighty apt to come under that classification.

Now suppose some nosey postmaster peeks at a calendar and—great day in the morning! Nekkid as a jaybird!

What does he do then?

Well, says the bulletin, it isn't right for the postmaster to say "you can't mail that."

No, ship the calendar right along to Washington, urge the Post Office big shots, and let us look at her.

Naturally our reporter on maidens and morals hastily hunted up Frank J. Delany, the department's solicitor, for more light on this cultural subject.

In the first place, why did this warning go out at the end, rather than the start, of the calendar mailing season?

"It's true this is the end of the calendar rush," said Delany. "But nude calendars bob up all year around.

Bevin Reaffirms British And American Solidarity

Britain To Support Four-Power Pact

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin reaffirmed today British-American solidarity despite "misunderstanding" over Palestine and said Britain would support at the Moscow conference the American proposal for a 25-year four-power pact to insure German demilitarization.

In the only reference to the storm aroused in the United States by his charge that President Truman had wrecked negotiations for a Palestine settlement by issuing a statement during the 1946 congressional election campaign, Bevin told the House of Commons:

"While there may have been some misunderstanding over the matter debated in this house two days ago, this is a matter which stands by itself. On all questions our relations with the United States are of the most cordial character, and we for our part will not allow any wedge to be driven between the two countries to disturb our friendship."

The White House issued a statement last night describing as "unfortunate and misleading" the British implication that Mr. Truman's statement had been motivated by political considerations.

Bevin said also that he hoped the pending British-French treaty would be signed "soon." Reliable reports from Paris said that Bevin and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault would sign the pact at a port on the French channel coast next Wednesday.

In a brief reference to negotiations for revision of the 20-year British-Soviet alliance Bevin remarked "I cannot help wishing that the Soviet government had taken the matter up in the first place through diplomatic channels." He referred to the article in the Moscow newspaper Pravda which gave the first indication Russia was not satisfied with the existing treaty on mutual defense.

Mother Doesn't Believe Boy, 9, Hanged Himself

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Nine-year-old Bruce Jennings responded to oxygen tent treatment at City Hospital today and his mother said she had asked the State's Attorney's office to investigate a police report the boy was found hanging from a coat hook in the cloakroom at his school.

"Bruce was happy and singing when he left home," said Mrs. Rose Irwin, his mother. "I do not believe he would hang himself."

Physicians said the lad's condition still is critical. He was unconscious when found and failed to respond to artificial respiration. A doctor brought him around with stimulants.

Two Military Prisoners Flee Army Hospital

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—District police said tonight that two "dangerous" military prisoners escaped from Walter Reed Hospital today after overpowering a guard.

The Sixth Precinct listed the escapees as Pvt. Jesse C. Trent, 22, from Chicago, who was serving five years for grand larceny and forgery, and Pvt. Edwin J. Sulinski, 28, of Brooklyn, who was sentenced to eight years for grand larceny.

Guarded by one soldier while working a ground detail at the hospital, police said they were informed the two knocked the guard down when he momentarily turned his back and seized his automatic pistol.

The guard reported that they discussed tying him up and quoted Trent as saying "Aw, let's shoot him now." He said he jumped up and ran toward the guardhouse and the prisoners fled in the other direction.

U. S. Army officers in World War II accounted for 13 per cent of battle deaths, a little higher than their proportionate strength of 10 per cent.

Corporation Will Make Newsprint From Waste

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—Formation of a $1,000,000 corporation to manufacture newsprint from de-inked waste newspaper was announced today by Frank B. Oldham, president of the American Industrial Company.

Oldham said the new firm, Newsprint Corporation of America, would be licensed by American Industrial to use the sterling pulp process, a de-inking method he developed before the recent war.

The new firm will reclaim waste newsprint by a "cold water process with low conversion cost and a small loss of fibre," Oldham said.

He described the process as both chemical and mechanical, requiring about 30 minutes.

Educational Program Endorsed By Legion

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP) — The Maryland Department of the American Legion today endorsed the educational program now before the General Assembly at Annapolis and pleaded particularly for higher pay for teachers.

The endorsement was embodied in a statement issued by John T. Boschen, Maryland commander.

"Underpaying our teachers is creating a dangerous situation," he said. "Good, capable teachers are leaving the school system in droves. We must pay them a living wage if we are to keep them."

Sheriffs' Fee System Bill Far From Dead

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—The debate-laden bill to abolish the sheriffs' fee system, given up for dead five days ago, took a new lease on life today as it sailed serenely over two legislative hurdles.

It passed the Senate 22-9 and when reported immediately in the House, scene of a rebellious uprising last Monday over newspaper criticism of its lack of action on this legislation, the bill's proponents won a major victory by getting it placed on the calendar.

By a vote of 65-25, the House approved a motion to take up the measure for immediate consideration, just one hour after it had passed the Senate and was carried by special messenger to the delegates' chamber.

Deep Ravines In Volcano Side Slow Flow Of Lava

PALERMO, Sicily, Feb. 27 (AP) — Deep ravines in the side of Mt. Etna appeared tonight to have canalized and slowed the flood of molten lava which for the last three days has threatened several Sicilian villages.

The flow was described by one observer from the air as "a snake with gleaming scales, moving sluggishly."

The lava still made headway tonight, but at a much slower rate than the 400 to 500 yards an hour reported earlier. Barring a new outburst from the crater it appeared that the flashing mass would falter and halt before cutting its way to the sea.

Owners Mourn Passing Of Saluting Raccoon

BRUNSWICK, Ga., Feb. 27 (AP) — "Sandy" has died of old-age, and his owners mourn the passing of "the world's only flag-saluting raccoon."

The animal, which had travelled more than 75,000 miles through 31 states and Cuba, succumbed February 25 at the age of 21. His owners, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thompson, said whenever the Star Spangled Banner was played, "Sandy" would sit upright, fold his left forefoot across his chest, and salute the American flag with his right.

House Subpoena For Marshall Is Issued, Recalled

Bradley Charges Headline Hunting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—A House subpoena was issued today for Secretary of State Marshall but recalled when the State Department furnished the information that was sought and Rep. Bradley (R-Mich) rebuked a colleague who started the fuss.

Rep. Weichel (R-Ohio), chairman of a House Merchant Marine Subcommittee investigating the status of 95 ships lend-leased to Russia and not returned, issued the subpoena. It called for Marshall to appear tomorow with all the correspondence with Moscow on the subject.

But Bradley, chairman of the full committee, stepped in with a crack about headline hunting and called a halt before the House Sergeant at Arms, William F. Russell, could serve it.

Weichel Learns Lesson

Later Bradley formally ordered it cancelled and Weichel said he would issue no subpoenas in future without the approval of Bradley and Speaker Martin (R-Mass).

This came about after Marshall spoke by telephone with Weichel and sent Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson to the Capitol with information Weichel sought.

Acheson gave this report to Bradley and Weichel:

On March 18, 1946, the United States broached the subject of a settlement for the ships.

On April 22, the Soviets replied that they would discuss the matter in a general lend-lease settlement.

Russia Won't Reply

On September 14, the State Department answered that it would be glad to have a lend-lease settlement but wanted to discuss the matter of the ships separately. There was no reply.

On Oct. 31, the department requested a reply and suggested the Russians either buy the ships or return them. Again no reply.

On December 31, Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith sent a note on the subject to Foreign Minister Molotov. Still no reply.

Weichel told reporters this information makes his subpoena unnecessary. Bradley had protested that Marshall "has a lot of other things on his mind more important than those damn ships."

Huge Carrier Returns Home "One-Man" Ship

QUONSET POINT, R. I., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Navy's massive aircraft carrier, Philippine Sea, came home from the Antarctic today—a "one man" ship virtually dedicated to the courage of a St. Martinsville, La., pilot whose plane crashed and burned in the barren Arctic.

Lt. (jg) Ralph P. LeBlanc was the "one man," who despite the amputation of both legs and severe burns, forced a smile for newsmen and photographers after the carrier tied up here, her first United States stop after logging 19,000 nautical miles on Adm. Richard E. Byrd's third trip to Little America.

LeBlanc was pilot of a Martin Mariner that crashed into a ledge at the "bottom of the world," killing three men, and marooning six others for 10 days.

Late Author's Mansion Near Clarksburg Burns

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—Post Manor, showplace home of the late American author, Melville Davisson Post, was completely destroyed tonight by fire that apparently originated in a short circuit in the attic wiring, Fire Chief J. J. Martin, of Clarksburg, said.

Martin said the 23-room Swiss-chalet style mansion, located about 10 miles from Clarksburg on the Buckhannon Road, burned completely to the ground as firemen from Clarksburg and Meadow Fork stood by helplessly after saving some of the furniture.

Three Killed In Crash And Explosion Of Truck

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 27 (AP)—The crash and explosion of a heavy truck near here left three persons dead and eight others injured tonight.

The driver of the truck, bearing highly inflammable materials, was killed outright when the vehicle crashed into the side of a concrete bridge at Floyd's Fork.

Two bystanders were burned fatally when the truck exploded, dousing a circle of spectators with the flaming fluid. They were identified as Andrew Seward, 35, and Tyler Simpson, 64, both of Anchorage. Both died late today in General Hospital here.

The driver, identified as Jerry Willis, 28, Corbin, Ky., was hurled more than 25 feet and his body was severely burned.

2,400 Buffalo Teachers Move To End Walkout

Demand Assurances Of 1947 Pay Boost

BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 27 (AP)—The president of the Buffalo Teachers Federation said tonight that the city's 98 strike-bound schools "could be open by Monday" with official assurances that state-proposed pay increases would be effective this year.

Raymond J. Ast declared in a prepared radio statement that today's report of Gov. Dewey's Special Education Committee "on the surface appears to be attractive."

Must Have Assurances

"We must have assurance from the Legislature that they will act on legislation to incorporate the committee's proposals into law for 1947-48," said Ast. "We must have assurance from the Governor that he will sign the bill."

The committee recommended a $2,250-$4,510 scale in Buffalo.

Mayor Bernard J. Dowd was not immediately available for comment on AST's statement, but earlier maintained that the problem was one for the state to solve.

The closing of the 98 public schools did not affect 30,000 children attending diocesan and parochial schools.

Committee's Recommendations

The Dewey committee recommended, effective July 1, a pay scale of $2,200-$4,510, with $2,400-$4,710 for those with master's degrees, for cities of 100,000 to 1,000,000. Buffalo's population is 575,901.

The present Buffalo scale is $1,875-$2,575 elementary teachers and $2,175-$2,975 for secondary teachers. The federation has been demanding an immediate $1,025 increase for all, with a $2,400 minimum for beginners, increasing to $4,000. It also seeks an immediate $500 cost-of-living bonus.

Gerhart Eisler Indicted For Congress Contempt

Communist Party May Be Prosecuted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Gerhart Eisler, alleged master-mind of American Communism, was indicted for contempt of Congress today while further measures were drafted against him and his party.

Chairman Thomas (R-NJ), of the House Committee on Unamerican Activities, announced the Justice Department is studying possible prosecution of the Communist Party on charges of violating the Corrupt Practices Act. This law requires political parties to report contributions and expenditures.

He introduced one committee bill which would create a "Federal Loyalty Commission" to investigate any government worker whose loyalty it doubts. The commission could order the employe discharged immediately. The worker then could appeal to the commission, but not to a court or any other authority.

United States Attorney George M. Fay said further evidence will be presented to the grand jury here which indicted Eisler for contempt to enable it to determine whether he has violated other statutes.

The Committee on unAmerican Activities seeks his prosecution also on charges of conspiracy to overthrow the government, perjury, income tax evasion and passport falsification.

The contempt charge is based on Eisler's refusal to testify under oath when called before the House committee on February 6. The maximum penalty upon conviction would be one year in jail and $1,000 fine.

Denounced by his own sister, Ruth Fischer, as a "dangerous terrorist" and by Thomas as the "supreme authority" of Communists in this country, Eisler was returned to the Ellis Island immigration station, New York, after his brief but stormy appearance before the House committee.

British Mining Towns' Food Allocations Hiked

LONDON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Britain granted housing priorities and larger food allocations to mining towns tonight in exchange for the miners' pledges of full cooperation in reaching the government's coal production goal.

Prime Minister Attlee announced the new inducements for greater mining efforts while domestic fuel restrictions were being prepared to follow resumption of coal-starved industrial production.

Under the plan for mining centers approved by Attlee's special "coal cabinet," greater allotments of both rationed and unrationed foods will go to the coal areas. No increase in individual rations was indicated, but the rationed foods may be used by restaurants and bakeries.

Attlee's emergency group promised the miners first call on the erection of temporary aluminum houses. It also heard suggestions by heads of the National Union of Mineworkers that taxes be lowered on miners' overtime earnings, but took no action.

Negotiations Recessed

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27 (AP)—Contract negotiations between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO-United Steel Workers Union were resumed briefly today and then recessed for an indefinite period.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

OLD JUDGE: "Jerry, the folks up at the hospital asked me to come down and talk to you about heading up the hospital drive. How about it?"

JERRY: "I feel honored, Judge. But there's one thing I'd like to see done."

OLD JUDGE: "What's that, Jerry?"

JERRY: "When they build the new addition I'd like to see them include a clinic for the treatment of chronic alcoholics. The time has come, Judge, when every enlightened community should realize that alcoholism is evidence of a disease that's just as real as any other. Scientists have proved by research it must be treated professionally. You've got to get at the underlying causes of the alcoholic's abnormal behaviour."

OLD JUDGE: "Don't worry about the clinic, Jerry. The plans are all prepared and the Board has already talked to a young, up-and-coming doctor who has studied alcoholism at one of the big universities. As soon as the clinic is ready, he'll come here and take charge."

JERRY: "That's fine, Judge. You can count on me now that we're going at this thing sensibly and scientifically."

Somerset Group Seeks Bus Action

SOMERSET, Pa., Feb. 27—A protest of the month-long Somerset Bus Company strike is being lodged with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission by the Somerset County Chamber of Commerce.

Action was taken after the Chamber had been deluged with requests from businessmen that "something be done about the transportation tieup."

Emphasizing that the organization is taking no sides in the issue, a spokesman stated that relief will be sought through the PUC. The utility commission will be contacted this week. Business houses in Somerset have complained of a drop in volume of sales and tractions since the strike January 25.

Representatives of the businessmen pointed out that the buses provide the only means of transportation for Somerset, the hub of a large trading area in the Roof Garden district.

Strike-bound for more than a month, there appeared little likelihood today for a quick settlement in the dispute. The 32 drivers and maintenance men left their jobs to press demands for higher wages and settlement of other grievances.

The transportation pinch not only affects Somerset but many other communities in the area served by the Somerset Bus Company. There is no railroad transportation into Somerset.

Local Man Jailed For Drunk Driving

Mrs. Bland sustained a fracture of the left elbow.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace L. M. Yost here, Shives entered pleas of guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and also to driving on a license that had been revoked. He was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to six months in jail on each charge.

Mr. Green's Concessions And Jurisdictional Strikes

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, has made two concessions—he is "willing" for Congress to amend the Wagner Labor Act to assure free speech for employers and to have unions register and file financial reports for public consumption. But neither Mr. Green nor any of the labor leaders who have appeared as witnesses before the House labor committee have shown any indication of agreeing to a change in the statute that would outlaw jurisdictional strikes.

At the same time, not one of them has dared to defend such walkouts, but like Mr. Green, President George Q. Lynch of the A. F. of L. Pattern Makers' League, has conceded that in time employers and the public possibly might be entitled to a little legal protection from such strikes.

Mr. Green of the A. F. of L. contended that the problem should be left to unions. Philip Murray of the CIO invoked some amusement that the House committee put it up to him and Mr. Green to seek a solution. Mr. Lynch, at least, did not make such a suggestion. He said it eventually might be reasonable to deprive unions of Wagner Act protection for jurisdictional strikes that seek to force employers to violate that Federal law.

It might be recalled that President Truman called jurisdictional strikes "indefensible." Most persons will agree that they are an ancient, deeply rooted evil. They are wars between unions, battles for prestige and power, fought at the expense of helpless employers and a helpless public.

Members of the House Labor Committee would need travel less than two miles from where they are sitting to see the effects of one jurisdictional strike, typical of thousands. Completion of a new and greatly needed Washington hospital has been delayed for seven weeks by a dispute over whether a few American Federation of Labor metal workers or a few American Federation of Labor carpenters should install some lockers. The dispute was referred to international officers of the two A. F. of L. unions in January, but has not been settled.

The question involved in many jurisdictional strikes is whether one union or another union shall represent a given group of workers. Many controversies arise because of the bitter A. F. of L.-CIO rivalry, and the workers concerned vote for the union they prefer. But after the votes are counted, after the winning union has been certified by the Labor Board as a majority's choice, after the employer has signed up to deal with that union as the law requires, the losing union—even though it got only a tiny minority of the votes—can strike.

The Wagner Act does not protect the employer who obeys it. His business can be damaged or ruined, and he has no legal recourse. But the Wagner Act, as Mr. Lynch concedes, protects the "right" of the minority workers to conduct a jurisdictional strike. The Supreme Court has so held.

He did not propose legislation to remedy this. Like the other union officers, he objected to all proposals for corrective labor legislation, (except the concessions made by Mr. Green), at this time, sharing the attitude that has caused even so pro-union a Senator as Wayne Morse, of Oregon, to warn labor "leadership" that it is inviting legislation which may go too far. In other words, union leaders hold that the present situation, so far as legislation is concerned, is ideal.

The public, of course, and many union workers know better than that. Memory is not so short that they have forgotten the disastrous strikes of 1946—strikes which on two occasions resulted in a virtual tieup of the country's economy and which revealed the tragic fact that a few men had it in their power to inflict suffering and privation on the people of the United States. To say that Congress should do nothing about this condition is to show a reckless disregard for the future of the nation.

Any revision of the labor laws, David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies' Garment Workers Union, has warned, would be "a body blow to our democracy" and destroy the economic security of the workers. His views are certainly not shared by a large number of union workers. It is not democracy but dictatorship when a John L. Lewis, at his own will and whim, can call a strike of 500,000 miners and not only deprive them of the opportunity of earning a living but make idle additional hundreds of thousands of workers in plants which depend on coal for their operating power. Nor does any American have economic security when at any time a Whitney can stop the wheels of the nation's railroads and prevent the movement of the necessities of everyday life.

Of course, Congress has given no sign that it is impressed by the negative attitude assumed by the labor leaders who have appeared before it. Remembering what happened last year, it is only natural to expect action will be taken to prevent it from happening again, but at the same time protect the rights of labor and employer alike.

In Flight From Ice Belt

Admiral Byrd's speedy evacuation of Little America before the ice belt closes in brings to a sudden end an expedition which has brought sudden and unexpected glimpses of the region around the South Pole. Every time explorers probe that remote and frigid wilderness, they bring back a few scraps of knowledge. Their harvest of recoveries seems richer than usual this time at least to the layman.

The finding of an area of unfrozen lakes on the Antarctic continental rim is one of the most spectacular and also one of the most promising to be reported since explorers first landed on the ice shelf. A later visit there may give the world many clues to the composition of this largely unknown continent and of the riches its ice conceals. It may open the way to settlement and exploitation, although both still seem far away.

In addition to this and other important discoveries the expedition made some rather disconcerting ones. Some of the bays, mountains and other geographical features which Admiral Byrd sighted on previous trips and named after men and women who had given him financial backing have either shifted their location, diminished in size, or in one case, could not be found at all.

This must be something of a disappointment to people who thought they had won a sort of geographical immortality. But this is a matter easily to be remedied as long as there are new and possibly less footloose mountains, lakes and bays to be discovered in Antarctica.

CRUTCHES—MECHANICAL HELPERS

HISTORY neglects to tell us who invented the crutch but it is conceivable that the origin is as old as man. At any rate, an Egyptian mural dating back to 2830 B. C. reveals a gentleman leaning on a T-shaped stick which was shoulder high. This type of crutch apparently endured until the 18th century when carpentry made it possible to saw and split a single upright so that a crosspiece could be inserted halfway down to support the hand. Our modern appliances are essentially the same altho many minor improvements have made them more efficient and comfortable.

Training and practice are needed to acquire skill just as skiers and other sportsmen must learn to manage their tools. This calls for time, strength, balance, and the will to succeed. Some become so adept and can walk as tho they had perfectly sound limbs. Wright tells of a boy who could "turn a corner on one crutch, with the other crutch and both feet whirling thru the air." Every one cannot do so well; a few never master the technic.

Teaching the use of crutches is a highly specialized field and can be classified almost as a science in itself. Many different ways of walking are described which are labeled "crutch gaits." Examples are the four, two, and three point alternate gaits, or the tripod, swinging, or rocking chair variety. The trick is to fit the gait to the patient and this depends on the kind of disability and under what circumstances the mechanical aids are necessary.

An individual who has sprained an ankle or broken a leg usually has no difficulty. The other member is good and besides, the ailing part is encased in a cast. But when the body below the waist is paralyzed, or a limb has been lost, a different situation is presented. For victims of polio, cerebral palsy, spinal cord injuries, and multiple sclerosis, the use of crutches is only one part in the long road to rehabilitation. But the results represent the difference between a lifetime in bed or wheel chair and being able to move about independently. Many other structures must be trained to take over the job of those that are gone. In compensation, muscles in the arms, neck, and head become highly developed.

Before this stage is reached, many must be fitted with corsets and braces to keep the knees and hips locked so that the legs will be steady. Special shoes are sometimes required. From the medical standpoint, being up and about is a tremendous asset. Not only does the individual feel better but exercise increases the circulation, improving all bodily functions. The more sedentary existence may produce pressure sores, wasting of unused muscles, deformities, and stiffness in the joint.

For the incapacitated person, the path is difficult but once dexterity has been attained he becomes self-sufficient and does not have to depend on others for his every need. Deaver and Brown make the following comment: "Every one has some scars somewhere, mental or emotional if not physical; hence an attitude without reference to illness is the proper one to adopt."

This may be cheilosis, which has a variety of causes, including vitamin B deficiency, allergy, jagged teeth, and ill fitting dentures. Another type is often associated with nervousness. In children, a similar condition, called "perleche," causes these annoying lesions.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

In a recent interview President Truman cleared up a mistaken impression by stating flatly that he is not against cats.

It's important he said this because not only the friendship of cat lovers, but possibly the future of America was at stake.

Suppose the cats of America were to feel the President did not love them.

First they'd be merely insulted; then they would grow angry. Picture it—millions of cats of America growing hateful cats whose history goes back to chasing rats on the Mayflower. Cats who licked their whiskers reverently in the silence that followed Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Cats who meowed to the tune of "Over There" in 1918 and "Wait For Me, Mary" in 1943.

No, these cats would not take this sitting down—they would organize and start a march on Washington. With a sudden blow they'd take over the nation—we'd have a "pussy" president, 9 alley cats on the Supreme Court, 96 angoras in the Senate, and so many cats in the House there wouldn't be room for the people.

The national anthem would become "Tom Waits For No Man." The only newspaper published would be the "scratch" sheet, and "Stars and Stripes" would be replaced by the "Flaming Catnip."

And, so, Mr. Truman, as one citizen who likes people, I say "thank you" for keeping the country from going to the cats.

Freight-Car Shortage Could Have Been Avoided If Experts' Pre-war Advice Heeded; Rep. Taber Puts Finger On Army's Waste Notable Speech

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. — The current tragic tie-up of the nation's economy because of the freight-car shrortage might have been saved if the railroads had taken the advice of Washington experts.

It was never published at the time, but, two years before the war, J. Leonard Replogle, former Republican National Committeeman from Florida and expert on the Baruch Board during the last war, gave the railroads a blunt prediction of things to come.

Testifying before the Stettinius Board on National Resources necessary for the impending war, Replogle warned that the country would need 400,000 new freight cars to handle wartime economy. He told the Board that many of the cars now in use were old and would not bear up under the wear and tear of war. He urged a Government loan to finance 400,000 new cars.

This brought loud and vigorous protests from the American Railway Association. Their spokesman, the late J. J. Pelley, replied that the railroads were in good shape and needed no new cars. Nothing was done. Result: Critical steel had to be diverted from building freight cars during the war. And today with equipment getting older and older, there are more wrecks and not enough cars to haul vitally needed goods. Though new freight cars are now being built at the rate of 7,000 a month, old cars should be scrapped at the rate of 7,000 a month. Thus it will take a long time to overcome the present car shortage.

Army Waste

Congressman John Taber of New York put his finger directly on illustrations of Army waste during the closed-door Republican caucus on the budget. Taber, a rigid Congressional economizer, pointed out that the Army is now wasting manpower by maintaining four "liaison" offices on Capitol Hill, presumably to curry favor with Congressmen.

"There was only one such liaison office here during the war," declared Taber, who is Chairman of the Joint Budget Committee. "Why does the Army need four now when we are at peace? Very few members use those offices anyhow." That is just one example of waste, continued Taber. Another, he said, was the billetting of 22 Army officers, plus their staffs, in expensive hotels in Germany for the purpose of preparing a history of the Nuremberg trials.

"There are plenty of competent historians here in the United States, associated with universities, who would be glad to do the job if they were given visitors' visas," thundered the New Yorker. "Why saddle such expense on the taxpayers?"

There was only one brief flare-up at the GOP caucus when Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota began shooting questions at the leaders about whether the economy program was binding or optional upon the Appropriations Committee. This is the committee which actually appropriates the exact dollars and cents going to each Government bureau after Congress fixes the over-all budget for the entire Government.

"This is no time to bring in technicalities," exploded majority leader Charles Halleck of Indiana. "The purpose of the resolution is to decide whether we are for or against economy. It's that simple."

Note—Despite attempts by Congressman Charles Eaton of New Jersey, who is opposed to drastic budget cuts, to adjourn the caucus, Republican leaders invoked a motion proposed by Carl Van Zandt of Pennsylvania that the final secret vote bind every Republican in the House to support the full six-billion budget cut.

Read Around the World

The one-minute speech is one of the oldest institutions of Congress. It is a pet device by which Congressmen get grievance or some other personal project off their chests, usually delivered with one eye on the press gallery and usually forgotten after the speaker's gavel falls.

However, Freshman GOP Representative J. J. Javits of New York, a decorated war vet, made a short talk the other day that was read round the world. The speech was sent by the State Department to our diplomats everywhere because of its cogent analysis of refugee problems. Javits stated, in part:

"The plight of these living dead, the walking casualties of World War II, cries out for help to the conscience of the world. Four-fifths of the one million refugees and displaced persons are Poles, White Russians and Ukrainians, most of whom refuse to be repatriated because of their opposition to the regimes now governing their countries.

"It is a popular misconception that most displaced persons are Jews. In fact, only about 25 per cent of the aggregate number in Austria, Italy and Germany are Jews, while 75 per cent are Christians. The 25 per cent long only for the opening of the Jewish national home in Palestine. The United States is now spending an estimated eight to ten million dollars a month to maintain displaced persons in the American occupation zone in Europe.

"Subject to approval by Congress, the United States has subscribed 45 per cent of the operating budget of the International Refugee Organization under the United Nations. Even Great Britain, despite her own desperate plight, has agreed to subscribe 14 per cent. Canada has joined, as have France, Norway, Liberia, The Philippines, Denmark, Honduras, The Dominican Republic and Guatemala, bringing subscriptions to almost 75 per cent of the required IRO budget.

"Let us pray that, with united effort through this International Refugee Organization and through a just solution in Palestine, a ray of light may be introduced into the blackness which is life for the displaced persons and refugees in Europe in 1947."

Capital Chaff

Congratulations to Solicitor General "Shorty" Andrews of Georgia and his assistant, Paul Webb, for their conviction of the pro-Nazi Columbians . . . Herbert Hoover's quick return from Europe is in order to testify in favor of a large appropriation by which the American Army can feed Europe. He will oppose a drastic cut in the budget.

Congressional tax experts decided to reduce the 25 per cent communications tax following an urgent plea from officials of the Western Union Telegraph Company, who reported that Western Union faced an $8,000,000 deficit this year because great numbers of telegram-senders have refused to pay the tax and are switching to airmail.

Six Billion Dollars Represents Lifetime Toil Of 60,000 Men

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

What is six billion dollars anyway? Look at it this way: If a man earns one dollar an hour, forty hours a week, and has steady work for fifty years from the time he is twenty until he becomes three score and ten, he will earn $100,000. This shows that one billion dollars represents the uninterrupted lifetime work of ten thousand men. Six billion dollars are the life earnings of sixty thousand men. So, instead of talking about saving six billion dollars, let us ask whether we want to save the lifetime toil of sixty thousand men. Wouldn't you think a long time before sentencing sixty thousand young men to a life sentence to support one year's waste in Washington?

The Philadelphia Record and the Camden Courier have been sold, throwing sixteen hundred men out of jobs. The owner, David Stern, says the strike that forced him to this decision, was Communist inspired.

Stern's troubles are highlighted by a recent strike in Paris that shut down all non-Communist papers. The Communist papers were printed. This was followed by a city-wide strike in which all civil service employees quit cold—police, postmen, everybody.

Mr. Roosevelt's policy of coddling Communists, pardoning Browder, admitting Mrs. Browder, harassing the Dies Committee, giving Communists army commissions and government jobs, appeasing Stalin, etc., has lost its last sweet smell. Fortunately, President Truman has apparently decided to sign off as the executor of this policy.

x x x

Republicans should stop thinking as Republicans but rather as Americans. They need the help of Americans. That includes men like Congressman Bob Doughton of North Carolina who voted with the Republicans to cut federal spending by six billion dollars. The Republicans could not have passed the "no third term" amendment the other day without Democratic votes. Nor will they correct the worst abuses in labor without the same support. As some few Republicans go New Deal, the rest of them will need the Democrats who stay American.

In the judgement of the international court trying war criminals at Nuremberg, Germany, I read these words: "Only party members were appointed as judges." That was charged against the masters, and monsters, of the Nazi party. While they were doing that, what were we doing here in America? The same thing.

Britain is shut down. Not so well known is the fact that 75% of all factories in the United States zone in Germany have also been closed for lack of coal and transport. So, as Germans can't work, Americans must work harder and tax themselves more to keep Germans alive. Such is the bitter fruit of the Morganthau "potato field" policy for Germany.

I suggest this epitaph for the grave of O. Max Gardner, poor boy who became Governor of North Carolina and Ambassador to Great Britain. Gardner wrote it himself: "Three words, taxes, borrowing and spending stand as silent monuments to mark the fall and decline of character, credit and governmental stability in every hamlet, city and state throughout the length and breadth of this nation."

Bevin-Truman Incident Evidence Of Intimacy Of Governments

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—It is evidence of the informality and intimacy which prevails between the British and American governments that a Prime Minister in London should be speaking of American politics as o motivating factor in the decision of President Truman on the Palestinian question and that the American President should be making a reply that the charge is unfounded.

In times gone by—that is, many years ago—it would have been considered quite an affront for a friendly government to comment on a matter so plainly internal as the party politics of this country. But Prime Minister Attlee of the Labor Government has been an observer in the debates in Parliament under his distinguished predecessor, Winston Churchill.

It will be recalled that not so long ago Mr. Churchill expressed some irritation when the question of fixing the boundaries of Poland and other phases of the Polish controversy were up for consideration. Mr. Churchill didn't hesitate to say that consideration of American politics had made the settlement of that problem difficult for Mr. Roosevelt and he mentioned with some impatience the influence of the Polish vote in the United States as a factor in the presidential elections of 1944.

Practice Not Followed Here

There have been occasions when American observers, not necessarily officials, have called attention to activities in British politics which have prompted some expression of public policy. But it is doubtful whether the records will yield any public comment on British politics by any American official and certainly none from any American Secretary of State.

So perhaps the British and American administrations of today have put aside the formalities of previous procedure and now speak right up when it comes to explaining what goes on in the making of foreign policy.

It is, of course, not any surprise to find that American interest in external questions is sometimes related to domestic politics. For many years Americans of Irish descent pleaded their cause and obtained not only resolutions of sympathy at national party conventions but spoke through representatives in Congress who had constituencies with large Irish populations.

Way back when Britain was involved in a war with the Boers in South Africa, the Democratic Party pleased its Irish-American constituents by adopting a plank expressing sympathy with the Boers.

To find the Palestinian question entangled with American politics, therefore, is in line with tradition. The United States is made up of many groups which have their origin in other lands. There are various societies composed of descendants of European immigrants. Whenever a question affecting these same countries arises, it usually means petitioning letters or communications or resolutions from these societies addressed to American members of Congress or officials of the Department of State. The inference always is that the voting power of these groups may be exercised to support their pleas.

Wilson's Irish Plea Recalled

Perhaps the most important instance of behind-the-scenes influence of such political groups occurred during World War I. The late President Wilson undertook, quite informally but nevertheless firmly to urge upon the British government a settlement of the then-turbulent Irish question, and he pointed to the necessity for welding American sentiment behind the war issues rather than to allow irritations to grow to the point that some feeling for Britain inside the U. S. would be alienated. It is believed that Mr. Wilson did help in shaping what was subsequently determined upon as British policy in Ireland.

During the same period, Mr. Wilson used his influence with Foreign Secretary Balfour of the British government to obtain a declaration with respect to the future of Palestine which was regarded as of the utmost importance at the time and was called the "Balfour Declaration." There was no secret about the fact that influential groups in the United States brought about Mr. Wilson's action.

Susceptible of Explicit Proof

The question of where political or vote consideration begin and end and how much the actions of Mr. Wilson or Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Truman, respectively, were swayed by a feeling that the minority groups were asking for justice or by a desire to please a substantial segment of the electorate is not, of course, suseceptible of any explicit proof. It is a fact that throughout American history, American political parties and substantial numbers of men in the House and Senate have expressed sympathy with oppressed peoples or with groups striving for independence.

Quite often in our history the Department of State, in tactful and discreet but nevertheless plain language, has indicated American sympathy with groups seeking to improve their lot under foreign rulers. This has been a policy of Republican as well as Democratic presidents, and not much new is added when a British Prime Minister raises the issue. Those observers familiar with politics in Britain will confirm what Senator Brewster of Maine, Republican, said this week in the Senate about the pledges made, during the British Labor Party campaign last year with regard to Palestine.

The whole incident merely makes more or less of a record of how international policy nowadays is influenced to some extent in all countries by the sympathizers with particular causes existing outside their borders.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I'd appreciate it if Mr. Burpee would take me off his list. Every year around this time, he sends me a fancy seed catalogue. It's illustrated with pictures of pumpkins big as Cinderella's coach. It shows lima beans so big that if Glenn Davis saw one he'd scoop it up and run for a touchdown.

Billy Rose

Each year I'm seduced. Every spring I send for the little packets, put on the Lum'n' Abner hat, and go back to the soil. Every fall, my bookkeeper tells me the radishes cost enough for my wife to wear them for earrings.

Tell you how I got into the farming business. Four or five summers ago, the Department of Agriculture asked all large-scale users of food to grow as much of ther own stuff as they could. This included me, on account of because I got a cabaret.

I went right to it. I had once successfully cultivated a window-box on 54th Street, and figured farming was pretty much the same thing, only more of it. Eleanor was all for it, and immediately had Hattie Carnegie run her up a pair of overalls.

The only skeptic was the experienced farmer who takes care of my place up at Mt. Kisco. "I hope you know what you're letting yourself in for," he told me.

The day after we planted the seeds, I got up early and went out to look at my garden.

Nothing.

Next day, likewise.

When the first bit of green peeked out of the ground, Eleanor had to stop me from pulling it up and pressing it between the pages of my diary. When the first green button appeared on a tomato plant; I began inquiring about the nearest county fair. I could hardly wait for what was going to come up.

What came up was Japanese beetles.

I went after these shiny monsters with everything but an injunction. I sprayed the plants with insecticide. The beetles lapped it up and looked around for a chaser.

When a dry spell came, I took it pretty hard. I didn't think it was funny when my missus suggested we plant onions next to potatoes, so the onions would make the potato eyes water and irrigate the soil.

In spite of hell and no water, the stuff began to ripen. I was especially proud of the tomatoes. "So round, so firm, so fully packed," I told the gang at the Stork Club One morning, Eleanor told me I'd have to hire some hands to pick the crop before it spoiled. She flipped I couldn't be a farmer by the sweat of my frau.

That was the year when the manpower shortage was really something. I advertised, but there were no migratory pickers available—guess they were all busy telling their experiences to John Steinbeck.

Eleanor came up with the solution. "You clutter up the house every weekend with those Broadway friends of yours. Let them work for their keep."

And they did. Every Friday night, after throwing a big meal into them, my missus would ad lib, "I've got a cute idea. Let's get up early tomorrow and pick tomatoes."

On cue, Eleanor's friend, Ginny Reynolds, would gurgle, "Sounds like fun!"

The next morning, while the sun was still snoring, the guests would be herded into the field. Well-publicized palefaces wound up with blisters as big as the electric lights which spell out their names. Most of them had never picked up a tomato without whistling at her first. The mosquitos which bit my footlight buddies generally lost blood on the deal. Little Willie strutted around giving orders, and all I needed was a black snake whip to pass for a watch-charm version of Simon Legree.

After stripping one tomato plant, Jimmy Durante refused to proceed unless the management provided him with chawin' tobacky.

Orson Welles was a big disappointment—he ate more than he picked.

That summer, my victory garden was the conversational tid-bit around Lindy's. George Jessel described my truck farm as a place where "the sparrows had to kneel down to eat the corn." Quentin Reynolds spread it around that I had to lather the field with shaving soap before I could cut the wheat. Ed Wynn reached back and came up with the one about some of my potatoes being as big as marbles, others as big as peas—and then there were the little ones.

Actually, we raised enough stuff on fifteen acres to keep my night club in fresh vegetables all that Fall. The combination salad I sold for ninety cents may have cost four bucks to raise, but I figured it was worth it when I thought of the manicured fingernails I had helped ruin.

The day before we went back to town, Eleanor presented me with a copy of "The Good Earth."

Since that summer, I haven't had much time for fellows who tell jokes about farmers. You'll get no laugh out of me by cracking that a son of the soil has a strong back and a weak mind. In my book, anyone who can produce things to eat at a profit rates with Einstein, the Quiz Kids and Harry Houdini.

I know another theatrical producer who agrees with me. He has a dairy farm not far from my place. I recently dropped in to see him.

"How about a drink?" he suggested.

"Fine with me," I said.

"What'll it be?" he asked, "milk or champagne? They cost me the same."

FHA Director Urges Turning Idle Space Into Rental Units

Conversion of existing structures into apartments, through the use of credit facilities available under the Federal Housing Administration system, is the quickest and most economical method of increasing the local supply of housing for veterans, according to E. Lester Muller, state FHA director.

Muller will be the principal speaker at a meeting scheduled for next Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium to discuss plans for an increased home building program during 1947.

FHA intends to point up the many advantages of converting older structures or idle space into multiple family units, Muller said, explaining that remodeling provides a source of added income through rental of the units to veterans.

Stating that the main FHA program for 1947 aims at a large volume of construction of rental units for veterans under the new liberalized insuring provisions of FHA, Muller said that a property owner may borrow up to $5,000 for a period of as long as seven years and may repay the loan in monthly installments.

"Local lending institutions have adequate funds available for the conversion of these properties and will make such loans on attractive FHA terms. In a majority of cases payments will be no more than the rental from the property and when the loan is finally paid, the owner has a dependable source of income," Muller said.

The state director pointed out that in many cases commercial buildings as well as dwellings may be converted into apartment units, adding that time and labor are saved because it requires less material to effect a conversion than to build a new structure.

U. S. state governments spent about half a billion dollars on highway construction in 1946 as compared with a billion and a half spent in 1930.

might be expected unless the attempt was made in the utmost secrecy.

"Not only slot machines, but all other types of gambling could be stopped in the city if a real attempt were made."

He said the association has passed a resolution opposing their legalization and sent it to county legislators.

Said Rev. C. K. Welch, president of the South Cumberland Ministerial Association:

"If a real effort were made, machines could be removed from the city."

He added: "Authorities seem able to cope with other law violations and it appears that they could cope with the slot machine situation if they tried. All that is needed to prevent gambling on slot machines or any other type of gambling in the city is a concentrated effort on the part of law enforcement heads."

Rev. Mr. Welch said he was under the impression that State's Attorney Harris had jurisdiction over law officers and could organize a raid at any time he desired.

"Of course," he said, "I may be wrong."

Harris, who left last night on a two-week trip to Mexico, has pointedly declared that his office is not the law enforcement agency of the county but that that department is headed by the sheriff.

Made Plans Previously

The state's attorney said he did not want any publicity in connection with his trip because it might look bad in the face of developments in the slot machine situation, but added that he had made his plans sometime ago to accompany other Shriners on the tour and intended to carry them out.

Meanwhile, slot machines continued in operation in some places despite tipoffs that the "heat was on." One source said machines "were running wide open" on Virginia Avenue Wednesday night while another indicated machines were still in operation in some places in Mt. Savage although others in restaurants and confectionery stores were not in operation.

One local club, reported to have close to a score of slot machines, said its machines were in operation as late as Wednesday night and then were removed on the strength of additional information received about the "heat" being on in slot machine circles.

General reaction in Cumberland yesterday regarding the results of the meeting held Monday by Harris with the sheriff and chiefs of police was that it was "unsatisfactory and unconvincing."

It was reliably reported plans to hold the meeting were given out the week before and by the time the chiefs gathered in the Union Street School Building Monday afternoon if any drive had been contemplated it lost its element of surprise. Clubs were tipped off—a matter of minutes in some cases—after the meeting convened.

Pressure Building Up

Despite the fact that many persons were predicting that the "slots" would return as usual after a "cooling-off period", there is increasing evidence that pressure is being brought to bear on the State's Attorney's office and law enforcement officers, "to clean up the machines for good unless the Legislature should take action to legalize them."

In other words it is believed that the State's Attorney's office is being "given the ball to carry despite the disavowals of the prosecutor that he is not a law enforcement officer. The public has come to feel that in principle he is the key law enforcement officer in the county inasmuch as intricate investigation work requires the abilities of trained lawyers and detectives.

A statement made by State's Attorney Harris that he is not a law enforcement officer is borne out by the laws of Maryland and the constitution which does not give him or his investigators the power of arrest, but only the power to prosecute. However, it has been learned there are those who give the law a broader construction than the State's Attorney does—inasmuch as they feel the State's Attorney should in effect head up and take charge of any broadscale cleanup work that concerns the interests of the county.

The fact that the State's Attorney called Monday's meeting and reportedly indicated that there are others who are interested in the present clamp down would seem to indicate that his office is giving this broader interpretation of his authority some consideration.

Sees Business As "Racket"

While the State's Attorney does not have the power to make arrests, it was considered unfortunate in some circles that he gave the responsibility for the cleanup to the sheriff, since in so doing he gave the general public the idea that it should go to the sheriff rather than the State's Attorney to make any reports relevent to the operation of slot machines in the county. By training, it was pointed out that the State's Attorney is better fitted to handle and evaluate such matters than is the sheriff's office.

It was also learned that the State's Attorney's office has been impressed by the fact that at least part of the public has come to regard the slot machine business in the county as a "racket" and that it is up to his office to clearly show reports that protection has been furnished to such operators is untrue.

At Monday's meeting, Harris reportedly told police chiefs of county towns that reports were being passed about that the slot machine "racket" was being given "protection," and he wanted the machines "brought in by the truckload."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Too Much Talk

I have just finished reading a most interesting book—"Breakfast with the Nikolides," by the English writer Rumer Godden. It is more than a novel. Interspersed throughout it is great human wisdom and an interpretation of life.

One of the characters, urging a boy to go back to school, said: "The future of India lies in creating, improving, and saving the life of things. Tell them not to talk so much. Tell them to start at the bottom with the soil." The boy replied: "I will tell them to hold their tongues and use their hands."

There are times when too much talk is just sound. Action supersedes words. I recall a statement about the elder Marshall Field, who founded the great store in Chicago. I read all that was said about him when he died. One sentence has stayed with me: "He was a man of few words." Great doers talk little—do much.

President Grant said so little that he was known as "the silent President." President Lincoln stood solidly for him—because he said little—got victories.

People's eyes are usually drawn to the silent man or woman—the thinker and doer. They listen when such a one speaks, for usually they have already acted and done much.

Henry Ford has never been known to give a public speech. He has always been a man of few words—but think of what he has accomplished! The same was true of Edison.

That was a great compliment that Edward Everett paid to Abraham Lincoln, after the latter had delivered his Gettysburg speech, and thought it was a failure. Everett said he wished that he could have said as much in his long two-hour speech as Lincoln had in his brief speech of less than 500 words!

Cumberland Choral Group To Give Concert Mar. 25

Numbers To Include Religious And Secular

The Cumberland Choral Society will present a concert, including both secular and religious numbers, at 8:15, March 25, in Allegany High School auditorium, Jack E. Platt, director, announces.

The religious portion will be a repetition of the Hallelujah chorus of Handel's "Messiah," which has been requested because of the many people who were unable to get into the hall for the Christmas program. Mr. Platt said it would be given as a pre-Easter piece.

Soloist will be Rev. James A. Richards, who will sing two groups of numbers on the program.

The highlight of the secular portion of the program will be the "Polvetzian" dances from the opera "Prince Igor," presented by the chorus with accompaniment by Aden Lewis, and violin obligatto work by Wilton Sykes.

The society now comprises over 100 singers and 165 associate members and patrons.

A performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah," will be presented May 20.

Music Club Meets

A program featured the meeting of the Never B Flat Music Club held earlier in the week at the home of Jean, Sandra and Thenston DeVore, Ellerslie. Others taking part were Charlotte Chaney, Alma Snelson, Marlene Burkey, Darlene Miller and Donna Reid.

Decorations were carried out in the Washington theme. Mrs. Ralph DeVore assisted her daughters in serving refreshments.

Mickey Keller Marks Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Keller, entertained with a party in honor of their son, Mickey, in celebration of his second birthday, Wednesday, at their home, 112 Elkton Place.

The usual nursery games were played, and pictures were taken of the children, after which refreshments were served.

A rainbow color scheme was used in the decorations and a three tiered birthday cake centered the table.

Guests included Patricia Trozzo, Janet Kurk, Margaret Keller, Barbara Powell, James Powell, Marian Grim, Francis Grim, Harold Sirbaugh, William Lease, Racco, Frantz, Catherine Frantz, Margaret Gross, George Cross, Ronald Gross, Clark Cornwell, Mary Frances DeLuca, Frank DeLuca, Doris Cimmino, Mary Louise Cimmino, Russell Keller, Robert McCullough, Paul Cruthers, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cornwell, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCullough, Mrs. Frank Trozzo, Miss Betty Jo Armentrout, Miss Mary Sirbaugh, Miss Virginia Lee Pannone, Mrs. Samuel DeLuca and Mrs. Carmela Muia.

In the Russian occupied section of Germany, girls are being trained as judges for courts. Five colleges for judges have been established in the Soviet zone for training both men and women.

HAS BIRTHDAY—Mickey Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Keller, 112 Elkton Place, was two years old Wednesday.

Victor Layton Is Feted On Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Layton entertained in honor of their son, Victor, with a party, in celebration of his 18th birthday, Wednesday night, at their home, Wiley Ford.

The regular party games were played and refreshments were served. A blue and white color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the birthday cake and candles and repeated in the table appointments.

Fort Hill To Have Final Lyceum Program For Year

Instrumental Trio To Be Here Mar. 20

The fourth and final program for the year of the lyceum series, presented by the Antrim School Assembly Forum of Philadelphia, will be held at Fort Hill High School, March 20, Victor D. Heisey, principal, said last night.

An instrumental group, the Anderson Trio, will present a variety program, beginning with some numbers from Mozart and concluding with songs from "Oklahoma," and "The Song of Norway."

Members of the trio are Dianne Andrews, marimbist; Eleanore Lanz, violinist; and Shirley Jaynes, celloist.

Other programs presented during the year were "The Potters," who displayed the ways of making pottery; a program on the Science of Aeronautics which was a lecture and practical illustration on the science of aeronautics; and a Western Show, in which a man attired in "wild west costume" played a guitar, sang songs of the West, did rope stunts and tricks with his whip.

Zone 1 To Meet In Grace Church

The first combined meeting of all the circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Kingsley Methodist Church was held earlier in the week at the church, with Mrs. Marguerite Albertson presiding. Mrs. Ethel Zimmerman, leader, announced that the Zone 1 meeting will be held March 12. It will be an all day session from 10 a. m., until 2 p. m., and will be in Grace church. A box luncheon will be held at noon.

Mrs. Albertson announced that the district meeting would be held today at Centre Street Church, and the executive meeting of Kingsley WSCS will be held at 8 o'clock, March 21 at the church.

A summary of the mission study work on India was given by Mrs. Thomas Lohr Richards, who illustrated her talk with maps.

The group also decided to send a "thinking of you" card to Mrs. John G. Cook, Frostburg. The Refreshment committee for the March 25th meeting was appointed. It includes Mrs. Albertson, chairman; Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Daisy Collins, Mrs. Leoda Gurley, Mrs. Bertie Hamilton, Mrs. Maude Twigg, Mrs. Samuel Rose and Miss Lottie Rollins.

Thirty-five members attended the meeting and refreshments were served.

Humbertsons Will Mark Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Humbertson will celebrate their 46th wedding anniversary with a family dinner at their home, 317 Broadway, today.

Married in Ocean, February 28, 1901, Mr. Humbertson and his bride came to Cumberland to reside and are the parents of 13 children, seven of whom are living. They are Mrs. Grace Nesbitt, Hagerstown; William Humbertson, Mrs. Viola Raney, Mrs. Ruth Harper, Walter Humbertson, Mrs. Zelma Redmond, city and Carl Humbertson, at home. The couple have 17 grandchildren and one great grandchild.

A tiered wedding cake will center the table, which will be decorated in pink and white. Covers will be laid for 58 guests.

W. Md. Association Installs Central Maryland Officers

Members of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association of Western Maryland were guests and officiated at the initiation and installation ceremony for the Central Maryland Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association, Wednesday night in Hagerstown.

Mrs. Gertrude Ferrell, Westernport, Junior past president, of the Western Maryland group was the installing officer of the Central association, which was organized, with 169 members, last February during her term of office, and was sponsored by the Western Maryland group.

Other officers assisting in the installation ceremonies were Mrs. Edrie Wolford, Keyser, organist; Mrs. Sara Barringer, city, chaplain; Mrs. Ella Crabbe, Hyndman, guide; and Mrs. Edna Murray, guard.

Mrs. Ruby Gaither, Mt. Airy, incoming president, presented each of the installing officers with a gift.

A pageant, portraying the wedding of George Washington, was presented in elaborate costume. Mrs. Ruth Yinger, Frederick, was the narrator and the Men's Chorus of the Blue Lodge of Hagerstown, sang during the pageant.

A social hour concluded the program and refreshments were served by the cast of the wedding party.

Allegany Public Speaking Contest To Be Held Today

Six students of Allegany High School will compete in the public speaking contest to be held in the auditorium this morning before members of the junior and senior classes. The contest is in charge of Miss Virginia Dixon, general chairman.

Two elimination contests were held Monday and Tuesday, February 24 and 25, to select the six representatives for the finals today.

Subjects used in the speaking contest were: "Juvenile Delinquency, Its Causes and Cure"; "What Can Be Done To Solve Cumberland's Traffic Problem," and "The Pollution of Our Rivers and Streams." Prizes of $15, $10 and $5 will be awarded to the winners by Principal Ralph R. Webster.

For the first elimination, three minute speeches were given in the senior high English classes and the basis for judgment set up at this time were carried throughout the contest. The speeches were judged for evidence of research, good English, clearness of outline, voice and general effectiveness of speaking.

Judges for the semi-finals were: Mrs. A. T. Rogers, Miss Olive Simpson, Thomas Winters, and Raymond McCullough, members of the Allegany high faculty.

Ali Ghan Temple Honors Potentate

Ali Ghan Temple honored its Potentate and his Divan with its annual ball and banquet last night at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Harold C. Wickard served as toastmaster and introduced the Potentate, Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown; Morgan Harris, chief raban. Mrs. Spielman, to whom he presented a corsage, in behalf of the temple; and all members of the Divan and their wives.

Mr. Spielman, in his short talk reviewed the activities of the temple during the past year, with particular reference to the city and country clubs, and asked for the co-operation of the group. He also urged co-operation in assisting the Crippled Children's Hospital fund and announced that the Potentate's ball would be held in Hagerstown on Easter Monday.

A reception opened the program after which the banquet was held. Dancing concluded the entertainment of the evening, with music by the Aristocrats.

Receiving guests with Mr. and Mrs. Spielman were Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Wickard, Mr. and Mrs. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Godon, Mr. and Mrs. C. Morris De Lauder, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flurshutz, Mr. and Mrs. William M. Englehart and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Rizer.

Dance To Mark Granting Charter To Oldest Railroad

An informal dance will be held tonight by Queen City Lodge No. 285, International Association of Machinists Helpers at the Queen City Hotel ballroom.

Marty Flynn and his Society Ramblers will play for the dancing from 9 until 1 o'clock.

The dance is commemorating the granting of the charter to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, 120 years ago. The B. and O. is the oldest line in the country.

M. R. Barrett, president and E. E. Dyche, recording secretary, are in charge of arrangements and have extended invitations to railroad and union officials of the division.

Cresap Women Plan Contributions

The Cresap Homemakers Club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Herbert Heineman, with Mrs. Trubador Lewis presiding, and discussed means of raising funds. Each member is expected to earn $1 and contribute it to the club. Contributions will be made at the meeting March 27, which will be held at the home of Mrs. John Thompson, Cresaptown.

Reviews of "Red Morning," and "Pleasant Valley," were given by Mrs. Heineman, who also accompanied the group singing at the piano.

Miss Maude A. Bean talked on "space savers in the kitchen," and showed charts of ideal kitchens. She also spoke on conservation and urged all Homemakers to attend Louis Bromfield's lecture here, under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Speaking of the "Hands Around the World" pageant to be given by the Homemakers May 5, the Cresap Club will represent Wales and will sing, "Men of Harlech" and "Ash Grove."

Members present were Mrs. Andrew Burrell, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. Julia Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Miller, Mrs. Edward McKinney, Mrs. Marshall Willison, Mrs. Leroy Horton, Mrs. Herbert Logsdon, Mrs. Henry Fost, Mrs. Beatrice Thompson, and Miss Dora Lewis.

Child Guidance Club Selects Programs

Members of the Child Guidance Club chose the discussion topics and packed two boxes of clothing for shipment to Holland, at the meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Shaffer, Conrad avenue.

Subjects selected will be "Your Family Today;" "Parenthood;" "The Most Important Leadership;" "Beginning of Speech;" "Making Speech Work for Us;" "Schedule Planning for Other Levels;" "Babyhood;" "When Are We Grown Up;" and "Parent Control of Childhood Environment."

Mrs. Guy Bradour was in charge of the monthly program on the topic, "Reverence and Right Living."

Martha Clauson Heads Senior Girl Scouts

Martha Clauson was elected president of the Senior Girl Scout Activity Group last night at a meeting in Girl Scout headquarters. Other officers include Louella Heineman, vice-president and Rae Coleman, secretary and treasurer.

Jean Rohman and Lois Purinton, co-chairmen of the general committee in charge of arrangements for the annual conference of Section 10, Senior Girl Scouts, to be held here April 12, announced the subcommittees for the affair. These committees are Place and Luncheon, Rae Coleman, chairman; Lee Joy Greathouse, Dorothy Kuhn and Jean Hansroth; Hostess, Rosalie Winters, chairman, Ramona Twigg, Ione Carver; Decoration, Martha Clauson, chairman; Olivia Yancey, Jeanine Jenkins and Jean O'Rourke; Publicity, Kay Avers and Delores Mowrey, and Historical Pilgrimage, Jo Ann Bowden, chairman; Dorothy Shertzer, Delores Thomas, Vivien Nies and Mary Puderbaugh.

Color guard for the convention will include Anita Turner, Shirley Minke, Rosetta Croyle and Wanda Cameron.

Future activities of the group were discussed and plans were made for an arts and crafts unit to be formed. It was also decided that a Wing Scout troop would be formed as soon as possible.

Members of this group are active in redecorating and remodeling the Scout house, Greene street. Decorative painting and interior arrangements are being taken care of by these girls.

CIO Electrical Union Leaders Deny Communism

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP) — Angrily charging "red-baiting" by the Senate Labor Committee, three leaders of the CIO electrical workers today firmly denied they are Communists.

Separately, at a stormy session on pending labor legislation, the union officers flung their denials in this manner:

President Albert J. Fitzgerald, shouting to Sen. Ball (R-Minn.)—"Do you want to ask me whether I am a Communist. I am not!"

James J. Matles, director of organization—"I do not happen to be one."

Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer—"Before you ask the question, the answer is no."

Then Fitzgerald, husky and red-faced, cried out: "I have seen one of the finest examples of red-baiting here this morning!"

Sens. Taft (R-Ohio) and Ball (R-Minn.) raised the question of Communism shortly after Fitzgerald started reading a statement opposing all labor bills before the committee. He charged they are "injurious" to workers and "aimed directly at the food on their tables and the clothing on their backs."

The question of Communism in labor unions was raised also before the House Committee on unAmerican Affairs, where Floyd D. Lucia, an employe of the Allis-Chalmers Company in Wisconsin, said a costly 10-months strike there apparently was "Communist-inspired."

Lucia said that there were not over 25 Communists and 25 fellow travelers in the union there, Local 248 of the CIO-United Auto Workers, but that they "dominate" the union.

He testified that the union once adopted a resolution asking that President Truman turn over the atom bomb to Russia, and that shortly after V-J Day strike talk arose on the ground that "Russia didn't need our aid" with the war over.

A company estimate as to the cost of the strikes was put at $70,000,000 to $80,000,000, not counting some $18,240,000 lost in wages.

Taft set off the Senate committee fireworks by asking Fitzgerald why his union had revoked the charter of a local at Bridgeport, Conn., for voting to expel 27 members on charges they either were Communists or Communist sympathizers.

Fitzgerald said he was opposed to barring "Communists, Socialists, Democrats, Republicans or anyone else" from union membership. He snapped that the union's constitution prohibits discrimination on any racial, political or religious grounds.

River Commission Launches Meeting

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—Engineers and state and federal officials who make up the Commission on the Potomac River Basin opened their quarterly meeting here today and turned their attention to pollution problems in the Frederick area.

Maryland, Virginia, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia were represented.

Delegates engaged in a general discussion but decided to take no action on two bills now pending in Congress which would give the Public Health Service board powers to initiate interstate action for the abatement of pollution.

One bill would provide federal grants to states, municipalities and interstate agencies for surveys, plans and projects to eliminate pollution. The other would empower the Surgeon General to notify state health agencies when bad conditions exist and in some cases take court action.

Mayor Lloyd C. Culler greeted the visitors with an assurance that Frederick is ready to co-operate in their work.

The commission scheduled a public meeting during the evening and will resume its closed business sessions Friday morning.

No Floor Battle

There might be some necessity for the change in times of stress, said Newcomer, but absolutely none in peace time.

Administrative sources let it be known that Gov. Lane's two per cent sales tax bill, estimated to raise $18,000,000 a year to meet increased expenses, would reach the Legislature Monday night.

The bill, an integral part of the administration's financing program, already has been drafted by Attorney General Hall Hammond's office and is being typed for introduction.

It also was predicted that Lane would send in a message on the proposed Chesapeake Bay bridge and a general highway program for Maryland. It should be received by the middle of the week.

The message has been delayed because of the Governor's illness from a streptococcic throat. He went to Baltimore today for a hospital checkup and was expected to be in his office the first of the week.

Former Rep. H. Streett Baldwin, who was defeated by Lane for the gubernatorial nomination last spring, was reported to have joined the opponents of the sales tax.

Several members have been advised of the former representative's opposition.

Calendar Cuties

"You see, the people who order these calendars don't care what day it is."

Delany said, no, the department has no hard and fast rules on how—or where—a maiden should be clothed.

"It's all in the way it's presented," he said. "If it has aesthetic value, we call it unobjectionable nudity. It doesn't arouse the base emotions.

"But calendars aren't ordered for their aesthetic quality."

Delany said the final decision is up to a board which sits around studying questionable books, magazines and pictures.

He said there are no vacancies on the board at this time.

provide funds for construction of schools and facilities, would make three additions to the enabling act by which education money is made available.

Each county sharing in the equalization fund would increase the annual tax for schools from 56 to 65 cents on each $100 of the assessable property.

In addition, the counties would be required to allocate to schools funds a percentage of the money received from licensing of Class A and Class D Motor vehicles equal to the percentage of school taxes taken from all county taxes.

11 Escape Raleigh County, W.Va., Jail

BECKLEY, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP) — Sheriff C. C. Lewis said 11 men broke out of the Raleigh County jail tonight after jamming the automatic cell-locking device and overpowering a jailer, and two of them have been recaptured.

The other nine, including six federal prisoners and two state prisoners awaiting transportation to the state penitentiary at Moundsville, are still at large and all available state, county and city police have joined forces in an effort to round them up, the sheriff added.

Lewis identified the escapees as: Nelson Nidifer, 21, and Orland McKinney, 20, both of Raleigh County and both awaiting transfer to Moundsville to serve one-10 year sentences imposed after the conviction on charges of robbery of a furniture store last December.

Federal Prisoners James Mitchem, Bill Norman Lucas, Ralph Hedrick, Harry Short, Garland Hartwell and Levi Lucas, none of whose addresses were available immediately.

Harry Reed, Raleigh County, serving six months on a drunkenness charge.

Lewis said the two men recaptured were Walter Lee McDaniel and Jesse James Williams, both of Beckley. They were found hiding in a closet in the jail corridor, he said.

State Senate To Decide Rent Control Bill's Fate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—The State Senate will decide next Monday night whether to junk a measure providing for rent control in Maryland in the event federal regulations are abolished or to accept it with amendments.

The bill by Sen. Ellison (R-Balto 4th) was made a special order of business for 9 p. m. Monday upon his motion, which was agreed to by Sen. Bolton (D-Balto County), chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Bolton previously reported that the committee had voted unanimously to kill the bill, adding that he felt there "is no longer any need for rent control."

At that time, Bolton said Ellison would be given a chance to offer amendments before a vote is taken on the committee's unfavorable report.

Labor Board Announces Significant Policy Change

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27 (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board announced tonight a significant policy change designed to reduce union jurisdictional strife.

It provides that where a union has a two-year contract with a company, no rival union may challenge it for the life of the agreement.

Previously the board has limited this protection to one-year contracts except where longer agreements were customary in the industry involved.

Warden Print Wins Camera Contest

"Cloaked in a Mantle of White," a print by J. C. Warden, won the monthly black and white print contest of the Cumberland Camera Club Wednesday night. Warden's print, "Gum Fun," also won second prize.

"Majesty of Creation," photographed by Miss Dorothy Willison and Jack Hershiser, won third prize while fourth honors went to Charles Fields for his portrait, "Mr. Smith." Fred Reith's print, "Johnny," won the fifth prize. Morris Pram was the judge.

In the color slide competition, first prize went to William Price's "Carolina Sunset," and his "Sunset Trail" won second prize. Third honors went to Leo Leasure's "Mountain Music," while Gordon Hershberger won fourth place with "Tranquility" and fifth place with "Carnation." Hershiser was the judge.

It was announced after the meeting that color slides winning first prize in January, February, March, April and May will be sent to the Photographic Society of America to be shipped and displayed throughout the country.

It also was announced at the meeting that Edward L. Bafford, Baltimore photographer, will address the club March 28 on "Proper Negative Exposure and Development."

The annual judging of the picture of the year and banquet of the club will be held May 8, with Holmes I. Mattee, prominent Baltimore professional photographer, as the judge.

Corriganville Meeting To Be Held Tuesday

The Corriganville Improvement Association will meet Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in the Corriganville Fire Hall, to discuss further plans to form a cooperative association for the purpose of acquiring street lighting for the community.

J. Milton Dick, president of the Potomac Park Association, is expected to be present to answer questions regarding the plan and to outline how such a chartered group can operate for the general good and improvement of the community, according to Joseph C. Stuckey, president.

East side Fire Company was called to the home of Fred Bennett, 506 Baltimore Avenue, when the furnace overheated. There was no damage, firemen said.

W. O. Stolzing, Pittsburgh, gave a talk on "Diaphragm Control Valves" at the dinner and technical meeting of the Cumberland Section Instrument Society of America at the Queen City Hotel Wednesday. He was with Tagbiabue Instrument Company for 12 years before entering business for himself. The next meeting of the society will be held March 25.

South End Fire Company was called to the home of M. R. Barrett, 335 Virginia Avenue, last night at 8:58 o'clock to extinguish a flue fire. Firemen said the blaze was out when they arrived.

DEATHS

MRS. MARGARET ANDERSON

Mrs. Margaret Bone Anderson, 62, died yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jane Tyree, Klosterman's Addition.

Mrs. Anderson, known to her friends as "Maggie," had made her home with her daughter here for the past 11 months. Her husband, George W. Anderson, died in January, 1946.

She was a native of Frostburg and a daughter of the late John and Tennant Bone. Mrs. Anderson was a member of North Cumberland Assembly of God Church.

Also surviving are one son, Thomas B. Anderson, Indian Head, Md.; a foster daughter, Mrs. Harold Midmeyer, Hancock; two brothers, James W. and J. M. Bone, both of Cumberland, and two sisters, Mrs. Julia Steen and Mrs. F. W. Schanning, also of this city.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. in the Hafer Funeral Home by Rev. J. L. Stewart, pastor of the Assembly of God Church and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

GARRETT J. LUTEMAN

Garrett John Luteman, 78, well known Oldtown farmer, died yesterday at noon in Allegany Hospital where he was admitted February 20.

He was a lifelong resident of Oldtown, a son of the late Randolph and Evelin Twigg Luteman. His wife, Mrs. Anna Luteman, died some years ago.

Surviving are two brothers, James and Joseph Luteman, both of Oldtown, and a sister, Mrs. Clara Barrager, Oldtown.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home. A requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock in St. Mary's Catholic Church and interment will be in St. Agatha Cemetery, Bridgeport, Pa.

EDWARD CASSEN

Edward Cassen, 77, a native of this city and an uncle of Reid C. Cassen, city policeman, 551 North Centre Mechanic Street, died yesterday at his home in Massilon, Ohio.

Mr. Cassen, a son of the late Casper and Elizabeth Rizer Cassen, was a retired engineer for the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was an employe of the old Georges Creek and Cumberland Railway here about 40 years ago. His wife, Mrs. Ida Cassen, preceded him in death.

Mr. Cassen was a member of the Moose and Eagles lodge in Massilon.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Ida Hilleary, this city.

The body will arrive here tomorrow afternoon and will be taken to the Stein Funeral Home.

MRS. BURROWS RITES

A funeral service for Mrs. Eleanor C. Burrows, a former resident of this city who died Wednesday night in Sibley Hospital, Washington, D. C., will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Mark's Evangelical and Reformed Church, will officiate and interment will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

Mrs. Burrows, who died following an operation, was the widow of Fleming W. Burrows, manager of the Cumberland branch of the National Biscuit Company for many years.

Known familiarly as "Ma," Mrs. Burrows served as nurse and chaperon at the Central YMCA's summer camp on the South Branch a number of years and in recent years held that position at Camp Cliffside.

She was a past matron of McKinley Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, a member of the Past Matrons' and Patrons' Association, and of St. Mark's Church.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Joseph Smith, 627 Hamilton Street, Washington, and two grandsons.

MR. MILLER RITES

A brief funeral service was held yesterday morning in Stein's Chapel for Jacob Miller, 67, 214 Spring Street, well known local painter, who died Sunday. Interment was in SS. Peter and Paul Cemetery and pallbearers, members of Cumberland Aerie, No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, were R. P. Lippold, H. L. Gillard, Frank C. McKnight, R. I. Frantz, C. E. Burkey and D. R. Scharf.

JAMES WILLIAMS RITES

A funeral service for James Russell Williams, 49, 511 Louisiana Avenue, retired B. and O. brakeman, who died Monday, was conducted yesterday afternoon at the home. Rev. Joseph W. Young officiated and interment was in Greenmount Cemetery.

Full military rites were accorded by Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars. Pallbearers were Frank Hymes, George Banzhof, Raymond Reynolds, John H. Stitcher, Morris Leasure and Leo Thrasher.

BARTLEY KILROY, SR.

Bartley Kilroy, Sr., 73, died yesterday morning in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted December 17. He had been a patient at Allegany County Infirmary, Valley Road.

A native of Piedmont, W. Va., Mr. Kilroy resided here for a number of years. His parents were the late Thomas and Bridget Rowan Kilroy.

He is survived by three daughters and a sister, Mrs. George Middleton, Keyser, W. Va., and a number of nieces and nephews. The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

Paul LaValle Adds $1,500 Prize In Music Contest

Federation Offers Four $1,000 Awards

In addition to prizes of $1,000 each to the winner of contests for voice, violin and piano, to be given through the Music Federation, Paul LaValle, noted orchestra leader will give a scholarship of $1,500 to some deserving young musician between the ages of 16 to 25, or 28 years if a veteran, according to Mrs. Howard M. Kern, chairman of the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs and Regional contests and auditions.

Participation in competition for the LaValle scholarship will not disqualify any young musician from eligibility for the prizes offered in the finals by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

There will be a meeting of the contest committee at the home of Mrs. Howard M. Kern, Pikesville, Md., March 3, to formulate further plans for the coming contest.

The Maryland Federation of Music Clubs will hold its contests for student musicians and auditions for young artists Saturday, March 15, at Peabody Institute at 9:30 a. m., according to Mrs. Robert E. Clapp, president of the Maryland Federation. Applications will not be accepted after March 1, and must be sent to Mrs. H. Z. Meginnis, 1930 Linden Avenue, Baltimore.

Winners in the Maryland contest will then compete in the Regional Contests, also to be held in Baltimore in April. Talented young musicians of 27 states will be participants in the Regional Contests, winners of which will be eligible for Final Contests of the National Federation in Detroit, Mich.

That final winners of male voice, female voice, piano and violin will each receive a prize of $1,000. Expense free trips have been provided for any successful Marylanders by the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs.

Life Underwriters Have Open Forum

An open forum on "Guiding Principles in Agency Management," conducted by Franklin W. Kremer, national committeeman on agency practices, featured the meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters' Association, last night.

A large number engaged in the discussion and definitely decided that a careful selection of agents by various companies will increase the efficiency in distributing life insurance and in adequately serving the insuring public.

A dinner preceded the meeting at which Donald Hugh Moffett presided. Mrs. Helen McDonough led the group singing with Perry Rosenmerkle at the piano. Roy F. Hamner introduced all members and their guests; and Lawrence M. Roberson, treasurer of the association, outlined plans for an advertising program to be carried out by the association.

A motion picture entitled, "The Search for Security," was shown. It began in 1690, when in England it was customary for a group of business men to share in underwriting a risk, principally a voyage of a ship. By means of animations and carefully staged scenes facts of life insurance as it operates today were explained.

Seventy members attended last night's meeting. The next meeting will be held March 27.

sense of responsibility, and who cannot get along with others, should not join the Guard.

"But to young men with a sense of patriotism," Judge Henderson concluded, "to young men who want to do something worthwhile with other men, who want to develop themselves into leaders in the community, as well as in the Army . . . to such men, the Guard offers a real opportunity."

Lt. Col. Millholland, also a veteran of long years of National Guard service and who commanded Company G when it left here for World War II, reviewed the history of the National Guard in World War II.

Col. Millholland reminded his listeners that there were, at the time of Pearl Harbor, only nine regular Army divisions in this country, but there were 18 National Guard Divisions, and the American Division, National Guard was later formed. Of these 19 National Guard Divisions, 10 saw combat throughout the Pacific Theatre and nine fought in the European theatre. Each one made an enviable combat record and went through and won the most severe battles of the war, the Colonel stated. He declared that had the National Guard divisions been non-existent, the war would have been prolonged a year or more, and he expressed doubt if this country could have won it at all.

Opportunities Listed

In the postwar Guard, now being organized, Col. Millholland also stated there are oppartunities for patriotic young men to serve their country without interfering with their normal activities at school, at work or at home ,and at the same time they can learn new things, make new friends and gain new experiences.

Col. Millholland, who is executive officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment, Maryland National Guard explained that Maryland is to have 9,306 men and officers in the new National Guard, most of whom will be part of the 29th Division.

"Here in Cumberland," he stated, "we are organizing Company C, of the 115th, consisting of 186 men and officers, and the First Battalion Headquarters Company, consisting of 127 officers and men. We are well on our way now with this organization and many returning veterans have rejoined and quite a few who were too young for the war have enlisted. Some of our new men are local high school students who give the appearance of making top notch soldiers.

"Here is an excellent opportunity for every able-bodied young man to avail himself of the privilege of serving in his country's armed forces without leaving home, or without interference in his normal course of life," Col. Millholland concluded. "We invite every young man of this community to come to the State Armory and talk over this opportunity with the Recruiting Officer."

The two speakers were introduced by Major Howard Dickey, commanding officer of the First Battalion, with headquarters here. Major Dickey is also a veteran of World War II, and a former member of Company G.

Amvets Auxiliary President Named To National Post

Mrs. Joy Effland, president of the auxiliary unit of J. Louis Wolford Post No. 1, Amvets, announced last night that she has accepted an invitation to serve on the Hospital Committee of the Amvets Auxiliary

Mrs. John C. Patsos, Washington, D. C., regional vice president of the Amvets Auxiliary and chairman of the National Hospital Committee, informed Mrs. Effland that the committee will meet in Washington in the near future with Gen. Omar Bradley, head of the Veterans' Administration.

Mrs. Patsos said that the local auxiliary's application for a charter has been accepted, and that she will come to Cumberland to present the charter and to install officers as soon as it is granted.

Four new members were accepted last night. They are Mrs. Leroy Welsh, past commander of the Navy Mothers' Club; Mrs. Naomi Beckman, Mrs. Irene Meconi and Mrs Lyde Wilt.

It was reported that the auxiliary's project to furnish and equip a reading room at the Amvets' home will be completed by the next meeting, to be held March 13.

Mrs. Margaret McGann was named chairman of a committee to aid Hillcrest Burial Park officials in setting up a complete record of World War II veterans buried there, with pertinent service data. Mrs. McGann will be assisted by Miss Freda Skelly.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Firm Stand Has To Be Taken Sooner Or Later In Bad Situation

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There are very few bad situations that get better by fooling around with them. Sooner or later, a firm stand of one sort or another has to be taken, and the longer it is put off, the harder it is to do it.

It is, of course, easy to see why so many women, confronted with a marital problem, would rather procrastinate than have a showdown over it. Obviously, they are afraid that the showdown would result in leaving them high and dry, without a husband, and, when they are in love with their husbands, they will try everything—even an indefinite period of doing nothing — before they can bring themselves to be decisive about the matter.

Here is a woman whose husband is obviously making a fool of her, yet she lets him go right on doing it. He is her second husband with a son by a former wife.

After they were married, she says, "Life was really wonderful, till he joined a certain club and the members called him 'henpecked' because he did not live there. But he would hang out there and play the slot machines, and finally I had him suspended because we had no money to pay the rent.

"Then his son came home from overseas. He drank, and drove his car without a driver's license, and overstepped his rights with me by trying to make me be untrue to my husband, which I would not do, as I loved my husband and still do. I told my husband his son had to leave, and my husband said if he went he would, too. So they both left four and a half months ago."

That, I should have thought, would have been that. The husband decided that he had to choose between his wife and his son, and he chose his son. Apparently, he had been gambling away his money on slot machines and his wife was supporting the home anyhow, so it wouldn't seem as though she had lost much. She seems to feel differently about that, however, for she goes on to say:

"My husband has been coming to my home and staying overnight and telling me he loves me and always will. He cries and says I am a good housekeeper and a good cook and his misses his home and doesn't like it at his cousin's, where he is living. But why he doesn't come home to live, I cannot figure out. He has told a number of people that he will always love me, as they have told me. He told me over two months ago that he would come to see me oftener if I had a back way to my apartment, and yet he has had me uptown twice so people saw us together.

"All this has put me a very nervous condition so that I cannot work. I have kept the apartment going, paying all bills and owe nothing. It is now 17 days since he was home last, but he looks up and smiles every day on his way to work.

"Please let me know what you think of his actions.

"MRS. S. S. M."

I think, "Mrs. E. S. M.," that his actions are ridiculous and that yours are, too, in standing for them. When you husband left you, of his own free will, over a matter in which, if he had been any kind of man he would not only have backed you up, but would have thrown that son out himself, why should you permit him to make a fool of you now? He tells you he would come to see you oftener if there were a back way to the apartment for which you are paying. Obviously, he wishes the neighbors and your friends to believe that he has nothing more to do with you. And you are willing to let him humiliate you in that fashion!

If you have any self-respect at all, or if you want this man to have any for you—which he obviously does not now—I advise you to take a firm stand at once and tell him that he can either come back and take over the support of his home and behave like a decent husband, or get out of your life entirely. Tell him that you are through standing for any such farce as he is making of your marriage; that he will have to make up his mind once and for all whether he wants to come back and behave himself or whether he wants to stay away entirely. And then show that you mean it.

Frozen Pie In The Sky Flies To Market

SAN DIEGO, Calif., (AP)—Frozen pie in the sky is another product of modern progress.

The sky angle, shipment by air, was used for initial "rush" orders, explained Monroe Boston Strause, who developed the freezing process for pies during the war.

Strause's bakery and freezing plant, turning out 15,000 pies daily, is also shipping by railroad refrigerator cars.

Slot Machines Are Stolen At Hancock

Seven to eight slot machines stolen from the Hancock American Legion Home and the second floor of Hovermill's Restaurant, Hancock, within the last two week's probably will be located after the snow melts, State Police said yesterday.

Five machines were taken from the Legion home and two or three from the restaurant, according to police, who said the search had to be abandoned because of the snow.

LONDON (AP) — Britain's newsboys peddle a million and a quarter more papers daily — with increases averaging 127,879 for each of eight national newspapers — since the government partially relaxed strict newsprint restrictions last September.

Figures published in the World Press News, British journalism trade paper, showed similar circulation boosts, averaging 150,775 for five great Sunday newspapers under new circulation regulations permitting publishers to print as many papers as the public will buy.

Skeleton-thin beside their plump American counterparts, the papers themselves are still limited to an occasional maximum of 12 pages. Throughout the war newsprint controls kept their circulation figures stable and resulted in early sellouts at every newsstand.

Significantly in the daily field large percentage increases were shown by the Communist Party organ, the Daily Worker, and the ultra-conservative Daily Telegraph and Times.

The Daily Worker jumped its circulation by 14 percent but still remained on the bottom of the list with an average daily sale of 121,509. The Telegraph, which is sometimes known as the civil servant's Bible, showed a 17.5 percent increase, bringing its average daily total to 977,689.

POLIO VICTIM AT 78 MANAGES OWN HOUSE

AP Newsfeatures

PETERSBURG, Va., — Seventy-eight year old Miss Della Sermons, who lost almost all use of her legs as an infant as a result of infantile paralysis, runs her own house, alone and enjoys it.

In her neat gray house on South St., Miss Sermons does her own housework, which includes getting coal from a downstairs bin for her second floor rooms.

Propelling herself with her arms, in a sitting position, Miss Sermons loads the fuel in small buckets which are hooked onto ropes tied to upstairs banisters. Then she returns to the second floor and hauls up the buckets.

She places herself on crutches to make up her feather bed, but her arms provide most of her locomotion and lift her into her favorite chair beside the radio and telephone.

"It's certainly a good feeling in winter, when I get the coal up here and can look out of the window all nice and warm," she said. "Then I have just about everything I could want."

Where Red Light Stops Motorists At No Crossroad

AP Newsfeatures

NATURAL BRIDGE, VA.—Motorists speeding north over route 11 through Virginia's Shenandoah Valley suddenly find themselves confronted by a red traffic light. It is an unusual light—there is no highway intersection anywhere near and the scene is entirely rural.

The light warns of the approach to the 90-foot span of the Natural Bridge of Virginia across a 215-foot gorge. The highway at the point twists sharply on a steep downgrade just before crossing the natural span. It was—and still is—dangerous.

Highway department planning engineers, who erected the light two years ago after a series of serious accidents, say the result has been "highly satisfactory" — no smashups at a place where there had been 28 in 10 years, killing 12 and injuring 53.

If the motorist approaches the light at a speed greater than 25 miles per hour it flashes red. And the light won't turn green until he slows down. If the motorist doesn't slow down he will have to stop at the red, but when he does the light flashes green. It is controlled by a complicated sequence of electronics, rigged with underground wires to a detector arm imbedded in the highway 280 feet [illegible] the light.

The highway department is planning a number of similar lights at danger zones.

What's In A Name! A Lot Of Furrows, Says This Plowboy

AP Newsfeatures

OKLAHOMA CITY — It has taken a lot of patience, and a number of years, but State Representative C. Plowboy Edwards of McAlester, Okla., finally has convinced everyone that Plowboy is his real moniker and not a nickname.

In the midst of an oration on the House floor, Edwards paused to relate how he got his middle name.

"I was born on an old plantation down in Mississippi," he said.

"Dad was sorely pressed for help, but all he had was girls. He needed somebody to help with the plowing. The day I made my entrance to this world, Dad was out in the field plowing as usual. Somebody went out and rang the dinner bell, and Dad, knowing it wasn't dinner time, figured the stork had arrived.

"He came loping up to the house on an old flop-eared mule.

"The doctor handed me to Dad and told him, 'Well, here's your plowboy.'

"So Dad named me C. Plowboy Edwards and that's the way it is."

Stocks Generally Enjoy Recovery Push; Some Respond To Dividends

NEW YORK, Feb. 27, (AP)—Stocks generally enjoyed a recovery push in today's market although the speed which accompanied the recent decline was lacking.

Dealings frequently slowed and transfers for the full stretch amounted to 970,000 shares compared with 1,350,000 the day before.

A number of shares responded to pleasing dividends but others were notably indifferent. Among the former were Abbott Laboratories, up four at 76½; National Cash Register two at 39, Homestake Mining 2⅜ at 43, United States Freight 1⅝ at 17¾, Moore-McCormack 1¼ at 25¾, Mueller Brass one at 22½ and Great Western Sugar three-fourth at 26¼.

Declines were posted for Sperry, Great Northern Railway, Pennsylvania Railroad, Woolworth and American Can.

Among forward Curb leaners were American Cyanamid, American Gas, Cities Service, McCord Corporation, Rome Cable (on an extra dividend), Middle West Corporation and Consolidated Steel. Turnover here was 270,000 shares versus 310,000 yesterday.

A long list of rails, along with obligations of selected utilities and industrials, advanced fractions to more than a point in today's bond market, although a few soft spots persisted.

Total sales were $3,272,000 compared with $4,170,000 Wednesday.

United States government obligations improved narrowly. The Victory 2½s of December '67-'72 advanced to 102 31-32 both on the exchange and in over-the-counter dealings.

Expensive Bolt

YORKTOWN, Va. — (AP) — That lightning bolt which damaged the Yorktown Victory monument back in 1942, is going to cost Uncle Sam about $100,000. The Department of the Interior says the allegorical figure of Liberty atop the tall shaft will have to be replaced completely —not just repaired.

Public Sympathy Is With Teachers In Drive For Wage Hike, Poll Finds

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 27—The school teachers of the nation, many of whom are fighting at this time for increased income, have the sympathy of the vast majority of the U. S. citizens.

School teachers have done an impressive job during the past six months to their cause. Six months ago 44% of the people in a nation-wide poll thought that tachers' salaries were too low. Today the figure stands at 64%—a very sharp increase of 50% among those who regard teachers' salaries as inadequate.

Moreover, among these people, more than three out of four say they are willing to pay more taxes so that school teachers can be given more pay.

The survey includes questioning of voters in all walks of life, in communities large and small across the nation. The questions;

1. "Do you think that school teachers' pay in wour community is too high, too low, or about right?"

The replies to question one are contrasted to those in the September survey on the same question.

	Today	Sept., 1946
Too High	2%	2%
Too Low	64	44
About Right	22	33
No Opinion	12	21

The second question in the survey limited to those people who said they think school teachers' pay is too low at the present time.

Tax authorities cannot take replies to the second question as a "go-ahead" to levy a series of special taxes in order to finance salary boosts for teachers.

While a majority of voters who think teachers' salaries are low now say they would be willing to pay an additional tax in order to raise teachers' salaries, many people may not feel that a special tax is necessary. They may for example feel that economies in other departments will be able to finance the increased cost of higher salaries for teachers.

Moreover, replies to the questions do not constitute approval for any specific proposal.

2. Would you be willing to pay higher taxes in order to raise money to raise teachers' salaries?"

Yes	51%
No	11
No Opinion	2
Total Who Think Teachers' Pay is Too Low	64

The willingness to pay more taxes to increase the salaries is found in greater proportion among the people with some college training. This is shown in the table below:

	College	High School	Grammar School or Less
Yes	76%	57%	41%
No	7	10	13
No Opinion	-	2	3
Total Who Think Pay is too Low	83	69	57

Frugal Soul Now Bathes Freely

ALVA, Okla., (AP)—A customer had to come clean, but Kenneth McClain, who operates a plumbing supply store here, finally found out where he got 356 half-dollars he used to purchase new plumbing. The customer explained to McClain that he figured every time he took a bath it was worth 50 cents toward modern facilities. So he put a 50-cent piece in a jar each time he bathed until he had the money to purchase new plumbing.

The Big Moose Held Up the Mail

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont.—(AP)—Early Ryan was riding his mail route from Belton to Trail Creek when a cow moose charged the tractor he was riding. Using a gun he carries by special permission for such emergencies, Ryan shot the enraged animal and it fell dead two feet from the tractor.

Assistant Chief Ranger Dick Nelson went out to investigate the killing, was stopped by a second moose and delayed two hours before the animal withdrew.

Doolittle Appointed To B. And O. Position

Frederick W. Doolittle, Jr., has been appointed assistant general counsel of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad with headquarters at Baltimore, according to announcement by Edwin H. Burgess, vice-president and general counsel. He was formerly associated with the law firm of Rathbone, Perry, Kelley & Drye of New York City, specializing in corporation and financial law.

Born at Madison, Wisc., where he attended public schools, Mr. Doolittle received the AB degree at Princeton in 1932 and LLB degree at Harvard in 1935. He is member of the American Bar Association and has been admitted to practice before the New York State courts, several United States courts and the Interstate Commerce Commission.

New Record Set Here In Cashing Checks

Cumberland banks cashed checks for a total of $20,572,000 in January, an increase of 12.7 per cent over January 1946 and 155 per cent over January 1940, according to the American Banker. The figure is the largest for January on record for local banks. Debits in Baltimore advanced 16 per cent over January 1946, Frederick was up 26.9 per cent and Hagerstown jumped 23 per cent.

Blubber, Blubber!

NORFOLK, Va.,—(AP)—It has been a whale of a winter off the Atlantic seaboard. Many whales have been sighted off the coast near here and the Cape Henry weather observer saw one come right up to the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. At least three dead whales have been washed ashore, two off Massachusetts and one near Manteo, N. C.

ARE WE CHEATING OUR CHILDREN?

Are the children of Maryland being deprived of their primary need for a successful life...a sound education in Maryland schools?

Without the priceless advantage of good, sound education available from a modern public school system, your children will not be equipped to face the world in which they must take their places.

But, right now, we in Maryland are educating our children in a public school system badly in need of repair. Here are the facts:

The average class size in public schools is nearly 39 pupils. Yet, educational authorities recognize that one teacher should not have to handle more than 30 pupils in each class, to allow time for individual instruction, as necessary, and to get the lessons across to each student.

Of the 1000 school buildings in Maryland, 80% are in need of major repairs such as new floors, heating plants, walls, roofs, etc., and additions such as cafeterias, libraries, gymnasiums and laboratories.

Right now there are 300,000 pupils in Maryland public schools. To provide the badly needed facilities for them all will require the construction of millions of dollars worth of additional buildings—and still not allow for expansion of total enrollment.

There are now 113 potential new teachers studying in all 5 of Maryland's teachers colleges for graduation next June. Yet, next fall there will be over 600 vacancies to be filled in grade schools alone.

But, This Situation Is Not Hopeless

The Maryland Assembly is considering a series of bills which, if they are passed, will force these changes in the public school system:

Class enrollment will be limited to thirty pupils. This will mean an average attendance of 26 or 27.

Three million dollars will be made available from state income to help finance the construction of new schools and the renovation and modernization of present school buildings.

The scale of teachers salaries will be increased to a range of $2200.00 to $3800.00 yearly to attract more and better teachers to Maryland Schools, and to guarantee a fully qualified teacher in every classroom.

Other bills will provide minor changes in school operations—changes that will help streamline the entire public school system.

Here's How You Can Help Better The Public Schools

Let your representatives at Annapolis know how you feel about your public schools. Let them know that you want your children to have every chance for a sound education when they attend public school in Maryland. Yes, write to your state senator and delegate today—tell them to vote "YES" on the school improvement bills that will guarantee your children—

Frostburg Elks Plan Anniversary Dinner March 17

Lodge Schedules Other Activities

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Feb. 27—Frostburg Lodge No. 470, B. P. O. Elks, appointed Carmel Pinto to serve as chairman of the committee in charge of the 48th anniversary banquet of the order, which will be held at the Clary Club Monday, March 17 at 6 p. m., for members only. Following the banquet, the membership will return to the Elks home, East Main Street, for an evening of social activities.

The Elks also decided to entertain Sunday, March 23, at 2 p. m. in the main lodge room with a program of motion pictures, showing the 1946 World Series baseball games and the 1946 All Star baseball games. Lefty Groves, Lonaconing, whose name was recently placed in baseball's Hall of Fame, will be present.

The guests of honor will be the boys who are taking part in the Elks basketball league. Trophies will be presented by Groves, representing the Elks, to the winning team of the Elks league and the junior and senior teams, sponsored by the Elks, who were the championship winners in the city basketball league. Coaches of the various schools of this section will also be guests.

Following the motion picture program and the presentation of the trophies, refreshments will be served. Harold C. Carl, local photographer, will take pictures for submission to the Elks national magazine.

It was announced that all Past Exalted Rulers will be asked to attend a special meeting Tuesday, March 4 at 8 p. m., at the Elks home to elect officers and adopt a constitution and by-laws for a Past Exalted Rulers' Association.

Legion Plans Drive

Vincent Bollino, chairman of the membership committee of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, will preside at a meeting of the committee Friday, February 28 at 8 p. m. in the Legion Home, East Main Street. The purpose of the meeting is to begin a campaign to increase the membership of the post from 455, the present enrollment, to 500 by March 1.

When a total of 500 is reached, a second drive for members will be started with a goal of 1,000 by May 23, the date on which National Commander Paul H. Griffith will be here as the guest of honor at a banquet to be held at Beall High School.

Daniel Middleton Dies

Daniel Edward Middleton, 57, died Thursday morning at his home in Carlos, after being in failing health for several years. He was a son of the late Alex and Mathilda Hott Middleton and the husband of Nettie Patkin Middleton.

Besides his widow, he leaves a daughter, Mrs. Nettie Hitchins, Carlos; two sons, Alex and Kenneth Middleton, Carlos; a sister, Mrs. Melvin Wade, Carlos, and three brothers, Albert, Cumberland; David, Grahamtown, and James Middleton, Carlos.

Mr. Middleton was last employed at Spates's Atlantic Service Station, Frostburg. He was a member of the Carlos Methodist Church. Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Fund Drive To Start

The house-to-house canvass in the annual Red Cross drive will begin Saturday with three captains directing the work of a large group of volunteers assigned to the various zones.

The captains are Miss Elizabeth Wilton Jankins, Mrs. Kathleen Todd and Mrs. George Hale. The drive will be conducted by William Lewis, general chairman, and fraternal, civic, labor, religious and social organizations will be solicited.

The goal for Frostburg this year is $2,000. Headquarters will be established in the lobby of the Gunter Hotel.

Volunteer solicitors may secure the necessary window stickers and contribution blanks from Mrs. J. C. Cobey.

Frostburg Briefs

At the regular practice session of the drum and bugle corps of Farrady Post No. 24, American Legion, held Wednesday night, plans were discussed to attend the apple blossom festival in Winchester, Va., in the spring.

A Layman's Day service will be held at First Methodist Church Sunday morning at the hour of the usual church service. The guest speaker will be Dr. N. E. Osborne, of Hagerstown. A. H. Warne, district lay leader, will also be present.

Frostburg Personals

Allen Baker Hart, Jr., has entered the Georgetown University School for Foreign Service, Washington, D. C. He was a student for some time at the Virginia Military Institute, Lexington, Va. Hart is a veteran of World War II. He served on Okinawa and in the occupation of Korea, where he was regimental interpreter for the 17th Infantry of the 17th Division. A native of Frostburg, he attended local schools and graduated from Allegany High School, Cumberland.

Billy Baer took first place in the title for most courageous boy and also tied with Willis Williams for the most dependable boy. He also took second place for the most friendly student. Willis Williams took second place for the most courteous boy and William Watring second place for the most talented boy. Richard Higgs won second place for the most dependable boy and Phil Haddix for the most humorous. Jack Gilmore took first place for the best dressed boy with Robert Barton taking second place.

The contest is an annual event of Parsons high school.

Cumberland Man Transferred

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, Cumberland, Md., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffith in Hambleton. Mr. Wilson has been transferred to Parsons as a telegraph operator-clerk and will be permanently located here. He was with the freight office in Cumberland for several years before entering the service and since his release about one year ago has been a telegraph operator.

Marriage Is Revealed

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Flora Ellen Campbell, only daughter of Mrs. Georgia Campbell, Elkins, to John H. Quarry, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Quarry of Riverdale, formerly of Parsons.

The ceremony was solemnized in the Methodist Church in Elkins Saturday, February 23, with Rev. H. W. Ware, pastor of the church officiating at the single ring service. Mrs. W. O. Mason, organist of the church, played the nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches.

The bride wore a mist grey pin striped suit, street length, with which she wore black and white accessories, complemented with a corsage of red rosebuds.

Miss Eleanor Talbott, Elkins, served the bride as maid of honor and Jack White, cousin of the bride, was best man. Miss Talbott wore a green suit with black accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Quarry is a graduate of Elkins High School in the class of 1944 and is now employed by the Elkins Inter-Mountain.

Mr. Quarry attended Coalton High School and was graduated from Parsons High School in the class of 1944. He served as a technical sergeant in the army for 25 months, 16 months of which was on overseas duty with an engineering division. He is now employed in a store in Elkins. Mr. Quarry is a nephew of Mrs. Effie Murray, Parsons.

Miss Kalar To Graduate

Miss Barbara Kalar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kalar, Parsons, a senior student of the University of Pennsylvania Hospital in Philadelphia, Pa., left this week for New York City where she will take a three month affiliated course at the Manhattan State Hospital prior to her graduation in June of this year.

Brief News Notes From Grantsville

By MRS. EVA BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE, Feb. 27 — Miss Ethel Broadwater was hostess to the Ladies Bridge Club. Three tables were in play and honors went to Mrs. C. O. Bender and Miss Jo Purcell. The George Washington Birthday motif was used in decorations. Refreshments were served.

Miss Mary Louise Paynisk, R. N., Alexandria, Va., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fahey. Miss Paynisk is formerly of Ann Arbor, Mich., and served as Public Health Nurse in Garrett County several years ago. She is taking a training course in Red Cross work in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hamp and daughter Miss Grace, have moved into their new home on West Main Street just recently finished.

Edward S. Brenneman, Bittinger, who has been a patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland, the past four weeks, was moved to the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr and Mrs. Naylor Glotfelty, Addison, Pa. Due to the drifted roads it is not possible to take him to his home at Bittinger.

Joseph Paul, son of Mrs. Roda Paul Livengood, who has served in the Army for the past two years, has arrived home from Australia, and who has been spending several days here with his mother, left for his home in Mt. Savage, Md. last evening to be with his wife and children, who have resided there while he was in service.

Joseph Livengood, who has been ill the past two weeks, is now able to be out again. Mrs. Livengood also was taken sick and unable to be on duty at telephone office. Mrs. Livengood's daughter, Mrs. Blair Buckel, is assisting Miss Miller in the office.

Mrs. O. J. Glotfelty is a surgical patient in Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Poland Reports Economic Progress

WARSAW (AP) — Led by the coal industry with production reaching approximately 47,000,000 tons—1,000,000 more than expected — Poland substantially achieved her industrial targets for the year 1946, the newspaper Gazeta Ludowa reports.

The journal, organ of Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, said outside of coal, most of the other industries came within a small percentage of reaching the high goals set at the beginning of the year.

Clean Lampshades

Skim milk is a good cleaner for paper lampshades, both those of unfinished paper and those with a shellac, varnish or waxlike finish. Milk does not penetrate paper readily because it contains casein. It slips over the surface carrying soil with it. As the milk darkens with dirt, use a fresh supply. If the milk seems to soften the paper, let the shade dry before continuing. Sponging the milk on with a soft cloth hastens the cleaning, but if the cloth roughens the paper, discard this method.

Barton Girl Will Take Examination In Union Hospital

By DAVID E. KIRK

BARTON, Feb. 27—Miss Norma Schramm, senior at the Barton High School, will take an examination Friday morning at the Union Memorial Hospital, Baltimore, where she will enter after graduation in June.

Miss Schramm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schramm, South Railroad Street, has served as a nurses' aid at the Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, for the past year, assisting during the summer months and on Saturdays.

She is outstanding in school's activities being scorer for the basketball season, news editor of the school's paper, "The Tattler", and was elected recently by her class to compete with the other seniors selected from the high schools in the United States to take the Pepsi-Cola examination.

While in Baltimore she will visit Mrs. Eleanor Kidd and will go to Arlington, Va., Sunday to visit a former resident, Mrs. Ethel Ferris.

PONCA CITY, Akla., (AP) — Mrs. Marie C. Morton, day desk sergeant at the Ponca City police station, found things dull at her eight-hour shift passed without a single crime to log. Finally, she ended her trick with the following notation on the log: "On purely circumstantial evidence, I had a busy day."

Bennear Assault Probe Continues

Winchester, Va., authorities said last night they are continuing a probe in the three-month-old assault of Robert Bennear, Thomas, W. Va., Army veteran who was shot in the back and left for dead off old Route 50 near Gore, W. Va., in November.

Bennear, unconscious for more than a week from a skull fracture suffered in the assault, returned to Winchester recently to reconstruct events which led up to the robbery and assault by an unknown assailant.

Deputy Sheriff Robert DeHaven, Winchester, who is working on the case with Virginia State Trooper E. B. Michaell, said investigation is proceeding on the theory that a hitchhiker Bennear picked up several miles west of Fairfax, Va., on Route 50, was responsible for the attack.

Bennear told police the hitchhiker stuck a .32 caliber revolver in his side and robbed him of his watch, two rings and his wallet, containing $12 or $13 in cash. Bennear said he was ordered out of the car and had taken about five steps when he was shot in the back.

The ex-soldier described his assailant as "about 24 years of age, between five feet, seven inches to five feet, ten inches tall, with brown hair, slender build and a southern accent." Bennear was hospitalized for several weeks in Winchester Memorial Hospital.

Loomis Is Cited

Capt. Donald Wood Loomis, USN, Deer Park, Md., husband of Mrs. Esther Young Loomis, has received a permanent citation for his Gold Star in lieu of the Third Legion of Merit from Secretary of the Navy James Forrestal, for the President.

Capt. Loomis, currently serving as Professor of Naval Science and Tactics, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C., earned the award as Commander of a Transport Group, in the invasion of an enemy-held island in the Pacific War Area.

Ninth Graders Win Bowling Contest

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Feb. 27 — The ninth grade of Bruce High School held a bowling party at the Maple Lane's alleys. The teams headed by Miss Agnes Laughlin and Miss Audrey Rodriguez rolled a three game match which was won by Miss Laughlin's team with a total of 2,248 pins against 2,119 for Miss Rodriguez's team.

High score for the three games went to Edgar Fox of the winning team who rolled a total of 365. On the losing team, Carol Robinson was high with a score of 332. Miss Laughlin's team took the first game by 8 pins 639 to 631, but Miss Rodriguez's team came back taking the second by 45 pins going into the last games with a 37 pin lead. But Fox's 157 in the last game was too much for the losers and they dropped it by 166 pins to lose the match by 129.

6 WAYS to Make Your Chicks Grow!

Here are 6 good rules to follow to insure fast-growing, healthy chickens and at the same time to conserve scarce proteins:

1 Use a good quality chick mash, such as Tuxedo Starting and Growing Allmash.
2 Keep a fresh supply before the chicks at all times.
3 Avoid wastage by using properly constructed feeders.
4 Watch sanitation. Keep houses, equipment and yards clean.
5 See that the chicks have a constant supply of clean, fresh water.
6 Provide grit to improve feed efficiency.

Labor Legislative Experts Invited To Speak At Rally

Legislative experts of the American Federation of Labor, Congress of Industrial Organizations and the Railroad Brotherhoods have been invited to speak at the rally of Allegany County labor organizations to be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Textile Workers hall, North Mechanic Street, C. E. Stutzman, president of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference, reported yesterday.

G. Edwin Parker, vice-chairman of the Maryland Legislative Board of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who is in charge of the program, said last night that the exact list of speakers has not yet been decided, but left no doubt that Maryland labor would unlimber its big guns in the blast against legislation which they report would "bust the unions wide open".

Stutzman said Robert J. Buxbaum, Baltimore, president of the Maryland-D.C., Federation of Labor, and the Maryland AFL legislative representative in Washington, has been invited to speak at the conference.

John W. Edelman, Washington, TWUA legislative representative, has been asked to speak for the CIO at the meeting, according to Joseph J. Barley, business manager of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America.

Invited to represent the Brotherhoods are Benjamin W. O'Rourke, chairman of the legislative committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and C. W. Mitchell, state representative of the B. of R. T., as well as R. T. Miller, Hagerstown, chairman, and W. H. Mowers, Baltimore, secretary of the board.

New Enlightening

Today, as the King Features columnist of "These Days," bushy-haired, stocky George is recognized as one of the soundest-thinking national commentators, and is widely in demand as a lecturer and industrial consultant. "I like Sokolsky," Father James M. Gillis, C.S.P., once wrote in "The Sign," "because he seems to me so consistently and so remarkably right."

The Sokolsky story began in Utica in 1893. George was the son of a Jewish rabbi who possessed a temper that occasionally is equaled by the columnist today—and, according to Sokolsky, this trait kept his father from holding posts more permanently than he did. Ultimately the Sokolskys found their way to the lower East Side in Manhattan, where George grew up.

George was almost a prodigy. At the age of 10, he was—believe it or not—stumping for the Republican party (in a Tammany Hall hotbed) as an inspired young orator.

Never athletically-inclined, George concerned himself with social, civic and labor problems all through his youth, and held more than 20 jobs before finishing his journalism course at Columbia University. During those days, he probed into the I.W.W.'s, anarchists, and socialists—now and then joining in the demonstrations of whatever group he was studying.

Just as he completed college in 1917, the lid blew off the pot in Russia, and George went to that country to be in on the famous revolution as a correspondent for the "New Republic News Service." Mail service was impossible, however—and George found himself in Petrograd out of a job. Undaunted, he finally went with the "Russian Daily News," an English language paper, as editor.

Disappointed In Russia

"Russia," George says, "was a disappointment to me from the start and that disappointment was heightened when the Bolshevists took over. They did not believe in liberty. They did not believe in opportunity for the individual. They did not recognize the right to independence of thought and speech. They were despots. They were tyrants. They murdered men and women without mercy. I lived through a terror in Russia which has ever been with me—an endless nightmare of horror."

In 1918, George made his way across Siberia to Peking, there to start work for the North China Star—to make money for his passage to America, he figured. As it was, he stayed in China for 13 years. It was there that he married his first wife, English-educated, Chinese-born Rosalind Phang, who died in 1933 after bearing him one son, Eric.

The China years were busy ones for Sokolsky; he was a foreign correspondent, editor of an engineering magazine, advisor to Chinese officials, political advisor to American business firms and many other things. Once he held as many as six jobs. Around 1930, however, a nationalistic spirit seemed to be developing in China and there was less opportunity—which was as it should be, George says—for a foreigner to speak his mind or influence government.

Back in this country, George began a series of lectures and writings on China and Japan—but when labor came to the fore as a national problem, he steered his guns towards the Communists in the ranks of the working people. "My experience," he says, "had proved to me that some things that human beings like to try, do not work."

Lives In Manhattan

Today, with his second wife, the former Dorothy Fiske, and his young children, George E., Jr. and Dorothy R., George lives in midtown Manhattan in a handsomely-furnished apartment, in which he also maintains his office. In the summer, the family, together with George's incomparably efficient and attractive secretary, Helen Patt, withdraws to a farm in Massachusetts, there, as Sokolsky says, "to recapture in our own lives something of the glories of an earlier America when the family was the soul of society."

Father Gillis summed the man up thus:

"Obviously, this man, George Sokolsky, born 51 years ago, Jewish by race and religion, and I know not of what upbringing in philosophy, has an instinct for truth and right. If there were others in sufficient numbers who would speak out as boldly as he and with as holy a recklessness of personal consequences, we might still save all worth saving in America and in the world."

Jaycees Urge The Improvement Of State Mental Hospitals

Declare Maryland Standards Too Low

The Junior Association of Commerce of Maryland has completed an extensive survey of Maryland State Mental Hospitals of all classes, which has resulted in a resolution making several pertinent suggestions to heads of the institutions and has presented a resolution to Gov. William Preston Lane.

The resolution states that state mental hospitals of all classes provide inadequate care for patients due to the lack of personnel — medical, nursing and attendants; that food is insufficient and poorly prepared, that insufficient curative procedures are followed; and there is considerable over-crowding and lack of proper and adequate clothing for the patients.

The Jaycees state they find handling of patients unskilled, due to lack of proper training of attendants, and there is a lack of facilities for the handling and segregation of certain classes of patients.

Trained Personnel Needed

The Jaycees also inform Gov. Lane that it seems to have been impossible to maintain a full staff of trained personnel due to inadequate salaries; lack of proper housing and recreation facilities; abnormally long hours, particularly when compared to all other state employees; lack of basic and advanced training opportunities for employees; and lack of a sound program for the employment of new personnel.

The resolution states that the Maryland Jaycees believe these conditions reflect great discredit on the State of Maryland and urge the Governor and the General Assembly to take immediate steps to remedy the condition.

Five proposals were offered:

(1) To approve as submitted the budget for the various State Mental Hospitals.

(2) To establish a Psychiatric Institute as an integral part of the University of Maryland Medical School.

(3) To amend existing law to include on the State Board of Mental Hygiene persons trained in modern mental hygiene and interested and well qualified layman.

(4) To establish sound procedure for employing new personnel.

(5) To reduce the employees' work-week to conform to that of other state employees.

Walter Brooks Bradley, Baltimore, vice-president of the Junior Association of Commerce in a letter to C. Keating Bowie, Jr., president of the State Association, outlined in detail the findings of his committee investigating the State's Mental Institutions.

The letter discloses that Maryland ranks as the 28th state in the amount of money spent on each patient. Only 22.4 cents per day is spent for food for each patient, and this ranks the state 24th in the country on money spent for food.

In overcrowding, Maryland ranks 27th so far as adequate facilities are concerned.

Maryland ranks 30th in the number of patients discharged from mental institutions. The state ranks 31st in the number of patients returned to society permanently.

One doctor for each 199 patients is employed, while the national average is one for each 150.

In Maryland, one graduate nurse is employed to each 356 patients and the approved number is one nurse to each 40 patients.

Maryland has one ward personnel to each 11.1 patients while the approved number is one to eight.

Number of patients to employes of all types in Maryland is one employee for each 7.1 patients, and in this Maryland ranks 27th in the country.

Over 8,000 Patients

Figures show the greatest single source of persons entering the State's five mental institutions, is Baltimore city, and many persons are kept in jail there for long periods because of over-crowded conditions in the hospitals.

Maryland has over 8,000 patients in its five mental institutions and has a capital investment in them of 14 million dollars, the report shows. The total operation budget for the fiscal year is $3,108,000 or about $325 per patient. This makes these institutions the most cheaply run in the state and for similar Federal services more than twice as much is spent, with some states spending 30 to 50 per cent more per capita than in Maryland.

The report says a survey of Maryland shows that one out of every 22 persons in Maryland will sometime in the course of his lifetime suffer from a mental illness, and one out of every 10 will sometime in his lifetime need psychiatric treatment for some mental disorder, major or minor, the report concludes.

Copies of the resolution to Gov. Lane and the committee's report have been submitted to the local Jaycees, according to David Kauffman, president.

Miner Is Injured By Fall Of Rock

Fred Sharpless, 24, Swanton coal miner, was admitted to Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for treatment of a left hand injury. Attaches said he reported he was injured when a rock fell upon his hand as he was at work. Attaches said his condition was good.

Lester T. Crock, 21, Springfield, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning for a laceration on the left leg. The B. and O. tie plant worker said he was injured when he ran a pick against his leg.

Francis Largent, 21, Route 1, Ridgeley, W. Va., who was injured at the Western Maryland Railway coal tipple Wednesday when a coal hopper ran over his left hand was reported in fair condition last night.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27 — The Pearl Buck novel, "Pavilion of Women" is being scrubbed clean and the censorable moments taken out by Otto Preminger. Twentieth Century-Fox has an option on the Buck story.

Barbara Britton

If the Johnston office then passes the renovated script, Otto will star Gene Tierney in the role of the attractive Chinese woman. Not so long ago Gene played many Oriental characters. In fact, that's how she started at 20th. Then one day her boss, Darryl Zanuck, decided to put her in "Leave Her To Heaven," and you know the result. Today she is 20th's top dramatic actress.

Lana Turner is home and promises she won't take another jaunt to Mexico to see Ty Power before she starts her next, "Coquette." (Ohhhh, that title where Lana is concerned! It's a natural)

No news that Lana is going to make this dramatic story of a southern belle—the same that won Mary Pickford the first Academy Award and starred Helen Hayes on the stage for years. But it is news that the tragic young lover opposite "Coquette" will be Robert Walker.

It's a Walker year. He has just a bit in "Sea Of Grass" but he's so good he makes it a stand-out. I don't always agree with Bob in his opinions about an actor's publicity (he thinks nothing about their private lives should reach the prints!) but he's such a doggone good performer, I forgive him for that juvenile outlook.

California, here she comes—and I mean, Bette Davis.

The New England queen of the screen has become such a convert to California that you'd never believe it was just a few months ago she told me, "I want by baby to be born a New Englander—because that's what I am and that's where my roots are."

Well, after two long, cold and stormy months at her eastern farm, Butternut, Bette is making her permanent home at Laguna. She's bought the Edward Sanford home, right on the beach, for $85,000 and the sun shines almost 365 days out of the year on the private beach where our former "New Englander" will suntan herself.

The house has 20 rooms, enough for several nurseries if Bette's family increases.

Chatter in Hollywood: The only man in the world more nervous than an expectant father pacing a hospital corridor, is a producer trying to finish a movie with a leading lady on the stork's calling list. This time, it's two producers—Bill Pine and Bill Thomas—trying to complete "Albuquerque" before Barbara Britton's doctor says, "no more work."

Today, Barbara's husband, Dr. Gene Zukor, entered the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital for a serious nose operation resulting from an automobile accident. Barbara begged off the set to be with him. And while the good hearted Messrs. Pine and Thomas said "yes," they're floor pacing and fingernail biting until she gets back.

A young American writer called Horace McCoy, who was much publicized when he wrote a book, "They Shoot Horses," has become one of Europe's best selling authors.

He has just sold "No Pockets In a Shroud" to Arthur Rank, British movie magnate, while a French company has bought his original epic, which as I remember it, was pretty censorable.

Along with all these exciting things happening in Europe, Mr. McCoy, who is a nephew of Larry Gray, has sold a new novel, "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye," coming out very soon.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: The condition of Howard Hughes, who has been very sick at the Reforma Casa-Blanca in Acapulco, has worried his friends.

Danny Kaye heads for the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas to recuperate from that eye injury received in San Francisco. He had three pieces of glass removed from his eye after a fan's flash bulb exploded in his face.

The lady Ernst Lubitsch sees most often is Natalie Schafer.

Simeon Elwes, artist who painted the king of England's portrait, is in Hollywood and was a dinner guest at Lady Mendl's party. Another distinguished guest was Evelyn Waugh, British novelist.

Monty Wooley's account of the difficulty he had in finding a collar button to wear with his dress clothes to the party was very amusing.

He finally ended up at an antique store and bought a gold one which cost him five times what it was worth.

The Van Johnsons with the MacDonald Careys were at the Biltmore to see the Los Angeles version of "Anna Lucasta."

Betty Hutton was also there I talked with Charlie Chaplin and Oona. Charlie is working, he tells me overtime to try and get his picture finished.

The Walter Wangers are entertaining with a dinner-dance at the Chanteclair on Saturday. It celebrates Joan's birthday which is actually Friday. Also Reggie Gardiner and David Niven's natal day.

When Bob Cobb told his Sally they would celebrate their second wedding anniversary by taking a boat or a plane trip, Sally got all excited and went over her wardrobe to see if she had enough clothes for Europe or Bermuda. Then Bob said, "We're headed for Catalina." Well, anyway, happy second anniversary, kids.

My typewriter slipped or the teletype did me wrong when it came out that the Adolph Zukors were married twenty years instead of fifty.

The Chinese bride of Dean Jagger is extremely attractive. They were a dinner twosome at Ciro's.

That's all today.

Bills Introduced To Restore Plats

Three bills governing the restoration of Allegany County plats and continual care of permanent records were introduced in the House of Delegates this week after being drafted by William R. Carscaden, chairman of the plat committee of the Allegany County Bar Association.

The bills, if passed, would clear the way for restoration of old plats which have become torn and frayed due to time and usage.

The proposed legislation consists of three parts as follows:

1—An act asking for the repeal of the law passed in 1933 requiring that the County Commissioners be paid $25 for each plat offered for record. Carscaden said the Bar Association is of the opinion this bill has resulted in the loss of records that should be on the books. This is due to the fact that owners of small holdings, such as one or two acres, conveniently neglect to record their transactions when they subdivide these holdings into lots and sell them—to avert the necessity of paying the County Commissioners the $25 required by law.

2—An act asking for the repeal and reenactment with amendments, of Section 72D of Article 17 of the Acts of 1945, regarding plats and to provide that Allegany county be exempted from this state-wide measure. Harford, Montgomery, Prince Georges, Dorchester and Talbot counties are already exempt from this state-wide act. In commenting on this act, Carscaden said, "it is not our intention to change the state-wide act in any manner except to exempt Allegany county from its operation. We do not feel the act is pertinent to us since it does not provide for the redrawing of old plats."

3—An act to govern the recording of plats in Allegany county and providing for the redrawing of plats already recorded.

The bill provides how plats shall be recorded to insure their durability, and also provides that the Clerk of Court shall employ a competent surveyor or draftsman who shall make copies of plats as required.

The County Commissioners, under the act, would levy for and pay the person who may be selected to make copies of plats such sums of money as may be due him.

The bill also requires that all plats shall be submitted to the county engineer for approval or disapproval.

Cowherd Named To PE Post At Martinsburg

William F. Cowherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Q. Cowherd, 304 South Allegany Street, has been named manager of the service department of the Potomac Light and Power Company at Martinsburg, W. Va. The firm is a unit of the Potomac Edison system.

Cowherd, a veteran of World War II, was first employed by PE here in 1936, and upon his discharge from service was assigned by the company to Winchester.

Indian Sign Out For Montana Hunters

HELENA, Mont. (AP) —Because some white men waste the meat of big game animals and fish, allowed to die in irrigation ditches, the Indians of the Flathead reservation in northwestern Montana want the state legislature to let them control hunting and fishing in their home area.

Henry Matt, chairman of the tribal game commission, headed a delegation which came to the capital and he declared:

"Our tribal laws prohibit wasting any edible part of the carcass of an animal. The hunter must preserve all game for food. But the state sells licenses to hunt on our reservation and many hunters take only a small part of the meat, leaving the rest to waste."

Matt claimed also that millions of fish die each year when irrigation ditches are drained and asked that the game commission require screenings of irrigation networks so fish could not swim into ditches where they would be stranded.

Antarctic Apples Baked By Cold

Admiral Byrd in a radiogram from his ship, the U. S. S. Mount Olympus, advised his brothers that the apples, under snow for 14 years, were "full of juice and looked and tasted exactly like baked apples."

Diamonds For Elizabeth

AP Newsfeatures

NEW YORK — Jewelers here are speculating on the fabulous pieces of jewelry that can be made from the diamonds to be presented to Princess Elizabeth for her 21st birthday by the Union of South Africa.

The collection includes two rare half-moon diamonds, which could be used strikingly for earrings; three large emerald cut diamonds which might form the center of a bracelet; a complete set of brilliant-cut diamonds and small baguettes which could be used for a necklace or diadem.

Although 26,000 tons of maple sugar was produced in the United States in 1860 and a similar amount in 1918, only 4,100 tons was produced in 1946.

All Virginia Cooks Should Win, Suh!

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Virginia State Chamber of Commerce has proposed a tournament in Virginia cookery.

And it will not be limited to single dishes if the Virginia Hotel Association approves the chamber's plan. Whole meals will be involved as well as such Virginia specialties as spoon bread, escalloped oysters and fried chicken.

Diners would fill out the score cards, rating the hotel chefs on their offerings.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights
Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

STRAWS IN THE WIND

BROADWAY

By DANTON WALKER

Broadway Beat

In certain California circles they're freely predicting that the dark horse in the 1948 Democratic race will be named Jimmy Roosevelt. . . In Washington they're saying that while Secretary of War Patterson is openly approving Lilienthal's appointment to head the Atomic Engery Commission all the army men are against it. And even if Lilienthal wins his fight it will be a Pyrrhic victory, since the Army has no intention of releasing its top secrets to civilians. . . Secretary of State Marshall is said to be taking ten alternate plans with him to Moscow in the hope that at least one of them will meet all the objections expected.

ALABAMA MAY OUTLAW 'HURRY UP' DIVORCES

AP Newsfeatures

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—Alabama's "hurry up" divorce laws—a South Carolina couple was parted in less than 12 hours recently—may be in for a general overhauling by the state legislature.

A freshman legislator, Rep. George C. Wallace of Clio, says "if no one else takes the lead" he will introduce a measure to strike out provisos of 1945 amendatory acts which have been construed as permitting "divorce mills."

Two sections of the state code were amended to place jurisdiction in the trial court when both parties to a prospective divorce appear before the court.

The author of the amendatory sections, Rep. Paul J. Hooton of Roanoke, said the legislature originally intended "to expedite friendly and sociable divorces" and said he had no intention of trying to put Alabama in competition with Nevada and other states having liberalized divorce laws.

He pointed out that while under Nevada laws it is possible for one party to instigate divorce proceedings without the knowledge of the other, this is not true under Alabama's law since both parties must be present before the court is allowered jurisdiction.

Explaining that it is a "natural phenomenon" for the divorce rate to increase after wars, he said the changes were proposed to "head off the anticipated logjam of divorce litigation."

Although the revised divorce laws may have had little or no effect on it, Alabama appears destined to see an all-time high in legal separations this year.

Fire losses in the United States during 1944 amounted to $423,538,000, and largely because of man's carelessness.

LIVING WORDS

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us. John 1:14.

Read John 1:1-14.

We are rash to endeavor to phrase thoughts capable of revealing the meaning of the Passion of our Lord. Some conceptions lie too deep for words; only life will make them clear. They must become flesh or remain mysteries.

Such were the thoughts of God. With all the universe to speak for him, God yet needed a Son in the flesh, living and working among us, to make us understand his love. A former slave could not distinguish between Abraham Lincoln and Almighty God. Lincoln had become what the slave believed God to be. This Jesus succeeded in doing. God spoke in what Jesus was.

If we are to understand, we also must become living words. We refer to such a process when we say of a man that he is kindness itself. As we incarnate Christian virtue, we develop sensitivity to the inner drama of Holy Week. Meanings open to loving hearts which brilliant minds cannot understand.

Let Us Pray: God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, "for the beauty of the earth, for the splendor of the skies, for the joy of human love," we give thee hearty and grateful praise. But most of all we thank thee for the supreme gift of thy Son. We do most earnestly believe in him and have found in him the way, and the truth, and the life. Amen.

Food

Shrimp For Lent

SHRIMP CREOLE . . . Serve it often on fish days.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

Canned shrimp is back in pretty good quantity just in time for Lent. It's so long since this delectable shellfish was plentiful that the family will probably be happy to have them served often during the Lenten season.

Shrimp Creole

3 strips bacon
2 medium onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in rings
½ cup diced celery
3 cups tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked green peas
2 No. 1 cans shrimp
1 teaspoon chili powder
3 cups hot boiled rice

Cut bacon in quarter-inch pieces. Put in a frying pan with the sliced onions and cook until the bacon is crisp and the onion slightly yellow. Add the pepper rings, diced celery, tomatoes and salt. Cook until the celery and pepper are tender and the sauce is thickened. Add shrimp and chili powder and cook five min. more. Mold rice in ring and fill unmolded ring with the shrimp mixture. Makes six servings.

Olive Shrimp Souffle

1 cup ripe olives
1 cup canned or cooked fresh shrimp
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
Black pepper
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
3 eggs

Cut olives from pits. Clean and chop shrimp. Melt butter, add flour and blend well. Add milk and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Add seasonings, shrimp and olives. Remove from heat. Separate eggs and beat yolks and whites separately. Pour cooked mixture over yolks, stirring constantly. Fold in beaten whites. Pour into greased carrerole, set into pan of hot water, and bake 45 min. in moderately slow oven (325°). Serve at once. Serves six.

Egg and Shrimp Casserole

4 hard-cooked eggs
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 pound cooked shrimp
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1½ cups milk
1½ tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
Salt and pepper
Dash of paprika
Mayonnaise
Buttered bread crumbs

Make a cream sauce of the milk, flour and butter or margarine. Season with salt and pepper. Halve the eggs, remove and mash yolks, adding onion, seasonings, and enough mayonnaise to blend. Put seasoned egg yolks back into whites. Arrange in the bottom of a buttered casserole. Lay cleaned shrimp on top. Pour cream sauce over, but do not stir. Top with buttered crumbs. Bake at 350° for 20 min., or until casserole is bubbling and top is brown.

Ley Farm Is School

BERLIN (AP)—The former 150 acre estate of Robert Ley, hanged as a Nazi war criminal, has been converted into a college to give religious training to young Germans. The farm is located at Gummersbach in the Rhineland.

Creation Of West Va. Apple Agency Authorized

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb. 27—(AP)—Creation of a West Virginia Apple Commission to publicize and promote the commercial fruit crop was legally authorized yesterday as Gov. Clarence W. Meadows signed into law a measure approved by the Legislature.

The law, similar to one already effective in Virginia and another proposed in Maryland, levies a one-cent-a-bushel tax on all commercial apple production over 500 bushels, to continue work which has heretofore been financed on a voluntary basis.

The tax will become effective beginning with the 1947 harvest.

Complications Set In But Everybody's Well

DANVILLE, Ill (AP) — Any talk about this family soon lapses into double talk.

On the same day and in the same hospital, babies were born to Mrs. Charles Mockbee and Mrs. Merle Mockbee.

The two young wives are sisters, and they are married to brothers.

The mother of the young women and the mother's sister married brothers, too.

And the names of both the maternal and paternal grandparents of the new little Mockbees are John and Ethel.

What was probably the world's first tourist camp was built on the outskirts of Douglas, Ariz., in 1913. An enterprising citizen built six board shacks containing bunks and cook stoves. The number of tourist courts now exceeds 20,000.

Flying Farmers Want Grass To Grow White

LINCOLN, Ill., (AP) — Scientists have been asked to develop a snow white grass.

The suggestion was made by some plane-piloting Illinois farmers. If they can't get white grass, they'll settle for grass of some other color that would plainly mark the runways on rural landing fields.

Listen World

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HOW DO YOU TAKE YOUR BAD BREAKS?

There's an old western saying that you can tell a man's age by the wrinkles around his eyes. Which, in those sky bazing horizons, is as good a test as any of the years on the calendar.

But there is one that's even a better test of your real life—and that's the way you take your bad breaks.

As youngsters we all take bad breaks in pretty much the same manner. We consider them highly personal affairs or even as an unnecessary insult offered by nature. And squawk accordingly.

But, as the years go by, our attitude toward bad breaks varies greatly. Many of us continue to feel that all grief and loss and pain that comes our way is a personal matter to be deeply resented. We resist or rebel or sulk according to our natures.

But some, who are wiser, come to understand that there is a pattern in all these matters. Bad breaks are not personal insults nor purely accidental. There is a plan behind them. They are part of the scheme of things—a scheme which we too often contrive for ourselves. In other words, we stick our own necks out for much of our trouble and have no one to blame but our own stupid and willful selves for the unhappy consequences.

But there is, of course, much misfortune over which we have no control. There is the general misery of the disordered world and a changing social program. There is a vast upheaval and confusion which makes life far harder than it was a hundred years ago. And And the real test of anyone's character lies in the way he meets such misfortune.

A child of 7 who yells with rage because he has fallen into a mud puddle is reacting normally. But when that same child goes into a pout at 47 because life hasn't treated him as he wished, you can bet your last nickel that he's nothing but a spoiled brat. He may look like a grown man but spiritually he is still in didies.

The girl who sobs because her dolly is broken at 6 is a pathetic little object whom we all long to comfort. But the woman of 36 who lets her present heartbreak disrupt a whole circle of friends is neither to be pitied nor coddled. She may have lost the one dearest on earth to her, husband or son, daughter or mother. But regardless of the poignancy of her grief she has no right to let it interfere with her duty toward her family and friends and society.

These seem hard words to say. And I'm writing them, my dear, with the tears of recent bereavement on my own face and in my own heart. But however sharp my present pain I realize that I have no right to inflict it on the lives of others. I can and I should share the wisdom which has come from it. I trust I shall be, and shall truly try to be, a wiser and kinder woman because of it. But my first duty is to bear that grief so gallantly that it will not embitter any other life.

We are big boys and girls now and we can't go into tantrums which we indulged at 5. Whether we like it or not we must bear ourselves as gentlemen and ladies.

We have all seen terrible things during this last war. I think I have never seen anything as heart wrenching as the gallant smiles of the mothers and fathers whose boys did not come back and yet who gave themselves generously to the luckier lads as if they were welcoming their own in return.

Yes, you can certainly tell a person's real age by the way he takes his bad breaks.

Auger Bore It At Least Since 1903

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — R. S. Cleveland, an inspector for the city building inspector's office, looked over the application for building alterations at 520 S. Washington Street.

"Hu'mm," he mused, "that's the place where I lost the ship auger on that construction job in 1903, when I was carpenter foreman."

He mentioned the incident to workmen on the alteration job. They found the auger bit, firmly stuck in a piece of wood, where Cleveland left it.

The Chinese were unquestionably the world's greatest potters. From as early as the 12th century, during the Southern Sung period through Ming and Ch'ing, they made discoveries and developed techniques that influenced all the later great European work.

Higher Cost Of Higher Education

ROCK HILL, S. C. (AP)—Li Nei-Yu of Peiping, China, spent $1,400 getting a transcript of her work submitted for admission to Winthrop college here.

The expenditure was for postage. Local postal employes said the $1,400 in Chinese stamps was equal, at current exchange rates, to 70 cents U.S. money.

Ridgeley Trips Fort Hill; Keyser Wins No. 20

Third Cumberland Team Is Beaten On Hawks' Court

800 See Sentinels Lose Finale, 51-42

By JOHN L. BORCHERT

Coach Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley Blackhawk cagers closed their regular 1946-47 basketball season in a blaze of glory as they thumped the Fort Hill Sentinels 51-42, last night at Ridgeley to make it a clean sweep over Cumberland schools on the Hawk court.

An overflow crowd of over 800 spectators watched the two teams battle point-for-point in a hectic first period and then saw the Blackhawks walk away from the Sentinel cagers to run their margin to 15-points by the time the third period whistle had blown.

The Ridgeley five, working like a well-oiled machine, completely dominated play during all phases of the contest except for brief periods in the first and final quarters. Big Joe Moss, using his massive height to knock down Sentinel shots at the hoop, grab rebounds and score seven baskets, teamed with Bill Brehany to squash all Scarlet and White hopes of victory. The unsung hero of many of the Sentinel games, Robert "Bub" Frye, came through with a superb exhibition of passing and connected for two baskets at the opening part of the final stanza to aid a Sentinel rally which almost caught the Hawks. Frye, along with Charlie Lattimer, Mel Dean and Jim Manges, rallied the Hilltoppers from a humiliating third period to put the Cavanaugh crew back in the ball game during the final eight minutes of play.

The Sentinels jumped off to a 4-1 lead as the game got underway but Ridgeley struck back to score eight points on baskets by Jimmy Flanagan, Joe Moss, Bill Brehany and Roy Comer while Elmer Freeland was converting a free toss to make it 9-5, Ridgeley. Mel Dean and Moss traded baskets and then Jim Manges and Dean hit the net for baskets to tie the count at 11-all at quartertime.

Abe Breaks Deadlock

With the score knotted 14-14 in the second canto, Alfred Abe sank a charity toss to put Ridgeley ahead to stay and the Hawks left the court at halftime leading 23-16.

As the third period opened Brehany took the ball on the tip off and drove down the court to score and the Ridgeley five continued to soar their margin until the count stood 38-23, Hawks as the final period began.

The stunned Sentinels settled down in the final period and began the task of hacking away at the Hawk's lead. Cage converted from the fifteen foot line in the first six seconds of play. "Bub" Frye dropped in a neat pivot shot and followed with a one-hander from in front of the hoop to make it 38-28, Ridgeley. Moss sank a free throw to break the ice for Ridgeley but Freeland scored a twin-pointer and was fouled on the play. He converted the free chance and was followed by Dean's set shot from the side to cut the Blackhawk margin to six points (39-33). That was the extent of the Sentinel spurt as Moss, Brehany, and Abe tallied fielders to shove Ridgeley's lead to twelve points (45-33) and the Hawks coasted on to a 51-42 victory.

Hawks Cop No. 13

It was the thirteenth win in twenty-one starts for the Riggleman team while Fort Hill closed their season with a 17-9 record. Joe Moss and Bill Brehany with 15 and 13 points led the Hawks while Elmer Freeland topped Fort Hill with 12 markers. Lineups:

Max Says Bike Is Pain Killer

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA — Max Bittorf, who's nudging 73 but acts like a man of 40, is a firm believer in the bicycle as a health-giving device.

Max, a former prize fighter now employed as a bookbinder in the Free Library, ought to know—he has been riding bicycles a long, long time and has covered a lot of territory on them in his day.

"Get a bike," says Max, "go out in the fresh air and ride it regularly. Keep out of the way of automobiles. Take it easy when you get tired, but speed like the dickens if you feel good and the road is safe. Then go home and see what happens to your appetite."

Bittorf is not one to belittle doctors, but there are certain minor ailments he believes a bicycle expedition can take care of.

"Me, for instance," he says, "I got rheumatism in one leg. It gets stiff unless I ride, but, boy oh boy, the exercise makes the blood roll through the veins just pushing the pain to one side."

In the last six years Max has traveled round trip by bicycle from his home in Philadelphia 90 miles to Wildwood, N. J., for a seashore vacation. And in between vacations he rides an average of 25 to 30 miles each week in "little trips."

"Ah, it's pretty along the open road," Max says wistfully. "First comes the sunrise. You can see larks go straight up singing their heads off. The flowers seem to be smiling. The whole darned world belongs to you."

In recent years he's been forced to give up the ring in favor of the bicycle. The father of nine daughters, including three sets of twins, he has taught all of them to ride. Right now he's waiting anxiously for his seven grandchildren to grow up enough to straddle a "wheel."

Toronto thieves stole a ton of feathers. If caught with that kind of loot, says the man at the next desk, they can, naturally, expect to wind up in the coop.

A total of 206 women are serving in state legislatures, according to the Democratic and Republican national committees.

SUNDAY GAME
Lonaconing at Mt. Savage

Lonaconing's American Legion quint advanced a step closer to winning both halves of the Interstate League split season race by walloping the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose last night in Lonaconing by the score of 61-27.

In marking up their tenth victory in 11 starts for the second half race, the floormen of James P. Love Post racked up 26 field goals while limiting the visitors to nine. Each team connected for nine points at the charity stripe.

Oberhaus, Orr and Johnson headed the Coney assault with 18, 16 and 15 points.

The Moose team trailed at all quarters, 12-6, 32-10 and 41-20.

Legion Wins Another

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, remained one game in the rear of the pace-setters by trouncing Fulton Myers Post, 78-37, in the opening game of a double header on SS. Peter and Paul court.

Johnny Cox, Don McIntyre, Tommy Geatz and Jimmie Macfarlane were the "big guns" for the winners with 19, 16, 13 and 12 points.

The Legion led throughout, quarter scores being 8-3, 28-16, 54-25.

Yates was top man for Fulton Myers with 14 points.

Amvets, Caseys Score

With Sherman, Boyle and DeHart accounting for 39 points, the Cumberland Amvets downed the Mt. Savage VF.W. at Mullaney's Hall, Mt Savage, by the score of 52 to 31.

Sherman led the offensive with 16 points. Boyle got 13 and DeHart 10.

The Cumberland K. of C. handed the Paw Paw American Legion quint its tenth defeat of the season by the score of 51 to 28 in the nightcap of the twin bill on SS. Peter and Paul court.

The scoring combination of Baker, Swach, Snider and LaNeve accounted for 46 of the victors' points.

Lonaconing will play off a postponed game at Mt. Savage on Sunday at 3 o'clock. Lineups:

Four Ball Golf Meet Listed For Birmingham

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Southern four-ball golf championship will be held Aug. 18-22 at the Birmingham, Ala., Country Club Lee S. Read, Louisville, secretary-treasurer of the Southern Golf Association, announced today.

Read said the site was selected in a poll of directors of the association, which includes 14 Southern states. The tourney, in honor of Bobby Jones, Atlanta, Ga., golf star, formerly was held annually at Atlanta's East Lake Country Club. It was suspended during four war years.

Loyola Cagers Win

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP) — A Loyola College fought off a second-half rally by American University tonight to win 57-55 and clinch the Mason-Dixon Conference basketball title.

The victors finished the season with 12 victories and four defeats.

Loyola's high scoring forward, Jim Lacy, contributed 18 points.

Klosterman, Frazier And Mann Matched

Matchmaker John Henry Stitcher yesterday announced that Jack Klosterman, Tiger A. C. junior welterweight, has been matched to fight Elmer Rothrock, of Lewistown, Pa., in one of the three-round bouts on the Police Boys' Club boxing program next Monday night at the State Armory.

Stitcher also stated that he has paired Jimmie Brown, of this city, with Wilbur Lewis, hard-hitting Johnstown lightweight; "Chubby" Simms, of Johnstown, and Bill Frazier, local middleweight; Arky "Tarzan" Klinger, of Lewistown, Pa., and Bill Mann, of this city, and Paul Lepley, Tiger A. C. lightweight, and Jack Hortus, of Lewistown.

A program of at least three eight round matches is planned for Monday's show which will get under way at 8 o'clock.

James E. Kelley, Jr., and Gilbert Becker will be the referees while the judging will be done by Ross W. Prysock and Howard "Red" Bush. Nelson W. Russler will be the announcer and "Bobby" Cavanaugh, official timer.

Tickets for the eleventh amateur show here this season are now on sale. It will be the fourth show since October for the Police Boys' Club.

Sammy Angott Scores K.O. Over MacFarland

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 27 (AP) — Sammy Angott's two-fisted attack brought him a two round technical knockout over Jackie MacFarland of Canton, O., here tonight.

Angott, weighing 146, gave his opponent a 14-pound edge and had MacFarland on the canvas three times in the final round which lasted 2:45.

The Washington, Pa., former lightweight champions ended the bout with a series of punches to MacFarland's stomach.

Golden Tornado Wins Over Beall In 43-37 Battle

Winds Up Schedule With 20-2 Record

FROSTBURG, Feb. 27—Keyser High School lowered the curtain on its regular 22-game schedule by winning a close and interesting game from Beall High School here tonight by the score of 43 to 37.

The victory was the twentieth against two losses for Coach Fred Clark's passers. Keyser took the series opener last month by the score of 53-42.

Keyser stepped away to a 12-7 lead at the quarter and held the upper hand throughout with Beall making an interesting battle of it right down to the final whistle. At half time the score was 22-19 while at the close of the third period the count was 35-32.

Fred Blamer with ten points and Don "Cotty" Cline and William "Pickle" Jones with nine tallies each paced the Keyser attack while Robert "Ozzie" Nelson headed the Mountaineers with five fielders and 13 points. The shooting of Bill Farrady and Nelson kept Beall in the thick of the fight in the second half while Best and Murray played nice defensive ball.

Keyser's Jayvees took the Beall Jayvees into camp in the preliminary game by the score of 40-23.

Beall will play LaSalle in Cumberland next Tuesday and will be host to the Alumni on Friday. Lineups:

Bethany Pulls Surprise, Beats Battlers, 91-77

BETHANY, W. Va., Feb. 27 (AP)—The Bethany College Bisons, the current giant killers in the West Virginia Collegiate Conference pulled another upset out of their hats tonight with a 91-77 victory over the second-place Alderson Broaddus Battlers.

Bethany pulled a like stunt last Saturday when it took the league-leading Fairmont Falcons, 85-64.

Martin, who led the Bisons in their rout of Fairmont last week, repeated tonight with a 23-point performance that topped the scoring, while Darl Wilmoth, the surrent leading scorer, came through with 20 for Broaddus.

Bethany led all the way and was ahead 45-30 at the half.

WAITER GETS TRIAL—Phil Kennedy, left, 19-year-old Brooklyn boy, a hotel waiter until Wednesday, played second base in the Phillies' regular infield drill yesterday at Clearwater, Fla., after convincing scout by giving him an extra pat of butter. Here Manager Ben Chapman chats with the promising rookie who will be placed with one of the Phils' farm clubs.

Allegany And LaSalle Clash For Title

Capacity Crowd Will See Finale At SS. Peter-Paul

Schools Meet In 53rd Contest Since 1921

LaSalle and Allegany will battle it out on SS. Peter and Paul court tonight for the city scholastic basketball championship.

Each school has won two games and lost one in the three-cornered race for the title. Fort Hill is out of the running with one victory and three defeats.

Allegany is the defending champion and goes into the crucial battle holding two decisions over Fort Hill, 41-21 and 34-29 while losing to LaSalle 38-36.

LaSalle split even with Fort Hill, losing the opener, 34-22, and winning the second game, 39-36. The third intra-city game on the Explorers' schedule was the two-point decision over Allegany.

Schools Meet 53rd Time

Tonight's LaSalle-AHS game is the fifty-third of the series between the schools which was launched in 1921. A.H.S. has won 32 and LaSalle 20.

Coach Walter L. Bowers' team goes to SS. Peter and Paul court tonight with a record of 15 victories and five defeats. The Compobello floormen have bagged their last eight games and won the W.M.I. League title last week by closing the campaign with a record of 10 straight wins. LaSalle has won 16 games and lost 10.

A capacity crowd will witness the game scheduled to start at 8 o'clock. Clifton Van Roby and Clifford Fearer will officiate.

There will be a preliminary game at 7 o'clock.

Other Games Tonight

Other games on tap tonight include:

Romney at Piedmont (P.V.C.)
Petersburg at Moorefield (P.V.C.)
Barton at Oakland.
Berkeley Springs at Paw Paw.
University High (Morgantown) at Thomas.
Bruce at Fort Ashby.
Ferndale at Bedford.

'Ints' Will Open Season April 17

Baltimore Is Host To Toronto Leafs

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—The International League, oldest minor league baseball organization in the world, begins its 64th consecutive season April 17.

The league, which began in 1884 as the Eastern league, has also been known as the New York State League, International Association, Eastern Association and the new International League.

Montreal's Champion Royals will open the defense of their title at Syracuse while Rochester is at Newark, Buffalo at Jersey City and Toronto at Baltimore fill out the remainder of the opening day card.

The visiting clubs on opening day will stage their home openers April 30 with Montreal playing host to Syracuse, Baltimore at Toronto, Jersey City at Buffalo and Rochester at Newark.

New managers will be at Rochester, Buffalo and Toronto with Cedric Durst, Paul Richards and Elmer Yoter holding forth respectively.

Returning mentors are, Clay Hopper, Montreal; Bruno Betzel, Jersey City; Tommy Thomas, Baltimore; George Selkirk, Newark and Jewel Ens, Syracuse.

Cerdan To Return

PARIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—Marcel Cerdan, accompanied by his wife and two children, left today for London where the European middleweight boxing champion will embark tomorrow on his second trip to the United States.

Cerdan, who defeated Georgia Abrams of Washington, D. C., on his previous journey, hopes to fight Tony Zale for the world title on his present trip.

Two Big Racing Shows

There will be two big racing shows on Saturday that are likely to write two important chapters in racing history—for the next year at least. The first is the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap. The second is the rich $50,000 Flamingo at Hialeah.

The first will give us a good line on the handicap star of the year, plus the hot battle for the leading money winner of all time. The second can give us at least a hint on what might happen in the Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont, involving the $300,000 Triple Crown.

Oddly enough the Calumet Stable, handled and directed by Ben Jones and his son, Jimmy, plays the leading advance role in the two big races. The Calumet Stable is aiming at $150,000 for one afternoon's performance which could be a new record—provided Faultless and Armed come through.

With good weather and Armed on hand, the Santa Anita feature should be run before 80,000 spectators. There were over 80,000 a year ago with no standout running. Breathing could be a tough human process on Saturday with Armed on hand. Some lightweight horse, such as See-Tee-See, Monsoon, the filly, or one from many who have been beating one another, may find Armed having an off day and slip through.

But the betting won't be that way. And if Armed can pick up this extra $100,000, he will draw a big jump on Assault and Stymie, the two handicap stars who have the chance to add many doubloons in the East and Midwest this coming season.

As fine a horse as Armed is, Maxie Hirsch has always felt that Assault could handle him on the basis of weight for age. This will all make an interesting racing picture for the season on ahead—the campaigns by Assault and Stymie to overtake Armed, should the Calumet star, after his flying trip from the Atlantic to the Pacific, take over another $100,000.

Armed will still be a vital part of the 1947 picture, even if he is beaten. But he will still move into stout contention with Assault, if the King Ranch flyer reports in good shape after his winter's rest.

The Flamingo won't be quite as important a test as far as the three-year-old crop and the Triple Crown are concerned. There are too many strong Derby, Preakness and Belmont candidates waiting in the offing, training now at other tracks or running in the $100,000 Santa Anita Derby next week.

It would be interesting to know what Bull Lea, a famous Calumet sire, is thinking about Saturday's races.

Bull Lea has two busy sons at work tomorrow—Armed at Santa Anita, and Faultless at Hialeah. They have drawn a bead on a $150,000 target. Bull Lea won the Widener, but his two famous sons have bigger dreams ahead.

Faultless will be favored in the Flamingo, although Bullet Proof beat him a few days ago. Calumet and the Jones family also have Fervent warming up as far as the Triple Crown is concerned. But after all Faultless and Fervent and Bullet Proof are hardly dominating the Derby or the Triple Crown at this fading February date.

There is also a horse known as Phalanx. There is a horse called Jet Pilot. Also Owner's Choice, On Trust, and too many others to mention now—most of whom will never even start.

You may remember this date a year ago. Who was to win the Kentucky Derby and the Triple Crown? The consensus was Maine Chance in a canter with Lord Boswell or Knockdown. How many people were talking about Assault? Practically none. Assault was 9 to 1 in the Experimental, 9 to 1 in the Wood and around 8 to 1 in the Derby.

He was just another horse, running for hay. But who won the Triple Crown? Just a bum named Assault.

In spite of all this, two of the best races just ahead, for an early opinion, include the Flamingo and the Santa Anita Derby, the latter to be run on March 8. These races are not going to tell you who will win the Derby, the Preakness or the Belmont. Not with so many good three-year-olds taking their time to get in shape for the main job ahead.

But at least they give you an early line on the best we have in actual competition. They will be the best we have in late February or early March. But late February and early March are a long way from May, as far as thoroughbreds—especially three-year-olds are concerned.

Money, of course isn't everything, but it is still something when it comes to competition and what you might call reader interest. It still pays bills.

Lesnevich Puts Crown On Line In Go With Fox

Light-Heavy Champ Faces Kayo Artist

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—World Light-Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich puts his crown on the line in this country for the first time in nearly six years tomorrow night against belting Billy Fox, who sports the gaudiest knockout record in ring history—and the betting is that belting Billy will wind up as boss-man.

They collide over the 15-round derby route in Madison Square Garden—the blonde champion with the solid left hook and the tan thumper from Philadelphia who has put his opponent to sleep in every one of his 43 trips to the ringpost in the punch-for-pay trade.

And the 49th street betting shoppes are so sold on the wrecking machine that Billy from Philly carries his right hand that they've put him up as a 2 to 5 choice to take home the bauble, and 2 to 3 that he does it the hard way—by humming the old lullaby to Lesnevich.

In their rush to tab the flailing Fox as the man to follow Tommy Loughran and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien in bringing the light-heavyweight crown to the city of brotherly love, they're pracically forgetting that (1) Billy is practically a baby in the beak-busting business, (2) that Gus is an experienced workman with pretty close to a master's degree in raising lumps on another guy, and (3) that no light-heavy has been able to beat Gus since Willy Conn did it back in 1940.

There is no doubt that Billy can belt. Forty of his 43 none-too-distinguished rivals heard the birdies sing in four rounds or less. Another went out in six, and cagy Ossie Harris managed to last until the tenth twice before the roof fell in.

But Fox has boxed a total of just 121 rounds since he first came down the pike out of Tatum, Okla.—by way of Richmond, Va., and Quakertown — and at 21 is still somewhat of a green hand in the more fancy forms of operating inside a square ring in spite of the ether cans he can pitch around.

Gus, on the other hand, has 68 fights in the books, totalling 544 rounds, and has learned the answers to the tougher questions that might come up in the debate.

Pollet Says Terms Are Unsatisfactory

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Howard Pollet, hold-out pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, said tonight he was staying in Houston until President Sam Breadon of the Cardinals sends "me a satisfactory contract."

Pollet, who has returned three contracts to the Cardinals unsigned, said he had not heard from Breadon for a week and that he was leaving the next move up to the Cardinal president.

"I haven't made any specific demands," said the 21-game winner last year. He declined to reveal the extent of his disagreement with Breadon.

Texas Wesleyan Cagers To Fly To Baltimore For Loyola Game

Nation's Top Scorers Will Clash Tomorrow

FORT WORTH, Tex., Feb. 27 (AP)—Little Texas Wesleyan's quite terrific basketball team hits the air lanes tomorrow, hopping up to Baltimore for a battle between the nation's leading scorers.

Attired in western regalia which of course is always expected of Texans making a trip to the east, the Rams will depart for the Maryland city at 7:40 a. m.—the first time a Wesleyan athletic team ever flew to an engagement. They will play Loyola Saturday night.

Clifton McNeeley, the speedy Wesleyan forward who has rolled up 637 points in 27 games to be No. 1 in the nation's scoring will match field goals and free throws with Jim Lacy of Loyola who is in second place with 540 points in 26 contests.

McNeeley's record indicates he should shade Lacy. The Texan has averaged 23.6 points per game, Lacy an even 20.

The much-traveled Wesleyans will be doing something a Texas team never tried before—sandwiching a game in the east between two tilts in Texas in a period of five days.

The Rams played Southwestern at Georgetown tonight, then hurried back to Fort Worth in order to make the morning plane for Baltimore. They will ramble back to Texas Sunday so they will be ready to journey over to Sherman Monday night to play Austin College.

The Rams had a record of 27 victories against three defeats prior to tonight's game at Georgetown—the best mark a Wesleyan quintet ever hung up. But at that, the Rams appear destined to be tied for the Championship of their league—the Texas Conference. Abilene Christian College split with them and those are the only defeats the two teams have suffered in conference play.

Also figuring in the Baltimore game will be the nation's third top scorer—E. F. Parham of Wesleyan, who has rolled up 482 points in 30 games.

Hogan, Bradley Post 5-Under-Par 66's In Tourney

Tie For Leadership At St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—A young navy veteran who's almost a total stranger around pro golfing ranks, and one of the old masters, Ben Hogan, shot five under par 66's today to grab the lead at the end of 18 holes in the St. Petersburg open golf tourney.

The 25 year old veteran, Jackson Bradley of Chicago, had things his own way after he fired a 32-34 over the 6,260-yard Pasadena course until Hogan came along late in the afternoon with a pair of 33's to tie Bradley.

Right behind with 67's were Jim Ferrierra of San Francisco and Chick Harbert of Detroit.

The leading first round scores included:

Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., 33-33—69.

George Payton, Hampton, Va., 33-37—70.

Vic Ghezzi, Knoxville, Tenn., 34-36—70.

Al Smith, Danville, Va., 35-36—70.

MARYLAND FAVORED IN BOXING TOURNEY

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Feb. 27 (AP)—On the past performance record, the University of Maryland will be heavy favorite to capture the title in the Southern Conference boxing tournament which opens tomorrow night at Ritchie Coliseum.

Tournament pairings, announced tonight, indicate that Clemson and The Citadel will be threats.

South Carolina and North Carolina are rated out of the running, but the former entry is given a chance to capture one or two individual titles.

Maryland got a break in the draw when Bob Gregson drew a bye in the 165-pound class, thus assuring Maryland of three points even if he loses his finals bout.

Fifteen preliminaries and semi-finals are set for Friday night; three more semi-finals Saturday afternoon and eight finals Saturday night.

Rookies Pound Ball

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Long range hitting by rookies Bill Howerton and Tommy Glaviano drew praise today from St. Louis Cardinal Manager Eddie Dyer.

Howerton, 25-year-old outfielder, batted .302 for Columbus in the American Association last year while Glaviano, up from Fresno of the California State League, hit .338.

RIDGELEY RESERVES BEAT FORT HILL

The Ridgeley Reserves defeated the Fort Hill Reserves 31-27 last night in the preliminary to the Fort Hill-Ridgeley game at Ridgeley.

Paul Fisher's basket broke a tie in the first period to put Ridgeley ahead to stay. The Little Blackhawks led 14-8, 22-17, and 26-21 at the quarters. Fisher led Ridgeley with 14 points while Don Wimer topped the Sentinel Reserves with seven tallies.

The lineups:

RIDGELEY	G.	F.	Pts.

SCAC Boxers Will Enter Baltimore Meet

Catanese, Goss, Tressler To Vie In S.A. Contests

Winners Next Month Will Go To Boston

Three representatives of the South Cumberland Athletic Club will file applications for the South Atlantic Association boxing tournament to be held Wednesday, March 12 and Wednesday, March 19, at the Baltimore Gardens, Payette and Paca Streets, Baltimore, it was announced last night by Presley W. "Red" Mauk, local matchmaker and fight manager.

The three SCAC boys entered in the amateur tournament are Bobby Goss, flyweight; Jimmie Catanese, featherweight, and Johnny Tressler, heavyweight.

Catanese is at present enjoying a six-bout winning streak, his last start having been a two-round knockout victory over Johnny Crowell, of the Southwest A. C., of Washington, D. C. Since getting his discharge from the army, "Jolting Jimmie" has won seven matches and lost eight.

Bobby Goss, the No. 1 flyweight in this section, has a record of eight wins and four defeats. He had won seven straight until last Monday night when he tired and dropped a decision to Umberto Vagarini, 112-pound novice flyweight champion of Washington, D. C.

Tressler is a novice heavyweight, who made his bow almost a month ago in an SCAC show, defeating Charley Smith, of Flintstone in a knock-down and drag-out battle at the armory.

Mauk obtained entry blanks for the South Atlantic Association tournament from the local boxing commissioner last night.

Entries for the tournament will close at midnight, March 8, 1947.

Winners in each weight class are eligible to compete as representatives of the South Atlantic Association in the National Senior Boxing Championships at Boston, Mass., in April.

NEVADA NIFTY — Top-rated among the country's leading fives last season, the University of Nevada Wolfpack again is one of the nation's better teams. The Reno quint has won 18 games on a national scale. The club recently returned from a 5,000-mile air jaunt to New York. Among the stars of the team is Hal Fischer, center, who was an all-star cager in the Army when stationed at the Tonopah Air Base. Fischer is 6 feet 4 inches tall and his home town in Hollywood, Cal.

Clifford Howard Shaffer vs. Odessa Cline Shaffer.

No 18,833 Equity, In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a divorce a vinculo matrimonii by the Complainant from the Respondent.

The Bill states that the parties were married August 2, 1935, and that they lived together until October, 1945; that one child was born to the parties, namely, Allen Jewell Shaffer, who is in the custody of the father, and that the Defendant has been guilty of the crime of adultery, wherefore, the Complainant prays for a divorce a vinculo matrimonii.

It is thereupon, this 12th. day of February, 1947, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, that the Complainant cause a copy of this order with the object of said Bill of Complaint to be inserted in some daily newspaper published in Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four consecutive weeks before the 16th. day of March, 1947, giving notice to the said Odessa Cline Shaffer to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 1st. day of April, 1947, to show cause, if any she have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Duquesne Will Seek 18th Consecutive Win In Game With Hoyas

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 27 (AP)—Seeking their 18th straight victory, the golden dukes of Duquesne tangle with Georgetown tomorrow night at McKeesport in their final home basketball game of the season.

After their engagement with the Hoyas, the Dukes go to Reading, Pa., for a game with Albright Saturday night and finish off what Chick Davies hopes will be his first undefeated season in 20 years of coaching at Duquesne with games against Georgetown at Washington March 4 and the Quantico Marines the following night.

Phils Sign Kennedy For Utica Farm Team

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—19-year-old Phil Kennedy was the talk of the Philadelphia Phillies' baseball camp today.

Phil, former student at St. John's Prep in Brooklyn, N. Y., came to Clearwater and obtained a job as a busboy at the Phillies' hotel—all so he might try for a chance at playing big league baseball.

Manager Ben Chapman heard his story and gave the young infielder a chance. Phil looked so impressive, Chapman said, that he has been signed to a contract for the Phillies' Eastern League farm at Utica, N. Y.

Potomac Staters And Davis-Elkins To Meet Tonight

Conference Tilt Set For Keyser Court

After a week's inactivity from the basketball court, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's Potomac State Catamounts return to action tonight when they clash with the Davis-Elkins Senators at 8:30 p. m. in the Potomac State field house. Doors will open at 6:30 and at seven o'clock the Potomac State Frosh will go after their eighth straight when they meet the Keyser Lions.

The Senators came to Keyser with a West Virginia Intercollegiate record of 4-14 and are resting in 13th place in the fifteen team race. The Cats have a 6-8 loop record and are in tenth place.

Officials for the tilt will be "Eck" and "Huck" Miers. The probable starting lineups will be as follows:

POTOMAC STATE	Pos.	DAVIS-ELKINS
Yewcic 25	RF	Kelley 21
Ours 15	LF	Shoemaker 9
Lefever 24	C	Steinback 29
Montgomery 14	RG	Kyle 25
Burns 29	LG	Huey 23

Valley Forge Patients Will See Tournament

BALTIMORE, Feb. 27 (AP)—Second Army headquarters today picked the Proving Ground Bombers from Aberdeen, Md., to meet Camp Campbell, Ky., and Fort Meade, Md., to battle Fort Knox, N. Y., in the opening round of its seven-state basketball tournament for soldier teams.

Two other opening-round games will pit Fort Eustis, Va., against Fort Hayes, Ohio, and Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind., against Camp Lee, Va.

The eight teams are the winners and runnersup in district eliminations run off in the second army areas. Winners of the opening round games will meet in semi-final playoffs at the hospital Tuesday, with the championship tussle on Wednesday.

The tournament was scheduled at Valley Forge to provide entertainment for patients there.

Ruel Announces Plans

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27 (AP)—Herold (Muddy) Ruel, freshman Manager for the St. Louis Browns, took a look at last year's records and announced that base stealing and bunts will find favor with this year's club.

"According to last year's averages," Ruel said, "the Browns didn't do much bunting or base stealing. But they will while I'm managing."

He gave the players a full session in the pit today on how to slide properly.

Arthur Holmes of the University of Edinburgh has recalculated the age of the world and places it at 3,350,000,000 years.

In Memoriam

Sad remembrance of our dear boy, Daniel Lipson, who died five years ago today, February 28, 1942.

As the months and years roll by,
We miss him more each day.
This day brings back sad memories,
Of a loved one gone to rest.

No one knows our aching heart,
For the one who passed away,
Memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.

A RARE PRIVILEGE FOR YOU IF YOU CAN MEASURE UP

If you have the necessary qualifications, here's your opportunity to "write your own ticket" in the U. S. Army. If you enlist for 3 years, and are eligible, you may:

1. Elect to join up with the famous 24th Infantry Division which won historic laurels in the liberation of Corregidor Fortress in the Philippines.
2. After initial training in the U. S., join the hard-fighting "Victory Division" on duty in Japan.
3. Take advantage of the 20% extra pay for overseas service. Starting base pay for Privates is $90 a month in addition to food, clothing, good quarters, medical and dental care.
4. Enjoy the exceptional recreation facilities provided for the Army in the Far East — swimming pools, golf courses, tennis courts, baseball diamonds, clubs. Sightseeing is encouraged.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

INNOCENTS IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 27—The facilities for entertainment in Hollywood are unmatched anywhere in the world. Entertainment in private homes, for instance, is better than anything you will see on the screen of hear on the radio, though generally they are the same entertainers. To a certain extent, this is because you are in more intimate contact with the entertainer than any mechanical medium can provide; but to an even greater extent, the reason, I think, is that the entertainers are free of all restrictions—directors, advertising agencies, or censors. The entertainer is not conforming to any particular policy and is not slanting his material for mass consumption.

John Crosby

One of Hollywood's greatest entertainers is not well known outside the movie capitol. His name is Abe Burrows, who writes the dialogue for the Dinah Shore show. Burrows is allowed to put only his talent into the Shore show; his genius is reserved for his parodies on popular songs and no one ever attempts to sing them except Burrows. Given a piano and enough drinks, Burrows can continue for hours, though half an hour of Burrows is about as much as the ordinary person can take without laughing himself to death.

Just a list of the Burrows titles will give you some idea: Here are a few: "I Can't Wait Till The Boys Pull Their Fingers Out Of The Dikes and Go Home To The Girls They Love." "The Girl With The Three Blue Eyes" ("What makes her different? It's the way she walks, the way she talks."); "I Looked Under A Rock And I Found You," "Green Christmas," and "If I Had It To Do All Over Again I'd Do It All Over Again."

Abe, a great hulk of man who has never forgiven "Time" magazine for calling him "balding," sings them in a voice which ranges from a rasp to a lugubrious wail. The voice is most of the fun when he croons in his best southern accents:

"Engineer, is this train goin' south:
"Down where the magnolias bloom. . . .
"Engineer, if this train's goin' south
"Then turn this train around."

Even the melodies are exquisite little parodies on all of Tin Pan Alley's best efforts: The nostalgia is almost heart-breaking in the melody of one of the Burrows best songs, which goes:

"I was walking down memory lane with nothing to remember.
"I was strolling down memory lane without even a dying ember.
Some folks remember their mothers.
"Others their girls behind
"But I was walking down memory lane without a Goddam thing on my mind."

Burrows originally wrote "Duffy's Tavern" and set the style for what became one of the most refreshing new shows on the air. Later, he wrote a show called "Holiday & Co." where his teeth were were so effectively pulled that the program was a failure.

Guide to Hollywood Joke: Hollywood and Vine, on intersection made famous by innumerable radio comedians, looks not much different from the main intersection in Fargo, N. D. On the southwest corner stands Broadway-Hollywood Hotel. Across Hollywood Boulevard on the northwest corner is the Melody Lane Cafe, a pink, two-story structure of glass, plastic and steel. The Equitable Building, which looks like all Equitable Buildings, stands on the northeast corner and an Owl Rexall Drugstore, which looks like all Owl Rexall drug stores, stands on the northwest corner. Hollywood Boulevard is distinguished by streetcar tracks, and two and three story stores; Vine Street, by the beautiful homes on its southern tip. Any other questions?

Red Cross Day Being Observed On All Networks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Red Cross day is being observed by all networks on Friday. The occasion is the opening of the 1947 campaign. The main feature is a 5-minute talk by President Truman scheduled for 10 o'clock, the regular schedule being rearranged to that time extent.

In aiding the campaign, the plan is to have each program make a special appeal either through extra announcements or guest speakers.

A title bout is on the ticket for ABC at the delayed time of 10:05. It is in the light heavyweight division, with Champion Gus Lesnevich battling it out with Billy Fox. The bout also will be televised by NBC.

A sponsor shift is leading to some program changes on MBS. Meet the Press, formerly at 10:30, goes up to 10 o'clock, although for this broadcast it will be 10:05. The guest is Sen. Joe. R. McCarthy of Wisconsin. Its change to the new time is due to the fact that the sponsor has dropped Spotlight on American and has switched his attention to Bulldog Drummond, which continues at 9:30.

Another MBS change moves Leave It to the Girls from Saturdays to 8:30, where the Story Theatre passed out last week.

The last episode of "Old Wives Tale" comes to the fore in Great Novels of NBC at 11:30.

Here are some CBS discussion periods, almost one after the other: 5 In School of the Air's Opinion Please, "Should Americans buy more foreign Goods?" 5:45 Sec. of Interior Krug on "The 49th State" from Honolulu; 6:15 from Washington, "Willkie Journalism Awards."

The Radio Clock

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 28

Changes in programs as listed are due to corrections by networks made too late to incorporate.

All times PM eastern standard. To change to central standard subtract one hour; to mountain standard subtract two hours.

Times listed are those supplied by networks. Relay times by local stations, may vary in some instances.

Strip Mine Bill Meets Opposition At House Hearing

Walsh, Sloan Term Measure Unjustified

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 27 (AP)—A bill to require strip miners in Allegany and Garrett counties to rehabilitate land from which they have taken coal ran into opposition at a hearing before the House delegations of the two counties today.

Former Judges William C. Walsh and D. Lindley Sloan, representing the Georges Creek and Upper Potomac Coal Association, charged that the bill was "unjustified" and would drive small operators out of business.

They contested the argument of Delegate Geppert (R - Allegany), sponsor of the measure, that it would be for the "general welfare of the people" by conserving land, protecting wild life and preventing water pollution.

Provides For Bond

The bill requires that strip miners post a $300 bond per acre mined before starting their operations and forfeit the security if they failed to fill in the cuts and plant trees, shrubs or grasses when they were finished. Failure to put up the bonds would bring a fine of from $5,000 to $10,000.

"This bill would give a monopoly on strip mining to big corporations able to afford the bonds," Walsh contended, "and drive the little fellow out of business."

He said most of the strip areas are isolated and "worth only $2 an acre."

What would be the justification, he asked, for "building a forest" on previously barren plots?

Sloan told the committee it was "52 years too late to try to restore the face of nature in Allegany County," where he said slack piles have already done the damage.

Declaring that the bill was an unwarranted interference with one of the two natural resources left in Garrett County, Sloan maintained that Chief Mining Engineer John J. Rutledge had statutory power to make such regulations as might be necessary.

Suggests Taxing Coal

Walsh had suggested that County Commissioners tax the coal if they wanted to do so.

Commenting that he was taking no sides, Rutledge said some conservation measure might be practical, although "if left alone," some grass would grow on the strips.

More than 400,000 tons of coal were stripped in the two counties last year, he said, and later reports from operators might boost the amount.

W. H. Naylor, of the Davis Coal and Coke Company, Baltimore, asserted the strip coal market was dissipating and that the bill would put "future and present operators out of business."

Delegate Geppert said last night that he called the attention of persons attending the hearing to the evils of strip mining, saying that it causes soil erosion, accumulation of stagnated waters and polluted streams, destroys the value of land for taxation purposes, tends to destroy bird and wildlife, enhances the flood danger, destroys the esthetic beauty of the countryside, and creates a danger that exposed coal may ignite.

Geppert said he pointed out that West Virginia passed a similar law in 1939 and that it has "worked out well." He added that Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois also have strip mining acts wherein it is required that the land must be restored to reasonable contours and that all of the acts have been satisfactory.

On some acreage, strip mined coal amounts to $15,000 per acre, Geppert asserted, adding that in 1945 one operator made over half a million dollars net profit.

Strip mine operators, however, pay no tax on coal they take out and thus differ from deep mine operators whose coal is taxed whether or not it is removed, Geppert stated.

Commercial Travelers Will Eled Officers

Cumberland Council No. 179, United Commercial Travelers, will elect and install officers Saturday at 8 p. m. at a meeting to be held in the IOOF Temple, 12 South Mechanic Street. Past Grand Councilor Robert C. Bowers will have charge of the election and Past Grand Councilor William Englehart will install the officers.

Senior Councilor Ralph F. Sell said yesterday that the year closing March 31 will show the largest gain in membership for the council in the past 20 years. The membership at the present time is over 300 and a large class of candidates is expected to be initiated on March 29.

Three delegates will be elected Saturday to represent the council at the Grand Council session to be held at Norfolk, Va., on June 12, 13 and 14.

Eckhart Miner Is Reported Improving

Johnson DeVore, 53, Eckhart miner, who was injured in a "coal fall" at Consolidated Fuel Mines No. 3, Hoffman, Wednesday, was reported in an "improved condition" at Miners Hospital Frostburg, last night.

DeVore was installing roof supports with Paddy Thomas, Eckhart, in the mine when a roof fall caught him and partially buried him under a ton and a half of coal.

Attaches who said he was in a semi-conscious condition when admitted, reported last night that he had regained consciousness and added he is suffering mostly from shock.

Milton Lease Fined

Charged with disorderly conduct as the result of an argument, Milton Lease, 205 Spring Street, was fined $5 yesterday morning in Police Court. Charges were preferred by Detective Edwin Lilya and Sgt. John H. Newhouse. Police said the argument was over a "snowball throwing incident."

READY TO GO—Shown above are some of the captains and workers in the women's division of the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign in Allegany County, who met at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building yesterday afternoon to receive supplies before starting house to house canvassing to raise their quota of $6,000. The campaign for $29,560 officially starts tomorrow, but many of the women workers plan to start canvassing immediately. Shown standing are the two co-chairmen of the division, Mrs. Jim McQuown (left) and Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna. In the front row (left to right) are Mrs. Nevin Uhl, Mrs. H. A. Mackey, Mrs. Thomas G. Davis, Mrs. Thomas L. Rudd, Mrs. A. E. Kesecker, Jane Early and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Early; Mrs. Douglas Smith, Mrs. W. P. Hahn, and Miss Catherine H. Lippold. In the second row, same order, are Mrs. E. M. Schiller, Mrs. Fred Lehman, Mrs. R. H. Kaske, Mrs. W. S. Russell, Mrs. Millard Crabtree, Mrs. Theodore Stegmaier, Mrs. George W. Hartung, Mrs. Mary E. Nave, Miss Mary J. Schellhaus, Mrs. L. J. Lanich, Mrs. R. A. Compton, Mrs. John S. Cook and Mrs. Grace H. Storer.

Several Captains Needed In Fund Drive Division

Classified Group Leaders Named

Captains have been selected for nine of the 12 sections of the classified division of the 1947 Red Cross fund campaign, which opens tomorrow, according to George Young, co-chairman of the division with Max Bastian.

The division has a quota of $5,000, while the total campaign goal is $29,560. After a meeting last night at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building, Young announced that section captains and their quotas are as follows:

Stuart Rosenbaum, mercantile, $1,000; Commissioner William V. Keegan, served commodities, $350; Bert J. Graham, automotive, $700; Cyrus Bowers, general, $500; Charles L. Kopp, schools, $400; James B. Reinhart, financial, $380; Howard Smith, utilities, $300; Charles L. George and Byron Kight, professional, $300; Robert L. Ebert, women's apparel, jewelry and shoe stores, $400.

Other sections lacking captains are public service, $200; governmental, $300, and food, $275.

The classified division, which will canvass employes of business establishments, will hold no report meeting, Young said. Workers will be asked to submit partial or complete reports to volunteer auditors at campaign headquarters next Wednesday and Friday, and to have their final reports in by Tuesday, March 11.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, said that several volunteer auditors will be on duty at campaign headquarters in the Post Office building starting Monday. The kickoff dinner of the campaign will be held Monday night at Central YMCA, starting at 6:15, and the victory dinner will be held Tuesday, March 11, at the "Y".

Women Receive Supplies

Classified section workers received supplies at last night's meeting, including window stickers, Red Cross pins, and certificates to be presented to donors. Young said it is hoped that window stickers representing 100% donations on the part of employes will appear in all store windows.

Supplies were also distributed to workers in the women's division, headed by Mrs. Jim McQuown and Mrs. Holmes H. Cessna, at a meeting yesterday afternoon in campaign headquarters. Mrs. McQuown and Thomas B. Finan, general chairman of the drive, addressed the captains and workers, giving them final instructions prior to the start of house to house canvassing. The division's quota is $6,000.

Mrs. Witherup pointed out that Mrs. R. A. Compton, a veteran worker in Red Cross fund campaigns and roll calls, will head the South Cumberland section of the women's division again this year.

Mrs. Compton, who served as volunteer Red Cross secretary for a number of years before, during and after World War I, recalled last night that her section, which this year has a quota of $1,225, has always exceeded its quota. In 1942 the section had a quota of $4,500.

Appeal For Bakery Permit Is Filed

James Carbaugh and Emory Davis filed an appeal to the Board of Zoning Appeals yesterday when their application for a permit to use part of the first floor of the reconstructed Hendricks Hotel building, 19 Laing Avenue, was refused in the city engineer's office.

The application was denied because the property is located in a Residential B section. Carbaugh and Davis seek a permit to operate a bakery and salesroom on the first floor, in the space formerly occupied by a bar.

Flames badly damaged the upper portions of the Hendricks Hotel, originally a three-story frame structure, last March. Quentin Rice, who purchased the building from M. D. Reinhart, reconstructed the building with two stories, and now resides on the second floor.

Seven Tons Collected

Seven more tons of wastepaper were collected yesterday in the monthly drive, boosting the total to date to 31 tons. The collection today will cover all sections south of Oldtown Road.

Local Young Men Being Urged To Join New National Guard

Veterans Outline Postwar Plans

Citing the importance of the National Guard to the nation's defense structure, as well as its advantages to the individual who enlists, Associate Judge George Henderson and Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland, spoke over WTBO last night, as a part of the recruiting campaign program now underway to bring two postwar units here up to strength.

Judge Henderson, a veteran of two World Wars, who has been a member of the National Guard for 30 years, finally retiring November 30, 1946, after a total of seven and a half years active service, told his audience that the postwar Guard is destined to play a more important part than ever before in the peace of the world and this nation's defense.

In 1939, Judge Henderson outlined, there were less than 300,000 men and officers in the National Guard. Postwar Guard plans call for an authorized strength of 700,000.

"As a result," he continued, "Allegany County will be permitted to have a total of 320 men and officers, whereas in 1939, we were allotted only 90."

Service Is Explained

"The good the National Guard does our country is clear, and the good it does the individual is no less clear," Judge Henderson continued. "He gives some of his time, at least one evening each week; and two weeks at a summer camp. He draws pay, the amount of which depends on his rank. He learns something about military training, how to care for himself in the field, how to get along with other men, how to obey and how to command others. He has an opportunity to develop his capacity for leadership.

"He has the use of the Armory, with its club rooms, rifle range and other facilities. He has the right to see the athletic contests held at the Armory and to play on Company teams here and at camp.

"It is not all fun . . . neither is it all work. It is certainly not the sort of service that a 'drug store cowboy' would enjoy," Judge Henderson said, "for it is a man's game, and those who cannot take it as well as dish it out, who have no

Store Employe Held For Air Rifle Sale

The assistant manager of Montgomery Ward and Company Store, Baltimore Street, was arrested yesterday afternoon, after city police said air rifles were being sold at the store in violation of a city ordinance.

The assistant manager, who identified himself as Harry Holliday, said he has been in the city for only a short time and declared he is not familiar with the ordinance. He said the manager, V. R. Burns, was out of town when a shipment of rifles arrived and he placed them on sale.

Questioned by Detective Edwin Lilya and Sgt. R. R. Johnson, Holliday posted bond of $25 for his appearance in Police Court this morning and declared he would appear.

Detective Lilya said an investigation was made after several complaints were received at headquarters about youths firing the rifles in the city, and it was learned that the guns were purchased at Montgomery Wards.

Holliday said about 18 rifles were shipped to the store, and unaware of the city ordinance he placed them on sale and sold two rifles. However, he removed the remaining 16 rifles from display yesterday after being informed that he was violating a city ordinance, he declared.

Bus Drivers And PE Officials Meet Today

A meeting has been scheduled for 10 o'clock this morning between Potomac Edison Company officials, the negotiating committee of Local Division 1110, Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, AFL, and Conciliator James A. Holden, of the United States Conciliation Service, in an effort to reach a settlement of the contract dispute between the company and PE bus drivers.

The contract expires at midnight tonight and Cumberlanders may be without bus transportation tomorrow unless the union and the company get together and reach agreement before that time and prevent a strike.

Henry W. Price, district manager of the company, and John M. Elliott, international representative of the union, said Holden, who arrived in Cumberland yesterday afternoon, arranged the meeting for today.

Garrett County Roads Are Open

The snow-bound highways of Western Maryland, especially in Garrett County were reported open for two way traffic last night for the first time in a week, but many of the secondary roads were still blocked although the snow storm was considered over about noon.

State Road crews in Garrett County where an average depth of 3 feet is reported, said all equipment, that has been working "day and night" for the past week was in the garages last night and roads were open although chains were advised.

Crews Stop Work

An attendant on duty in the state arage at Accident said the crews stopped work about 8 p. m. and expressed hope that a moderate wind that was blowing would not grow stronger. Under present weather conditions, he said, there will be no difficulty in maintaining two way traffic from now on.

In Oakland the highways were also reported open to two way traffic, but crew members said about three or four inches of snow was still packed on the roads, and advised motorists to use chains.

In both sections of the county, however, there was little progress reported on secondary roads, over which many of the school buses must run. County crews are still working 24-hour shifts in a effort to cut passage through the hugh snow drifts that have reached a height of 15 feet in some places.

Temperatures in Garrett were averaging about 15 degrees above with the Accident section reporting 16 degrees above. A light snow that began falling early yesterday morning stopped about noon and increased the depth by only an inch or so, crew workers said. Last midnight the moon was shining down on the two week snow fall for the first time.

Open For Two Way Traffic

In Allegany County, west of Frostburg state road crews were still working at a late hour, but members said the roads were open to two way traffic and had been most of the day. The secondary roads however were still reported in "pretty miserable" condition.

In other sections of the Tri-State area the snow fall was reported about over also. Deal, Pa., was shoveling from under a 22 inch fall that ended yesterday morning but a cloudy sky was still threatening with brief flurries and the temperature was 12 above. At Thomas, W. Va., a 14 above reading was taken at midnight and brief squalls were reported falling on the already 35 inches of packed snow.

In Cumberland and outlying districts, the temperature was 26 above and clear weather reported. Most of the secondary roads were open, but icy spots on the highways were still a threat to motorists, State Police said.

Is Injured In Fall

Fredia Lohr, 24, 126 Main Street, Ridgeley, a Kelly-Springfield Tire Company employe, was examined yesterday morning in Allegany Hospital after she fell down several steps and injured her left elbow.

Celanese Named Party Defendant In Tax Case

Petitions Court To Enter Dispute

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday, by Charles E. Heskett, attorney for the Celanese Corporation of America, asking to intervene in the equity suit filed by James H. Reed against the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and the Celanese, challenging the county tax exemption granted the company on tools and machinery.

Reed's suit was filed February 6, the same date a similar action was entered protesting the exemption of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Mill Company and a few days after the court was petitioned by Reed to set aside the exemption granted Kelly Springfield Tire Company.

As was done in the other two tax exemption actions, the Court signed an order permitting the Celanese to intervene and become a party defendant in the actions. March 20, is fixed by the Court as the final date to file answers by attorneys.

The action by the Celanese was predicted by Court House attaches and other attorneys after the Kelly Springfield Tire Company intervened.

Tax records indicate that the total exemptions granted the three corporations amount to about .22 cents on the tax rate, based upon the last or current assessable basis.

Divorce Suits Filed

An English war bride, Mrs. Valerie Lancaster, has entered suit for divorce from Melvin Lancaster. The couple appeared at the Court House yesterday in an effort to settle their differences, and a suit for partial divorce was entered.

Lancaster met Valerie at Harold Wood, England, while serving with the Army, and after a brief courtship, married her. When the couple came to this country they established their residence with his parents near Danville.

Mrs. Lancaster alleges her husband deserted her and she was asked to leave the Lancaster home and moved across the road. Lancaster said his wife did peculiar things such as going to her bedroom and firing a gun to indicate she had committed suicide, and on another occasion she stood over him with a knife while he was in bed, he declared.

Associate Judge Henderson said he would study the case in which a partial decree is asked, together with a $15 a week alimony.

A bill of complaint was also filed in equity by Marie O. Miller against David N. Miller, seeking a divorce.

Divorces Granted

William Addison Rinker, local photographer, was ordered to pay his wife $10 per week for the support of their infant son, in a divorce decree signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster yesterday. Rinker was sued by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Lee Rinker on a charge of desertion.

Mrs. Emma E. Sharon was also granted a divorce, in her suit against Charles L. Sharon. The decree was signed by Judge Huster.

Beer License Issued

Alma Spencer, of Bowman's Addition, was granted a license yesterday, for off-sale of light beer, beer and light wine, for her grocery store. Known as a Class A license, the permit was granted by Circuit Court judges.

Housing Meeting Planned For Tuesday

A public meeting, sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce and other groups, will be held Tuesday, March 4, at 7:30 p. m. in the City Hall auditorium, to discuss rental housing for veterans.

According to E. Lester Muller, state director of the Federal Housing Administration, the purpose of the meeting is to spearhead the vigorous 1947 program of rental housing proposed by the Federal government for private building industry cooperation under sections 603 and 608 of the National Housing Act. Charles T. Batterden and Owen C. McFadden will accompany Muller here for the meeting.

Muller also stated that the meeting will be of interest to veterans seeking homes as well as city and county officials, approved mortgagees, lumber dealers, realtors, architects, contractors, builders, and others interested in housing.

New, Enlightening Column, Dealing With World Affairs, Soon To Appear

Beginning next week, The Cumberland News is bringing to its readers "These Days," a timely, fearless, authoritative column of comment on national and international affairs, by George Sokolsky, one of the country's outstanding authors and lecturers. It will be an addition to the already large list of features that are making this newspaper one of the most widely read dailies in Maryland.

"For some reason," Mr. Sokolsky says, with his slow grin, "—perhaps because of the sky at the end of my name—it is often assumed that I was born in Russia and that sometime or other I was a Communist."

Nothing, believe me, could be further from the truth—for George Sokolsky is a complete American, by way of his native Utica, N. Y., and far from being a Communist, he has been one of its most outspoken enemies in the United States for years.

Yet it is not as if Sokolsky has never brushed up against Communism at all; indeed, as a St. Louis newspaperman once wrote, "he has rubbed elbows with 'em (isms) all." It is this firsthand knowledge of anarchism, Communism and other radicalisms that has made Sokolsky a conservative and a defender of the capitalistic faith.

ABL To Take Part In Fund Campaign

The Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, a concern that believes in 100 per cent co-operation with the American Red Cross, today was completing publicity plans to bring the drive that opens tomorrow to the attention of the workers.

According to Fred Shafnacker, personnel superintendent, about 50 per cent of the employes in the West Virginia concern, or around 140, are Marylanders and therefore every opportunity is given them to contribute to the annual drive.

Yesterday, Shafnacker was making plans to put Red Cross posters on display on all five company bulletin boards and bulletins, cards and stickers are ready for distribution.

Shafnacker said the foremen, supervisors and clerks are selected to take charge of any contributions made by the workers and the total is turned in at the front office to be forwarded to Red Cross headquarters.

"We have always believed in giving the Red Cross our full support," Shafnacker said. "It's one organization we believe in going all out for."

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Franklin L. Meyers, 410 Springdale Street, Thursday morning in Allegany Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter H. Waugaman, 33 South Centre Street, announce the birth of a daughter Thursday morning at home.

Twin daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, 220 Mechanic Street, Frostburg, Wednesday night in Miners' Hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Bartlett Bishop, Oxford, Md., announce the birth of a son Wednesday in the Easton, Md., hospital. Mrs. Bishop is the former Kay Carpenter, this city.

Shriners Leave For Visit To Mexico

Two Cumberland members of Ali Ghan Temple of the Shrine and their wives left last night with Potentate and Mrs. Leslie K. Spielman, Hagerstown, on a 12-day tour of Mexico. They are State's Attorney and Mrs. Morgan C. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. C. Arthur Brotemarkle.

The three couples left Keyser, W. Va., last night on the National Limited for St. Louis, Mo., where they will board a special train of Shriners for Mexico.

Shriners will accompany Imperial Potentate George H. Rowe on the first visit of an imperial potentate south of the border since 1939. The trip will be climaxed with Rowe's official visit to Anezeh Temple in Mexico City.

The local people are expected home March 14.

Experiences In War Related By Verner

Some of his experiences in the Naval Intelligence in World War II were related by A. A. Verner, head of the Export Department of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company at the Kiwanis Club meeting here yesterday at noon in Central YMCA.

Verner served for many months in Panama and was later transferred to England where he helped make plans in connection with the invasion of France as well as to outline the work of specially trained men after the invasion. He also told of his experiences in Germany and of some dealings he had with the Russians.

Deeds Recorded

Henry N. and Agnes R. Dressman and Claude L. Deal conveyed to The Blue Ridge Products Co., a corporation, a lot in District 29 on Mill Road for $600.

Mayor and City Council of Cumberland conveyed to James F. Juliano, lot at Cedar Street extended and Thomas Street extended for $400.

King Realty Company conveyed to Washington Heights Corporation, 18 lots and a 50-acre tract on Washington Heights Addition for $4,000.

GEORGE E. SOLOSKY

See Says Correct Vote On Reporting Bond Bill Was 3-2

Delegate Charles M. See said last night that a $150,000 bond issue bill for recreation in Cumberland received a favorable county delegation report in the General Assembly by a three to two vote Wednesday and not by a five to one vote as reported yesterday.

See said that although he opposed a referendum provision on the bill he did not vote on the measure because his opposing vote would have meant a tie vote and the bill would have gone to the Speaker of the House without a report. That would have meant an argument on the floor of the House, he added.

Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., delegation chairman, "must not have paid attention to the vote or he would not have reported such a mistake," See declared.

He added that Whitworth and Delegates Noel Speir Cook and William H. Geppert voted for the bill with the referendum attached, but that Delegates John T. Fey and Lester B. Reed voted against it because of the referendum. See did not vote.

"Three of us thought the bill should not have a referendum," See stated.

He said he took position against the referendum because the Mayor and City Council on Monday unanimously authorized appointment of a recreation commission, and explained that the referendum means the commission will have no money until the bond issue is passed in 1948.

"Why have a commission if there is no money?" See asked.

He said he believes persons appointed to the commission would handle the money wisely.

Further explaining his position, See stated that he realizes "the need for a recreation program, especially playgrounds and more especially a playground in South Cumberland."

He termed the present playground located in back of Penn Avenue School "not a good sandlot for children to play on."

A good recreation program is one way to curb delinquency, See said, adding that children should be given a place to play and have recreation.

"That's why I am not for a referendum," he declared.

See criticised Whitworth for disclosing the vote on the recreation bond issue bill which was taken in executive session, and asserted: "It has never been customary in the past, since my having been a member of the House of Delegates and I am now in my third term, to divulge a vote taken in executive session.

"Why Mr. Whitworth has broken this long-standing rule I am at a loss to know. It is an unwritten rule of all standing and select committees in the House and Senate that the vote in executive session is not passed to the public because it is not a matter of record."

J. Harry Bibby Named To Insurance Post

J. Harry Bibby, brother of G. William Bibby, president of the Cumberland Brewing Company, was elected as vice-president of the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, at a meeting of the board of directors in Baltimore Wednesday. He was formerly assistant director of casualty insurance underwriting.

A native of Baltimore, Bibby has been employed by the company for 25 years, first in the Atlanta and Richmond offices, and for the last 10 years at the home office in Baltimore.

Saville Is Serving On USS Mount Olympus

Charles H. Saville, 19, electronic technician's mate, second class, USN, of Cumberland, is serving aboard the USS Mount Olympus, flagship of the Navy's 1947 Antarctic Expedition.

Saville entered the Naval service Aug. 3, 1945, and received his recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. He attended Naval electronics school for 10 months before reporting aboard the Mt. Olympus in November, 1946.

Ministers Hint At "Neglect" In Slot Machine Debacle

Say "Real Effort" Needed For Removal

Cumberland ministers entered the current slot machine confiscation debacle last night, declaring that authorities apparently are neglecting their duties and "really" do not want to remove the devices.

Not a machine has been confiscated or destroyed since Monday when State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris called a meeting of law enforcement officers and instructed them to bring in the devices "by the truckload," and ministers intimated last night that no real attmpt was made to take any machines or make any arrests.

Rev. Ray L. Henthorne, president of the Cumberland Ministerial Association, declared that he believes "responsible law enforcement authorities could remove slot machines if they really wanted to. There seems to be no secret about where the machines are kept and played," he stated, adding, "In fact, almost every citizen in the city seems to know."

"Deliberately Foiled"

"Apparently someone is neglecting his duty," Rev Mr. Henthorne said.

"From newspaper reports," he stated, "it looks as if some authority deliberately foiled the allegedly planned raid for this week, but such

Gibson Will Check Airport Statement

A copy of the 1946 financial statement of Cumberland Airways, Incorporated, which operates the Cumberland Municipal Airport on a lease from the city, will be submitted to Arthur B. Gilson, city auditor.

The Municipal Airport Commission, meeting last night in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post, decided to turn the financial statement over to the city auditor instead of making the contents public immediately.

John A. Chapman, airport manager, was asked to make application to a Civil Aeronautics Administration for certification for a 24-inch rotating beacon showing a clear light, signifying the location of an airport, in lieu of the green beacon for which certification was received last July. The latter type means than an attendant is on duty at all times at the airport.

T. Donald Shires, commission secretary, was requested by Edmund S. Burke, chairman, to communicate with Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the Sixth District, requesting him again to take any possible action toward expediting the processing of applications made by airlines to the Civil Aeronautical Board for service here.

The appointment of a successor to Charles Z. Heskett, who resigned from the commission last fall to become a member of the State Aviation Commission, was deferred last night because a quorum was lacking.

Shires was instructed to request Charles F. Heller, airport maintenance foreman, to prepare a budget for the ensuing fiscal year.

A. Derr Golladay, one of the operators of the Mexico Farms airport, attended the meeting.

Officers Reserve Is Started Here

The 208th Composite Group of the Army Officers Reserve Corps of Allegany and Garrett Counties yesterday opened headquarters on the second floor of the Union Street County Building.

Capt. Thomas Stafford, officer in charge, said the local office has a card index file on every resident of the two counties who served during World War II as officers and that from among these men the commanding officer of the corps will be selected.

The Officers Reserve Corps here will consist of the 80th, 81st, 82nd and 83rd Battalions, according to Capt. Stafford. At present the corps is just being organized and men interested in the organization are asked to contact Capt. Stafford. It is planned to hold meetings once a month for lectures, movies and other military matters pertaining to the organization, he explained.

New City Directory Is Being Prepared

A canvass of the City of Cumberland is being made at the present time to collect data for a new city directory which is expected to be published within the next few months, Harold W. Smith, Chamber of Commerce secretary, said yesterday.

The directory, like the 1946 edition, will contain an alphabetical directory of business concerns and private citizens, a directory of householders, occupants of office buildings and other business places including a street and avenue guide.

Midland Youth Enlists In Regular Navy

John Joseph Manley, 17, Midland, enlisted in the regular Navy for a minority term and has been sent to the training station at Great Lakes, Ill., according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader of the local Navy recruiting station.

George Woodrow Cook, RFD 3, Bedford, Pa., a veteran of 19 months' Army service, has enlisted in the V-6 inactive naval reserve for four years as a seaman second class.

Two Join Army

Two men enlisted in the United States Army yesterday at the local recruiting office. They are:

Mark Stanley Uphole, Deer Park, who signed for three years, and Pfc. Roy C. Crites, Petersburg, W. Va., who re-enlisted for three years. He has three years prior service.
